Editorial Announcement

The Summer Collegian, a weekly newspaper of six issues, will be published under the auspices of the Pennsylvania State College during the summer session for teachers. It is supported by private interests who are bearing the financial uncertainties of the enterprise. Neither the college nor any of its employees will participate in the earnings or losses, as the case may be.

The movement to establish permanently the Summer Collegian as the official news organ of the summer sessions has the approval and support of the State College authorities. Official supervision is given to the newspaper by a representative of the institution, and he assumes complete responsibility for all matter entering the news columns.

student body. Professor Robinson today said the concert program would include a fantasia on themes from Wagner's Lohengrin, and various part songs.

In addition to organ recitals on July 4, at 3:30 p. m., by Professor Robinson, and July 18, at the same hour, special musical programs will be given once each week at the morning assembly. There is no admission charge for these recitals.

Local Talent Produces Farce

The Private Tutor, a comedy in three acts, will be produced next Saturday evening by local talent. The amateur players have been in rehearsal for the last four weeks under the direction of Arthur Deering, instructor in dramatic expression and public speaking at the Pennsylvania State College. It is said the play is an extremely amusing farce, portraying the difficulties of college boys in unusual circumstances.

Lecture by Professor Foster

Professor I. L. Foster, of the Romance language department, will give a lecture on "Some Phases of French Literature", Thursday, July 1, at 4 p. m. in 226 Main building. A general invitation is extended.

rapid growth of the next three years.

When Dr. Weber went to Scranton, he was succeeded by Dr. E. R. Smith, associate professor of mathematics at this institution. Under Dr. Smith's administration as acting director, the summer session has been developed until it regarded as one of the principal phases of the State College's work.

Since the summer sessions were started the faculty has been doubled. Although the faculty is still drawn from the most part from the regular instructors of the college, nevertheless from time to time specialists in various lines of work have been called in to assist in the work. Among the latter are several who will conduct a model school. The success of this feature last year has warranted its continuance, in the opinion of the college authorities.

Sightseeing Trips Announced

All summer session students desiring to visit the school of agriculture will meet in front of the library at 8:30 a. m. Saturday, July 3.

Guides will be in attendance and the various departments of the school of agriculture will be visited, including forestry, horticultural and agricultural buildings, calorimeter, creamery, green houses, student gardens, dairy barn, stock judging pavilion and poultry yards.

Next Saturday, July 10, visits will be made to the school of engineering and school of mines. Also excursions to Penn's Cave by automobile.
