Have You Invited HER For Pennsylvania Day?

VOL. XII. STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY, OCT. 25, 1916. Number 6.

PROMINENT MEN TO BE HERE "PA" DAY

Governor Brumbaugh Will Accompany Party, Review Cadets and Inspect College. Big Attraction Scheduled

LAFAYETTE WILL BE FOOTBALL ATTRACTION

With the acceptance of invitations by many state and college officials to appear here on Pennsylvania Day, Friday, November 17, prospects of a most successful celebration this year are assured.

According to custom on this occasion, Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh will be here and give the principal address at the morning gathering in the auditorium—the official observance hour of the day. Mrs. Brumbaugh will accompany the governor.

Among others of the state's official family who will be here are Secretary of State Cyrus W. Wood, Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Labor and Industry John Price Jackson, former dean of the college engineering school; ex-Lieutenant Governor Reynolds; Dr. Nathan C. Scheffler, superintendent of public health; State Senator William Crow of Uniontown; and Vance C. McCracken, a member of the board of trustees of the college, and now chairman of the patriotic committee. It is expected that this list will be greatly increased by the time the holiday arrives, especially by the presence of the board of trustees for whom a meeting is scheduled in the evening.

The program of events scheduled for the Pennsylvania Day celebration this year presents a very pleasing combination, and as usual will extend over the following day. The observance of this day as "Pennsylvania Day" at the State corresponds very much to the Founders' Day celebrations held by many other colleges.

MANY ATTRACTIONS

The biggest attraction of the day, of course, is the Varsity football game in the afternoon. The strong Lafayette team will be the opponents of the Blue and White this year, and a good game can be assured. Other attractions will be the exhibits of the various schools, musical and dramatic societies, bands, glee club and orchestra, not to mention the annual cadet review, a football game between the Freshman and Sophomore teams, and a soccer match with the Lafayette team.

The day will be officially ushered in by a tour of inspection by the governor and his party, and will start at 10 o'clock in the morning. The general assembly of the student body and visitors will take place in the auditorium at 7 o'clock in the evening upon which Governor Brumbaugh will speak.

GLEE CLUB WILL GO TO SAN FRANCISCO NEXT SEASON

Director Robinson of the Musical Department has announced that arrangements for the glee club trip will be completed with the officials of the California, Topoka and Santa Fe Railway Company for conducting the Glee Club on a trip across the continent to San Francisco next Easter vacation. The party will go to and from Chicago at the expense of the College and from there to San Francisco by the railroad company. It is possible a concert will be given at Cleveland, Ohio, and on the way to Chicago. Between San Francisco the club will give about fifteen concerts. The agreement with the railroad company will not be carried out, however, if there is a railroad strike in the country at that time.

A New Extension Class Will Open

President Sparks to Speak at Rally in Wilkes-Barre Thursday Night—Quartet To Sing

Another big step will have been taken by the engineering extension department of the college, tomorrow night in Wilkes-Barre, when a rally will be held in honor of the opening of a new class there for apprentices in engineering. The class has been organized there by N. C. Miller, of the extension department.

A big meeting is planned and will be held at 8 o'clock in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. President Sparks will be the principal speaker of the evening, and the college quartet will make a special trip to Wilkes-Barre to sing on this occasion. The quartet is made up of Messrs. Cattanach, Herz, and McDowell. McDowell will sing at the dinner to be held at Wilkes-Barre and the following morning will be heard at the opening exercises in the high school.

This Wilkes-Barre branch is but one more link in the massive chain of similar engineering classes which have been established all over the state within the past few years by the extension department of the college. Such a class has been in great demand in the coal region manufacturing center and its success there is practically assured.

STATE TEAM CHAMPION AT DAIRY SHOW

Butter Judging Team Makes Clean Sweep of Honors

The Pennsylvania State College through the team sent out under its auspices, last week carried off a most important one of the titles in the series of championship honors at the National Dairy Show, held in Springfield, Massachusetts, October 12-19. The contest at the show, which is the most important one of the kind in the country, were by reason of their national respect characterized by the keenest and most intense competition, and it is due to this fact that the triumph of the Penn State are so outstanding.

Chief among the Penn State successes was the clean sweep of honors made by the butter judging team in the contest. The team, made up of S. Page, J. R. Saylor and H. R. Ober, not only took first place among the colleges entered, but also made the three highest individual scores of all the contestants.

Final honors likewise came to Penn State through the splendid work of the college butter judges also made the three highest individual scores of all the contestants. The team, made up of S. Page, J. R. Saylor and H. R. Ober, not only took first place among the colleges entered, but also made the three highest individual scores of all the contestants.

Gettysburg Asks For Debate Here

Westminster and Wake Forest College Also Send Challenges to State—Trials Start Tonight

A request for a debate with Penn State has come within the past week from Westminster college. The local debaters are considering the matter, but have made no definite decision as yet. Requests have also come from Westminster college and the Wake Forest college of North Carolina. State has debated with Westminster before, and a date with that college will likely be arranged.

About sixty candidates for the State debating teams will enter the preliminary trials which start in the auditorium this evening, and at least thirty will be chosen for further trials. Short notice on an up-to-date topic will be required of each candidate. The judges for the occasion will probably be made up of a committee from the faculty of the University, headed by Professor Marshallman and his assistant, Miss Dunham.

A number of freshmen have signified their intention of getting in the trials, and of whom come to college with a wide field of experience. The trials will be continued on Thursday and Friday nights in the auditorium, beginning at 7 o'clock. The debaters are getting an early start this year for the regular season will not start until about the middle of February. No debates have been scheduled to date.

STATE FALLS BEFORE SUPERIOR TEAM PLAY

Penn Proves Better Team in Field That Brought Surprises—Erratic Play Gives Penn Great Chances

BERRY BACK IN GAME AND PROVES STAR

In its hardest fought game of the season, Penn State's football team was humbled by the University of Pennsylvania eleven on Franklin field last Saturday. The final score was Penn 15, State 0, but the game was much closer than the score would indicate, and very stubbornly fought on both sides. State was outplayed and out-generated, but went down fighting hard.

Howard Berry, Penn's soldier fullback, who played in the Red and Blue line-up for the first time this year, was their greatest tower of strength, both on the offensive and defensive play. His work, with that of Williams, spelled defeat for State, and in this game he took a great stride towards All-American fullback honors. Berry alone made twelve of Penn's fifteen points, kicking two goals from the field and scoring their touchdown on a forward received near mid-field. The "outcast" of the 1915 Penn team certainly did "come back" with a vengeance, and all followers of the gridiron sport cannot help but hope that his injuries received in the final quarter of Saturday's game will not prevent him from winning future honors.

HARLOW TELLS HOW THE GAME WAS DROPPED

Lack of Team-Work Was Greatest Fault in the Play

A green backfield and lack of judgment, in a critical moment, were the main reasons for the defeat of the Blue and White on Franklin field last Saturday, according to Coach Harlow. The latter team won, as well as State players and witnesses of the game are willing to admit.

Harlow's explanation is that in the fact that the outcome of the game shows up many weak points in the play, evident to both himself and the players, and immediate steps will be taken to remedy the faults exposed. He hinted that a general shaking up is upon his return from the Penn game, Harlow said:

"In the first place, it was a green secondary defense that was partly responsible for our unexpected loss, showing at Franklin field. The one was going fine. In fact, the ends and tackles were in a splendid position, and that Penn started around the ends and mainly took out all of the interference. The secondary defense played back too far, in spite of all orders, and allowed the runner to come to them in stead of going in to meet him. It was the same way with line plunging. The only way to stop him was to get through our center was to leap over the backs of the linemen. Our secondary even let them come over time after time."

"I can excuse Robb and Beck for the greater part of these offenses, for when a fellow has to play with more than two thousand spectators, he is bound to lose his head to some extent with twenty thousand demons yelling all around him. The erratic play—"

STUDENTS SHOW OLD SPIRIT AT PENN MASS MEETING

With plenty of "pop" in the way of yell, the annual Mass Meeting of the year was held in the Auditorium last Wednesday evening. All the yells, from the college and over without any apparent lack of spirit. When the music was at its height, "Bill" White, "Bill" Wood and "Andy" the meeting was brought to a close.

After the first round of cheers the students and a few faculty members under the able leadership of Jack Sawyer, were singing in a way that showed the college was in the best of health. The only drawback to the whole meeting was the failure of the Penn boys to get their "Duck" in, which was announced, was unable to come because he was unavoidably detained by the students' refusal to get out of the members of the Penn team. After speeches from "Bill" White, "Bill" Wood and "Andy" the meeting was brought to a close.

BUCHANAN TO PUBLISH BOOK

Former Y. M. C. A. Secretary Takes up Residence at Hartford

It has been learned on good authority that Mr. Frank N. Buchanan, formerly general secretary of the Penn State Y. M. C. A., will devote himself largely to literary work during the next few months. Mr. Buchanan, who visited the college a little over a week ago, has taken up his residence for the present at the Hartford Theological Seminary in Hartford, Connecticut. During his stay at the Seminary it is the intention of Mr. Buchanan to collect and arrange the material for a book which will be entitled "Methods in Individual Work." The subject matter of this work is to be drawn largely from his personal experience in other views with college men, according to report Mr. Buchanan, in addition to the time devoted by him to writing, will also spend one day at the Penn State University, where he has arranged to give a series of lectures.

Mr. Buchanan's success at Penn State has been in action taken thus far by either the college or the Association authorities. It is expected however that some definite conclusion will be arrived at by the end of the month. Efforts are also being made at the present time to fill the position of business manager of the Penn State Y. M. C. A.
