All classes were suspended from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. last Thursday at Syracuse university to mark the funeral of John D. Archibald, the president of the board of trustees and their chief benefactor. He contributed to the university a gymnasium and football stadium.

Because two freshmen competed last week for the wrestling team of the Iowa State college. The team is coached by Maysler, the former New England champion, and "Chuck" Yerger, of the class of 1916, Penn State.

A memorial service was recently held at Cambridge university, England, for the students who laid down their lives for their country during the past academic year. The service was held at 11 o'clock and a similar service was held at the same university last year. This year 490 thus this one European university has lost in two years over 1,000 students.

A memorial service was also held for the members of the University of London who have fallen in the war, 675 in number.

A committee to investigate the advisability of reducing the recreation week to a five-day schedule, has been appointed at the University of Washington. The majority of the members of the faculty feel that the elimination of one of the recitations would enable them and the members of the student body to use their time more advantageously.

Columbia university has just announced a receipt of $600,000 from an anonymous benefactor. The money is to be used for the erection of a suitable home for the Columbia School of Business.

This year the fraternity men of Brown university lend the non-fraternity men in scholarship for the first time in the history of the institution. The fraternity men competed for a scholarship cup for the first time and it is thought that the stimulus of the rivalry was the cause of the good showing of the fraternity men.

A campaign has recently been conducted by the Cornell Daily Sun among the fraternities of the University to keep salesmen from the fraternities' houses. Most of the fraternities have voted to exclude all salesmen from their houses except students who are members of the fraternities through college. The cause of the campaign was that out-of-town dealers receive an unfair advantage over the local dealer in the competition for the student trade, and that the local dealer is unable to continue to support Cornell student activities because the students were supplying all their wants through out-of-town dealers.

Ohio State university has made plans for a new stadium capable of seating 25,000 people, according to an announcement made recently at a banquet in honor of Ohio's championship football team.

FRESHMEN ENTERTAINED
 Dean and Mrs. Holmes entertained the Freshmen who are in the athletic sections of Mr. E. S. Miller and Dr. H. B. Hill at their home on the East campus, last Wednesday night. A very pleasing musical program was followed by refreshments by Professor Foster and a short address by Dean Holmes, after which refreshments were served.

 team and was practically the set-back to Juniata. The team which started early and were more advanced in their selection than the bulk of the scoring was done by Oller, who played a sure, fast game. Captain Mankbeck, of Juniata, also worked consistently on the defense.

FOULS IN EVIDENCE
 The game started with a series of fouls called on both teams and these offenses continued throughout the contest. Juniata was able to pass successfully for a time and kept the ball in their possession. They lost several good chances, however, by inconsistent shooting. State's scoring in the first lap, resulted mainly from fouls called on Blakeslee, who totalled fourteen successful out of sixteen chances. During the entire game Blakeslee failed, in this manner, eighteen points for his team, from twenty-five possible chances. He missed a beautiful basket during the initial period, when, unable to pass, he shot from the middle of the floor and cleanly caged the leather sphere. Walton also added two points early in the game on a pass from Laubach.

For Juniata, Oller proved the bread-winner during the first half, when he produced two goals from the floor, both on passes from Baker, and then caged 9 out of 13 attempts from the foul line. Mankbeck added one more point, making the score 15-11 at half time.

STATE PASSING IMPROVES
 Neither team made any changes during the intermission between the halves. The State players seemed to realize that the passing of the Blue and White teams improved greatly during the first half, although the close guarding of the Juniata team prevented much scoring from the floor.

This half hardly started, when a foul was called on Juniata and Blakeslee made it good. He missed his next chance from the foul line, however, but as Oller cut down Mankbeck took a try at a foul and made it, and when Oller eluded Mankbeck and dropped in a two-point shot, Juniata was only two points behind at 10-17. A foul by Blakeslee, and a difficult goal by Fess on a pass from Walton, again sent State to the front, but Juniata refused to be taken off. New-Juniata battled the ball through the net on a rebound and Oller added another point from the 15-foot mark, making the score 22-20.

NIP AND TUCK
 Blakeslee missed a foul and then the end of the floor to the other. Laubach managed to get uncovered under the basket and he converted a pass from Blakeslee into two more points, giving a 25-20 advantage. Oller, who was being the bulk of the work for Juniata, shot a goal from under the basket and followed it up with a foul goal. Wagnor replaced Laubach. Again the scoring was too close for comfort, but Walton broke away, dribbled down the floor and netted his second goal of the evening, while Blakeslee again found his eyes and gave State her final point on a free toss. Just before the whistle blew a double foul was called on State and Oller made them both good, bringing Juniata up to 25, which was their final total. Final score—State, 28, Juniata, 25. The box score.

1920 Football Team Has Had Record Season

 him early in September into a fighting machine that virtually has the right to enter a claim to the college freshman football championship of Pennsylvania and New York, belongs entirely to Coach "Dutch" Hermann, '19. His success in coaching, both this year and last, during which time his teams have not lost a game, is enough indication that he will more than likely be asked to renew his contract and become the coach for next year's Freshman team when the Alumni Athletic Advisory Committee meets through college. The purposes during the latter part of this week.

The decisive defeats of the Penn and Pitta Freshman teams was without doubt the big coup of the Penn State yearlings this fall. The team was worked up at these games by Coach Hermann, and on foreign fields were easily victorious. In winning all of their games this fall, the Freshmen ran up a total of 283 points as against the six by opponents.

THE LINEMEN
 Prominent among the Freshman players who have done good work for the team has been Osborne, a former end on the Dubois high school team. His size and weight led to his being placed on the right tackle job which he held with credit. He is especially good at opening holes in the line, but stands in need of greater speed. He showed marked improvement from the first.

THE BACKFIELD
 Quarterback Miller, formerly of Bethlehem Prep, though weighing but 140 pounds, put up an exceptionally good all-around game. He used good judgment in running the team throughout and showed ability as a punter and placement kicker. He started in defensive play, but needs development in forward passing.

Another surprise was the unexpected development of Dunbar as a halfback. He came unheralded from Indiana Normal, and weighing but 150 pounds, he became the fastest man in the backfield. Coach Hermann declares that Dunbar is the most terrific line blocker he has seen in Freshman ranks all year.

McKelvey, weighing the same as Dunbar, played the other half in good style. The former kick star was especially good at intercepting forward passes and backing up the defensive play.

"Pete" Mauthe was largely responsible for Wolfe's coming to Penn State, and the McKeesport lad has developed far beyond expectations. He is almost as fast as Dunbar, and his strong point is his ability to run from kick formation and throwing forwards. If he can be developed into a punter he will make a very good "combination" man for the backfield. He weighs 160 pounds.

Amos, from the Gordon school, Georgetown, is a good offensive center, but his weakness in backing up the line kept him off of the first team. Bart and Brown had it nip and tuck for the left guard position early in the season, but the latter showed greater speed. Sleppey played a good defensive game at guard and tackle when needed, as did Anderson in the backfield. The strong point in the playing of Harris in the backfield were his good interference and ability as a line plunger, though he was weak on defense.

All the players mentioned compose the list of numerical men of the Freshman squad.

Black is a 180-pounder who had played a star game at tackle for Wyoming Seminary, and was played at right guard with the Freshmen. He was especially good on the defense and put up a hard fighting game at all times.
