HOW THE MILITARY CAMPS ARE TO BE HELD IS EXPLAINED

The question of just what to do with regard to entering the Reserve Officers' Training camps has been brought up many times in the past two days following the new military developments. The Commandant yesterday issued the following instructions for those desiring to enter:

1. Procure three letters of recommendation at once.
2. Mail application blank as follows:
  - (a) 1 of those who go to the Madison Barracks, to Room 432 Commercial Trust Bldg., Philadelphia
  - (b) 1 of those who go to Fort Niagara, to Governor's Island, New York
3. Remain in college, and attend all classes until definite orders are given to move.

Training Camps Start May 8

Word concerning the establishment of training camps for men who desire commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps was received by Captain Ahrend's last Sunday. These camps are to be held at fourteen different points throughout the United States and will be established between May 1 and May 8. The two camps for Pennsylvanians will be established at Madison Barracks and Fort Niagara in the latter State.

Applicants from the 10th, 11th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 21st, 25th, and 26th congressional districts will attend the former and applicants from other districts in Pennsylvania the latter State College is in the 21st congressional district.

According to the present announcement persons who desire to attend these camps must first be passed by one of the five examining officers appointed for the state of Pennsylvania. Captain Ahrend has been appointed one of the examiners. As far as known at present applicants will be required to pass a physical examination. Men attending the camps will serve without pay until the end of the training period, when they will be given an opportunity to take the mental examination for the Officers' Reserve Corps.

Another question that has been raised is just what will be done at the camps. Following is a condensed report of the plans:

Course of Instruction

During the first month of the camp those in attendance will be divided into fifteen companies, regardless of the arm of the service for which the individuals are destined. During this month the qualifications of each man will be studied with a view to assigning the necessary numbers for further instruction in the separate arms of the service.

At the end of the first month, therefore, men will be reassigned in due proportion, so as to form nine infantry companies, three batteries of artillery, two troops of cavalry and one company of engineers. Other men who will have been selected for the coast artillery will proceed to Fort Monroe, Va., or Fort Winfield Scott, Cal., for the remainder of their training. Those who remain at the division camps will receive two months' training after the reassignment mentioned above.

At the end of the whole period the officer in charge will select officers for sixteen infantry divisions by the time the enlisted men can be procured. Each company, troop and battery must furnish 45 officers. Those not selected for use will be commissioned in the Reserve Officers' Corps, if found competent, and will be available for future use.

Other similar camps must follow this first camp. Young men must be admitted to the first camp, but not to the exclusion of older men. In the second and following camps young men will predominate. The fact that other camps will be held at later dates will be of interest to those Penn State men who are undecided about taking the training at this first one.

"Bill" Heppenstall Back

C. W. Heppenstall, one of Penn State's former gridiron stars, now located in Pittsburgh, spent a few days of last week with friends at college, together with his wife and family. During a part of his short visit he viewed the new football material and expressed himself as being highly pleased with the prospects. Mr. Heppenstall is a member of the Athletic Advisory Board of Penn State.

LACROSSE TEAM DROPS FIRST GAMES

The Lacrosse team was unsuccessful so far as scoring goes on their entire trip last week, as they came off with the short end of 4-1 and 15-1 scores with Swarthmore and Lehigh, respectively.

Hallowell proved to be the main stand by, securing both of State's goals, while Dean also showed up well. The State team held Swarthmore to a goal and Lehigh to one. The game with Swarthmore was the first half, but in the second the latter piled up their other three goals. Ogden did some fine playing for Swarthmore and by the end of the game had two goals to his credit.

The game with Lehigh was against one of the best teams of the town and White ever produced. In addition to this their team was well-coached. In spite of the fourteen point difference in the score, this game was hotly fought and closely contested. The playing of Lehigh's third defence, Buclay, has been characterized as wonderful, and Hubert, the first attack, also played a fine game.

The same State team played both games and consisted of Kriebel, goal, Boucher and Brenner, point and cover point Smith, Lloyd and Dunkle, defence, Lewis, center, Baker, Hallowell, and Rogers, attacks, Dean, out home, and Malloy, in home.

Enthusiasm Runs High

A record is absolutely essential in granting credit for college work.

Following Dr. Sparks' talk, Captain Ahrend took up the subject of national preparedness from the military point of view. The first part of Captain Ahrend's discussion was taken up with the organization of the regular army and the duties of the different branches in the service. By this arrangement students interested in military service were given an opportunity to gauge for themselves the branch of the service for which they were best fitted.

Favor Universal Training

The fact that Penn State stood squarely behind the whole plan of universal service and training was brought out in no uncertain fashion at this meeting. Captain Ahrend's reference to universal training and his comparison of such a system with the old unsuccessful volunteer system brought forth prolonged applause from the entire student body.

Captain Ahrend's in his talk dealt briefly with the army canteen and also with the subject of national prohibition during the present period. Although in favor of the latter, he contended that so long as seasons were licensed by law, the army canteen under military supervision was far more desirable than the unregulated sale of liquor to soldiers.

The greater part of Captain Ahrend's talk, however, was taken up with a discussion of the training camps for reserve officers. In this discussion he laid special emphasis on the fact that the government had need for just such men as were to be found at Penn State—men with a college education and a certain amount of training in military matters. Seniors especially were urged by him to attend these camps if at all possible.

The band will give a concert in the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. ### Valuable Etchings Given to College

A valuable collection of etchings of great historical interest was received last week by President Sparks as a gift to the college from Miss Rosenthal, the well known Philadelphia artist. The etchings are prints from Miss Rosenthal's own work, and include striking resemblances of Lincoln, Webster, Morris Grant, Washington and many other noted Americans. These reproductions are larger than life size and will be suitably framed and hung in prominent places in the college building, particularly the Liberal Arts Building.

In addition, there is an immense facsimile of the Declaration of Independence, and reproductions of letters written by each of the signers. Miss Rosenthal also included in his generous gift a copy of the Constitution of the United States in which his etchings of each of the signers is to be found. These pictures will be removed from the book and framed. There are also etchings of the Supreme Court who has held a position on the bench since its beginning, and the entire collection will make a valuable addition to the college buildings.

COLLEGE GIVES SHARE TO HIGH COST FIGHT

Owing to the excessive prices of such common foods as potatoes, onions, cabbage, etc., the school of Agriculture is being flooded with petitions of inquiry from many would-be gardeners, who are going to attempt to cut down expenses by making gardens of their own in their back yards, as to just what to plant and how to go about it. To meet this demand, a special series of ten articles containing the elements of vegetable gardening will be sent for publication to all Pennsylvania newspapers.

These articles will be arranged by the Agricultural faculty and are intended to be Penn State's part in the gardening movement of the day. In addition to the articles, a special bulletin on "Home Vegetable Gardening" will be sent out or may be obtained free of charge by addressing a request to the department of agricultural extension.

LETTERS URGE SUPPORT OF "ABSENT VOTING"

Letters urging the support of the legislative House bill that would provide for "absent voting" and in which the Students of Penn State are very much interested, will be sent out to members of House of Representatives today by students. One letter will be sent to each representative and will be signed by as many students from each of the respective districts that it is possible to get on short notice.

The members of the Civic Club have the matter in charge, and they are intent upon getting us good a showing as possible for the bill when it comes up for a vote in the House within a few days.

SCHOLARSHIP LISTS

In order to avoid possible misunderstanding, the Registrar wishes students of the College to know that in accordance with the lists of candidates who are eligible for "The Louisa Carnegie" and "The John W. White" Scholarships in the three lower classes are made July 1 and August 1, on the basis of college work already completed, but that no one can be considered as eligible who, at the time of making up whatsoever standing against him. It was an entrance condition should remove this deficiency before July 1 of their first year in college, if they wish to be considered eligible for the scholarship list.

JOIN THE RED CROSS

The American Red Cross needs Penn State students as members. There is an idea prevailing among the men students that membership in the Red Cross is expressly for women. This impression is a wrong one. By becoming a member of the Red Cross one merely gives his support to a most humane movement which at this time is in dire need of that support. Anyone can join. No field service is required. There are six classes of membership, and the dues range from one to one hundred dollars. The President of the United States is president of the society, and it reports to Congress. Japan, Russia and Germany have from five to six times as many members in their Red Cross societies as the United States. Every Penn State student should be a member. Registration can be made at President Sparks' office.

OFF THE SICK LIST

"Dutch" Heppmann, coach of the Penn State football and basketball teams, who has been in the Bellefonte Hospital with typhoid fever for the past few weeks, has sufficiently recovered to resume his college duties.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

Dean and Mrs. T. C. Blunsell entertained the Liberal Arts Seniors at their home last Thursday evening.
