RE-ORGANIZATION MUST TAKE PLACE

Record Breaking Enrollment of
New Men—Military Department
To Undergo Change.

W. O. THOMPSON NOW
ACTING COMMANDANT

Never before in the history of Penn State have such conditions that now exist confronted so large a student body as that which is now starting out upon its year's work.

Athletic teams are shot to pieces, the upper classes greatly reduced in number, government has been disorganized and there is an air of don't-know-how-things-will-go all around. Changes due to resignations and the leaving of absence for a number of weeks. A few positions are as yet unfilled. The military department is without a regularly appointed government head, and the reorganization of this and the student government departments will offer a chance for the development of new leaders at once.

With regard to enrollment, President Sparks entertains hopes that at least seventy percent, of the membership of the three upper classes will be back. The registration of Freshmen by Monday evening had broken all previous records for the first day. A total of 401 had been matriculated when the office closed on Monday evening. Applications received from over 750 by the end of last week, and indications point very favorably to a capacity enrollment of first year men.

The Senior class has suffered most from the enlistments in National service. The best that can be looked for at this time is a 60 to 65 per cent enrollment in this class. The Junior class is somewhat better off, and the Sophomore's will be better off comparatively. Including all classes, an enrollment of almost 85 per cent of last year's student body is expected. However, the draft and regular army enlistments are taking more and more men from the college. Many of the students are not returning to college on account of being very close to being drafted in their home districts.

"Sarge" Allen gone
The military department has lost its old friend, "Sarge" Allen, who just recently left for Little Rock, Ark. as a First Lieutenant in the Ordnance section in the army. Commandant of the Major Ahrends is needed with his regiment at Gettysburg and Bandmaster W. O. Thompson has been appointed by President Sparks as provisional commandant pending the arrival of the commandant detailed by the government.

An attempt is being made to secure a Canadian officer who has seen service in France to come here and instruct the cadets. In this manner it is expected that the Penn State drill team will be able to receive excellent training in the methods of warfare that are being followed on the front. If this plan fails, a retired army officer will probably be assigned to duty here.

No Radical Change In Athletic Policy

A meeting of the Alumni Advisory Committee on Athletics was held last Saturday in order to discuss the athletic situation for the year that is now in view. As a result, the committee decided that no radical changes were necessary although recommendations of the National Collegiate Association for cutting down expenses and running athletics on a less elaborate scale than in former years were approved.

The members of the committee who were present were G. R. Meek, '90, chairman; C. W. Heppner, '95; V. Henry, '07; and J. L. Mauthe, '13. Major J. H. M. Andrews, '08, the remaining member of the committee, is with the engineers at Camp Hancock, Ga. and was unable to attend.

Due to the fact that "Dutch" Herman, freshman football and varsity basketball coach, and "Doc" Lewis, coach of the wrestling team, have both gone to officers' training, the coaching staff of the college is somewhat disrupted. No arrangements have been made as yet with reference to filling these vacancies. The football coaches will be Reside, Coach Harlow, Field Coach "Don" Scott, and Trainer Martin. "Bill" Wood, '16, and "Chuck" Yergin, '10, now an instructor in the Dairy Husbandry department, will probably offer their services.

The chief recommendations of the National Collegiate Association were that no early practice should be held; that the eligibility rules should not be lowered; and that no scouting should be done in order to get a line on opposing teams. All of these suggestions were adopted by the Penn State athletic committee. As far as is possible, however, athletics will be continued as usual.

SOPHOMORE NOTICE

All Sophomores desiring to try out for Second Assistant Business Managers of football report at once to the Graduate Manager's office.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR TRACK SEASON

Many Old Men Back, and Prep,
School Stars Insure a Strong
Freshman Squad

Despite the fact that military service has deprived Penn State of the services of some of her best track men and also of some prospective cinder path performers, Coach Martin is very optimistic over prospects for the coming season. The Blue and White trainer is particularly pleased with the material that he is receiving in the incoming Freshman class.

Although there are not so many men with reputations who are entering this year, those who have arrived are all men who have proved their ability in their preparatory school. Present indications are that they will form the nucleus for a strong yearling track squad and will make excellent varsity material next year.

Among the freshman track men are Youst, of Germantown High School of Philadelphia, who has a record of 2 minutes, 1-5 seconds in the half mile, and 51 seconds in the quarter, Deming, of Harrisburg Tech, who has won the half mile at the Penn State interscholastic for the past two years, Eyster, also of Harrisburg Tech, who does the hundred in 10 1-5 seconds, the 220 in 23 seconds, and has a record of 21 feet in the broad jump, and Grubb, of Grubb '19, who has a record of 22 feet, 10 inches in the broad.

Other freshman stars are Pringle, a miler from Episcopal Academy, Philadelphia; Taylor, of Clark of New England, the former quarter-miler and the latter a distance man, and "Dewey" Rogers, of Northeast Manual, Philadelphia, the sensational colored school-boy who has been doing the quarter in 50 seconds.

For the varsity this year, Coach Martin will have a strong squad in spite of the loss of some of his best performers. The greatest loss will probably be that of Captain Barron in the hurdles, for the Blue and White timber top has been running in great form during the summer just passed. Other men who will not be back are Beck, Cabbage, Jones and Darby, in the weights, Shea, captain of the quarter, brother of M. W. Wilson in the jumps and Love and Steele in the distance events.

However, with Gansmuller, Pond, Hoeker and Holland in the dashes, Keith, Lippard and Morrill in the sprints, Shields, Morfit, Orr, Rusty and O'Connell in the half and mile, Kahley and Shanor in the two mile, Runyan, Jefferies, Way and Hatfield in the jumps, and Samuel and Wolfe in the hurdles, and Shea and Beck in the quarter, the Blue and White, Penn State should have a very successful season.

Coach Martin is planning to begin cross country training at once and several meets will be scheduled for this fall. The War Department has requested all colleges to encourage cross country running because it has been found to be excellent training for military service. It is also planned to hold trial track meets every Saturday afternoon for the balance of this month, and Coach Martin is particularly desirous that all freshmen should enter these meets. An inter-class meet for which prizes will be offered will be held this fall.

FREE!

Last Spring, the "Collegian" received permission from the Student Board to print the official Student and Faculty Directory for this year. This directory is now in process of completion at a great expense, but in order to see that every student get into the hands of the students at a minimum cost to them, the "Collegian" has arranged to give a copy free with each subscription. The directory will contain the names and addresses of all members of the faculty, and the name, year, course and address of every student in the college. Further notice will appear when this directory is ready for distribution.

PENN STATE ROLL OF HONOR

In the following "Roll of Honor," the Collegian purposes to print the names of all Penn State men who have gone into the military service of the United States, in any one of its many branches. This list is at present far from complete and as the chief source of information of this kind is the intimate friends of those who are in service, the Collegian will welcome any additions or corrections.

Student Body Is Without Leaders

With the president, vice-president and secretary of the Senior class in army commitments, and almost half of the members of the Student Council not coming back to college, there is reason for quick action on the part of the two upper classes, particularly the Senior class.

Of the 1918 class, President George Wright, Vice-president A. H. Coon, and Secretary W. N. Given, have all received commissions in the army and are now in active service. S. M. Linn, the treasurer, is the only remaining class officer, and he will not return from the West for one or two weeks.

The student government is largely disorganized as a result. There was no election of a Student Board and Council. The Board of Trustees and the Student Council are also in a very unusual condition. The Honor committee is without a chairman, and since the President of the Senior class acts as president of the Student Board and Council, a very unusual condition exists.

In the absence of all of the class officers, members of the Senior class are in a quandary as to what to do. It is the opinion of all that something must be done quickly.

The Athletic Association has also lost its president, J. H. Wilson. Vice-president G. F. Wheeling and Secretary R. P. Burns as a both back.

The personnel of the Student Council as elected last year by the various classes follows, with the names of those who will not return printed in heavy type.

Y. M. C. A. TO LOSE CABINET MEMBERS

While handicapped by the loss of six members of the Cabinet, the Penn State Christian Association is ready to get on with its work.

Those who are lost to the Association and the college this year include Lieut. Barron, of the Cabinet, Norman B. Thompson, who, after a month of special training at Silver Bay, New York, has taken up a post with the Army Y. M. C. A. and is now located at Quantico, Virginia. He expects to spend a year of service at that point.

The Vice President of the Cabinet, Richard Brinker, a Senior, from Greensburg, has responded to the selective draft call and is now on his way to France. Captain Clyde Fowler, who had charge of the New Student work, has received a commission in the United States Army. George L. Wright, President of the Senior class and Chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Christian Association, has been awarded a first lieutenantcy in the Reserve Officers' Corps, and is now in Government service. Marian B. Richardson, a member of the Senior class and Advisory member of the Cabinet, has been awarded a commission in the Ordnance Department of the United States Army and is now located at Washington, D. C. J. Lytle Steele, Treasurer of the Association, has joined the Aviation Corps and is now in training at Ocean City, New Jersey.

The work of the Cabinet this year falls to the second Vice President, W. Kitchner, member of the Senior class. Gilbert Watts, who is Secretary of the Cabinet, is the only remaining member of the Executive Staff. New members will be elected at an early meeting.

FROSH RECEPTION ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Annual Reception to New Men to
Be More Elaborate Than Ever Before.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual reception of the Y. M. C. A. to the Freshman Class, which will be held on Friday evening on the campus in front of Old Main building. Musical events have been arranged for through the courtesy of Dean Robinson, and it is expected that every musical organization in the college will take a prominent part. The Cadet Band will appear and Bandmaster Thompson has arranged for a novel concert to be held during the evening.

The Mandrake Club will also take a prominent part, although at present it is impossible to ascertain how many men of this organization will return to college. Dean Robinson has promised to have the Old Main Club give several receptions and the Penn State Glee Club will also be on hand. An innovation which the Y. M. C. A. hopes will prove successful is the singing of college songs by the entire student body, led by the Glee Club.

The lighting effects have been secured and a banner bearing the word, "Welcome" will appear over the entrance to the campus. Tables with refreshments will be scattered about the campus.

The receiving line will consist of Dr. and Mrs. Spinks, and the following members of the Board of Trustees, H. Walton Altshuler, president, D. S. Bayne, J. H. Wilson, J. H. C. A., H. C. A., Ella L. Orvis, John F. Shields and H. S. Turner. The members of the faculty will also be present and a good time is in store for the Freshmen throughout the entire evening.

ALUMNI ADVISORY COUNCIL FORMED

At the annual meeting of the Alumni Association held during commencement, a new Advisory Council of the Alumni Association was created. It is now the moving spirit of all alumni enterprises.

The council is composed of delegates from the local alumni clubs and alumni secretaries of the classes. The former board of managers of the association are members of the council and form an Executive Committee. The Alumni Secretary is secretary of the council.

The real purpose of the council is to form an effective medium for the exchange of ideas, and an outlet for the interest of the alumni in the college. The council will also act as a liaison between the different branch clubs, class associations, and similar groups.

DOCTOR FOSTER LEAVES

Doctor I. E. Foster, head of the Romance Language department, has been granted a two month's leave of absence to give a course in conversational French to the troops in training at Camp Hancock, Georgia. Doctor Foster will leave for the South on Saturday and he will have full charge of the department of French at the camp. During the summer, the Bonnburg Machine Gun Troop took the course under Doctor Foster, and it was so successful that the government secured him to give a course at Camp Hancock.

MANY ADDITIONS TO THE FACULTY

Total of Fifty-two New Faces to
Be Seen on the Staff of College
Instructors.

A total of fifty-two new additions have been made to the college faculty for this year. There are a total of thirty-one resignations that have been accepted. A number of men have been granted leave of absence for a year to take up various lines of advanced work, so that the new additions will just about balance the faculty number for this year. The size last year. Military service has called many of the faculty members away. The changes are as follows:

- E. O. Anderson, Instructor in Farm Management
P. S. Baker, Assistant in Agronomy
E. D. Bascom, Instructor in Mechanics and Materials of Construction
J. J. Bibby, Instructor in Dairy Husbandry
A. T. Brown, Instructor in Mechanical Engineering
J. P. Calderwood, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering
R. C. McClintock, Instructor in Machine Shop Practice
W. B. Forsythe, College Physician
Paul Gerlaugh, Instructor in Animal Husbandry
A. Hansen, Instructor in Botany
H. J. Hartrant, Instructor in Mechanical Engineering
C. E. Hecker, Instructor in Mechanical Engineering
R. R. Hiltner, Instructor in Bacteriology
J. E. Howell, Instructor in English
C. E. Kennedy, Instructor in Physical Education
W. B. Forstner, Instructor in Forging
Henry Linsert, Instructor in Mathematics
A. E. Logan, Teaching Fellow in Economics
J. L. McKenna, Instructor in Economics
E. S. Merks, Instructor in Engineering Drawing

GOVERNOR CUTS APPROPRIATION

Penn State Receives a Total of $1,275,000 From Legislature;
No Building Fund.

Governor Brumbaugh was forced to slice large amounts off of the Penn State appropriation this year, and the result is the disappointing fact that any part of the new building program will have to be abandoned. The amount of the appropriation given for the college to work on for the next two years is $1,275,000.

However, this is a substantial increase over the appropriation of two years ago when the college was given only $955,000 for its work. The Governor was forced to cut down on the state appropriations. The amount given to Penn State is just $225,000 less than the legislature authorized, their figure being a million and a half. The maintenance fund was reduced by the Governor by almost $100,000. When compared with the extensive growth of the college in the past few years this appropriation compares most unfavorably with the funds previously given. The college was refused the $350,000 that was wanted for a new armory.

The distribution of the appropriation follows:
Maintenance $1,000,000
New buildings 100,000
Armory 50,000
New farm land 50,000
Agricultural and Home Economics extension 192,000
Engineering extension 10,000
Summer session 15,000
Tobacco experiments 5,000

The act of Congress, known as the Smith-Lever act, appropriates for 1917-18 a sum of $192,000 for the agricultural and home economics extension. The terms of this act require the college to secure a like amount from the state.

The state government was asked for an appropriation totaling $2,935,000, proper for the year. It was given $1,275,000, new buildings, $1,061,000, armory, $350,000, new farm land, $60,000; agricultural and home economics extension, $192,000; summer session, $25,000; tobacco experiments, $5,000.

The legislature authorized the following amounts:
Maintenance, $1,100,000; new buildings, $105,000; nothing for armory; nothing for land; $100,000 for agricultural and home economics extension, $25,000; summer session, $25,000; tobacco experiments, $5,000.

The appropriations made to other colleges and universities in the state for the next two years are as follows:
University of Penn. . . . $1,029,000
University of Pittsburgh . . . 675,000
Temple University 170,000
Duke University 15,000

In acting upon college appropriations for the next two years the Governor made cuts as follows from the legislative appropriation:
Penn State, 15 per cent, Temple, 15 per cent, Penn, 13 per cent; Pitt, 10 per cent.

Help Make Up Roll of Honor

"The Collegian" will publish from time to time a "Penn State Roll of Honor" showing, as far as limited information will permit, the names of the Penn State men who have entered the country's military service. Hundreds are now in active service or in training for entrance into one of the many departments.

It is impossible to present a list of the undergraduates in the service that would be complete. This information must be gathered slowly, and for the most part from intimate friends of those in the service. The college as yet has no definite information in this respect, and "The Collegian" is unable to give the present location of all men eligible for this "Roll of Honor." We would greatly appreciate any information of this character that the students can give in order that the lists can be made as complete as possible.

Published in this issue is an incomplete list of the 1917, 1918 and 1919 students who, as far as could be learned, have received commissions through their training in the Officers' Reserve camps. This list will be added to from week to week, and an attempt will be made to include every undergraduate and recent graduate who has enlisted in any branch of the service, together with his rank and location.

REASONS WHY

- Every Penn State man should subscribe for the "Penn State Collegian"—
1. Published by Students for Students and Alumni.
 2. Its policy is progressive and constructive to the interests of the College.
 3. It is the only medium through which the late College news is presented to the students and alumni in a truthful, complete and interesting manner.
 4. Through it you can keep in close touch with all College affairs,—a necessity on the part of every student.
 5. An official Student and Faculty Directory is given free with every student subscription.
 6. With your help we will be able to guarantee weekly publication throughout the College year, and therefore—

FOOTBALL PRACTICE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Fewer Prep School Stars
Than Former Years, But
1921 Will be Strong

MARTIN WILL COACH IN HERMANN'S ABSENCE

From all indications, the football team that represents the class of 1921 this fall will be but little inferior to the freshman teams of the past two years. This is despite the fact that conditions which have necessarily affected athletes throughout the country. The yearlings this fall, however, will not be under the coaching of "Dutch" Herman, for the moult of two championship freshman elevens is now at an officers' training camp trying for a commission.

According to the plans of the Athletic Committee, no special freshman coach will be engaged to take Herman's place, but the incoming gridiron athletes will be under the direction of "Bill" Martin, track coach and trainer, who has assisted in coaching in previous years. No doubt "Bill" Wood, captain of the 1915 eleven and present head of the two year men, will devote as much time as possible to helping Martin.

Freshman practice will begin with the opening of college today, and all candidates should report this afternoon. The number of men with reputations who are expected to enter Penn State is smaller than in former years, but indications are that some future varsity material will be unattached.

Lineemen who are expected to make good on the yearling eleven are Gehring, a center from Lafayette High School, Buffalo, N. Y.; Bessert, of Lock Haven Normal, Enfield, of Swarthmore High School, Davis, of Minersville High School, and Baer, of Scott High School, Toledo, Ohio. Baer in particular is expected to show some promise, for he was the star line-man on the team that won the high school championship of the United States last fall, defeating Haverhill High School of Boston in a post-season game.

There is only one end of whom anything is known, and he is Korb, from West Philadelphia High School in the back-field, some good men are expected, among them being Williams, a quarterback from Monessen High School; Crum, of Derry High School; Snyder, of McKinley High School, Washington, D. C.; Grimes, of West Brownsville High School; Stoops, of Slippery Rock Normal, and McCullum, of Kiski. The latter is an all-around athlete and is expected to earn a back-field berth.

The freshman schedule that was arranged remains intact and assures the yearlings of some strong competition. Syracuse and Pitt freshmen are the two big games, but such schools as Bethlehem Prep, Wyoming Seminary, Kiski, Bloomsburg Normal, Mansfield Normal and Bellefonte Academy are sure to be represented by strong teams.

Over 650 Frosh Matriculated

Today witnessed the close of one of the largest registrations of new students that was ever experienced at Penn State, when a total of more than 725 new students were matriculated. This number includes over 650 men who will constitute this year's Freshman class.

A record was established by the Herdman's office, admitting 100 new students last Monday. This means that on the average, one new Penn State man was matriculated every minute and a half of the day. Even on Tuesday an average of one every two minutes was attained, bringing the total registration of new men to 713 by the close of the second day.

WINS MEDAL AGAIN

J. A. Sallado '19, has for the second time won the President's scholarship medal. This medal is awarded every spring and fall to the student of any class who attains the highest average of scholarship. Sallado had an average of 94.7 for the second semester last year.

Three Letter Men Back to Form Nucleus of 1917 Varsity

SCRUBS AND 1920
MATERIAL TO HELP

With but one man from last year's team returning through graduation and with the material from the yearling eleven of last fall, the prospects for a victorious football team this year were bright to say the least. But that was before the United States entered the great world war. Enlistments, officers' training camps and the selective conscription have made vast inroads on Penn State's athletes, with the result that but three letter men will be on hand to form the nucleus for the 1917 eleven.

Carmack, Robb and Conover are the men who will be the bulwark of the Blue and White team this year. Fortunately, nine members of the scrubs will be on hand and these together with about a dozen men from the freshman squad will have to round out the team. However, the coaches, Harlow, Scott and Martin, are not discouraged, for the majority of the other colleges are in about the same situation. Pitt in particular having lost all but four of her championship team.

Perhaps the biggest loss to Penn State will be "Bob" Higgins, who has played end for three years and was captain elect of this year's team. Swain, Egan and Cabbage are other ends who will not be back. From the line, O'Donnell, Krushank, Parrish and Wilson will be lost, while in the back-field, Beck, Ewing and Hess will be missed the most.

The probable line-up of the team this year is merely a matter of conjecture, since no practice has been held as yet. Conover at center and Zarnay at tackle will probably play their old positions, and Robb is sure to be in the back-field. For line-men, Coach Harlow will have Smith, Kniff, Tavenner and Robinson from the scrub and Pirshing, Hills, Black, Sleppy, Hart and Amos from the 1920 squad.

The wing positions will perhaps be the weak spot of the team this year. So far, Raab, captain of the freshman team, appears to be the only man with experience, unless Lindquist returns. It is possible that an attempt will be made to develop some good ends from last year's freshman backs, but just who will be chosen will depend on what develops during the practice.

In the back-field, W. C. Grimes, of the scrubs, and Hills and W. C. Grimes, of the freshmen, will fight it out for quarterback. Robb will take care of one half, while Unger, Gross and Wilson of the scrubs will combine with Wolfe, Griffith, McKelvey and Dunbar for the remaining positions.

No early practice has been held this fall and regular practice will begin to-day. The schedule as arranged last Spring has not been altered except that Muhlenberg has cancelled the game which was to have opened the Blue and White season on September 16. Muhlenberg abandoned early practice this fall, and several colleges do not open until September 26, they felt that they could not get a team together in time to play State three days later. The varsity and freshman schedules will be found elsewhere in this issue.

TRACK LEADERS ENLIST

At the conclusion of the Pitt meet last June, H. E. Barron, '18, was elected to lead the Blue and White trackmen for the coming year, with C. C. Hill, '18, as manager. Neither of these men will be in college this year, but Barron has enlisted in the Ordnance Reserve Corps and Hill also being in military service.

The baseball team elected G. P. Wheeling, '18, who caught the majority of the games, as captain for this year, and F. P. Allison, '18, as student manager. The latter will probably not return to college, but according to reports, Wheeling will be back.
