If one should take the time to study the report of the examiners of the draft-tees for the National Army, one could hardly fall to note the large number of youths, who have been called before them, that failed to pass the physical tests Remembering, that boys who have been called are in the prime of life, they have not been subjected to the hardships and strains of men of the or twenty years their seniors, yet many of them are ready, almost, for the scrap heap. The first question must be, "What's the reason?" The probable answer is, too little attention has been siven to the subject of health and hygieno. Many of the conditions for which men were rejected were the result of faulty habits, poor living conditions, inattention to the ordinary rules of health, and indifference, which is potching more than poor hygiene. For the ments of the senior of th of health, and indifference, which is nothing more than poor hygiene. For ages indifference to the needs of the human body has been characteristic of the races. It has only been within recent years that modern science has been applied to human life, in the prevention of disease, and the clongation of the span of life, thus improving man's capacity for work and pleasure There is not a mun or a woman today who does not admite the physically perfect individual; the individual

The interest in soccer among the atudents will probably be very keen this year and practice may be witnessed any evening on the field just south of New Beaver A large squad has reported to Coachs Crowell and Bowman affid a good nucleus for another winning team is back in college Those of last year's Yarsity who have returned are "Bunny" Arner, "Dam' Cupit, "Johnny" Lucas, and Fogle. The large squad has produced many good men and the leading candidates for positions on the 'varsity are James, Merkic, Pageant, and Flannigan of last year's Freshman team, Roberts, '18, and Catanach, Turn-try. Speers and Marshall of '19. The competition among the candidates is very keen, however, and there are sure to be some stiff battles for positions before the final lineup is certain. One thing is practically certain, however, and that is that Penn State will be represented by a team which will be cepable of keeping up its reputation on the soccer field.

Manager Balley is now at work arranging a schedule for an eastern trip This is not complete as yet but will be announced in the near future. The Freshman soccer squad is also very large and the yearling team meets the 'varsity every day. Some stiff scrimmage has been held lately, which is developing many good men on both sides. New men for the Freshman squad are requested to drop".

Penn State has felt the peed of a good field goal kicker ever since the graduation of Levi Lamb, who was the last of dependable kickers. Much attention has been given in an attempt to develop a consistent kicker, but each season has shown the same result—inconsistency.

With the advent of Field Conch Scott this year, efforts were resumed in this connection, with Wolfe and several others as the candidates With the ordinary style of kick, however, Wolfe proved a dismal failure, but when Conch Scott began teaching him the Western style or instep kick, he took to it naturally, and the result was shown in the first game of the senson, when out of three attempts, he scored

Engineering Notes

The Engineering Experiment Station has just finished a series of investigations of the explosiveness of mait sprouts, barley and ground feed. These materials are run through an attrition mill for the purpose of determining whether an explosive mixture is produced An artificial source of ignition is supplied and with certain mixtures explosions of considerable intensity occur Enwer's mait, when dried and ground, is considered highly inflammable. However, the most explosive material seems to be clevator dust and dust from flour mills At the special mill built for this purpose flashes of flome are produced, and the effect of protective devices is studied Two interesting builterins have recently been prepared in the School of Engineering which will later be printed in the President's report and prepared to distribution. One contains the result of work conducted in the Thermal Testing Plant during the last year on the loss of heat through glass and on the effectiveness of air space in building walls as a protection against cold It is found that such air spaces are very effective.
