To Start Fourth Ordnance Course

The fourth of the series of courses in stores keeping to prepare men for service in the Ordnance Reserve Corps, will be started next Wednesday. It will continue for a period of six weeks, and will be under the supervision of J. Orvis Keller who has had charge of this work since the departure of Professor Diemer.

To take this course a man must be either a college graduate, or must have had practical commercial experience in stores keeping. A fee of twenty dollars is required.

The weekly schedule consists of the following subjects: five hours of military lectures, lectures in scientific management, three hours of conversational French, four of stores practice, three of foundry, three of forging, three of machine shop, and four of military drill.

After successfully completing the course, the men will be enlisted as privates in the Ordnance Reserve Corps, and will be sent to an arsenal where further training will be given. At the end of this second training, the men will be given non-commissioned offices, and there will be a possibility of earning a commission.

Mr. Patterson was born on a farm in Huntingdon County on Nov. 14, 1851, thus making his age about 65 years. He attended public and normal schools and then came to State College for a short time. With the class that graduated in '71. Later, however, he left and studied law in Blair County and was admitted to the Clearfield County Bar in 1878. He was elected to the Board of Trustees of State College by delegates from Agricultural societies.

HOW OFTEN SHOULD MY EYES BE EXAMINED?
The eyes should be examined every year. They do not always change in that time but you cannot know whether they do or don't if you do not have them examined. If no change is necessary I will be glad to tell you so. Don't neglect the eyes. They are the most important organ we have, and if you let them go longer than a year without attention you are neglecting them.

Pennsylvania Day

The Day's Events

The usual assembly of the student body and visitors will usher in the "day" at 10:30 in the Auditorium, at which time Secretary Wilson is expected to speak. The review of the cadet regiment will be held at 1:30 on East Beaver Field. At this time the James A. Beaver and Henry W. Shoemaker medals will be given to the Sophomore and Freshman companies showing the greatest proficiency in drill. The Lehigh-Penn State football game will start immediately after, on New Beaver Field at 2:30 P. M.

In the evening the Glee Club will perform at eight o'clock in the Auditorium. This will be the first public appearance of the Glee Club this year and a good evening's entertainment is assured.

In response to the requests of numerous student committees, Dean Holmes will be the speaker at the Sunday chapel, at eleven. The stand taken by these students was that at a time like this, one of the faculty members should speak in preference to an outside speaker.

Whether or not there will be an orchestra concert on Sunday afternoon has not yet been decided.

The different schools of the college are preparing for record-breaking exhibits in all the departments and it is reported that they will be most successful. These exhibits will be open to visitors all day Saturday and probably on Friday. Among them are included the following: Fruits, flowers and vegetables, Horticultural building, Dairy products, Dairy building, Farm crops, Agricultural building, Livestock, Stock Judging pavilion, Dairy Cattle, Dairy barns, Forestry, Forestry building, Botany, Botany building, College Historical Museum, Library, General Engineering Exhibit Engineering building, A. Electrical exhibit, Engineering building D, Industrial and Fine Arts, second floor Old Main, Mining and Geology, New Mining building, and Home Economics, Woman's building and McAllister Hall.

PROMINENT SPEAKER HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Charles D. Hurrey, who is a specialist in work among foreign students, comes to Penn State next Sunday as the college speaker for the day. Mr. Hurrey's wide experience and intimate knowledge with the large number of foreign students in this country gives him a field upon which he is well qualified to speak.

Mr. Hurrey is a graduate of the University of Michigan in the class of 1900. After four years' experience in the secretaryship of the Student Christian Association work at Indiana University, and as a State Secretary in Michigan, he was called to the Secretaryship of the Student Department of the International Committee for the West. During the last four years he travelled extensively, visiting practically all of the leading colleges and universities from Ohio to the Pacific coast. In 1907 he attended the Conference of the World's Student Christian Federation in Japan, and spent five months visiting the principal student centers of Japan, China, Korea and the Philippines.

In the spring of 1908 he arrived in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and spent the following three years as the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association work for the entire continent of South America. During this time he made repeated visits to the various South American Republics, and helped to organize the first International Student Conference of South America. Returning to the United States in 1912, he accepted the call to the Executive Secretaryship of the Student Department of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America, and has filled this position until September 1st, 1916, when he accepted the General Secretaryship of the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students.

MISS WILLIAMS LEAVES TO ACCEPT NEW POSITION

With the resignation and departure of Miss Williams, formerly secretary to Dean Watts of the Agricultural School, the students who are taking courses on "The Hill" may rightfully feel that they have lost a good friend. Although not a member of the faculty, Miss Williams probably came in closer personal touch with the men than any one in the Agricultural Department. Miss Williams has accepted a position in the School of Agriculture who is now in Philadelphia, and left to take up her new work Monday. Had she remained here, she would have completed eight years next May. Without a doubt, there is not a student registered in the School of Agriculture who is not indebted to Miss Williams for some kindness, and who does not wish her the best of success in her new location.

1918 MEETS TONIGHT

No quorum was present at a meeting of the Senior class called for Monday night, and another meeting has been called for 6:45 tonight in Old Chapel. The Pennsylvania Day dance problem will be discussed, and two members elected to Student Council.

There is always room for one more. Earn a prize of $16 by getting COLLEGIAN subscriptions.

Collegian Offers Free Trip To Pitt

The COLLEGIAN, through the medium of a subscription contest has decided to give an opportunity for one man to see the Pitt game on Thanksgiving Day free of charge, provided he demonstrates his desire to receive the reward by a practical application of his "pup" and ability to obtain subscriptions between now and Nov. 1st. This contest is open to all students in college this year, with the exception of the members of the COLLEGIAN staff.

A cash prize of $15.00 will be awarded to the man who turns in the highest number of subscriptions during the time specified. A second prize of ten dollars will be the reward of the runner-up in this contest. This sum is almost sufficient to cover railroad fare to and from Pittsburgh. In order to give the contestants an added opportunity to make good, the reduced rate of $1.25 per year will be in effect until the contest closes on November 1st. After that time, the price will be $1.50. The further inducement of a student directory with each subscription will also be offered. This is an excellent chance for a man with the right amount of initiative to be "among those present" when the Blue and White eleven trots on the field at Pitt in the annual Thanksgiving Day classic. All who wish to enroll for the contest should report at the COLLEGIAN office in the Nittany Printing Company building this evening at 6:30 o'clock, when full instructions will be given.
