

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT

HAROLD BARRON '18, TELLS OF THE "SUNNY SOUTH" Augusta, Ga

We are continuing our course in Ordnance at the arsenal under Captain J. S. Wood, a former West Point cadet...

The town of Augusta has about the same population as Germantown, Philadelphia, and you can imagine the problem these people have of trying to entertain 30,000 soldiers who have almost doubled the population...

Disipation here is similar to that in State College, with the exception that Bellefonte is not duplicated. We are having a dance for the Ordnance Corps at one of the hotels...

One of the displeasing features of the town is the greed of some of the merchants. Complaints of this kind are reflected discreditably on the merchants of this burg...

Our army work at the arsenal consists of absorbing as much as possible about Army Regulations, Ordnance Regulations, Ordnance forms, store-house duties, automatic pistol and rifle parts and functions, headquarters routine and target erection...

The food, of course, includes adulterated water which never dreamed of such a high honor as being named "milk" and army bread which is forced into second place by Scott's toast!

There is no place where you are so sure of meeting boys whom you know than in Augusta at night time. I went in town alone last week and met Sergeant Bishop, '16, the basketball player, going into the theatre...

dismantled by 5 p. m., ready to start repairs. The French have been in the custom of taking three or four days to get this far, from what I understand...

I am general foreman of the erecting and machine shops. This work covers that part of my special apprenticeship. I have 20 men under me...

When this reaches you I will have finished my fifth month in uniform, and have not had a single regret over going into the service.

Remember me to all Charles Gibson Brown, Jr.

PENN STATE FORESTERS NOW WITH SAMMIES IN ENGLAND

My dear President Sparks: We left Washington so quickly that I did not have time to answer your letter, so I am writing you now from some place in England...

We had an uneventful voyage across the Atlantic and landed in Scotland. The time hung very heavily on our hands while on the boat, as we had rather limited quarters both for sleeping and for exercise...

The Scotch and English are very hospitable. On our way, by train, from our landing place, in Scotland, to this camp we were served tea or coffee and cake or bread some six or seven times...

I am sending the list you asked for. For some reason, the man who took our pictures did not bring around the proofs, so I was unable to send you one I hope, though, that I will be able to locate the proofs when I get back to Washington...

CAPTAIN E. D. WALKER WRITES FROM FRANCE

Company A, 15th U. S. Engineers, American Expeditionary Force, via New York, Sept. 30, 1917.

I have intended to write to you before this but have been exceedingly busy with my work and have travelled about a good deal since landing here...

We have taken over parts of the Paris-Orleans shops. They do not compare with those in Altoona, but they are bigger than the average P. R. shops...

SOLEY & KIDD 402 Main PHOTOGRAPHER Fraternities, Clubs and Societies. Amateur Work. Official Photographers to the Penn State LaVie. Give Us a Chance To Show You

I have three "State" men in my company. James Alva Watson is a corporal and Watkins (Forestry 1916, I think) is also a corporal. Juppeniz, 1915, is a private. The boys had a ball game this afternoon with a company from another branch of the service...

Sincerely yours, Elton D. Walker

Mining Notes

Dean W. R. Craze attended the semi-annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers at St. Louis, Mo., October 31. At this meeting special attention was devoted to the work of the War Minerals Committee and to the other problems of mining or mineral nature relating to the war...

AG. SOCIETY PREPARES FOR PENNA. DAY EXHIBIT

Dean Watts delivered a short address at the meeting of the Agricultural Society on Thursday evening. His talk was general and pertained somewhat to the agricultural fair which will be given under the direction of this organization...

DEAN SACKETT AT PHILA.

Dean R. L. Sackett attended the anniversary exercises of the founding of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, last week-end, as a representative of the college in the absence of President Sparks.

LOVE'S PRAYER

Out of the awful darkness, Out of the doubt and fear, A feeling without likeness Assures me that thou art near Assures that above all temptation, Above all the trials and cares, Rises the soul of a Nation In the life that is soldier fares O love that is past understanding, That bridges the sin worn way, Keep the lives of those commanding, Above all sinning, we pray

"I would be sincerely sorry to see the men and boys in our colleges and schools give up their athletic sports and I hope most sincerely that the normal course of college sports will be continued as far as possible, not only to afford a diversion to the American people when we shall, no doubt, have our share of mental depression, but as a contribution to the national defense, for our young men must be made physically fit in order that later they may take the place of those who are now of military age, and exhibit the vigor and alertness which we are proud to believe to be characteristic of our young men."

Gridiron Gossip

When you consider sensational endings, the game last Saturday must be given first place by an overwhelming majority! The West Virginia players took their defeat very hard, most of them being on the verge of tears. They fought a good fight and deserve great credit for the game they played.

A mob of students besieged the track house after the game in vain efforts to get "Charlie" Way to appear. But there was "nothing doing". According to those in a position to know, Penn State really had another touchdown when Pond punted over the goal line in the final quarter. Spectators at that end of the field claim that Snedoga touched the ball before Rauch fell on it. However, the referee said no. Once the Penn State line found itself, there was not a chance for Wesleyan to gain except around end or on forward passes. Their interference on end runs was very fine and they invariably gained ground. This was not due to any weakness on the part of the Blue and White wingmen, however.

With a weak line, Penn held Glenn Warner's Pitt aggregation to a 11-6 score, a result which should be somewhat encouraging to Penn State rooters.

TO DEMONSTRATE RESULTS OF AGR. EXPERIMENT

A conference of leading bankers, newspaper editors, the State College Board of Trustees, and probably Governor Brumbaugh, will be held at Snow-shoe on November 9 for the purpose of observing the results of an experiment worked out on DeKalb soil. The men who have been conducting the experiment will tell about the results obtained, and will also show its possibilities. The Agricultural Department hopes to make useful soil out of many other areas that are barren at this time, by this method.
