Varsity Football

But the line holds. The State defense tightened. Gross replaced Ulery at fullback and the line began to show the fight that they had displayed the previous week at W and J. Three successive plunges netted Wesleyan just one yard, and on the last play, they were off-side. The resulting five yard penalty appeared to be a break in favor of Penn State, but it proved otherwise, for on the last down, instead of again bucking the line, Snedegar hurried a forward pass to Hymes and the latter went over for a touchdown. It is probable that with the ball on the one yard line, the visitors would have tied the line again and would have been held for downs. But that is neither here or there. They scored, and Fisher kicked the goal.

Pond's Score Not Counted
During the balance of the game, West Virginia was outplayed. Fate seemed to be against the Blue and White. In the third quarter, Way hurled a long forward to Pond, and the latter crossed the line, but a zealous official had discovered that Way was not five yards behind the line at the time when he threw the ball. To be exact, he was just four yards, two and one-half feet back of the line according to official measurements. A few minutes later, Wesleyan punted out of bounds on their own 15 yard line. Two plays through the line gained eight yards for Penn State, but at this point, the "arsity was penalized five yards for offside, the only penalty against them for the day. The result was the loss of the ball on downs. From then on, West Virginia was on the defensive and the excitement of the last period has already been told.

Varsity Is Game

Penn State again displayed the fight and gameness that has characterized the play of the team all year, but in the first quarter they looked decidedly bad. The chief fault seemed to lie with the secondary defense, and they were powerless against Wesleyan's short forward passes. On the offense, the team showed an improvement over the W and J game, but the interference was tagged. Way and Gross showed up best for Penn State in the backfield.

Calac A Sensation

The out-standing feature of West Virginia's play was the work of Calac, the Indian at end, and of Snedegar in the backfield. Calac gave one of the best exhibitions of end play seen here for several years and he was in every play. Snedegar made most of gains for the visitors and he ran the team in excellent fashion. Wesleyan played good hard football throughout, and they were without doubt the best visiting team seen on New Beaver Field for several years. The line-up—

Big Wrestling Meets

he added, The authorities at Princeton have not decided as yet whether they will have a wrestling team this year, but if they do, they will also be added to the Penn State schedule.

The Freshman-Sophomore scrap meet will be held sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation, no date being set at present. The annual inter-class meet will probably be held in January. The scrap meet this year should furnish keen competition, for the younglings have a likely looking bunch ahead of them.

The Freshmen have a squad of about fifty men who are practicing three nights a week under the instruction of Captain Long and Schultz of the 'arsity squad. There is, however, a dearth of heavyweight material the majority of the new men weighing about 135 pounds. No doubt most of the big men are now out for football, but the coaches hope that some "hulkies" will turn out soon. Practice is held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:00 o'clock and there is still plenty of chance for men to make the team.

The four candidates will not do much active work until after Christmas, although many of them are taking easy workouts already. Captain Long, Schultz and Czarnecki are the only members of last year's team who are now in college so that they will be at least four positions to fill. In case "Doc" Lewis receives a commission at the officers' training camp, "Chuck" Yeager will do the coaching but otherwise, Lewis will be on the job as in other years.

Basketball

Last year proved to be much in the nature of a record year, with two games lost out of fourteen. As it was, Penn State finished second in the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Basketball League.

Soccer Team Wins Opening Contest

The Penn State soccer team opened its season with a victory over the strong Juniata Shops team at Altoona last Saturday, the score being 2 to 0. McFadden and Cupit were the men who scored for the Blue and White, the latter's score being on a penalty kick. The game was hotly contested from start to finish and the practically green State team, by their team-work, overcame the superior individual play of the Juniata aggregation.

McFadden scored his goal during the closing minutes of the first half, while Cupit's penalty kick came about the middle of the second session. Juniata's inability to score was due to the strong defense put up by Arner at goal and James and Spens at fullbacks. Mattner, Cupit, Catnach and Mearkle also played well for Penn State. The line-up—

SOPHOMORES WIN ANNUAL CROSS COUNTRY SCRAP

The annual cross country run between the two lower classes was won by the Sophomores last Saturday afternoon on the New Beaver field. Only the first five men counted and were awarded their numerals, these were seven Sophs and thirteen Freshmen competing, and of these, 1920 took first, second and fifth places and 1921 third and fourth. Each place counted one point, thus making the score 3 to 2, in favor of the Sophomores. The course was to the red barn and back, a distance of about three and three-eighths miles.

The men in the order in which they finished and their times follow: Shamor, '20, 17:31.1-10; Orr, '20, 17:50; Romig, '21, 18:27; Pitts, '21, 18:35; and Rustus, '20, 18:58.

TAX ON MOVIES WILL NOT CHANGE PRICE HERE

In spite of the fact that a "tax" on all the theatre patrons goes into effect all over the country tomorrow, movie fans of State College will continue to gain this form of pleasure at the old rates of admission. In other words, the management of the Nittany Theatre Company, at least for the time being, will pay the government tax out of its own pocket, and moviegoers will really become cheaper instead of more expensive.

According to the new law, each theatre manager has the right to levy a tax of one cent on every ten, or fraction thereof, that is charged for admission. Then the show houses here could make a charge of eleven and seven-eighths cents on ten and fifteen cents admissions, respectively; but they plan to have the patron charged only nine and thirteen cents, in reality, the tax being made up by the houses while they continue to charge the old rate of admission. However, most theatres throughout the country are advancing their charges five and ten cents upon each admission.

On Saturday evening he will deliver a lecture at the Methodist church on Napoleon Sunday morning he will speak at both chapels and at 7:30 in the evening at the Methodist church. His reputation is national and State College is fortunate in securing him for the week-end.

ANNUAL BELLEFONTE FROSH GAME SATURDAY

The Freshman football team will meet their old rivals, Bellefonte Academy, on New Beaver Field next Saturday. This has been an annual occurrence for several years and usually provides a good, well-played game, with the defeats and victories pretty evenly distributed. Bellefonte has experienced an off year in the beginning of this season, but is being gradually whipped into shape in preparation for next Saturday's game. They won their first game with Lewistown, but were trimmed by Indiana two weeks ago with a 106 to 0 score. Last week they came off at the short end of a 69 to 0 score with the strong Mansfield Normal team. The team has been doing some strenuous work this week to get into shape for the State Freshman game and the Pitt Fresh game next week.

Penn State Still Leads In Fund

Following the lead which Penn State made in contributing toward the Relief work among prisoners of war and among our own soldiers encamped throughout this country, other colleges have taken up the work and have reported various results. Judging from other figures, the amount pledged at Penn State has not been equalled by any college as yet. Executives of the Council of North American Student Movements, of whom John R. Mott is chairman, credit Penn State with having responded in a remarkable and creditable manner to the call. The following list is complete to October 26th.

Penn State: Seventeen student leaders gave $1,500. Campaign total $3,235.40. Exeter Academy: Cabinet of eight pledged $250. Student Council of ten pledged $350. Total campaign pledges $4,000 (230 men in school). Rutgers: Twenty student leaders pledged $411. General campaign still on. Total not available. Teachers College, Columbia University: Eighteen student leaders (men and women) pledged $850. General campaign not yet held. Hamilton: $2,000 pledged by 180 students and faculty. Syracuse (N. Y.): Conference of student leaders and faculty men to discuss campaign plans, pledge $500. Seventeen persons present. New York City Conference to discuss campaign plans pledged 1,500. Thirty-five faculty and students present. Virginia Military Institute: $3,500 pledged. One hundred cadets and faculty yet to be seen. Estimated total $5,000. Manchester (Ind.) College: Two hundred forty students pledged $1,200. University of North Carolina: Men subscribed $2,900. Grinnell: Three hundred students contributed $2,200 in the first hour of the campaign. Red Cross Dance

Meanwhile the dancing in the Armory will continue, so that some may eat while others dance, and vice versa. The dancing will keep up until 9:30 in the evening. Being an all-college affair, Freshmen are permitted and are urged to attend, and as it will probably be the only function of its kind held this year, it is hoped that the students will seize the opportunity to have a fine time and at the same time help a worthy cause.
