

All Out For the New
Scrap On Old
Beaver

Henn State Collegian.

Plan To Be Aboard That
Special Train To Pittsburgh

Du. E. W. Runkle
Box 583

VOL. XIII. No. 11

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY, November 21, 1917

PRICE FIVE CENTS

PENN STATE AMBULANCE UNIT TO REMAIN HERE

Men Are Quartered In Old Main And Will Be Here For An Indefinite Length Of Time

TO ASSIST IN DRILLING THE CADET REGIMENT

The Penn State Unit of the United States Army Ambulance Service arrived in State College last Saturday night from Allentown and took up quarters in Old Main building where they will be stationed for an indefinite period. The unit, commanded by First Lieutenant Edwin B. Lawrey, consists of forty men all of whom are here with the exception of privates "Ben" Cabbage and "Jim" O'Donnell, who will join their unit as soon as the football season is over.

The unit was transferred to State College entirely through the efforts of Dr. Sparks, who on his recent trip to Washington sought the aid of Secretary of War Baker, and through him the consent of the Commandant of the Allentown Encampment. While here the men will continue their training in military and hospital work and will also receive instruction in Cavalry, national French. The undergraduate members of the unit will have the opportunity to take about six credit hours of college work. Present plans are carried out the ambulance men will assist the military department in the instruction of the cadet regiment. There are thirty-three former Penn State students in the unit.

FRESHMAN TEAMS BATTLE AT PITT

Cochran Martin's Eleven Is Primed For Hard Struggle—Pitt Fresh Have Strong Team

Penn State's undefeated freshman football team will play its final game of the 1917 season on Saturday, when it meets the Pitt freshman team at Pittsburgh. Indications are that this battle will be a worthy preliminary to the annual Thanksgiving Day classic between the two "varsity" teams. Both teams are confident that they will gain the victory and they are all primed for a hard contest.

Last year, the Blue and White freshmen returned with a well-earned victory, the score being 7 to 0. The game was close from the outset and Wolfe won the game for Penn State by a sensational run for a touchdown. Smearing under this defeat, the Pitt team is eager for a chance to get revenge on Saturday.

In so far as comparative records go, the Penn State freshmen appear to be by far the strongest. Coach Martin's protégés have not yet been defeated, while Pitt has lost to Kiski, Syracuse and Penn. The first two teams have been defeated by the Blue and White eleven. Syracuse by an overwhelming margin.

However, comparative scores are usually with just about nothing, and this is exceedingly evident in this case. The Pitt team will meet the Freshmen in a far stronger atmosphere of expectation than the one that lost to Syracuse and Penn. Moreover, they are playing on their own field, which always makes a Pitt team fight harder.

The management originally intended to have telephone returns from the game, but this plan has been abandoned. Last year, under normal conditions, the Freshman returns failed to pay, so it was deemed inadvisable to chance a loss this year.

MANSFIELD FALLS BEFORE FRESHMEN

Brilliant Open Field Work of Freshman Backs Enables Team To Score An Easy Victory

The Penn State Freshmen took the Mansfield Normal School eleven into camp on Saturday afternoon on New Beaver Field, where they defeated them by the score of 31 to 0. Several of the Yearling first-string men did not get into the fray, and those who filled their positions played splendidly. However, Gehring was missed both in line plunging and kicking goals from touch-downs, as only one was registered during the entire game, the others falling far short of their mark.

The Mansfield team was outplayed in every department of the game, and the forward passing of the Freshman eleven never worked to greater advantage. Rimes to McCollum always proved a gaining combination and the same must be said for Snell, as both ends gained many yards on this style of play. Coach Kitchin's eleven was forced at all times to take the defensive, for they could not gain against the Freshmen. One noticeable feature of the game was the excellent manner in which the Freshmen broke up every play, and stopped it before it was even started.

The first period opened with the Mansfield aggression on the receiving end, but at the end of a few minutes the Freshmen took the ball on downs. Soon after the Freshmen won the physical, they ploughed through for long gains and it was but a few minutes before they registered their first score. The rest of the game was done during the remainder of the game, and at the end of the second half the Freshmen had the ball on Mansfield's one yard line, but the whistle prevented the final plunge. The first half ended with a score of 15 to 0.

The third and fourth periods showed no new surprises, as the Yearlings gained with due regularity, and before the finish of the game they registered an additional ten points. They used many formations during the last two periods, and all of their worked successfully. Only once during the entire game did the Mansfield team seem to come to life, and this occurred when Everett recovered a blocked punt and dashed toward the Freshman goal line. However, he was dropped about ten yards in front of the chuk mark, and the game was only a matter of course with them from this time on.

Snyder, Gazelle and Everett put up the best brand of football for the victors, Everett gaining the most in yardage. Snyder is an eager for an attempt on the defensive, and was working every.

(Continued on Third Page)

New Yells Tried At Student Rally

At the student rally held last Thursday evening in the Old Chapel, a further step was taken in the matter of providing a new college yell for Penn State, when two yells were chosen by popular vote in the presence of the men already turned in. The sentiment of those present, however, was unanimous in deciding that even the two selected were not good enough to replace the "Old College Yell." It was announced that the twenty five dollar prize for the best yell will hold good until someone turns in a yell that is finally considered by the committee to take the place of the present college yell. Before a new yell is finally selected, it must be read before a mass meeting and not voted on until two weeks later.

The yells that were selected as the best, and which will be tried further at the remaining football games and mass meetings, are the following, the first being awarded the premier position.

Yea State, Yea State, Yea State,
Hoopah Penn State, Hoopah Penn State.
P-E-N-S-T-A-T-E
Penn State, Penn State,
K-E-Y-S-T-O-N-E
State, State, State.

At the same meeting, another new song was introduced by the Glee Club, under the direction of Dean Robinson. The words were written by B. K. Krumpholtz, and the music by H. B. Keller. An attempt was also made to memorize the words of the other new song that was recently introduced. Old Chapel was crowded to the doors for the rally, and it was close all in attendance went to the Track House, gave cheers for the football team and sang the Alma Mater.

PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING FRIDAY

A patriotic mass meeting will be held in the Auditorium next Friday evening at 6:30. The meeting will be addressed by President Sparks, who has just returned from Washington where he attended the meetings of the Association of the American Colleges and Experiment Stations. The subject of Dr. Sparks' address will be "The Military Situation in Washington." All the students of the college are urged to attend, especially all the members of the Reserve Officers Training Class.

PITT AGAIN HAS STRONG MACHINE

McLaren Is Star About Whom Warner Has Built the Majority Of His Plays

The crucial game of the season for Penn State's varsity football team will take place next Thursday afternoon, when they will tackle Glenn Warner's aggregation of stars on Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. For many years the annual Pitt game has been considered the most important contest on the Blue and White schedule, and a victory over the Smoky City collegians is considered ample solace for all other defeats.

The past few years Pitt has been winning the annual Thanksgiving Day battle with consistent regularity, and since the advent of Glenn Warner as coach, Penn State has never even come close to a victory. During the past two years, the Huntington, Del., McLaren and Morrow combination has been too much for the Nittany boys and they have been beaten by overwhelming scores.

Without a doubt, McLaren is one of the best fullbacks in the country, and he hits a line harder than any man in football today. Think of a man as tall as Pond, weighing in the neighborhood of 190 pounds, and having the speed of a rabbit, and you have a picture of McLaren's plugging back. He has started in every game this year, and he is the chief point getter for his team if they State can stop his plugging. If they do stop him he will do something that no other team has been able to do this year.

The Penn State eleven that is to meet the Westeners is made up almost entirely of new men. As is to be expected under such conditions, the team has played rather uncertain football all season. Against the men's team, Warner's Main State, they have played good football, while at Darrmouth and in the Lehigh game, they have played a decided disappointment. The line has been improving all year, and the backfield is showing signs of a fight for everything. Conover and Burch are also playing an improved brand of football at ends and they are sure to give a good account of themselves in the coming game. However, that is causing the uncertainty as to the outcome of the game. While the men play good football individually, they have apparently been unable to thoroughly master the science of offense, and unless this department improves, Penn State will continue to lack the punch.

Play Last Game
Gross, Kraft and Casneel will play their last game for the Blue and White on Thanksgiving, those men being due to graduate next June. However, due to the unsettled conditions in the nation, it is probable that other members of the team will be giving their last bit for Penn State and for that reason the team that meets Warner's eleven is sure to fight to the last ditch.

Calendar

- WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21:
6:30 p. m.—Civil Engineering Society, Engineering Clubroom
7:00 p. m.—Student Council, 121 Old Main
- THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22:
4:30 p. m.—Engineering Lecture, L. H. Pitt, of Standard Steel Works, 200 Long D.
6:15 p. m.—Junior Class Meeting, Old Chapel
6:30 p. m.—Theatrical, Engineering Society, Old Chapel
7:00 p. m.—Cosmopolitan Club, 111 Old Main
- FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23:
4:30 p. m.—Engineering Lecture, 200 Long D.
6:30 p. m.—Mechanical Engineering Society, Old Chapel
6:30 p. m.—Patriotic Mass Meeting, Auditorium
- SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24:
1:00 p. m.—The Pitt Scrap, Old Beaver
4:30 p. m.—Football, Penn State U. S. A. C. Unit, Penn State Campus
- SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 25:
10:00 a. m.—Freshman Chapel, Dr. Frank Wieland
10:30 a. m.—Darrmouth Memorial Bible Class, Old Chapel
11:00 a. m.—Glee Chapel, Auditorium, Dr. Wieland
6:30 p. m.—Y. M. C. A. Meeting, Old Chapel, Dr. Wieland

TO HOLD "TIE-UP" SCRAP SATURDAY

New Class Scrap Between Sophs And Freshmen To Be Tried Out On Old Beaver Field

The big "tie-up" scrap between the Sophomores and Freshmen will be the leading event for Saturday afternoon, and from all indications it should be one of the keenest fought scraps ever witnessed at Penn State. Old Beaver Field will be the place of conflict, and one o'clock is the time set by the committee for the beginning of the fray. It is felt that this is a matter of conjecture, as the committee has decided that all Sophs and Freshmen shall enter the fray once, and five five-minute periods is considered enough to exhaust the supply. Fifty men will enter the topped arena for each class at a time, and they will fight for five minutes, trying to tie one another securely and thus score a point for their respective classes. The student council will appoint the men who will act as officials at the meeting tonight and these will have sole charge of the affair, in conjunction with the committee. The hope for setting off the field has been secured, and the Sophomores will be at one end of the topped arena while the Freshmen will occupy the other end.

The spectators will be gathered along the sides, and will thus be enabled to gain an unobstructed view of the scrap. At the sound of the signal the first fifty of each class will march into the topped arena and in a few minutes the scrap will have begun in earnest. No slugging of any kind will be tolerated and any one caught slugging will be banished from further participation in the contest, thus weakening the chances of his class for victory. At the end of the five-minute period the scores will walk on the field and count all the men that are tied and credit them to their respective classes. The popular opinion of the day is that the tie-up will take their old place at the end of the topped arena. Every Freshman tied will count one point for the Sophomores, and every Soph tied will count one point for the Freshmen. After all the members of the respective classes have entered the fray once and only once, the totals will be figured, and the class having the highest number of victories will be adjudged the winners of the scrap. A five-foot piece of rope is the only weapon each man will have.

All contestants must wear rubber-soled shoes, a jersey or shirt and trousers, and the use of grease of any kind, or any artificial aid whatsoever is barred. No person shall be allowed to interfere with the contest.

(Continued on Last Page)

Course Tickets Before Vacation

On account of arrangements for some of the attractions, the tickets for this year's entertainment course, under the auspices of the Department of Music and the Y. M. C. A., will not be out before Thanksgiving at the earliest. The Russian Symphony Orchestra has been definitely secured for December 15, the Elsie Lind Company for January 1, the Adelphi Company for January 15, and the Adelphi Concert Artists for February 22. And Adrian Newsom for March 25. The committee has decided to ask the Plan Men to come sometime in February, in place of William W. Hirsch, who had previously been under consideration. For the sixth number, it is hoped to have either Colonel George W. Gooden, Samuel H. Compson, or William Johnson, 15-ambassador. James Gerard had been under consideration in addition to Gooden, Compson, and Johnson but at present he is on the Pacific coast, and the committee has been unable to get into communication with him.

The price for general admission tickets for the entire course has been fixed at a dollar and a half, while for a reserved seat it will be practically the same as last year, the special ticket for the benefit of those holding a general admission season ticket, an opportunity will be given during the week preceding each attraction, of securing a reserved seat for that particular number, alone. Though this will make the actual price somewhat greater, as the reserved seat price for the season attractions will vary with the cost of seating, that particular number, still some may wish to get a reserved seat for some number and not for others.

Though the tickets will not be out (Continued on last page.)

MARYLAND STATE IS EASY IN FINAL HOME GAME

Southerners Offer Weak Opposition To Penn State Attack—Fail To Make a First Down

WAY AGAIN PROVES TO BE GAME'S LEADING LIGHT

Maryland State proved no match for the Penn State eleven on New Beaver Field last Saturday, and the Blue and White rolled up a score of 57 to 0 in their last home game of the season. While the varsity was superior to their opponents at every stage of the game, nevertheless, the large score was due more to the weakness of the Southern eleven than to any exceptional work on the part of the home team.

The Marylanders were in more or less crippled condition at the start of the game and several of their best players were forced to leave the game early in the first half. It was not until the final quarter that the Blue and White eleven really made the score one-sided, for during the last period, Captain Conover's scoring machine registered no less than four touchdowns with their resulting goals.

The work of the Penn State team was a decided improvement over that of the week before when Lehigh defeated them 9 to 0, but there was still a tendency to fumble the ball that must be corrected before the Pitt game. Moreover, the interference on and runs was more or less conspicuous by its absence, and time after time, the visiting whistles would break through and nullify the runner.

Another glaring weakness was the erratic passing of Griffiths. On several occasions, May and Pond had to extend themselves to the limit in order to get their hands on the pigskin and it was only due to the excellent blocking of the line that these passes did not result in heavy losses. With the ten class of practice still remaining before the final game on Thanksgiving, the players will have to make a few more mistakes to perfect his passes.

Way's Customary Performance
There is not the shadow of a doubt that Charlie Way was again the stellar performer of the afternoon. His handling of the ball was little short of remarkable, and he capped the climax in the final period when he caught one of Knoff's punts on his 30 yard line and dodged the whole Maryland team finally planting the ball directly behind the posts. Tackler after tackler lunged at him until it seemed impossible for him to keep his feet, but by a sudden swerve to the right or left, he would avoid the clashing arms and continue his progress.

While this man was undoubtedly the most sensational of the day, Way's other runs were scarcely less noteworthy for considerable distances. In the first period, the Blue and White machine earned a total of 30 first downs and gained over 400 yards, and considering these figures, the score should have been much larger. However, on several occasions when there was an opportunity to score, the varsity would fall to produce the final punch.

Penn State's line was a veritable stone wall on the defense, and during the entire game the visitors failed to register a single yard on offense. In fact, they gained but 22 yards, the fact of the matter being that Penn State was in possession of the ball during almost the whole game. Tackler and Conover turned back Knoff and Fletcher every time they attempted an end run, while both the Blue and White ends proved consistent gainers when carrying the ball.

Clarke Kicks Field Goal
Pond's punting was another feature that stood out in the Penn State play. Compelled to kick on four occasions, his punts averaged 45 yards, the first one travelling 60 yards before it touched the ground. Clarke also kicked a field goal from the 12 yard line in the second quarter. Later in the game, Pond tried a drop kick from his own 45 yard line, but the ball fell short of the goal line.

Penn State used the forward pass to better advantage last Saturday than they have at any time this year. The second touchdown of the game was due to a triple pass, Conover finally catching.

(Continued on Last Page)

COMPARISON AND CONTRAST

Team	First Downs	Points	Forward Passes
Penn State	30	57	3
Maryland State	0	0	0
Penn State—Pond	1	6	45 yards
Maryland State—Fletcher	2	6	40 yards, Knoff, 6 averaging 38 yards
Penn State	Completed—9	Completed—4, for a gain of 87 yards	Completed—1
Maryland State	Completed—0	Completed—0	Completed—0
Penn State	Ground Gained by Scrimmage	Penn State—101 yards	Maryland State—22 yards
Penn State	Long Runs	Penn State—Way, 70, 16, 35 and 29 yards, Wolfe 70 yards, Gross 35 yards	Score by Periods
Penn State	Score by Periods	Penn State—7 15 7 28—57	Maryland State—0 0 0 0—0

MAKE IT A REAL SYSTEM OF HONOR!

It is the duty of every Penn State student to carefully examine the proposed amendments to the Honor System and be ready to vote upon their adoption at the mass meeting next Wednesday morning. Every student with a feeling for right and just things at Penn State should vote in favor of these amendments, especially the first, for they will make the System one of real honor and dignity, rendering it deserving of the name. They are as follows:

Amend Section 5, Article 1 to read:
"If a student detects any dishonesty in a quiz or examination, it shall be his duty to report such dishonesty to the honor committee, after securing, if possible, other witnesses to the dishonesty; but the honor committee shall admit the testimony of one person reporting the case, whether or not other witnesses are secured."

Amend Section 1, Article IV, to read:
"It shall be the duty of the honor committee to conduct investigations, and trials, on information received from any source, of dishonesty in examinations or quizzes, but this section shall not be construed as extending proctor rights to art instructor."

VACATION

Thanksgiving vacation will extend from 12:30 on Wednesday, on November 28, to 8:00 a. m. on Monday, December 3. This year, the regulations for the vacation are more strict than heretofore. It is the intention of the college officials to put a stop to the wholesale cutting that has been the rule at this time, and any student leaving before or returning after the close of the official vacation period is automatically dropped from membership in the college, and can return only upon petitioning the Council of Administration for re-instatement.

No doubt, this will keep many students from going home at this time, particularly those living in the east, as the first train from that section does not arrive at Lemont until after the first hour of the vacation morning. It will not affect those from the west, as they will be able to return on the special train from Pittsburgh, that arrives at State College about 12 p. m. Sunday night. A special train will run to Pittsburgh on Wednesday, but there will be no special from Lemont going east.

YELL!

It has been found necessary to continue the "College Yell" contest for an additional period of time, and another call for sample yells has been made. All yells handed in to the "Yell Editor" at the COLLEGIAN office before next Tuesday at noon, will be given consideration for trial at the Pitt Mass Meeting to be held that evening at 6:30 in the Auditorium. So long as no definite action is taken on any yell handed in, the contest will remain open, and all contributions will be given fair consideration by the committee. The best yells will be given a trial in mass meetings, as heretofore.

The prize of $25.00 is by no means disposed of as yet. There is still a big chance for all. Get busy NOW!