

SOPHOMORES WIN INTERCLASS GAME

New Men Lose Annual Football Scrap by 7-6 Score—Field In Poor Condition

The annual Freshman-Sophomore football game played on New Beaver field December fourteenth was won by the Sophomores with a final score of 7-6. Apparent defeat for the '21 men was suddenly changed into victory by a touchdown and the resulting goal made during the last few minutes of play.

The game opened on a very muddy field and conditions were made even worse by more rain while play was in progress. During the first period the teams seemed evenly matched and neither side made gains of any importance. Early in the second quarter Ryan carried the ball to the Sophomores' three yard line by a long run around right end and in the next down he was pushed through center for a touchdown. The Freshmen failed to kick the goal and the score stood 6-0 until near the end of the game.

In the last period, the first year men got the ball on their own twenty yard line. They tried to punt but the ball struck Ryan and Meyers, the Sophomores' right end, scooped it up and carried it across the line. Korb was successful in kicking the goal and a few seconds later the game ended with the '21 men one point in the lead.

First Score in Years

The outcome of this year's game between the two lower classes is remarkable in several respects. It was the first game since 1914 in which either side scored. It was the first time since 1912 that the Sophomores made a touchdown. In the latter year score was tied by each side crossing the goal line once. In the next two years the Freshmen won while during the following three years when the one year rule was in effect, neither side scored. The line-up:

Sophomores—7 Positions Freshmen—6

DR. ARMSBY ABROAD ON U. S. FOOD COMMISSION

Dr. H. P. Armsby, head of the Institute of Animal Nutrition, has been in Europe, where he has been serving as one of four United States delegates on the Inter-Allied Commission for studying food nutrition. Four conferences have been held, one in London, another in Paris, the third in Rome, and the final one in Naples, at each of which the general question of crop production and feeding the Allies was carefully studied. While the conferences were called primarily for saving food toward winning the war, the armistice has nevertheless brought up a new set of food problems, which are being solved. Several conferences have also been held with U. S. Food Administration Hoover.

Dr. Armsby writes home that the work has been very interesting but rather difficult on account of the difference in language. He is now on his way home and will be back at the college in time for the opening of the second semester.

MAJOR DIEMER RETURNS

Major Hugo S. Diemer, head of the Industrial Engineering Department has returned, and will take charge of his first and second semester classes, during the next semester. Major Diemer was absent from college on a leave of absence for about two years, during which time he represented the Ordnance Department in the vicinity of Lowell, Mass., at the plants of the United States Cartridge Company, Newton Manufacturing Company, and the International Steel Ordnance Company.

A BOOST FOR ROBB

New York newspaper men are united in their praise of Harry Robb, who was elected to lead the 1918 Penn State football team, but who played on the Columbia University team instead. Robb won a commission at Pittsburgh last summer and was assigned to the New York institution. In the words of "Tom" Thorpe, the well-known football official, Robb was "the whole team." He expects to return to Penn State next fall, when he will be eligible for the football team.

Mass Athletics to Boom at Colleges

Mass athletics and physical training came in for the greatest amount of attention at the 13th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association held at the Hotel Astor, New York City, during the Christmas holidays. Penn State was represented by Graduate-Manager Neil M. Fleming and Hugo Bezdek, coach and athletic director.

The convention took up the whole of one day and the better part of the night, and it seemed to develop into a combat between the faculty representatives and the coaches and athletic directors. The evening session in particular, was the scene of much hot argument over the subjects of the abolition of the seasonal coach, secret practice, scouting and the varsity training table.

The plan that was advocated and which was finally adopted by the Association was to recommend that each college have its athletes, both inter-collegiate and intra-mural, under a department of Physical Education, with the coach or physical director a member of the faculty. It is interesting to note that at Penn State, this plan has already been adopted and that Mr. Bezdek has the title of Associate Professor of Physical Education.

Graduate-Manager Fleming was a busy man at the session and also at the meeting of the graduate-managers on the previous evening, for he was shaping his 1919 football schedule. Offers for games have been received from many of the leading colleges and the schedule promises to be one of the best Penn State has ever had.

SENIOR DANCES

The Senior Dance Committee is planning to hold a series of Senior Dances as in former years. The first dance will be held in the Armory on February 8th, and instead of restricting this affair to Seniors, the committee has decided to make it a "get-together" dance for the entire college. Tickets will be $1.00 and will be on sale a week before the dance.

"DOC" MOORE KILLED FIGHTING IN FRANCE

E. L. ("Doc") Moore '16, who was for three years a catcher on the Penn State baseball team and captain of the 'varsity nine during his senior year, was killed in France on September 30th. Moore entered the regular army two years ago and was commissioned second lieutenant at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. He has been in France with the Thirty-ninth infantry since last May.

GIRLS ELECT A. A. HEADS

The women students of the college have organized their own athletic association this year and the following officers have been elected: Martha Brenner '19, president; Julia Grazer '20, vice-president; Mrs. Schantz '19, treasurer; Isabel Hanford '20, financial secretary; and Louise Still '21, recording secretary. Under the direction of Miss Sime, who has charge of the athletic work for the girls, class basketball teams are being formed and an inter-class schedule will be delayed as was the case last year.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

At a meeting of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in Harrisburg last week, Professor Parkington of the Department of Rural Life, was elected president of the Rural Life and Nature section of the association. Professor Brenner presented two addresses before the society. Dean Watts was present and gave an address on the subject of vocational schools and their place in education.

Dean Watts was at Camp Meade yesterday and gave an address on agricultural opportunity before several hundred soldiers who expect to take up that line of work when they are discharged.

DEAN ROBINSON'S WORK RECEIVES RECOGNITION

C. C. Robinson, dean of the Department of Music, who was granted leave of absence over a month ago to assist in the direction of the singing at Camp Upton, has been given an extension so that he could enter upon his new work of director of community singing at Oakland, Cal. A letter to Dr. Sparks from O. F. Lewis, who is the director of the Department of Community Singing of the War Camp Community Service located at New York states that this promotion was in recognition of the excellent work accomplished by Dean Robinson. A particularly pertinent statement from Mr. Lewis' letter, which further shows how well his work is appreciated, is "Let me say that such a service as he is rendering does honor to your college." He will probably be engaged at Oakland or some other place until the end of the present college year at least, as the object of the community singing is to welcome the returning soldiers and sailors, as well as to develop and maintain the morale of the citizens during the period of demobilization.
