

That Football Team Sure Has Some Schedule For Next Fall

Penn State Collegian

Washington's Birthday Promises To Be a Big Day Here At Penn State

VOL. XIV. No. 7

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1919

PRICE FIVE CENTS

BIG CELEBRATION FOR WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Review of Cadet Regiment; Basketball with Pitt, and Wrestling with Penn to Feature

MANY CONFERENCES TO BE HELD OVER WEEK-END

Starting on Saturday morning, Penn State will have one of the largest Washington's Birthday celebrations in her history. There is a number of varied events scheduled to be held during Saturday, followed by more on Sunday. Several events are scheduled to be held over the week-end, in addition to the regular cycle of attractions and the conferences of the many graduates of the Schools of Engineering, Mining, and Agriculture, which will tend to lend an atmosphere of Commemorative work to the occasion.

So far as can be ascertained, the time for beginning the festivities remains unchanged at the end of the second hour on Saturday morning. Student Council presented a petition, which was read on Saturday, but at the time of writing, the Council of Administration has taken no action in favor of, or against this request. In case they should decide to grant the petition, the holiday will start at the end of the last hour on Friday afternoon, but otherwise it will begin at ten minutes after ten on Saturday morning.

In addition to the conferences mentioned above, many other events are due to come off on Saturday, including a review of the cadet regiment by several army officers from Washington, the usual mass meeting to inspect the team with the University of Pennsylvania, and the basketball game with the University of Pittsburgh. As in other years, the review of the cadet regiment will be held at the various fraternity houses in the town.

The first event of the day will be the review of the cadet regiment by several army officers from Washington, the usual mass meeting to inspect the team with the University of Pennsylvania, and the basketball game with the University of Pittsburgh. As in other years, the review of the cadet regiment will be held at the various fraternity houses in the town.

The main event of the afternoon will be the wrestling match between the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh. This event will doubtless prove interesting to the highest degree. It will be remembered that the Red and Blue proved easy prey for the Centre Colours last season, but with the loss of a great number of men from both teams, the result is still unpredictable. One item in favor of the State is the severe trouncing that Penn received at the hands of the Mounties at Annapolis last Saturday, when they lost by a score of 33 to 0.

The concluding number for the day is the basketball game with the University of Pittsburgh. This event is certain also to have a good attendance, for Pitt is one of Penn State's old rivals.

Although the original intention had been to have Mr. J. C. Lobenstein, Secretary of the National Misionary Conference, of Shanghai, as the chapel speaker on Sunday morning, and has been received from him stating that he will probably be unable to be here at that time. It is hoped now that Dr. John Gowdy, President of the Anglo-Chinese College at Poochow, will be present on Sunday, and if such be the case he will speak at both chapels. If he is unable to come, one of the other speakers who will be here for the Missionary Conference will be the speaker at this final meeting.

The program of events is as follows: Saturday, February 23, 1919. 10:00 a. m.—Review of Cadet Regiment by Colonel Morrow and staff, New Beaver Field. 11:00 a. m.—Mass Meeting, Auditorium. 12:00 m.—Engineering Alumni Banquet and Conference. 2:30 p. m.—Wrestling Meet, U. of P. 7:00 p. m.—Basketball, Pitt vs. Penn State, Armory.

Sunday, February 24, 1919. 10:00 a. m.—Frothingham Chapel, Auditorium. 11:00 a. m.—College Chapel, Dr. John Gowdy, Auditorium. 3:30 p. m.—Band Concert, Auditorium. 6:45 p. m.—Prayer Meeting. 7:30 p. m.—Final Meeting of Missionary Conference.

PITT TO CLASH WITH STATE FIVE

Panthers Will Be Here On Saturday With Fast Five—Both Teams Have Good Records

In what will probably be the most interesting and exciting game which will be seen on the Armory floor this winter, the Penn State basketball team will meet the strong five from the University of Pittsburgh at 7 o'clock on Saturday night. Of all the games on the Blue and White schedule for the present season, this game will attract the most attention. The contest on Saturday evening with the Pitt quintet will probably be the best, and due to the historic rivalry which has always existed between Penn State and the Smoky City institution, this game will attract a great deal of outside attention besides furnishing local supporters a contest of the highest caliber.

For the past two years the Pitt five has been the team to watch in the contest of Washington's Birthday and it was with this idea in mind that the game on Saturday has been arranged as a part of the celebration for this week-end. The results of the contest of the past two seasons have been favorable for the Blue and White teams, but whether the Pitt five will succumb to defeat on Saturday night remains to be seen. In the first game, a line-up which looked like that taken from a football score card, the Pitt quintet managed to force the Penn State five to the limit, but the Blue and White team was able to capture the victory by a score of 22 to 23. Last winter with an identical line-up, the State tilters again managed to nose out a victory in one of the most exciting games ever seen on the Armory floor. Whether the Penn State cagemen will be able to duplicate the performance of the past two years is a question which cannot be decided according to an opening editor's guess, but there is no doubt that when the Panthers meet the Blue and White on Saturday night, one of the best games of the current season will be witnessed.

Pitt Has Veteran Team As in former years the University of Pittsburgh will send a team to State which has a string of victories behind it and which has the reputation of being a fighter from start to finish. McLaren and Easterday, stars of last fall's football eleven, will be seen in action on the Armory floor on Saturday and these two men alone are sufficient to give the Blue and White tilters considerable trouble. Hastings and De-

FARMERS' WEEK TO BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

Many Prominent Speakers To Address Annual Gathering of Pennsylvania Farmers

This year's Farmers' Week activities will begin with a meeting in the Auditorium next Monday evening at seven o'clock and will continue until noon on Friday. Conditions are unusually favorable for a good attendance and from all indications the gathering will be an exceptionally large crowd here.

The Farmers' Week program for this year includes entertainments, demonstrations and a series of lectures on each of the more important phases of agricultural work. A course of lectures will be given by men from this and other colleges on each of the following subjects: Soils and Farm Crops, Farm Management and Mechanics, Animal Husbandry, Poultry, Dairy Management, Dairy Practice and Problems, Fruit Growing, Vegetable Gardening, Landscape Design, Rural Life, Home Economics and Home Industries.

There will be a program of special features each evening in the Auditorium on Monday evening, February twenty-fourth, the principal speakers will be: Mr. J. C. Lobenstein, Secretary of the National Misionary Conference, of Shanghai; Mr. J. C. Lobenstein, Secretary of the National Misionary Conference, of Shanghai; Mr. J. C. Lobenstein, Secretary of the National Misionary Conference, of Shanghai.

Among the other speakers are Dr. P. H. Lerrigo, formerly a medical missionary in the Philippines; Mr. F. M. Potter, for several years a missionary in India; Dr. John Gowdy, President of the Anglo-Chinese College, Poochow, China; and Mr. A. M. Manuel, International Secretary of the Christian Science Movement. The subject of Dr. Zwenner's address will be "The Near East, and the Mohammedan Advance." Dr. Krumm will speak on "The Progress of Missions in Africa" and the subjects of Mr. Lerrigo's two talks will be "The Philippine Islands" and "Medical Missions." Mr. Potter will talk on conditions in India and Dr. Gowdy will speak on the Chinese situation. Mr. Manuel's address will cover conditions in Latin America and particularly in Brazil.

It is desired that as many Penn State students as possible attend.

MEMORIAL BUILDING DISCUSSED BY SENIORS

A meeting of the Senior class was held in the Liberal Arts building Thursday evening and several important questions were discussed. The most important was the question of a social hall which will be a memorial to the soldiers and sailors in the service of their country. It was voted that the money in the treasury be given to this end and the committee reported that they had not yet heard from the classes of '17 and '18. The plan of the building was outlined and it will contain a gymnasium, dance hall, and offices for college activities and publications. A committee was also appointed to raise up a petition that the Seniors be excused from chapel, J. C. Allen and M. J. Clarke were the students from the School of Agriculture elected to the Student Council. R. E. Hoare was elected boxing manager and A. R. Leinbach was made historian. March 14 and May 17 were the dates set for the next Senior dances.

BOXERS FURNISH EXCITING BOUTS

First Exhibition of Coach Harlow's Men Arouses Much Interest—Interclass Meets To Be Held

Penn State students were given a treat in the shape of a boxing meet for novices at the Armory last Friday evening. It was the first public performance of Coach Harlow's proteges, and evidenced clearly that boxing has come to Penn State with fair chance of becoming a "variety sport." The crowd was small, but noisy, and the contestants on edge throughout the evening. The bouts, as a rule, were lively and aggressive and the result was a close battle for honors. "Valentine" were exchanged between the two men, the divers forms of straight jabs, uppercuts, right hooks and bloody noses. The noticeable factor in the bouts was the aggressiveness of all the participants. Coach Harlow is to be praised on his good work with these men, none of whom had ever boxed before. He has had a fine response from the lower classes for men to fill the weights, and especially the lower weights, but the two upper-classes have failed to attempt to put over a knockout were equally ludicrous, but they are to be commended for their fighting spirit.

Boxing at Penn State is in a fair way to become a "variety sport." The War Department is behind a movement to put it into all colleges, and Penn State has taken the lead in promoting it as a college sport. The response of the students to the first exhibition was such that there will be a greater number of bouts when the "variety trials" begin. If the proper response is made, both by contestants and by spectators, the interclass meets in the future may be arranged, but as yet nothing has developed along that line.

ENGINEERING ALUMNI TO CONVENE HERE SATURDAY

Plans for New Buildings To Be Discussed At Conference Of Former Students

All plans have been completed for the conference of engineering alumni, which will be held at the college next Saturday during the Washington's Birthday celebration. Just how many will attend is not known, but it is believed that there will be a large number on hand when the conf. opens.

Dean Sackett has written to virtually every alumnus, telling each of the preparations which have already been made towards a new building and urging every one that possibly can to attend this conference. It is believed that the alumni of the school of engineering can be of especial benefit to the college along this line, as they have been out in the world and have secured an idea of what is needed in the engineering field and what demands will be made upon engineering education in the future.

In this way, many new and valuable ideas will be brought out regarding the character and extent of the new buildings, including the equipment which will be needed, and also central heat, light and power plant. The alumni can be of aid in securing this equipment and these buildings to the best financial advantage of the college. Of course this conference will be very informal and any action that is taken will be entirely unofficial. It will, however, serve the purpose for which it is intended, as it will bring many of the former engineers into contact with the college and many valuable suggestions will be made. Undoubtedly, the whole future program and main purposes of the School of Engineering will be influenced to a large extent by this meeting.

Prospects Bright For Track Season

Although the weather the past week did not allow much outside work for track men, nevertheless they reported results that are bright for the season.

The prospects were brightened with the arrival of several of the old men, the "variety half-mile" has been reported for active duty and will be a great asset to State's team. Jeffries '19, has also returned to college but only a small number reported but these were of fine caliber. Another call will be issued and more are urged to appear. Taylor, a Freshman, from Southern High, who showed up well last fall in the sprint, has reported and will make a strong bid for a berth on the "variety team."

SIGMA TAU ELECTIONS

The following men have been elected to Sigma Tau, honorary engineering scholarship fraternity:

- A. R. Briggs '19
- N. C. Somers '20
- T. E. Woeber '20
- G. J. Wyrough '20
- P. B. Kapp '20

PENN WRESTLERS HERE ON SATURDAY

Penn State Matmen To Open Season With Red and Blue Grapplers On Washington's Birthday

The Penn State wrestling team will open its season on Saturday afternoon for the first time, when it will meet the University of Pennsylvania wrestlers on the Armory mats. The meet will be held during the Washington's Birthday celebration, and will form one of the most attractive features of the entire day. The team that Penn will send here is one of the best that that institution has turned out for a number of years. Great enthusiasm has been shown in wrestling and more candidates have turned out for the sport than ever before. However, the Red and Blue team made a very poor showing last Saturday, when it went down to defeat at the hands of the Navy grapplers by the overwhelming score of 33 to 0. This may be accounted for by the fact that the Navy has an exceptionally strong team this year, having also decisively defeated Lehigh, and it is sure to furnish a hard meet for the Blue and White team, when it journeys to Annapolis on March 8th.

It is virtually certain that the same team which represented Penn against the Navy will come to Penn State. Should this prove to be the case, the line-up of the Philadelphia club will be as follows: 115-pound class, Gallery, 135-pound class, Rhoads, 150-pound class, Kotter, 165-pound class, Douty, 185-pound class, Ashby, 175-pound class, Pendleton, and heavy-weight, Krnus. All of the Penn men were victorious by the Navy grapplers with the exception of Rhoads and Douty, who lost on decisions.

This does not mean, however, that Penn State is going to have a cinch Saturday afternoon. The Red and Blue wrestlers will have had the experience of one meet, and they will doubtless use this to good advantage. State Team Chosen The team that will go up against Penn on Saturday was chosen last week. The preliminaries and semi-finals were held on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons respectively, and the final bouts came off on Saturday. Several of the bouts proved surprises and especially was this true in the 145-pound class, where the 19 and Mowrer '21 were the contestants. Mowrer, who wrestled in the 165-pound class in the interclass meet several weeks ago, lost the first bout to Mills and the second to an extra man.

Black and White met on Saturday and Eberle came in strong, but the fourth round decided against him, when he was pinned all over the ring, taking the decision. Jenkins '23 and Hewitt '23, in the 125-pound class, displayed more clever work than the contestants in the preceding bouts. In the following interclass meet, Jenkins was close. Lively all the way through, Jenkins repeatedly forced his man against the ropes and struck him as he drew away.

Black and White met on Saturday and Eberle came in strong, but the fourth round decided against him, when he was pinned all over the ring, taking the decision. Jenkins '23 and Hewitt '23, in the 125-pound class, displayed more clever work than the contestants in the preceding bouts. In the following interclass meet, Jenkins was close. Lively all the way through, Jenkins repeatedly forced his man against the ropes and struck him as he drew away.

CLASS PRESIDENT ELECTED BY JUNIORS

The Junior class held an important meeting last Wednesday evening in the chemistry amphitheatre in the final election of C. Stout was elected president of the class over S. W. Cohen by a majority of seventeen votes; the former received sixty-five while forty-eight went over for the latter at the previous election. These two candidates had received the highest number of ballots.

The question of the Junior Prom was brought up and discussed. It was decided to hold the Prom this year just as in previous years, it will, however, be an informal affair. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements: S. W. Cohen, chairman; P. S. Barnhart, W. J. Grootinger; S. S. McCallum; and A. R. Ely.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of Student Council will be held at 6:45 this evening in room 121 Old Main.

PENN AND CORNELL ON FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Penn State Eleven Will Meet Old Rivals On Gridiron Next Fall

ALSO PLAY LEHIGH, DARTMOUTH AND PITT

STATE FIVE DOWNS JUNIATA AGAIN

Blue and White Team Registers Second Victory Over Huntingdon Tossers—Wolfe Stars

For the second time during the present season the Penn State basketball team succeeded in downing the Juniata college five when the Blue and White quintet took the long end of a 46 to 20 score on the Juniata floor on Friday night. The game was a repetition of the performance which was enacted on the Armory floor earlier in the season when the Penn State quintet smothered the Huntingdon team by a 46 to 16 score and the result of Friday's night contest merely emphasized the superiority of the Blue and White tossers.

The Penn State team secured an early lead and during the entire game the Juniata five was unable to overcome the superior defense of the State guards in the first period of the game the Juniata team scored only three points. The superior teamwork and shooting of the Blue and White guards was the key to the victory. The game was a big disappointment to followers of Penn State football, for the Blue and White eleven was looked upon as a sure winner. During the past two years, the managements have been unable to get together on a suitable date, but this year it has been arranged.

The game with Cornell is another welcome addition to the Penn State schedule for the best of feeling exists between the two institutions and the wrestling teams have been meeting every year. The game with Cornell was scheduled last fall but due to the interference of the S. A. T. C., the game was not played. This game will be played at Ithaca on November 15th.

Dartmouth Again Dartmouth is not a new-comer on Penn State's schedule, for the New Englanders have been playing here and were also on the schedule last fall, but the game had to be cancelled. It will be remembered that Dartmouth was victorious in the last contest, a goal from the field in the last minute giving them a 10 to 7 advantage after "Charlie" Way had tied the score by his sensational open-field running. The game will be played at Hanover, New Hampshire, on November 15th and will bring the Green Mountain boys to Penn State as a Pennsylvania Day attraction in 1920.

Lehigh will play the Pennsylvania Day opponent next fall, and the Blue and White eleven will surely be out for revenge for the 7-6 defeat handed them this past fall. Two years ago on Pennsylvania Day, the Green Mountain boys gave the Blue and White team a severe drubbing, so that the game next fall promises to be a hard fought one.

Annual Game With Pitt

Of course, the game with Pitt will be the annual Thanksgiving Day attraction out in the Smoky City and it will be the big game in Western Pennsylvania. For the past two years, the Panthers have consistently defeated the Penn State eleven, and during the past four years, the scores have not even been close. However, even with inferior teams, Penn State has put up a game battle against the best Warner could produce and critics of the game have given the Centre County institution the credit.

The other teams on the schedule are Göttsburg, Bucknell and Ursinus. These games will all be played at home, as well as having Coach Bezek in charge of the team, and he will have an exceedingly capable assistant in "Dick" Harlow. These two men are looked to to give the Blue and White institution one of the best teams that it has ever

THE 1919 SCHEDULE

Oct. 4	Göttsburg at home
Oct. 11	Bucknell, at home
Oct. 18	Dartmouth, at Hanover
Oct. 25	Ursinus, at home
Nov. 1	Penn., at Philadelphia
Nov. 8	(Penn. Day) Lehigh at home
Nov. 15	Cornell, at Ithaca
Nov. 27	(Thanksgiving) Pitt at Pittsburgh

CLASS PRESIDENT ELECTED BY JUNIORS

The Junior class held an important meeting last Wednesday evening in the chemistry amphitheatre in the final election of C. Stout was elected president of the class over S. W. Cohen by a majority of seventeen votes; the former received sixty-five while forty-eight went over for the latter at the previous election. These two candidates had received the highest number of ballots.

The question of the Junior Prom was brought up and discussed. It was decided to hold the Prom this year just as in previous years, it will, however, be an informal affair. The following committee was appointed to take charge of the arrangements: S. W. Cohen, chairman; P. S. Barnhart, W. J. Grootinger; S. S. McCallum; and A. R. Ely.

STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING The regular meeting of Student Council will be held at 6:45 this evening in room 121 Old Main.