

BLUE AND WHITE-FIVE EASILY DEFEATS PITT (Continued from first page)

The outcome of the attempt made by the Pitt five. The State five, however, managed to get back its old team work and again the Blue and White score was increased by field goals by Wolfe and Replego. Mullin and Killinger added two more goals to the State count while Wolfe was constantly increasing the lead by his stellar foul shooting. The outcome from this point was never in doubt and in spite of Pitt's effort to stop the State onslaught by substitutions, the Blue and White five continued to increase the lead which it now had. The game ended just as Wolfe dropped another foul shot into the State cage.

The game on Saturday night saw a new combination wearing the Blue and White. Replego, the star center on last year's Freshman team, has returned to college and saw action for the first time on Saturday night. He was placed at the center job while Wolfe, who has jumped center up to this time, was moved to be the running mate of Mullin, thus replacing Pitt's who has been seen at the other forward job during the present season. The new combination certainly proved to be a consistent scoring machine, although the team work was marred at several places by individual attempts at long shots. Replego played a stellar game at the center position in the Saturday night contest and will prove a valuable addition to the Penn State five.

By virtue of his extraordinary foul shooting Wolfe was again the high scorer for the Blue and White team, managing to register twenty-one points during the contest. Killinger was the next best point getter for the Penn State five with four field goals to his credit. Together with Captain Wilson, he managed to keep the Pitt team to three goals from the field during the entire game. For the Smoky City five, A. Brennan registered the most points by scoring fourteen points. Levine and Robinson were the only other Pitt men who scored from the field.

Refered, Fluhrer, Yale, Time of Halves, 20 minutes. The Penn State five will be seen in action on the Army floor only once more during the present season. On March 4th the team from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station will come to State College for the final game of the season. The Penn State five will start tomorrow on its annual western trip.

FRESHMEN TO MEET BELLEFONTE ACADEMY

The Penn State Freshman basketball team will play its second game this season, when it meets the Bellefonte Academy team at Bellefonte on Wednesday evening, February 26th. Notwithstanding the fact that the Freshmen have played only one game thus far, an interesting contest is looked for, since the teams will be evenly matched. The flaws in the last game have been corrected, and during the past week's practice, a new offense has been worked out. Previous to the game with the Freshmen, Indiana Normal trimmed the Academy boys in a closely contested game on the latter's floor. In their game with the yearlings, the Normals were forced to bow in defeat, also by a close score. Thus it is expected that a tight, fast game will be played.

In spite of the fact that the one-year rule in sports is not in effect this year, and freshmen are eligible for the varsity, it has been deemed advisable to continue the freshmen team in basketball. The yearlings have not had as much practice nor coaching as the varsity, and it is felt that they will be benefited by playing under ordinary conditions and are certainly to be commended on their good work in holding up in part the records made by the previous year's teams.

Indiana Normal has requested a return game to be played on their floor and a contest is being arranged. The trip will give the Freshmen the opportunity to prove their mettle on the floor of the opponents whom they have lately administered a close defeat.

Whitman, the varsity who led his team in scoring in the Normal game, especially well, and much is expected of these men in the coming game. The foul shooting end will be cared for by Whitman, who showed up well in the Normal game.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

A petition signed by members of the School of Agriculture has been presented to Dean Watts for the purpose of which is to have Prof. E. L. Anthony appointed to fill the position of head of the Dairy Department, which has been vacant since its former head, Prof. Fred Rasmussen, resigned to become State Secretary of Agriculture.

All agricultural classes are being suspended this week until noon on Friday, February 28, on account of the Farmers' Week program. Agricultural students are being given an opportunity to attend these lectures in lieu of the recitations missed. Reports on the lectures and exercises will be required. Short course students in agriculture hold their last sittings in Room 109, Horticultural Building, on Wednesday evening, February 19. Addresses were delivered by Prof. E. L. Anthony, Dr.

I. D. Wilson and Miss G. K. Scott. Music was rendered by a quartet composed of short course students. A feature was the debate: Resolved, "That a country girl makes a better wife than a city girl."

Twenty dollars in cash will be given to the four Agricultural students who will secure the highest number of subscriptions to the Penn State Farmer. The contest opened on February 20 and will close on Monday, March 3. The contest is in charge of J. Garber and C. G. Deagan.

Dean Watts is in receipt of a letter from Charles D. Becker, C. D., class of 1911, who is now farming in the Flathead Valley, St. Ignace, Montana. Mr. Becker offers his help to any Penn State men who are thinking of locating in the West.

Prof. F. N. Pagan, acting head of the Department of Horticulture in the absence of Prof. S. W. Fletcher, who is engaged in educational work overseas, spent last week speaking at various points in the State.

H. H. Killdeer, Prof. of Dairy Husbandry at Iowa Agricultural College, will speak on that subject in the Auditorium this afternoon at three o'clock. Prof. Killdeer is a very interesting speaker and is noted for his practical and improvements. Prof. Fred Rasmussen, State Secretary of Agriculture, will also speak this afternoon and evening.

Honorable C. G. Jordan, farmer, preacher, lecturer, member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, will lecture in the Auditorium on March 13 at 7:30 p. m. on the subject "The Old Homestead Resolved." Mr. Jordan has been remarkably successful in his chosen lines of work and is a speaker of unusual ability. He is a very interesting speaker and is very much interested in securing a liberal appropriation for Penn State. It is hoped that the Auditorium will be filled to hear this man who is endeavoring to secure a liberal appropriation for the college.

The college has just acquired a new lot of real estate known as the Strohm farm. It lies northwest of the experimental orchard and contains 187 acres. The place will be used principally for the development of orchards and small fruit plantations. When the pomological unit of the School of Agriculture is finally established, it will not be equaled by any agricultural college in the country. In the purchase of this property, the college has also acquired about 35 acres of fine young timber which will be of great value to the Department of Forestry.

The only decision of the afternoon for Penn State came in the 158-pound class, when Shaulis easily defeated Pendleton, of Penn. The men seemed almost evenly matched and neither left his feet for the first few minutes. When they went to the mat, however, Shaulis was on top, a position which he maintained until time was called. Score, Penn State 19, Penn 4.

The 175-pound bout proved a surprise. The best that Penn State rooters were hoping for was a decision, but Grimes, of Penn State, threw his opponent, Kraus, of Penn, in two minutes, and forty-five seconds. The bout was lively while it lasted, with first one man having the advantage and then the other. Grimes, however, soon secured a body hold, from which his opponent was unable to escape, and resulted in the fall for the Penn State man. Score, Penn State 24, Penn 5.

There being no heavyweight wrestler for Penn, this bout went to Locke, the Blue and White grappler, by default. The summary.—

115-pound class—Garber, Penn State, won a fall over Howles, Penn, with a chancery hold. Time 7 minutes 47 seconds.

125-pound class—Toegan, Penn State, won a fall over Teegan, Penn State. The first few minutes of the bout were spent trying for holds, and then Teegan tackled his man and took him to the mat. Inexperience, however, kept him from holding his advantage, and the Penn man secured a scissor hold, which Toegan was unable to break. Score, Penn State 5, Penn 4.

The 135-pound bout resulted in another fall for Penn State. Babcock immediately assumed the offensive and took Fell, of Penn, to the mat with an arm hold. He easily maintained his advantage and threw his man with a head and body hold in seven minutes and twenty-two seconds. Score, Penn State 10, Penn 4.

In the 145-pound class, Mowrer, of Penn State, secured the shortest fall of the afternoon, when he threw Douty, of Penn in two minutes and forty-three seconds. The bout was aggressive from the start, and both men went to the mat immediately, Mowrer on top. The Penn State man soon secured a chancery hold, by means of which the shoulders of the Penn man were pinned down. Score, Penn State 15, Penn 4.
