PENN STATE FIVE ENDS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Individual star would be to belittle the efforts of the other members of the team. Repliglo, in playing the last five games showed up very well for having had so little practice and proved a tower of strength at the center post on the blue and white combination. Mullin and Wolfe proved a very efficient and consistent pair in the forward positions and Killinger and Captain Wilson would rank well with any pair of guards in the state. Rites, the Freshman who started on Penbody High last season, showed some good work early in the season.

It would be foolish to make any prediction in regard to the team which will represent Penn State in the year 1920. Captain Wilson is the only man on the present five who will be lost to the team by graduation but with four of this year's team on hand Penn State should be represented by a winning combination next season.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE HELD FOR WIRELESS OPERATORS

By an act of law, it is necessary that all amateur or professional operators of wireless stations, either sending or receiving, must have a license. Examinations for this license are given by the Inspector of the district.

Through the efforts of Mr. Whiteman, of the Physics Department, the District Inspector will be at State College some time during the latter part of April. All who desire to take this examination should hand their names to Mr. Whiteman at the Physics Building as soon as possible, in order that proper arrangements be made.

PROSPECTIVE FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

If there is any truth at all in this hereditary argument that is commonly preached, Penn State can say that a winning football team is assured in about twenty years under the captaincy of William Robert Wood, who was born on February 23 at Seven Stars in Adams county, Pa. The reason for this assertion lies in the fact that he is the son of W. W. (Bill) Wood '16, who was captain of the very successful team during his Senior year. His mother was Miss Esther Chase, also a State student of the class of 1918.

IN COLLEGE HOSPITAL

A J. Peterson, of the first year two-year Agricultural class, is the only person in the College Hospital at the present time. Mr. Peterson is confined to his bed with pneumonia.

TRACK MEN STILL WORKING INDOORS

Changeable Weather Retards Track Squad—Schedule is Arranged By Manager Clarke

The track team did not get as good a work-out last week as was expected, due to the fact that the track was not in good condition, but this week promises to be a hard one for the candidates. Council Lewis demands that the men work harder and show better form in order that he may be able to get a good estimate of the men and select the team. No time trials have been held as yet but the next few days will see the men working hard on Beaver Field to get a place on the team.

Word has been received that no Meadowbrook event will be held at this time inasmuch as no hull could be obtained for the meet. It is expected however to hold these meets at a later date and outside instead of inside. The management has decided to send a team to the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, April 25 and 26. The Penn State team made a good showing at this meet for the past few years and although several men have been lost to the team it is expected that a good showing will be made. Thanks have been received in writing from the Penn State team for the Press meet at Pittsburgh. These have not been made out but it is very likely that a team will be sent to that place.

It has been finally decided that no schedule will be made out this year inasmuch as most colleges are unwilling to give guarantees but still want Penn State to compete against them. The Penn Relays and the Press meet, together with the inter-scholastic meet, which will be held here May 17th, should make it worth while for the men to try hard to get on the team. "Jesse" Krall '19, a rarely 410 man, visited school last week but it is doubtful if he will enter college.

The track schedule as Manager Clarke has arranged it includes the following meets: It is possible however, that one or two more meets may be scheduled with other colleges.

April 5—Cross Country
April 12—Interfraternity Relay
April 25-26—Penn Relays at Philadelphia
May 3—Meadowbrook at Philadelphia
May 10—Interclass Meet
May 17—Interscholastic Meet
May 30-31—National Intercollegiate at Harvard
June 9—Pitt Dual Meet

CAPT. WALKER TELLS OF WORK OVERSEAS

pany to Liffol-le-Grand, Vosges, and was occupied for about a month in the erection of barracks in the neighborhood of Neufchateau in preparation for the troops of the 42nd Division. We also made alterations and additions to the hospital at Bazouilles and carried on a preliminary survey for the ammunition depot which was later built at Jonchery, a little over 30 miles away. In order to keep in touch with the work in this area, it was necessary to make daily trips back and forth by means of motorcycle and side-car.

"In the early part of October, 1917, we moved to Jonchery, and, after putting up barracks to house our own company and others who were assigned to the work later, started in on the actual construction of the ammunition depot. This project included railroad yards and their approaches, amounting in all to about 45 miles of track, 12 warehouses, 50 feet by 500 feet, a number of small warehouses for storing hand grenades and fire works used in signaling, and a water works system capable of supplying at the outlet about 150,000 gallons of water per day through about four miles of pipe. Improvements in the natural drainage conditions were made in order to avoid flooding the railroad yards built in the meadows. After the work was well under way and the men in the company were familiar with the different classes of work, we made some very good records as to the capacity of constant pumping up a warehouse, 50 feet by 500 feet in four and one-half days, including all carpenter work, framing as well as erection, employing about 40 men for the job.

Unit Ranks Well With Others

"Some engineers early in the stage of operations 'over there' were doubtful whether regiments such as ours, would, when it came down to the ordinary pick and shovel work and other operations involving heavy labor, show up as well as the labor organizations recruited from men who had been laborers previously. It may be of interest to note here that records kept by the writer showed that the work of his own company amounted to two or two and one-half times as much per day as that performed by labor organizations on the same class of work, and the men in the writer's company were largely collees graduates engaged in professional engineering work, or men employed in purely clerical occupations before entering the service.

"This job was completed in the summer of 1918, and our company was next engaged on hospital construction at Rumaucourt and later at Pres-sous la Fauche, both in the Department of Haut Marne. About the first of October, 1918, we again moved to Liffol-le-Grand and were engaged on the construction of the regulating station at that place. This consisted of three railroad yards and tracks totaling about 65 miles, warehouses for storing quartermaster and ordnance supplies and barracks for housing troops. A bakery unit was also established in connection with the project. At this place the writer had charge of the water supply development which included the boring of wells and piping for the distribution of water throughout the project.

"In the latter part of October the writer was relieved of assignment of the 15th Engineers and after a week spent at Headquarters Services of Supplies at Tours, was sent to Le Havre to take charge of water supply and sanitary installations in Base Section No. 4 which included six departments of France. The signing of the armistice shortly after put a stop to any extensive operations, though previous to this the writer had investigated and reported upon the purity of the water supply of the city of Le Havre and the neighboring commune of Bleville, and also made a preliminary investigation for water supply, sewerage and railroad facilities for a 10,000 bed hospital which it was planned to erect at Evreux."
