WRESTLERS CLOSE SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Penn State Matmen Win Two Dual Meets and Intercollegiate Cham pionship-Mills Elected Captair

With a victory in the intercollegiates, the Penn State wreatlers again close a successful season Despite the fact that two dual meets were lost this year, more than a Penn State team has ever lost in one winter since wreatling was begun nearly ten years ago, the season can be called a success, because of the splendid showing made in the championship bouts. Penn and Lehigh fell before the Blue and White matmen, while the Blue and White matmen, while the latter and the Navy were able to win in hard fought contests.

Mills Elected Captain

Mills Elected Captain

At a meeting of the wreatlers on Monday evening, Mills 29 was cleeted captain of the wreatling team for next year. Mills was on the 'varsity team two years ago and he wreatled this year in the intercollegiates, winning third place in the 136-pound class He was unable to participate in any dual meets, however, because of injuries received in the trials for the Penn meet shortly before Washington's Birthday Harold Reagnn 20 was recently elected 'varsity manager for the next your meets of the straight '8" since they gained titles in the intercollegiates The "\St" was presented to the following Locke '19; Balcock '19, Black '20; Mills '20, Garber '29, Moore '21; Grimes '21, and Watson '21.

An Excellent Record

An Excellent Record

It is interesting to examine the records made by Penn State teams since the sport was begun in 1910 Including the results of the dual meets of this year, 'varsity wrestling teams have competed in forty-six meets and they have won out in forty of them. Of the six defeats, four were administered to the Blue and White by the Navy, one was suffered at the hands of Cornell, and for the first time in nine years Lohigh was successful in winning from the Penn State team this season

ing school and after leaving thee he decided not to return to Penn State until next fall
Only one veteran, therefore, was back, namely, Captain. Brown, champion in the 185-pound class, and it looked as though he would be unable to wrestle because of an injured knee, received in the football game with Pitt inst Novembor. There was also not much second atring material on hand and not very many candidates ind answered the call to the penning of the second atring material on hand and not very many candidates ind answered the call to the penning of the second semester in the latter part of January, prospects perceptibly brightened. Mills, a 'varily wrestler two years uso, Garaber, of last year's Sophomore team, and shaulis, of last year's Freshman team, returned at that time. The interclass meet which was held shortly before this also brought out quite a bit of good material and it interested a number of men in the spot. With these candidates, Coach Yerger begun work, and a glance at the season's record is sufficient to prove that he has again turned out a strong team.

The Penn State team will support the negative side of this question. The following men have been chosen to make up the team. W. D. Harkins '20, W. W. Patchell' 19, and W. D. Benediet '20, Colgate has always had a strong dobating team and this year's squad promises to live up to the reputation of its psedecesors. Last year in the Inter-collegiate debates only a small crowd turned out to heat them. The one which is scheduled for Friday night is of special importance and promises to be one of general interest.

The only other inter-collegiate debate which is scheduled at present is the one with Lafaytte on May second. It is quite probable that one will be arranged with Cornell but no definite word has been received.
