DR. SPARKS MAY BE HERE SHORT TIME TOMORROW

According to a recent letter from Dr. Sparks, Penn State's president will spend one day this week, probably tomorrow, at his home here. This visit will be made while Dr. Sparks is on his way to Spence Creek Club where he plans to spend several weeks.

Since his arrival at Glen Hill, President Sparks has gradually returned to better health. The daily constitutional begun almost immediately upon his arrival at that place, have been continued and he is rapidly returning to his former activity and vigor. The open air and daily exercise has already made a great improvement in his condition and it is expected that he will soon be entirely recovered.

field, but Mullan, with his back to the ground, made a wonderful catch.

Penn State also failed to score in the fifth, and West Virginia put one run over in the sixth. Nollin first up, was safe on an error, and Dawson, the next man, pounced a three base hit to left field. Nollin scored, but Dawson was out at the plate trying to stretch his hit into a home run.

NO "MOVING-UP DAY" TO BE HELD THIS YEAR

At the regular meeting of the Student Council last Wednesday evening, it was decided not to have a "Moving-up Day" this year. This movement was inaugurated last year but did not prove very successful.

The main reason for its abandonment is that the present freshman class has had only about a half year's customs this year and it was thought advisable to have them remain freshmen until the end of the semester. Even again, the reason for having a "Moving-up Day" last year was to give the three lower classes the privilege of the next class night up, as in this way it was thought more students would be encouraged to return to college in the fall of 1919.

Musical Lecture to be Given on Sunday

All lovers of music will be glad to hear that Miss Justice Griffin will appear in the Auditorium Sunday afternoon May eleventh at three-thirty o'clock, when she will give a lecture on "Verdi, the Man and His Music." She will deal with the early life of the composer and will describe the artistic development of this musical genius.

Her lecture will be illustrated by properly grouped selections from Verdi's operas as sung by the great artists of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. The selections are of the very finest quality and are absolutely authoritative. Miss Griffin is well known for the work which she has done in this line and has established an enviable reputation in all the places where she has appeared.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT WILL BEGIN TONIGHT

Colton '20, has arranged a set of rules to govern the tournament. Four men will compose a team although there are no restrictions that the team be composed of two men and that those who play in the singles are also to play in the doubles. Each contesting team will play two single matches and one double match and the team losing two of the three matches will be eliminated.

Each fraternity and boarding house is expected to furnish their own balls and racquets and will select their own officials. If the games go to deuce sets one game will decide.
