

The Future of Penn State Looks Exceedingly Bright

Penn State Collegian

And 'Tis Surely Going to Be Some Football Season

VOL. XV. No. 1

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1919

PRICE FIVE CENTS

COLLEGE RECEIVES APPROPRIATION

Amount Asked for By Penn State's Authorities Cut Down By Committee on Appropriations

The total appropriation granted to Penn State for the next two years is $1,775,462. Of this amount, the sum of $1,250,000 is for general maintenance, $100,000 for general building purposes, $370,462 are devoted to agricultural and home economic extension, $20,000 for engineering, mining, and liberal arts extension work, and $25,000 for the summer session for teachers.

The amount asked for by the college authorities was cut down by the Committee on Appropriations, but the bills which were introduced into the State Legislature by this committee were all passed through the Senate. The Governor approved all of the money appropriated with the exception of the building fund, which was cut from $1,250,000 to $100,000, his reason being that virtually very little public money this year is being appropriated for buildings anywhere.

NEW COMMANDANT IS DETAILED HERE

Lt. Col. M. D. Wetly Appointed to Succeed Major Baylies, Who Has Been Retired

Lieutenant Colonel F. D. Wetly, U. S. Army, has been appointed Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the Pennsylvania State College and is now acting in that capacity here. Colonel Wetly's appointment was made necessary by the vacancy which Major Baylies' leaving created and Penn State is fortunate in having a man with the wide experience of Colonel Wetly detailed here.

It was the wish of the former commandant, Major James Baylies, that he be retired from duty at this place and he is now on the regular retired army list. Major Baylies came to Penn State in the fall of 1917, filling the position vacated by the successive leaving of Major Bell, Major Ahrens, and Lieutenant Allen. He had been in active service in the army for more than thirty years at the time of his being detailed here and during his two year stay in this place, he has done much to put Penn State on the military map.

The new commandant, Lt. Col. Wetly, has a most impressive record. He was born in the State of New York and received his early school training in that city, and on June 15, 1896, he entered the United States Military Academy, West Point, having been nominated from the 22nd Cong. District by Congressman George F. Huff. Colonel Wetly graduated from West Point June 15, 1910.

Upon graduation he was assigned to the 3rd Infantry as a 2nd Lt. and served from November 9, 1910 until October 14, 1913, with the 3rd Infantry and with the 15th Infantry during the campaign in the Philippines. He was transferred to the States and was assigned to the 6th Infantry at Plattburgh. He served with this regiment until its departure for the Canal Zone in November, 1914, when he was transferred back to the 3rd Infantry, at Fort Ontario, N. Y.

He was promoted to 1st Lt. during the action at Manila, Philippines, and was detailed as aide-de-camp to Brig. Gen. H. A. Greene on July 2, 1916. On Aug. 25, 1916, he was transferred with General Greene to the 12th division stationed at Camp Lewis, Washington. He was again transferred in March, 1917, to Douglas, Arizona, for duty with the 13th division.

During July, 1917, Colonel Wetly was promoted to the rank of Captain and was on duty as Division and District Adjutant in addition to duty as aide-de-camp to Gen. Greene. He was again transferred with Gen. Greene, this time for duty with the 81st division at Camp Lewis, Washington. He remained with that division until June 1, 1918.

Men intending to graduate in February who are married kindly leave names and local addresses at earliest convenient date with the Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, 114 Main Building.

A. R. WARNOCK Dean of Men at Penn State

LARGEST ENROLLMENT IN HISTORY OF PENN STATE

Capacity of College Crowded to Limit to Hold All Who Have Been Registered—Between 2,800 and 2,900 Students Enrolled—Freshman Class Numbers About 875

The registrar of the college, Mr. A. H. Boppanah, has compiled a complete list as it is possible at this time of the number of students in college. The registration this year was exceedingly large and was not completed until Wednesday evening, the 18th of the month.

There are in college at the present time between 2800 and 2900 students, and with the winter course near the number will be close to three thousand, which sets a record mark in the history of the college and one which prophesies a bright future for this institution.

During the summer, it was decided by the college authorities to admit only 800 Freshmen, but so many applied that the number was raised slightly, and the result was that the college was compelled to turn away about 650, something which has never happened in the past.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HAS NEW SECRETARY

In line with Penn State's comeback after the war and to take up the work of the Alumni Association which it had to abandoned by Ray Smith '06 because of other great demands upon him, the Board of Trustees has appointed Mr. E. N. Sullivan '14 as the new Secretary and Treasurer.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $1.50

Because of increased printing rates and other items of expense connected with the publication of a newspaper, the COLLEGIAN has been compelled to raise its subscription price to $1.50, if paid on or before October 15, 1919.

PENN STATE HAS NEW DEAN OF MEN

Mr. A. R. Warnock, of the University of Illinois, Takes Up New Work at This College

One of the most important additions to the faculty of Penn State during the present year is that of Mr. A. R. Warnock, who comes to this college to be Dean of Men. Mr. Warnock takes the place of Dr. Arthur Holmes, former dean of the honor society, whose resignation with the men students are concerned it will be remembered that Dr. Holmes resigned about a year ago to become a resident of Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Warnock comes to Penn State from the University of Illinois, at which place he was assistant dean of men, and where he has been almost continuously since he entered that institution as a freshman in 1901. He graduated in 1905, and for the next two years taught English in the university, while he studied in the law. He was president of the law school during the year 1910-1911. Dean Warnock was an instructor at the Smith Academy in St. Louis, but returned to the next year to Illinois, finishing his law studies in the University of Illinois, and practicing law in the state of Illinois in 1910.

In July of that year he was appointed assistant dean of men in his alma mater and occupied that position for one year and a half. He was also assigned to come here in his work at Illinois as assistant dean, he was one of the most popular members of the university faculty and during the years that he was there was very popular with the student body. Dean Warnock was especially active in building up the interests of the district surrounding the university, being president of the civic improvement association of that district, a position which he held for two years. He is also a member of Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Phi, and Phi Kappa.

Y. M. C. A. HAS NEW GENERAL SECRETARY

Mr. Frank I. Olmstead has accepted the position as general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of Penn State. Mr. Olmstead is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has been in charge of the state student work in Michigan.

FORMER STARS MAKE UP STRONG FOOTBALL SQUAD

Prospects for Successful Season are Exceedingly Bright; Schedule Hardest in Years

THREE EX-CAPTAINS INCLUDED IN LINEUP

With three ex-captains and no less than twenty-five wearers of the varsity 'S' in the fold, the 1919 football season at Penn State promises to be one of the greatest that the Centre County institution has ever had.

The coaching staff this year is one of the greatest that Penn State has ever gotten together and it will compare more favorably with that of any other institution in the Big Ten. Coach Beakel, head coach and director of all athletics, Penn State has a man who needs to acknowledge no superior. A hard worker himself, he drives his teams hard, yet he never loses his smile.

TWO AEROPLANES HERE TO SECURE PICTURES

The two aeroplanes that were scheduled to arrive here landed this (Wed) afternoon in a field about a half mile from town. The planes have been sent by the Aviation Department of the United States Government to get pictures of the college buildings and the surrounding territory and not, as the report was rumored to obtain a landing place for the Cleveland-New York air route.

MISS MARGARET KNIGHT NEW DEAN OF WOMEN

Not only does Penn State college have a new Dean this year, but it also has a new Dean of Women. Miss Margaret Knight, who will fill this position, is the daughter of Dean Knight, of Ohio State University. She was graduated from Vassar College in 1912, after which she did graduate work at Ohio State.

SUNDAY CHAPEL SPEAKER

The chapel speaker for Sunday morning will be Professor Harry S. Ward, of Union Theological Seminary, New York City. He will also probably speak at the Y. M. C. A. vesper services next week.

COHEN TO CAPTAIN VARSITY TENNIS TEAM

At a meeting of the varsity tennis men this week, S. W. Cohen was elected captain for next year. K. E. Kilgus was re-elected manager, and W. H. Koller '21, C. F. Ottomiller '21 and P. L. Koller '11 first assistant managers.

RECREATION HALL MAY BE STARTED IN OCTOBER

Unforeseen Developments Made it Impossible to Begin Construction of Building During Summer—Location to Be in Woods West of New Beaver Field

Because of several unforeseen developments, it was impossible to begin the construction of the new Recreation Hall this summer, as had been planned in the spring. In the first place, the fact that an entirely new set of campus plans were made and that the location of the new building was involved in these plans, made it impossible for any work to be done during the greater part of June.

NOTICE

Men intending to graduate in February who are married kindly leave names and local addresses at earliest convenient date with the Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, 114 Main Building.
