C G Binder '12, was married on July 12, 1919, to Miss Lillian Sullivan. E. A. Steinfurth '11, was married to Miss Lenora May on January 4, 1919. Mr. and Mrs. Steinfurth are living in Erie, Pennsylvania. Lieutenant Colonel Charles Paddis '16, was married to Miss Edith Coburn on December 1, 1917. Lieutenant Colonel Paddis had the distinction of being one of the youngest Penn State men in the service. Roy A. Fordyce '19, has been appointed county agent for Juniata county. Mr. Fordyce was married on June 12, 1919. Harold P. Vail '16, was married to Miss Harriet Perry on June 12, 1918. Mr. Vail served as assistant chief designer of naval aircraft at Washington, D. C., during the war. W. A. Fox '01, died from pneumonia on March 26, 1919. He was employed as a chemist at the Elk Lumbering Company, at Ridgeley, Pennsylvania. James H. Warlick '20, was married to Miss Iva Stanley, on June 17, 1917. The Harrisburg Branch of the Alumni Association held its second annual outing and picnic at Hershey Park on Saturday, August ninth. There were 225 alumni registered, but there were over 300 present and in addition there were 50 undergraduates and about 250 guests. The annual outing of the Cleveland Branch Association of Penn State Alumni took place at the Dlyria County Club on August sixteenth. Because of inclement weather, the expected large crowd was kept away, but about twenty alumni braved the storm to attend the picnic, which was a decided success despite the small number present. Sixty Penn State Alumni and their families attended a picnic of the Blair County Alumni Association of this college, held at Loysburg on August 19th. Sports of all kinds featured the program. Officers of the Penn State Alumni Club for the year 1919-1920 are as follows: President, Martha Conner '17; Vice President, Katherine Eiters '15; Secretary, Sara Patton '17; Treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Dill. The Harrisburg Alumni are planning a dinner-meeting the week of October twenty-sixth, to arrange for the crowd going to the Penn game. The Club contemplates chartering special cars for the trip. At the graduation exercises of the class of 1919 in June, the John W. White Fellowship of $100, given to a member of the graduating class for advanced study, was presented to Albert William Demmler. The John W. White medal, value of $50, was given to Charles William Yoak, who was valedictorian of the class. William H. Reish, a graduate of Penn State, class of 1919, has accepted a position with the New York Central Railroad, and expects to be located in Jersey Shore for some time. Lieutenant William H. Edwards '11, and Miss Carolyn Buckhout were united in marriage July 14, 1919, at State College.

ALUMNI, ATTENTION!

One of the plans of the COLLEGIAN this year is to run a department each week, devoted entirely to alumni news. To do this, the cooperation of every alumnus and alumna is necessary. If you have any items of interest, either concerning yourself or your classmates, be sure to send them in. Announcements of weddings, births, change of location, position being held, etc., are among the items especially desired. Please sign your letters. Address all communications to PENN STATE COLLEGIAN, Alumni Editor, State College, Pa.

A bit of Olde New England

IN these days of industrialism it is gratifying to know that one concern has clung to the more pleasing ways of the past.

Far away from the smoke of large cities and nestling in the heart of the Berkshire Hills near pure, crystal brooks are the mills that make

TWO MEETINGS HELD BY CLASS OF 1920

The members of the Senior class held two meetings the past week, the first last Thursday evening and the second on Monday night. At the meeting on Thursday discussion of the election of members to Student Council from the Senior class took place and it was decided to postpone this election until November. At the meeting on Monday arrangements could be made with the former members of the classes of 1918 and 1919, whereby they too would secure representation in the Student Council. A committee, consisting of R. B. Starkey, C. A. McCallum, H. Beaman, J. H. Munroe, and I. W. Brown, was appointed to confer with similar committees from 1918 and 1919. Announcement was made by President Maginnis that the 1920 Finance Committee would consist of H. R. Courson, chairman, I. B. Bentley, J. A. Reap, P. S. Barnhart, and S. W. Cohen, the class treasurer.

At the meeting on Monday evening, the following report was submitted by the committee which conferred with the representatives of 1918 and 1919. In addition to its four required members of Student Council, namely, the president and vice-president of the class, the editor of the COLLEGIAN, and the president of the Athletic Association, the class of 1920 will have nine other representatives, four from the School of Engineering, two from the School of Agriculture, and one each from the School of Liberal Arts, Mining, and Natural Science. The other six men on the Council, to which the Senior class is entitled, will be elected from 1918 and 1919, three from each. In this way, it is believed that a fair representation from each class can be secured. In the matter of finances, the proposition is to have 1918 have a budget of its own, while 1919 will be merged with 1920. All dues will be paid to S. W. Cohen, the Senior treasurer. The two older classes will each have one representative on the 1920 Finance Committee, bringing the number of that organization to seven. All financial matters will be arranged by that committee. The former members of 1918 and 1919 will after graduation be considered as if they had been graduated with their original classes, and a small asterisk on their diploma will show to what class they originally belonged.

The report of this committee as presented was approved by the members of the class of 1920. Election of Student Council men resulted as follows: School of Engineering, C. A. Nelson, C. W. Young, J. S. Martin; School of Agriculture, J. H. Munroe, R. B. Starkey; School of Liberal Arts, S. S. McCallum; School of Mining, C. E. Stout; School of Natural Science, H. R. Courson.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC PLANNING FOR FUTURE

The Department of Music is planning a music course in which it hopes to bring the best artists and string ensembles obtainable to Penn State. Mr. Robinson has begun negotiations with Fritz Kreisler's manager in Boston and hopes to be able to secure the services of the world's best violinist. Other famous artists will be secured for the remaining concerts in the course, which will, no doubt, have the enthusiastic support of both students and townspeople.

The department is also running classes in private instruction of music and hopes to be able in about two weeks to offer free classes in the elements and appreciation of music. These classes will be open to all and college credit will be granted to those scheduling them. It is also planned to develop some leaders for extension work in community singing, emphasis being laid on mass singing and singing at athletic contests.

The college choir has been reorganized and throughout the school year will render selections in Sunday Chapel. Candidates for this organization must undergo the same tests as those qualifying for the glee club. Several popular cantatas have been selected for this year's concert which should be a treat to all lovers of music.

LUTHERAN SOCIAL

The young people of the Lutheran Church will hold a social in the basement of the church Friday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. All students are invited to attend and a good time is assured.

MINING NOTES

Doctor E. S. Moore, dean of the school, and H. B. Northrup, associate professor of Metallurgy, left for Chicago at the end of the week to attend the meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

The experimental tunnel near the Old Mining Building is being repaired and put into shape for student work. This work consists largely of problems dealing with mine ventilation.

The office of the dean and the library of the school are now in the New Mining Building, vacating the old offices in the Old Mining Building so that the mechanical engineering workmen might have room.

Considerable new equipment is being installed. This includes two small electric furnaces in the Metallurgical Department, a pneumatic quotation machine in the Ore Dressing Laboratory, and an electric-driven centrifugal pump which will shortly be set up in the mining machine room.

Dean Moore and W. R. Chesley, professor of mining, recently returned from a trip through Portsmouth, Ohio, Huntington and Charleston, West Virginia, and the Fulton and Pittsburgh coal districts of Pennsylvania. Professor Northrup, of the Metallurgy Department, spent most of his summer vacation at an iron and steel plant in Pittsburgh.

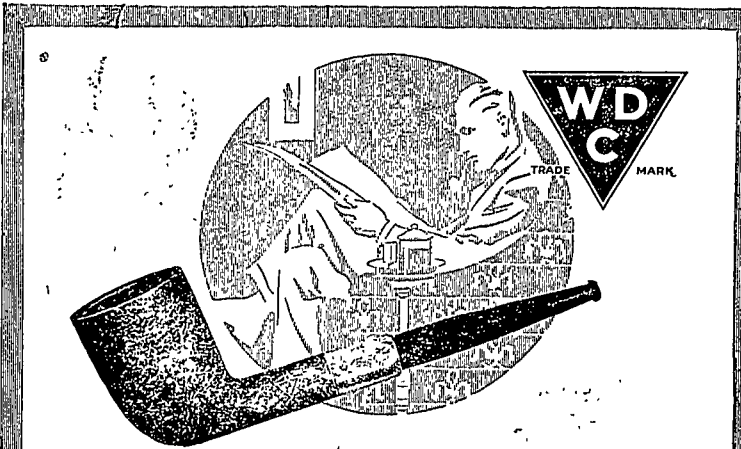

MISS NITZKY BACK

Miss Mary Nitzky, who was secretary to President St. Louis last year and who has been absent on account of illness for some time, has returned to Penn State and is now temporarily secretary to Mr. A. R. Winlock, Dean of Men.

DON'T take a fellow's pipe. Take some other possession. Because wrapped up in his pipe is a fellow's peace of mind, his relaxation, his contentment. This is more than true if it's a WDC Pipe, because then a good smoke is multiplied many times over. Our special seasoning process takes care of this by bringing out all the sweetness and mellowness of the genuine French briar. Just you go to any good dealer and select several good shapes. Put them in your rack. Smoke a cool one every time, and you'll be well on your way to pipe-happiness.
