

ANOTHER "POSTER NIGHT" HAS PASSED

Bold, Bad Sophomores Take Freshies Out to the Well-known Tune of "Hep! Hep! Hep!"

The much discussed affair of the Freshmen Class, Poster Night, was held last Tuesday evening. The affair which has caused not a little comment of late, was a grand success especially with regard to the fact that this year no one was seriously injured.

The town was divided into five divisions, each with two lieutenants as its officers. The first division included all Freshmen living north of College Ave., talking in Old Main, and all the campus fraternities. The second district took in the territory south of College Ave., to Foster, west of Allentown. The third extended south of Foster and west of Allen St. The fourth included all south of College Ave. east of Allen St. and north of Foster St. The fifth district covered the remaining fraction of the town.

At the moment that the Old Main clock struck eight, the town broke forth into a mad stampede, one that would frighten the stoutest heart of any Freshman, and the loud call, "All Freshmen Out," sounded through the streets.

When the yeardlings were collected and placed in their respective formations all lieutenants marched their captives toward the Co-op corner and there the parade was divided into three parts. One part was sent to Lemon, another to Pine Grove Mills, and the third to Housburg.

During these marches toward the various objectives, the Freshmen were subjected to a few rather humiliating positions which caused injury along moral and mental lines rather than along physical. The old saying, "spare the rod and spoil the child," was quite prevalent for paddles were in the hands of all Sophomores.

Junior's try to interrupt. The real excitement of the evening was caused when the Juniors tried to interrupt the poster publishing of the Sophomores. The third year men tried to prevent the taking of posters out of State College by the Sophomores but failed in every respect for in all three humlets posters were posted and remained there until the inhabitants themselves took them down.

The evening was a close by a few festivities on the Co-op corner which included the general hazing of the yeardlings and a small class scrap between the '21 and '22 men. The scrap ended with a victory for the Sophomores, who having posted their class posters on the walls of the business section of the town, succeeded in keeping them intact there.

SHORT CLASS MEETING HELD BY 1919 MEMBERS. At a meeting held in the Chemistry Amphitheater last week the members of the class of 1919, who have returned to finish their college course, decided to organize as a separate class. Although they constitute a part of last year's Senior class, they will pay their dues into the first-class treasury according to the budget system being adopted for the present term. No other business came up for consideration.

ENGINEERING NOTES. The enrollment in the School of Engineering for 1919-1920 is the largest in its history. It consists of 139 Scholars, 211 Juniors, 246 Sophomores, 151 Freshmen, and 15 special students, principally soldiers.

The following members of the faculty of the School of Engineering have returned from military service to take up their duties in the college: Captain D. D. Walker, 15th Engrs. A. I. P., Head of the Department of Civil Engineering; Captain John J. Light, 24th Engrs. A. I. P., Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering; Captain Morris D. Kiesel, Coast Artillery, Instructor in Engineering Drawing; Lt. Charles B. Steel, 16th Engrs. A. I. P., Instructor in Civil Engineering; Robert W. Minhall, Coast Artillery, Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering; A. D. Bryan, Instructor in Civil Engineering; J. C. Runk, Instructor in Mechanical Engineering; R. B. Nesbitt, Instructor in Civil Engineering.

Government officials will be here October sixth to take motion picture films of the Engineering Mill which was built in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture in Washington, for the study of the explosion of flour mill dusts.

NEWS FROM OTHER COLLEGES

KANSAS STATE. The first scrimmage of the season took place between the Varsity and Freshman teams on the subject of a regular game, both from the aspect of football played, and the number of spectators attracted to the stands. With several old stars back from the sorcery, Coach Cleveland is building a team that promises to be one of the best he has ever produced.

MISSOURI. President Owsdale, in his address at the opening exercises, spoke to the largest student-body ever registered at the college. He spoke particularly of the men returned from the service and of the possibilities of the college in the future.

MISSOURI. With the largest student body registered in the history of the college and several new instructors on the faculty, Simpson College has opened her 28th second college year. Prospects are good for a fast football team and an excellent basketball and ice club are in the process of organization. The college expects the year 1919-1920 to be the biggest in its history.

SWARTHMORE. Football practice is once more under way with many members of the S.W.P.C. eleven men at work. Among the freshmen candidates there are many men who will be worth watching as the season advances. The first game will be played on October fourth, when the Green team will meet Maryland State at Swarthmore. With the exception of the game with Pennsylvania, the whole schedule of eight contests will be played at home.

KANSAS STATE. Paddles for use on freshmen are also, but "white" of purple, white and green are the order of the day, according to a recent ruling of the Sophomore class. So far no mark of distinction has been ordered for first-year girls.

BRANFORD. With the return of Captain Light and several others of the 1917 squad, Coach Miller has the most complete first-class football machine. With good new material available, some interesting results are to be expected.

OLD MAIN STUDENTS HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING. A meeting of all students rooming in Old Main was called by Dean Waincock recently for the purpose of finding some means for caring for these persons. About eighty students reported in the Old Chapel and John Patton was elected temporary chairman. Two committees were appointed and they will report at the next meeting. The one will draw up a plan for the self-government of Old Main Hall and the other will suggest plans for a recreation room and its furnishings for these students. The next meeting will be held to-night (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock in the Old Chapel at Old Main. All Old Main students are urged to turn out and suggest plans for their own comfort and recreation.

TRIALS FOR GLEE CLUB ARE NOW BEING HELD. "Poster Night" did not seriously interfere with Glee Club trials, as is shown by the fact that over one hundred men reported to Dean Robinson last Tuesday night. From this number were chosen twenty-nine men who will compete further with all Glee members of the club except the chair men. Mr. Robinson is coaching the group on a musical number and will divide them up into quartets, with each quartet singing in competition and from which will be selected the most promising material. Although the members of the club will number about forty-four, only thirty men will accompany it on trips.

YORK COUNTY CLUB. The York County Club was re-organized at a meeting held in Room 224, Old Main, on Friday evening. There was a record attendance and indications point to a revival of that interest which characterized the club before the war. It was decided to hold the annual "Fideliter" for the Freshmen in the near future. A committee was appointed to make all arrangements for the affair. Dean Waincock will be a guest of the club at the officers' election, which will be held on October 21. Secretary, Sherman Strickhouse '22, and Treasurer, Frank Himes '20.

LET COL M. D. WELTY, the new commandant at Penn State, is a brother of "Dan" Welty '16, who in his undergraduate days was a varsity football player.

Russell L. M. Sims '18 was married to Miss Florence M. Adams of Lebanon, Pa., July 9, 1919. Mr. Sims is at present teaching in the new Lebanon High School.

WHO'S WHO IN FOOTBALL FOR 1919

and was largely instrumental in winning the game. He is a wonderful defensive player and has what the critics term "football brains."

George Brown, Knabb and Farley played on the 1918 team, the former being regular right end while Knabb was a sub-back and Farley a sub-tackle. Brown played a wonderful game at Pitt last year and despite his lack of weight will make a hard fight for a wing position.

Lee Mills and Jim Black were regulars in 1917 before they entered the service. Both are big men and are putting up a hard fight for berth in the line.

"Red" Williams was the regular quarterback last year and his head work enabled the team to score on Pitt. He has been hit up with an injured back but will soon be back in business.

"Doc" Griffith was a halfback in his Freshman year, but in 1917 he was converted to varsity center. After playing on a considerable weight and will be a strong candidate for the line.

"Hinky" Hines looks like a find for the Blue and White backfield. He carried Penn State last year from Lebanon Valley College and played baseball and basketball in addition to football. He is the fastest man on the squad and is an expert at handling the forward pass. He has been doing fine work on the second team backfield.

George Snell and Stan McCullum were ends on the Freshmen team in 1917 and both are striving for wing positions this year. Snell was tried at halfback but fell before he left for training camp, but the great number of good backs on the squad this year caused his shifting back to end.

"Doc" Ringole is a big southerner who entered Penn State last year. He is a hard fighter and although he is still green, he looks like the best prospect for one of the tackle positions.

"Bill" Diers was used at fullback in some games in 1917 before he entered the navy. This year, he has been shifted to the line because of his speed and weight, but a bad leg has been keeping him on the sidelines.

Frank Wolfe is captain-elect of the basketball team. He has been a candidate for the backfield for two years, but has not approached the caliber of the work of his Freshman year. He has been punting consistently this year.

Osborne played center on the Freshmen eleven in 1917, and last year he held down a similar position on the team from Swarthmore. An injured leg has been keeping him on the sidelines. He is a very aggressive player.

Tom Bitner played quarterback on the Freshmen team in 1917 and proved to be a very good field general. He is a good open-field runner and a consistent punter.

Joe Gill was a strong line candidate back in 1915 but broke his collar-bone and was forced to give up football.

After two years in service, he has returned this year and although he has only been out for practice a week, he looks like a fine prospect for guard. He weighs 208 pounds and is the best defensive lineman on the squad.

was given much favorable mention for his fine work. He served with Beck in Italy and is almost sure of a berth on the team. In order to strengthen the line, he has been shifted to tackle and is rapidly developing into a strong lineman. He is one of the surest hand-dlers of the forward pass on the squad.
