That sure was some surprise—so thought all the seven thousand people who crowded New Beaver Field last Saturday when the Blue and White eleven walked away with the biggest of three victories made by Penn State teams over Lehigh opponents with a 20-7 score. The field, though not muddy, was slippery and heavy, the air was sharp and the sun so well obscured by clouds that the spirit of the spectators had to supply the warmth.

The crowds filled the capacity of the bleachers and grandstand to overflowing and the side-lines were well filled. It was a typical Pennsylvania Day crowd—H. P. Q's, alumni and visitors and for such a crowd the spirit and enthusiasm were high. The game, decidedly one sided, was fast and snappy. From all angles of the game, Bezdek's men completely outplayed the warriors for the Brown and White. Lehigh hit the State line time after time and made no impression. The Blue and White had no trouble in making all kinds of gains on the line of the team from the steel mill town. Often the State players easily penetrated the Lehigh line and would have had a clear field had it not been for the backs of the Brown and White, who stopped the Blue and White onslaught.

AMERICAN QUARTET NEXT IN "Y" COURSE

Group of Four Noted Musicians to Come to Penn State Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. will offer for the second concert of the entertainment series, an exceptionally fine number, the American Concert Grand Quartet. As has been the nature of the various features on the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course in previous years, this concert will be an exceptional treat to all music lovers, and the rendition by this quartet next Saturday promises to draw a large attendance.

The American Concert Grand Quartet has been acclaimed as the "finest singing male quartet of America", containing four rich and experienced voices. The personnel is as follows: Mr. Arthur Myers, first tenor; Mr. Clifford Wildmont, second tenor; Mr. Henry Kelly, baritone; Mr. Joseph Florin, bass. Miss Winifred Caverly as accompanist, shows remarkable character of expression and ease in her part of the entertainment.

SENIOR GIRLS TO HOLD RECEPTION FOR FACULTY

A reception will be tendered by Dean Knight and the girls of the Senior class on November fifteenth in honor of the members of the faculty under whose instruction they are placed, and their wives.

The Game by Periods

The first period started with Booth kicking off to Robb who returned the ball eight yards to State's 25-yard line. Unfortunately the first play inflicted serious injuries to Haines who had to be carried off the field. Killingier was put in for Haines. The next two downs netted a gain of about five yards. Lightner on a left tackle run gaining one yard, and Robb making four around left end. Higgins punted, but the kick was blocked by Spang and recovered by Larkin. On the next play, however, State batted down a forward pass behind the goal line and recovered the ball on the 20-yard line. After Robb made a line plunge of three yards, Higgins kicked 45 yards to Rote, who received the oval on his own 25-yard line, and was downed in his tracks. Rote and Harrington failed to gain more than one yard on the next two plays, and Harrington kicked to Robb who fumbled, and the ball was recovered by McCarty on Penn State's 20-yard line. In a play directed at Osborn, Rote lost three yards, and Higgins, likewise, threw Wysocki for a one yard loss. On a forward pass, Harrington to Seidmendinger, Lehigh made a five yard gain. The ball then rested on Lehigh's 25-yard line with a fourth down and five yards to go.

Harrington failed to drop-kick the goal and the ball changed hands on State's 20-yard line. Robb and Killinger made nine and two yard gains, respectively, on the next two plays.

That sure was some surprise—so thought all the seven thousand people who crowded New Beaver Field last Saturday when the Blue and White eleven walked away with the biggest of three victories made by Penn State teams over Lehigh opponents with a 20-7 score. The field, though not muddy, was slippery and heavy, the air was sharp and the sun so well obscured by clouds that the spirit of the spectators had to supply the warmth.

AGRONOMY DEPARTMENT WINS AG. EXHIBIT PRIZE

The silver trophy given for the best departmental exhibit of Agricultural students which was held last week-end was won by the Agronomy Department. The cup was awarded to this department on the grounds that it had the best exhibit from an educational standpoint, although quite a few others that had required much time in preparation had made a better display.

The prize-winners had two large models to illustrate the most profitable method of laying out a farm. This in itself was an excellent piece of work, both along educational lines and as an artistic display. Quite a few manufacturers of farm implements had samples of their goods there, which included besides the regular trend of soil working tools, seed weighing and testing machines.

Crutten; vice-president, G. W. Kintzberger; secretary, Miss M. A. Smith; treasurer, E. W. Campbell. ## MISS FLORENCE HINKLE TO OPEN MUSIC SERIES

Noted Soprano Will Render Recital in Auditorium on Friday Night

The concert in the Auditorium Friday night at eight o'clock by Miss Florence Hinkle, soprano, will be the first of a series of concerts being arranged by the Department of Music. Miss Hinkle is a singer of national reputation whose reputation precedes her wherever she goes. At the present time she is one of the leading sopranos in the country as may be judged by the fact that she has been engaged by many of the large symphony orchestras as their soloist. This artist has during the past few years appeared at least twelve times with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a greater number with the New York Symphony Orchestra together with many other prominent organizations of the same standard. In addition she has been connected with the large festivals held at Cincinnati, Ohio, and Worcester, Mass., and with the larger choral societies of Boston, New York and Chicago. The American public, especially those who take an interest in music, know Miss Hinkle because of the wonderful records which she has produced for the Victor Talking Machine Company. Her recital which she gives in New York each year is the age of the bright lights in the music world at that place.

From the beginning of her career as an operatic singer Miss Hinkle has received favorable criticism from all sides. Whenever she appears the applause is so hearty and they are always of a complimentary nature. Robert Welsh, critic for the Evening Telegram, said that Miss Hinkle's voice resembled Mme. Melba's in its purity and freshness when that prima donna was in her prime. The New York Tribune recently said concerning the artist: "In these days of half-cultured voices and half-understood interpretations, the presence of a singer of Miss Hinkle's authority and art is a welcome relief. Through her extensive learning and experience she is able to give expression to the most subtle shades of the present age is able to do."

The Glee Club which gave such a wonderful demonstration at the concert Saturday night has been in such great demand that Dean Robinson has so arranged it that they will sing two selections in the middle of Miss Hinkle's recital. The program which will be rendered is as follows:

1. O del mio amato ben.....Domandy

CORNELL EXPECTS TO DOWN STATE

Red Cubs to Tackle Blue and White Freshmen in Preliminary Game

Three big games are past. The Dartmouth, Penn and Lehigh contests have been played. Two more remain. The next and incidentally the one before the Pitt game on Thanksgiving Day will be played this coming Saturday afternoon at Ithaca, N. Y., when Coach Hazden's eleven will line up against the big Red team of Cornell, coached by "Speedy" Rush, of Princeton fame.

Cornell has been having hard luck right along but seems to be hitting its stride at last. At the beginning of the season there was so much veteran inactivity on hand that only Captain Shiverick at quarter and Miller at right guard were sure of their positions. On this account the players fought too hard for places on the team, with the result that there was a multiplicity of heavy injuries at the beginning of the season and all through practice this has hindered the steady development of the team.

Cornell Expects To Win

Cornell is confidently expecting to win on Saturday. All of her players are rapidly rounding into form, and just as Penn State found herself in the Penn game so does Cornell expect to come to life and upset the "dope" in Saturday's contest. According to the Sporting Editor of the Cornell Daily Sun, the big Red team has "shown improvement in both the Dartmouth and Lafayette games, particularly on the offensive side, judging from the showing of the team against Carnegie Tech. It is just about hitting its stride, and will display a different brand of football when it lines up against the Penn State eleven. Although the Penn State players will meet a different kind of football than that shown against the Ithaca team, they are always of an even opponent, with the exception of Dartmouth, the Cornell eleven should be at its best against Penn State."

The Red Team's Record

The New York State eleven started out with a 9 to 0 victory over Oswego. In this game Shiverick started, scoring a touchdown after a 45-yard run through a broken field. He also kicked a field goal. Excessively poor play on the part of the Blue and White team, however, allowed the Red to score. In the Williams game, the field was a sea of mud and Shiverick, after attempting four goals, booted the ball over for three points in the last two minutes of the game. Cornell seemed to lack the punch on the Dartmouth game. Red defeat came at the hands of Colgate, who scored 21 points. The Cornell line showed up very poorly so that the backfield was called upon as secondary defense throughout the game, and being exhausted was unable to withstand the onslaught of the Dartmouth game. The Cornellians played a fine game, holding the green even in the first half. Then Youngstrom blocked a kick and Dartmouth scored. Shiverick, standing fifteen yards behind the line, was in danger of the ball going out of bounds on the 45-yard run. After Cornell had held for downs within the five yard line, Dartmouth won this game 9 to 0. The entire Cornell backfield was out of the Lafayette game with the exception of Shiverick, and the 1915 and 1916 teams, the varsity playing poor football. The Cornellians winning 21 to 2. Last Saturday, the big Red team struck its stride again, downing Carnegie Tech 2 to 0. With all the varsity players back in the lineup, the chances are of the opinion of the indications here, that another victory this week. Be that as it may, the contest is going to be a battle royal, and Penn State will do well to face the game with absolutely no feeling of overconfidence as to the result.

FRESHMEN LOSE TO PANTHER YEARLINGS

Penn State First Year Team Sustains First Defeat in Years at Hands of Outside Eleven.

At last defeat has come! For the first time in the history of Penn State Freshman riders, since the one year rule was adopted at this institution, the yearling team has been beaten by an outside eleven. The Freshman team, from the University of Pittsburgh, has the honor of being the first team to defeat the Blue and White yearlings, breaking a long string of victories and the first play on both sides, and the numerous "breaks" which resulted in rapid interchange of the picks. The only tally of the game, Pitt's touchdown and its incidental goal, came in the latter part of the second quarter, when Holleran, Pitt's star quarterback, sent a long pass through the yearling's line, between tackle and end, and clearing all interference continued on to the goal, only to be stopped on the 1-yard line by Redinger, the Freshman quarterback, who tackled with a surety not to be denied. Penn State was then penalized half the distance to its goal because of holding, and with a half yard to go, Holleran took the oval over. A beautiful kick netted Pitt the extra point.

Pitt's Backfield Fast

The Pitt Freshman's "million-dollar" backfield was on the job all the time. The fast team play of this aggregation characterized the make-up of the team. All of them, prep school stars, had been carefully built together by Coach Kerr into a group of consist of speedy players. Especially noticeable was the snappy action of the Panther yearling backfield. Holleran, the captain and quarterback and former Kiski man, played a wonderful game for his team, sending out long punts, and often breaking through the yearling line for huge gains. He was ably assisted by Hendrian, the big fullback from Central

LEHIGH DEFEATED BY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Blue and White Runners Easily Win Six Mile Run—Shields and Romig Lead

The Penn State barriers easily defeated the Lehigh cross-country team Saturday afternoon by a score of 21 to 31. The meet was staged during the football game between these two institutions. It started during the first quarter of the game in front of the grandstand and ended at the same place near the end of the first half, after a six mile run through the country over wet, slippery roads.

It was not a hotly contested race, the only real struggle being for the fourth place between "Wally" Orr of Penn State, and Bray of Lehigh. The Lehigh man was ahead on the home stretch and Orr by a desperate sprint pulled up ahead of him when a score of yards from the finish, but Bray still had some reserve power left, pulled ahead again and finished a few feet ahead.

EXHIBIT OF ETCHINGS IN FINE ARTS GALLERY

An exhibit of etchings is now being made in the Industrial and Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of Old Main, where Joseph Pennell, Roth, Farwell, Westcott, Horner, Higgins, and other well-known contemporary American etchers have worked on exhibition. The subjects of the etchings are largely American scenes, but some war scenes are also shown. These etchings will remain on exhibition until the Thanksgiving vacation.
