County Clubs

Recently, meetings of the various county clubs were held to arrange for their annual Christmas dances. Most of the organizations are planning some social function and dances seem to be the most popular.

The Lycoming County Club is planning to hold their "hop" in Williamsport on December twenty-ninth in the Park Hotel. Warnings' orchestra will furnish the music.

At the meeting of the York County Club held December fourth the final details for its Christmas dance were arranged and work on the Easter function was started. The Yuletide event will take place on December thirtieth in the Coliseum Hall. The music will be furnished by Warnings' orchestra of Tyrone.

The Erie and Crawford County Clubs are planning to hold a combined Penn State dance in the Music Temple in Erie on the evening of December thirtieth.

The Berks county Club is planning their annual dance at the Berkshire in Reading on December thirtieth.

The Centre Counties are planning to hold their dance at Bellefonte on December twenty-seventh in the Bush Arcade.

The Lackawanna county club will hold its annual Christmas dance at the Elks, Scranton, December 20, twenty-ninth. Siren's orchestra from Scranton has been engaged. The dance will begin at 9 p m and continue until two a m. Present indications assure the committee of a large crowd and a successful affair.

FIRE DESTROYED PART OF A. D. S. HOUSE LAST FRIDAY

The Alpha Delta Sigma Fraternity House was the victim of the first fire of any account that has occurred in State College this year. The fire broke out about twelve-forty-five Friday morning and gained considerable headway before the apparatus reached the scene. Through the combined efforts of the town and student departments, the fire was checked before it ran its course. It was confined to the cellar and second positions. The first floor was considerably damaged by the heat from below and the entire house was filled with smoke, which will necessitate redecoration. The damage will amount to about $2,000, which is covered by insurance.

PENN STATE "Y" AIDS IN STATE CAMPAIGN

Under the direction of the Penn State Y. M. C. A., an organized campaign is being conducted throughout Centre County to create the sentiment and raise the necessary funds to effectually organize Y. M. C. A. work in this part of the state. Similar campaigns are being carried out in all sections of Pennsylvania, the plan being to divide the state into eight districts. Centre County will be one of seven counties comprising District number Three. At the present time representatives of the local faculty and student "Y" members are holding meetings in all parts of the county impressing upon the people the educational and social need of a Y. M. C. A. organization and appealing for funds.

WONDERFUL RECORD MADE BY ELEVEN

come as the result of a fumble by Brunner and a recovery by State on Penn's 25-yard line. After three attempts by Penn State backs, Robb took the oval over and Cabbage kicked the goal. Later in the game, Conover got his boot into working order and sent a beautiful field goal from Penn's 25-yard line. Beszedek's men had at last found themselves.

On November eighth, amidst a gathering of almost 10,000 Pennsylvania Day rooters, the Blue and White continued its winning streak by beating the Lehigh team, easily winning by a 29 to 7 score. There was little doubt about the outcome of the contest after the opening few minutes, the supremacy of the Penn State team being plainly evident. Although the breakers at the beginning of the game went to Lehigh, they were unable to make any creditable gains. Higgins, punting in place of Hess who had been injured, did exceptionally well. Robb was the star, hitting the line for consistent gains and slushing the ends for many more. Lehigh's lone touchdown came late in the game as a result of a blocked kick and recovery by Booth who scored thereon.

With the season drawing to a close, the Lions traveled to Ithaca, N. Y., where they administered the big Red and White team a most severe drubbing. Forward passes featured this game, the New Yorkers being unable to break them up.

The last and most gratifying game of the season was played on Turkey Day, with the University of Pittsburgh as the Blue and White's opponent. Then it was that the Penn State men showed their true mettle and ability. The Pitt Panther was completely outplayed, and except for a belated apurt which three consecutive first downs—the only first downs attained through the game—were made, the Nittany Lions were never in danger. A spectacular run of 75 yards for a touchdown by Captain Higgins and a 53-yard sprint through the entire Pitt team by "Pie" Way were the bright lights of the big contest. Penn State had come into her own!

The fud-Horses
Plying his last season of football for his Alma Mater, Captain Higgins stands out as the shining light of the whole season. "Bo" was always there, breaking up the opponents' attack, snatching forward passes out of the air, and punting when called upon, and his punting was just another of the stellar performances which he had exhibited this year. Harry Robb, the Blue and White's star quarterback has also played his last game of college football, and in his graduation, Penn State loses one of the hardest, fastest and quick-witted quarter backs she has had for a long time. Robb has been a consistent gain-getter all season, his line plunging and end running being exceptional and his forward passes seldom failing to reach their mark. George Brown, Higgins' punning mate, has also played wonderful football. Brown has been playing a consistent game for the past two seasons, always on the watch and down under the ball. "Pie" Cabbage, the star tackle whose linework has been such a feature all season also graduates this year, and his loss will be keenly felt, inasmuch as he also is a wonder in kicking goals. Along with the loss of Cabbage comes the loss of Conover, the other goal-kicker and star center. "Camille" played wonderful football this season, and his work both on the offensive and defensive, especially in the Penn and Pitt contests, was nothing short of remarkable. Another man who probably played his last game for the Blue and White is Henry, who is considering entering a medical school next year. "Red" has always been a mainstay on the line, his work for the past two seasons being shining examples of football work. "Pie" Way, a diminutive wonder running amuck with the ball at each opportunity to handle it, was Penn State's luminary in open field work. Dartmouth, Penn, Pitt and others found out by experience just what the small halfback can do, if given the chance. Hess, although out of the game part of the season due to an injured ankle, exhibited wonderful line bucking ability and defensive work in every contest in which he participated. Among the others, Snell, Rauch, Lightner, Haines, Beck and many others showed this season, as never before, of just what stuff they were made, and that "stuff" was what winning teams were made of. Last and not by any means least comes the scrubs, those men who, night after night bore the brunt of the varsity's attack and worked so that Penn State's varsity should be the wonderful team it was. All honor is due the scrubs.

The Coaches
Penn State has been exceptionally fortunate in her coaching staff. Before Coach Beszedek returned this fall, Assistant Coaches Harlow, Herman and Martin had been working with the men and consequently the squad was in good condition when the head coach arrived. "Fight hard and fight clean" was the motto throughout the season, coupled with the desire to install in the men the idea that they must give "a little better than their best." And it may safely be believed that the desired result was obtained, by virtue of the work of the men throughout the season.

from college this year, Penn State's outlook for next year still remains bright. The loss of Higgins, Robb, Cabbage and probably Henry will be keenly felt, but the work of the second string men and the scrubs this fall has been of such gratifying nature that Coach Beszedek feels certain of as good a combination next fall. As the men become better acquainted to the coach's type of instruction, they will undoubtedly profit considerably thereby and next year there will be men on the squad who have already had two years of Beszedek's tutelage. With such men as Hess, Way, Rauch, Brown, Osborne, Snell, Haines, Kilfinger, Hills, Beck, Lightner, Griffith, McCollum, Williams and numerous others on the squad next year, Penn State will have a team representative of the institution and one which will be one of the biggest contenders for honors in the collegiate world.

Hess Elected Captain
The track house was the scene of an important meeting of football men last Friday afternoon, when the captain for next year's gridiron team was chosen. The popular choice fell to W. H. Hess, the powerful fullback of this season's star aggregation. The choice was made unanimous.

WELSH LECTURES TO BE GIVEN BY FACULTY MEN

After the Christmas holidays, the Tuesday evening lectures by members of the faculty will be given as has been the custom in former years. Professor Partridge will open the course on January thirteenth with a lecture on "Jack London, His Writings and His Place in Literature." The second lecture will be given on January twentieth by Dr. Zook. The lectures will be given in the Old Chapel each Tuesday evening at seven-fifteen. A full schedule of the speakers will be published later. All are welcome.
