Member of Board of Trustees Dies

Penn State mourns the loss of one of its staunch supporters and friends due to the death of Mr. Thomas W. Barlow, a member of the class of '77 and for twenty years a member of the Board of Trustees of the college. Mr. Barlow died at his home in Germantown Monday after a very short illness.

The deceased was prominent in legal circles throughout the state and in 1911 represented the petitioners for the impeachment of Judge C. N. Brumm of Schuylkill county the trial being held in the house of representatives in Harrisburg. After his graduation from Mr. Vernon Gammill School he entered the Pennsylvania State College from which he was graduated in 1877. He read law with Clark and White and later was special district attorney under George S. Graham for five years. He took an active interest in the Chinese and in 1905 was named honorary consul of China here by Sir Chenung Chang. Chinese subjects to the United States. In this capacity he was instrumental in getting Chung Yin Tang to this place as compensation for his services in 1911. Mr. Barlow has deceased several times at this place within the last few years.

He is survived by his widow Mrs. L. Barlow, two daughters and a son.

EDUCATIONAL MEETINGS PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

The program for the Educational Meetings to be held in connection with the Penn State Show in Harrisburg on January 12th and 13th, twenty-first and twenty-second, has been approved and is now in the hands of the printer.

The program on which is featured talks by the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor will be ready for distribution this week.

This three-day program is divided into eleven sections which divide the time into the morning, afternoon, and evening periods. Besides the main division each evening has its particular title. Tuesday evening will be called, "Pennsylvania Association Night", Wednesday, Chamber of Commerce Night", and Thursday, "Educational Evening". On Wednesday evening the program being under the auspices of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. J. Johnson, president of the organization and Miss J. of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, will preside. The feature address of the evening will be given by Carl Best, director of production for the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

On Tuesday evening, since it is Educational Evening and Penn State is the major stock holder in these meetings, the program on this evening will be under the direction of the faculty from Penn State. Besides talks by the members of the faculty and Dr. Watts, Dr. Phelan, superintendent of Public Instruction and J. H. Dennis, director of Agricultural Education will give addresses.

Because of the fact that these meetings are held jointly by the Pennsylvania State College and the Agricultural Association throughout the state a number of these associations will hold their annual meetings in Harrisburg at this time. Those included will be The Pennsylvania Veterinary Association, January nineteenth and twentieth, The Pennsylvania Holstein-Friesian and The Pennsylvania Beekeepers Association on the twenty-first, The Pennsylvania State Horticultural Association and The Pennsylvania Lavender and Dalmatian Association on January twenty-second.

HUMOROUS CONTEST OPEN TO STUDENTS

Contest by Liberty T. color designs (in all mediums) to cover by January 15. Address: College W. H. Contest and enclosing postage for return in case of rejection.

This competition is open to all students in the college and is not restricted to Freshman houses or to the Freshman Board. The work of each student may be sent in individually or if sent to J. G. Mason, it will be collected and sent in as the Penn State contribution. All material must be typewritten, double spaced, written on one side of the paper only and must have at either top or bottom of the page the name, class and college of the sender. Attention should be called to the fact that over designs in colors must be in not later than January fifteenth which means that they must be sent from here by the twelfth. Also it is important to notice that none of the work handed in for this competition will be censured by the Freshman Board but it will be sent in its original form.

This is an unusual opportunity for all students to do something big for the college and at the same time to do something for themselves. Penn State in this contest will be competing with the largest and best known colleges in the country and to make a successful showing means a big advertisement for the college. Judge is an internationally famous comic and with his wide circulation it would be an unequalled advertisement for Penn State if it could be announced in the forthcoming issue that the Cup had been won by Penn State. Other colleges have been quick to realize the advantages to be derived from this contest and are pushing it to the limit. Freshman has taken the matter up for Penn State with the hope that the students will support them with the same spirit that they show in all undertakings which have as their object the advancement of the college. For any further information that may be desired about the contest requested to call upon J. G. Mason, Editor of Froth.

tional Committee at New York City. The committee which has had charge of the movement consists of the editors of the daily papers of Harvard, Columbia, Yale, and Princeton Universities. The movement also has the endorsement of an advisory committee consisting of Presidents Hadley of Yale, Lowell of Harvard, Hibben of Princeton, and Butler of Columbia.

WRESTLERS PREPARE FOR INTER-CLASS MEET

The finals for the Freshman and Juniors will take place Monday evening, January nineteenth, while those for the Sophomores and Seniors will take place the next night. The inter-class meet which will also be known as the college championship meet, will be held in the Armory January twenty-fourth at two-thirty o'clock. The winners in this meet will be known as college champions.

The resumption of indoor sports upon the culmination of the vacation period has brought with it an increased interest and enthusiasm in wrestling. Of the numerous men, some one-hundred and fifty in number, who reported to the early part of the season, approximately all are again at work. The major part of those out for the mat sport are undergraduates, although enough are out for the upper-class teams to make competition for them very keen.

The inter-class meet, wherein the championship of the college will be determined, will be held on January seventeenth. Following this exhibition of wrestling skill, the real work for the varsity season will commence for those men of the three upper classes who try out.

Former Grapplers Report

Among the great number of men who are being actively engaged in this sport are a number of former grapplers who are expected to make a considerable bid for honors. Captain Mills, who is expected to return next semester, will undoubtedly wrestle in the 145-pound class. Among the others, most notable are Shirik ex-'19 and Garber '20 in the 115-pound class, Delet '20 and Williams '22 in the 125-pound class, Rose '22 in the 135-pound class; Oehrie '22

145-pound class; Mower '21, Shaull, '21, Spangler '20 and Wilson '22 in the 155-pound class; I. W. Brown '20, Woodling '22 and Wetzel '22 in the 175-pound class; and Black '20, Emory '21, Parley '21 and Beck '19 in the heavyweight class. Besides these men, of course, there is a large number of men who have shown decided aptitude in their work since the beginning of the season and without a doubt many a "darkhorse" will arise and claim his own on the mat. Penn State is indeed fortunate to have such an aggregation from which to pick this season's wrestling squad and the indications are that she will have one of the best teams ever produced at this institution.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING

The last Freshman class meeting of 1919 was held December eighteenth at six-thirty p. m. in the Old Chapel. It was also announced that green topics might be won by Freshmen in lieu of dips until March fifteenth, because of the cold weather. Nominations and elections for class managers in track and basketball were then held. B. D. Evans being elected manager in track and P. A. Gingeich manager in basketball.

CHANGE OF DATE THIS WEEK

Because of the fact that most of the members of the COLLEGIAN staff did not arrive in town until Sunday night, thereby making it impossible to start work on the paper until Monday, it has been deemed advisable to change the date of the paper this week to Friday.

TREATY VOTE TO BE TAKEN NEXT WEEK

Plans of Nations to be settled afterwards.

I favor a compromise on the resolutions of such a character as will avoid the danger of defeating ratification while still making clear that America can only be involved in war by a declaration of Congress, that domestic questions and the Monroe Doctrine are entirely outside of the jurisdiction of the League, that plural votes of any member are all abolished in the event of a dispute wherein we are disqualified from voting, and that on deciding to withdraw we are to be the judge of whether our obligations have been met.

Vote to Be Announced

As soon as the returns of the vote at Penn State have been counted and tabulated they will be announced and then forwarded by telegram to the Na-
