PRICE FIVE CENTS

VARSITY CAGEMEN ON EASTERN TRIP

Lafayette, Swarthmore and Penn to Be Met—Results to Determine Penn State's Status

After having successfully contested the first four games on its schedule for this season, the Penn State cage team is leaving on Thursday of this week for the hardest trip of the year. Only three games will be played, but each will be a decisive test for the following one. The Penn State team is by no means a weak team, nor is the team so strong that the following contests will be as the past four seasons. The teams which are to be met this weekend represent the best in the circle of eastern colleges and the outcome of these contests will have much to do with the placing of Penn State in the ranks of the leading colleges in basketball for this year. On Thursday, Lafayette will be met at Eaton; on Friday the strong Swarthmore team will be played, the game will culminate Saturday evening at Philadelphia against the University of Pennsylvania, who, which game promises to be the hardest of the whole trip.

Lafayette First

The first game of the series, that with Lafayette on Thursday evening will be a sort of a forerunner of the types to expect in the contests to follow. Although the basketball season bids fair to equal the past four seasons, the results of these contests will be unexpected. It might be expected that a comparison could be made, Lafayette and Penn both were victors over Swarthmore, although Penn won by a greater score, and Penn soon after trounced the Lafayette five by the decided score of 36 to 10. The Maroon and White has not a good team this season as has been the custom for that institution to present, and thus the extent to which the Penn State men are able to down the Lafayette five will pave the way for a surprise on the succeeding evening's chances. The Maroon and White's lineup will probably be as follows: Bieher and King, forwards; Roene, center; Yarnell and Leckin, guards.

Swarthmore Next

The following evening the varsity will encounter the Swarthmore aggregation on its home floor. This game will be a much more decisive one, as its result will indicate, a bearing on the probable result for the Penn game. In its recent contest with the Penn five, the Swarthmore aggregation played a high class game, and in the last two minutes of play through two foul calls and a final foul goal by Crave, this, inasmuch as Penn triumphed by a score of four points, it is assumed that the contest with Swarthmore will be equally as hard as the one with Penn. The lineup of the Garnet five will probably be: Plus and Yoder, forwards; Stow, center; Yarnell and Leckin, guards.

Penn Is Strong

The eastern invasion will culminate on Saturday evening with the Penn game. Ever since the Penn State five have clashed, the games have been interesting, closely and cleanly fought. On the indoor rectangle, however, Penn has, for the past few years, been the victor and this time is expected to be White hopes for revenge. The Penn five, in its contest with Yale last Saturday evening won its ninth straight victory of the season and took its place in the lead of the eastern college basketball circle. The outlook for this contest is not especially bright, in that Penn has been meeting harder teams than has Penn State in the past. It is only comparative contest, that with W. & J., the Red and Blue team won a more decisive victory than did the Blue and White. Yet, as was the outlook before the gridiron contest, it is hoped that circumstances may aid the Nittany cagemen in conquering over their long time rivals. With such stars as "Mike" Ewaney, Captain Fock and "Danny" McNichol, the Penn team presents a very formidable front.

Varsity Is Ready

Penn State's lineup for these contests, it is expected, will be much the same as those which have opened the contest. The lineup for the captain (Continued on last page)

Glee Club activities at Penn State, which was followed by another concert on Friday evening, January sixteenth. This last performance was such as to make Penn State students realize the presence of their vocalists. The next trip comes some time during the Easter season, when the club will give concerts at Wilson College, Reading, Philadelphia and Brooklyn, New York. Since this itinerary is as yet a tentative one, other engagements may be added. It is contemplated that the trip will consume the better part of a week.

LARGE CLASS IS GRADUATED

Dr. Sparks Confers Degrees at Annual Mid-Year Convocation Held Monday Night

Penn State's War Class, called because most of its members were in service during the recent war and were consequently retarded in their college courses, held its annual convocation last Monday evening in the Auditorium. One hundred and thirteen men received their degrees at this time and the School of Agriculture holds the honor of having the highest number of graduates. Forty-seven men having been awarded degrees from that school.

In addition to the granting of degrees to members of the War Class, a number of advanced degrees were presented by Dean Bond to present or former members of the faculty. The candidates to whom these honors were awarded were as follows: Master of Arts, Merritt Melvin Harris, Ph. D., Master of Science, Vincent Leonard Ayres, B. S., and M. S., Electrical Engineer, James B. S. Electrical Engineer, Chemical Engineer, John Jacob Light, B. S. All but one of these men are at present on the teaching staff of the college.

John H. Walton Mitchell was to have spoken to the graduates of the convocation, but due to illness which confined him to his home in Pittsburgh, the task fell to President Sparks. In a short speech the president of the college urged upon the members of the war class to remain sane in the great period of unrest which is sweeping over the country. Captain White also spoke and thanked the former students for the interest that they had taken in the military side of college life and assured them that their cooperation with the military department was appreciated. The awarding of certificates for military service was done by Major Elton D. Walker, who commended the (Continued on Page Five)

HAMLIN GARLAND UNABLE TO SPEAK HERE SATURDAY

A telegram was received from Hamlin Garland on Thursday that he would be unable to come to Penn State to lecture on Saturday evening, because of his serious illness which has confined him to his bed. This news will be a source of great regret to the students and faculty of Penn State who were looking forward to the opportunity of hearing this noted lecturer, short story writer and novelist. Mr. Garland was to have spoken under the auspices of Phi Kappa Phi, and it is quite possible that he will be able to fill the engagement some time later this year.

Light Team Renders Little Opposition in Penn State's Fourth Straight Victory

The contest gave way to a snappy start but in the first few minutes of play the work of the Blue and White team was so brilliant that the Blue and White team was able to score in this early period amounting three straight two-pointers before any member of the team began. Hamlin was unable to find the ball to throw and the Blue and White team scored the first four goals of the game. Moore, his southpaw partner followed closely with the first field goal and then the Blue and White team scored the second goal. The Blue and White team quickly scored the score far beyond the point where Lebanon Valley could attempt to score. White led the scoring in both halves, in the second half he scored the first goal and drawing far away from any other contestant in the second period of the game. A score of 10-0 was totally out of the game after Moore, Seltzer and Leburne had managed to obtain two-pointers as far as the scoring of the game was concerned. Towards the end of the game the Blue and White team took a split and registered four straight goals, increasing their lead to eight as compared to their opponents' eight when the half closed.

NOTED LECTURER TO BE SUNDAY VESPER SPEAKER

J. A. Schlichter, of Philadelphia, to Tell Life Story at Sunday Evening Meeting

The Y. M. C. A. Vesper speaker Sunday night is a man, a hero, both success and failure from the social standpoint, and so Mr. J. A. Schlichter, lecturer and orator, is capable of speaking on the subject "Out of the Depths" in the "Story of my Life." Mr. Schlichter comes to this place with a reputation which is hardly able to be surpassed by any speaker of the day. He is highly recommended by all the audience which have listened to him and his lecture Sunday night will only serve to convince the people that this place has a man of his caliber in his midst. The subject which he tells concerns the life of the best possible kind. In the theme, but pathetic as well. The speaker has risen from the lowest depths to a place among the great Y. M. C. A. speakers of the day. In former years Mr. Schlichter was one of the foremost orators of the day. He has been a member of the Young Men's Christian Association for many years. His experiences have been marvelous, and his story is so full of interest that it is hard to believe that he became a slave to it. This dragged him down from the heights of his fame to the depths of misery, from which time his host of friends deserted him. Drink could not satisfy him so (Continued on last page)

LEBANON VALLEY IS DOWNED BY VARSITY

WRESTLERS PREPARE FOR OPENING MEET

Lehigh to Bring Strong Team to Penn State on February Fourteenth

With the first meet with Lehigh on the fourteenth only a week and a half away, all the attention of the Lehigh wrestling team is now directed towards perfecting a suitable team which will represent Penn State on the mat. It was pleased with the work of several of the men in the championship program and the fact that they are doing themselves to perfecting the offensive work of the men. The men themselves are working hard to come down to the mat and are preparing for the preliminary which will be held on Friday night and Saturday afternoon. The semi-finals will be held Monday night, and the finals Wednesday night, and the team expects to do very well. It is interesting as the men themselves do the large number of good men who are competing in the various weights. The college championship meet brought forth the fact that Jones '22 will have to be considered as a fitting opponent to all aspirants for a position in the 115-pound class, and also Shier and Moffitt both of whom have progressed wonderfully within the last week. Taylor, who holds the 125-pound college championship, seems to be the most logical person for that position. Although the work of Seltzer and Leburne who expects to come down from the 135-pound class, cannot be minimized. DeLuca will undoubtedly hold the position in the 135-pound class of the college and Lehigh has a distinct compliment to the college, stating that while he was unable to return to receive the honor, he was greatly pleased to become a member of the organization.

PENN STATE GRADUATE DIRECTOR OF NEW WORK

Dr. W. H. Walker '90 Now Holds Responsible Position at Massachusetts Tech.

Another Penn State graduate has won his way to prominence as is attested by the report that Dr. William H. Walker has been made a director of a new college organization and will also witness the beginning of a new era in Penn State's dramatic activities. Special effort has been made in the selection of these plays to secure only those which appeal to a college audience. The first play will be "Dawn", a gripping tragedy by Percival Wilde, one of America's foremost playwrights. Whatever the play has been given before, the audience has been thrilled and enthralled by the intensity of the dramatic situations and by the unusual dramatic endings. It has been pronounced by competent critics to be one of the most sensational one-act plays of the day. The second play to be presented will be "Sundering the Now", a farcical comedy by Lady Gregory. This is one of the best of the Irish farces and has been placed among the best comedies of the day. "The Wonder Hat" by Ben Hecht and Kenneth Sawyer Gowen will conclude the program. Four light, farcical comedies and bizarre contorting and scenery effects this play has never been executed and it will be a fitting climax to the evening's entertainment.

COLLEGE PLAYERS APPEAR ON FRIDAY

New Organization Will Make Initial Appearance in Three One-Act Plays

The Penn State Players will make their first appearance on Friday night, when they will offer a program of three highly entertaining one-act plays. This performance will mark the debut of a new college organization and will also witness the beginning of a new era in Penn State's dramatic activities. Special effort has been made in the selection of these plays to secure only those which appeal to a college audience. CAST WELL TRAINED

The players appearing in these productions have been well trained and have had a long experience in the theatrical profession.

The players appearing in these productions have been well trained and have had a long experience in the theatrical profession. They have been selected for their skillful direction of Mr. Clewinger, they have attained a very high degree of perfection. Mr. Clewinger, who was in the position of coach for the club, has concentrated every effort upon these plays and that they should be a success is very evident from a consideration of his past experience in dramatics and the fact that every production that he has been connected with in the past has secured a decided success.

The Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association will hold a campaign in State College on the ninth and tenth of February.

The Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association will hold a campaign in State College on the ninth and tenth of February. The object of the campaign is to recruit the student body in this movement and obtain their support. Before the war the men at Penn State were active in this movement helping to elect a dry candidate to the legislature. Meetings with the various units and fraternities will be arranged. In a letter recently received by the Phi Kappa Phi of Penn State, ex-President William H. Taft accepted the nomination to Phi Kappa Phi which was granted him in absence and thus connects himself with the efforts being made to establish the good scholarship of the college and to give a distinct compliment to the college, stating that while he was unable to return to receive the honor, he was greatly pleased to become a member of the organization.

LECTURE GIVEN TO STUDENTS IN COMMERCE AND FINANCE

Captain L. J. Lederer recently delivered a very instructive as well as interesting lecture to the upper classmen in the course of Commerce and Finance. The subject discussed was "Psychology as applied to general business", especially advertising and salesmanship being taken up. Upon the request of the class another lecture was delivered which dealt with campaigns, the formation of plans and their execution in the exploitation of products and money for all campaigns. Captain Lederer's wide business experience and his plans as formulated for the Liberty Loan Campaign for the Twentieth Federal Reserve District makes him a man of national reputation and one who could talk from experience on these subjects.
