

KAPPA-SIGMA WINNER IN FRATERNITY MEET

Winning by a score of twenty-eight points, the Kappa Sigma fraternity carried off high honors in the inter-fraternity track meet held last Saturday afternoon on New Haven and thereby laid claim to the coveted cup offered the victors. Phi Kappa Sigma tallied the next highest number of points, while the position of third place went to the Phi Delta Theta...

TRACK MEN SCORE THREE FIRSTS AT PENN RELAYS and second places counted in the final score, making the Nittany cinder men's performance unusually creditable. Gala Day at Penn On Wednesday evening the team left Bethlehem and proceeded to Philadelphia where it participated in the Penn Relay Carnival on Friday and Saturday. On Thursday, the members of the squad were divided into three work out, together with Syracuse and several Western universities and completed their preparations for the contests of the following days. Friday dawned cold and rainy and was so seldom that the sun broke through the thick banks of clouds that covered the city. The track was in bad condition, making it hard for the runners to show up to the best advantage...

ered the favorite, but the Center County quartette finished one of the surprises of the day by capturing the event in the time of ten minutes and thirty-seven seconds. Syracuse was considered a strong contender for first place. Taylor, running the quarter, started off well and held his own with the rest of the field, passing the baton to Orr, whose half mile was one of the prettiest races of the event. Merrill also showed up well in the three quarter mile. At the start of the last lap, all the runners in the field were comparatively closely bunched, but it was soon evident that the race was to be a struggle between Shields, and Seaman of Yale. For three and a half laps Shields was on the heels of his opponent, but toward the close of the fourth circuit, he let himself out in a magnificent sprint and crossed the tape thirty yards ahead of the Phi representative. It was a wonderful event all through the eyes of the spectators. Penn State did not enter a team in the Sprint Medley Championship race, which was also run Friday afternoon.

Shields' Stare in Four-Mile Saturday was a perfect day (meteorologically) and, although the track was still heavy, several world's records were broken during the afternoon. On this day also did Penn State win high honors in several of the events. The first victory was that of Emory in the Javelin Throw, with a distance of 165 feet and six and one-eighth inches. In this event the State athlete proved himself superior to Bartels, of Penn. Pentathlon title holder, and Bradley of Kansas, the new winner of the Pentathlon. In the broad jump, Grubb made a wonderful spring of over twenty three feet, but overstepped the take off by half an inch, and was forced to take third place. "Casey" Way took second place in this event, which was won by Conville, of New York, with a distance of twenty-two feet, seven inches. Parent and Taylor failed to place in the hundred and one hundred and twenty pound weight lift, respectively, but showed up well in both events. Penn State was entered in the Class B one mile championship relay race, being represented by Taylor, Demming, Parent and Rite. These men encountered a fast field of entrants and failed to place, as also did the Freshman Relay team in the one mile Freshman Relay championship. "Charles" Way was to have been entered in the high jump but remained out to participate in the broad jump. The last event of the afternoon, and the closing event of the carnival was the American Championship Four Mile Relay Race, which was captured by Penn State in eighteen minutes, sixteen and four-fifths seconds. The unusually strong field of contestants included Columbia, Cornell, Syracuse, Iowa State, Yale, Chicago, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Georgetown, and Penn State. It was an exceedingly spectacular race, and hard-fought to the very finish. The Penn State quartette consisted of Newcomer, Orr, Merrill and Captain Shields. For the first three miles all the runners were closely bunched, and no team seemed to have a decided advantage. When Shields received the baton from Merrill, he was sixth man, and chances for success looked rather slim. But the sensational mile soon pulled up to third and then to second place and at the last turn was following Watson, of Syracuse. After a wonderful sprint he beat the rest of the field by twenty-five yards ahead of the Syracuse man. Shields ran his last quarter in the remarkable time of sixty seconds. A mile from the International Two Mile Relay, which was easily won by the Oxford-Cambridge British team, the four-mile relay, was perhaps the most sensational event of the entire carnival. Penn State may well be proud of her sons who acquitted themselves so ably at this important chivalrous event.

MILITARY BAND WILL GIVE SUNDAY CONCERT

On Sunday, May ninth, the military band, will render the last of its Sunday concerts for this semester, except those scheduled for Commencement week. As yet, the program has not been fully made out, but there promises to be several pleasing selections in it. Election of officers for the ensuing term will be held on the night of May the thirtieth. On the following Sunday, the orchestra is to repeat the performance and give to the student body a concert of the usual high caliber. Election of officers for the orchestra will take place on May the eighteenth. Results of both elections will be given at a later date.

LARGE MEMORIAL PLAN PROPOSED TO SENIORS

(Continued from first page) The Pennsylvania State College, which is to receive the amount of the policy, has a sinking fund and this amount will also be paid to the college at the end of the designated time. The Equitable Life Insurance Company has an efficient body of men and women under it, who handle such corporate policies with precision and ability and very little trouble and time will be required of the members of the class in carrying out their portion of the plan. The memorial committee, which was appointed to investigate means to this end has unanimously recommended the life-insurance plan as the most efficient and desirable. Following is a brief outline of the proposed plan which the money for the Memorial Endowment Fund will be raised. 1.—Individual policies should be taken out by every member of the class, that he might feel personally responsible for the policy and that Penn State might be insured against the death of graduates counted upon to support her. 2.—The size of the annual premiums on these policies to be so small that every man in the class could be capable of joining the scheme. 3.—The plan to be simple and workable, causing least possible trouble to the members of the class. 4.—Twenty years was chosen as the period of time, at the end of which policies should fall due, as a shorter period would make the annual premiums too large. 5.—It is proposed to raise $100,000.00. Minimum policies to be $300, annual premiums on this amount approximately $14.70. 6.—The policies on each man shall be applied to by and payable to the Memorial Committee with the understanding that at the end of twenty years the whole sum will revert to the college for use as the class may then decide. 7.—Face value of each policy to be paid to the fund at the end of prior death or at the termination of the twenty years. 8.—Annual premiums policies to be sent out by the company together with a letter from the Memorial Committee and the committee notified of failure of any member to pay up his premium in time, to pay it for him if it is found necessary. 9.—The dividends returned on the premiums and the principal and interest on any policies paid in through the death of the insured, will be allowed to accrue as a reserve fund. 10.—Only a brief form of medical inspection will be required, and the premiums probably made payable on the first of June. A Senior class meeting will be held Thursday evening in "Hall Penn" and it is expected that every loyal member of the class of 1920 will be on hand so that the plan receives the backing of the entire class and that the alumni may learn that their next additions will mean "Bigger and Better Things for Penn State."
