ALUMNI AND VISITORS

Welcome back! The COLLEGIAN, on behalf of the entire college, extends to you a warm and sincere welcome. You are returning to Penn State for the closing exercises of one of the most successful years this college has ever witnessed. You are also returning to a college which during the year has gradually been bereft of some of its best men and staunchest friends. However, at this time you are returning for rejoicing with the classmates and friends, not only of today, but of days past, and with them enjoying the greatest pleasure to be obtained in this wide world, that of witnessing the growth and enlargement, of this your alma mater and your friend.

To all of you, again, we extend our hearty welcome. Enjoy yourselves to the utmost while in our midst, that in future days you may look forward to another such reunion midst old Nittany's vale.

FELLOW STUDENTS

The work of the year has drawn to a close. Following commencement exercises, and even before, each of us will either return to his native hearth or to some stranger city where he shall spend the summer. Many will work, for practical credit or for personal benefit. Wherever we go, let us not forget that we carry with us the name of Penn State. It is without reason, that a man may visit some village or hamlet and it never be known where he came from. Therefore it is safe to conclude that his college, as well as himself, will be most strenuously judged, not always by impartial judges, by his attitude in general and his actions entirely.

In view of these facts, let us conduct ourselves in such a manner, no matter where we are, that our very actions, our very deeds, shall be a light to our companions and the communities where we may be located of the great institution of which we are but a minute part. Let us always remember that for Penn State we shall strive, for her good, and only for her good shall we labor. Our college—who has given us so much, and to whom we return so little! Let us never forget her, fellow students, but let us, above all, commit no error which shall force her fair name in the dust of public opinion wrongly obtained.

Likewise, during the commencement activities, let us observe our conduct that the great number of visitors will receive the very best impression of the college and of her students. The COLLEGIAN feels that the REAL Penn State man will render the best impression. Let us all be REAL Penn State students.

BOOST FOR PENN STATE

In addition to making a good impression among his townsmen this summer, it is the duty of every Penn State man and woman to make known to them the needs of the college. Let the people know more of this great institution. Make them realize, that as their state college, this institution should receive their utmost support. Make them realize that it is their duty to support this college; their duty to support by vote the men who will see that the college receives the necessary financial aid from the state. Inform them of the present conditions at the college, of the number of students who are attending, of the great number who have been turned away, of the present inadequate facilities for caring for a student body, both in housing and in college buildings, which this college should accommodate each year. Make them see what opportunities are in wait for the future generations of students who will desire to come to the Pennsylvania State College, and what the duty of the people of the state is to them.

Don't be afraid to make a little noise about it. The only way in which to obtain a great end is to make a state wide movement in its favor. Help arouse the alumni in your district. Help contain them into actively working units for the college's good. In this way you may be able to do some good for the college. If you can do it, hesitate. Talk it up!

SEMI-WEEKLY NEXT YEAR

Following the favorable impression received from the student body at the last mass meeting, it has been fully decided that the COLLEGIAN next year will be issued twice a week, the first issue appearing on Tuesday and the second on Friday. The COLLEGIAN feels that this is the proper step to be taken toward a daily paper in the future and it is the earnest desire of the board that the student body assist in this enterprise which means so much good for the students and town in future years, that they subscribe to the paper next year. Help the COLLEGIAN. It means bigger and better things for you.

ELECTED TO STAFF

The COLLEGIAN takes great pleasure in announcing the names of the following members of the class of 1923, who have secured positions as reporters on the Editorial Staff, following the annual cut made at the end of a competition of fifteen weeks: W. R. Auman; C. E. Gross; A. E. Post; C. H. Landefeld; D. R. Mehl; C. W. Parsons; E. D. Schive and B. E. Watkins. Miss Helen E. Field '21 has been elected the Woman's Editor for next year.

MANY SERVICES HAVE BEEN RENDERED BY "Y"

Big Work For Good of Penn State Undertaken By Christian Association

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. have had an exceptionally active year in the college and in that time have done a large amount of good and lasting work. The work of these organizations is not easily seen or of an ostentatious nature but upon observation it will be noticed that the hard work has by no means been fruitless. Beginning the year with a new leader, the Y. M. C. A. has developed under the direction of Mr. F. L. Opatow and it has made its power felt over the entire campus and impressed itself indelibly upon the hearts of many. Through the medium of this organization the students have been privileged to hear some of the prominent speakers of the country who have brought to them in a forcible manner the needs and wants of the outside world. This has been one of its large works and the Y. M. C. A. has been successful.

Besides developing the intelligence of the students over general lines the "Y" has also placed the student body upon a higher plane religiously. The first great attempt in this line this year occurred when the required number of students both of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. were sent to the Des Moines conference. The money for sending these persons was obtained to some extent through subscription and in this the students backed the "Y" to a satisfactory extent. While attending this large conference the committee planned to have Mr. Sherwood Eddy, one of the greatest religious advocates of the day, come to Penn State. In order to do this a petition list of five hundred names was easily obtained and Mr. Eddy came to this place for a three day stay in which time he brought almost the entire campus to a realization of the right and wrong of life in this campaign of the Y. W. C. played no small part. A student delegation was also sent to another conference later in the year and in this was kept in touch with the other colleges engaged in religious work.

The most dispiriting phase of the work this year was the manner in which the students supported the drive made by the "Y. M." late in the year. The goal was set at six thousand dollars and at the final count only about half of the required amount was obtained. From the outsiders and directors standpoint the amount would seem excellent but from the standpoint of a student interested in the work it would seem that it should have been put over as other great projects were completed. It was the purpose of the governing body to donate some of the money towards engaging another mission to work in China but with the small amount obtained this is almost impossible.

The Penn State delegations at the other conferences have been of such size as to do justice to the college and put it in the front ranks among the religious colleges of the country. It is hoped that the allotted number will attend the summer conference at Silver Bay from June twenty-fifth to July fourth. All students who are interested should stop at the bus and receive more information concerning the matter.

SENIOR MEMORIAL WELL-SUPPORTED

Nearly Every Member Has Contributed to $60,000 Endowment Fund

The Senior Memorial fund is meeting with surprising success in the eyes of those who fostered the movement. The 1920 class has taken out a corporate endowment policy for the sum of $60,000 up to the present time, and has been backed by almost every man in the class.

The plan to leave the college an endowment fund of $100,000 at the end of twenty years, means that every member of the class has a chance to serve his Alma Mater in carrying out this wonderful proposition. It is the final measure which the class of 1920 has adopted in putting across something big for the upbuilding of Penn State.

The endowment totalling $60,000 at the present time, will increase in due time by policies to be taken out by former 1920 men who are now entered in the lower classes owing to the time lost while engaged in war service. It is felt that the class will meet over to the college in 1940 the amount for which they are working—a goal that the class of 1920 will obtain.

The minimum policies that can be taken out amount to $200.00, the annual premium on such a policy approximating $14.70. Every member of the class taking out a policy is required to undergo a brief form of medical inspection. Each policy holder will receive in the course of a few weeks, a policy single representing his faithfulness to his Alma Mater in this plan. It is the plan of the committee to keep in touch with the members of the class after they have left the college and made permanent homes. The plan to be pursued is primarily for the purpose of keeping up the life of the class for the years to come.

This is the first time in the annals of The Pennsylvania State College that the Senior class have seriously considered the importance of leaving to the institution something of material value. Their love for the Alma Mater has been widely displayed by this plan, which they have heartily accepted and carried out with so much success, 1920.

has done something which is worthy of consideration by every Penn State alumni and student.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CHOSEN FOR ALUMNI DAY

At a recent meeting of the committee appointed to choose fraternity representatives on the executive committee, and through action taken, among the units to elect representatives to govern the large general committee of representatives of the fraternities and units, of the college in reference to promoting plans and operations for Alumni Day on October ninth of next fall, seven men were made active members of the executive committee, with seven members ex-officio. The active committee is composed of the national and local fraternities and the non-fraternity men of the college. They are as follows: K. R. Stark '21, chairman; R. K. Williams '21, G. H. Lindquist '21-23; W. H. McNeese '21; C. W. Supple '22; R. R. Buttrick '22 and C. C. Gaffey '22. The members ex-officio are: D. N. Sullivan, Secretary of the Alumni Association; A. R. Warrnack, Dean of Men; Ray H. Smith,

Comptroller; Hugo Bezdek, Director of Physical Education; Neil Fleming, Graduate Manager of Athletics; E. M. Aiken, President of the class of 1921; and the Editor of the COLLEGIAN.

This executive committee which was elected to mitigate the work of the larger body will hold a meeting soon, at which time it will lay plans for the conduct of the affair. The events, as outlined in last week's COLLEGIAN, promise a most enjoyable time to all participating and it is the hope and desire of those most interested in the successful operation of this great Alumni Day, that the student body, one and all, take home with them the word concerning that day, and that they do all in their power to make the day one to become a fixture on Penn State's yearly calendar.

TWO CALVES ARE ADDED TO COLLEGE LIVESTOCK

The Wilmington Land and Development Company, of Wilmington, Delaware, recently donated two Hereford Steer calves to the Department of Animal Husbandry, which are a valuable addition to the livestock of the college, inasmuch as they were bred on the farm of Senator Camden of Versailles, Kentucky, who has one of the best herds in the country.
