WOMEN STUDENTS TAKE PART IN MANY ACTIVITIES

Penn State girls have abandoned laziness, as the result of action initiated last spring by the class of 1921. But college customs persist, and to enforce them without public humiliation is the problem. The present system of discipline calls for a committee composed of members from all four classes. Viewpoints of customs are reported to this committee, and the Freshman members interview privately its members. The Women's Student Government Council is the final authority in disputed cases. Green ribbons again mark the new girls; but their progress now is solely to foster acquaintance among the Freshmen.

The women students liked to the woods Tuesday evening for a picnic supper under the auspices of the Women's Athletic Association. After a hearty meal and lively games the girls gathered about the fire to hear speeches from various student leaders of sports and the Dean of Women. Enthusiastic plans for hockey, basketball, tennis, hiking, track and golf were outlined. A one-week interclass hiking contest starts this Wednesday. The point system hereafter governs awards of athletic numerals. A blank Freshman serves as first recognition next, class numerals are added; an 8 is the highest honor.

At the annual welcome service of the Y. W. C. A. held Sunday evening in the Faculty Parlor of the Women's Building the president, Miss Minnie Rapp '21, explained the helpful program offered by the "Y. W." this year. Classes for study of political questions, literature on pertinent problems, social service in country Sunday schools, and social activities among the students present opportunities for broadening our outlook. Amendment of the constitution to admit persons of all creeds is a proposed advanced step.

NOTICE FRESHMEN

so straight-legged over their fences and neither jumps when he takes off. The great English hunter the late G. L. Anderson was the last one to have the track that both Thompson and Barron displayed at his command.

Criticisms of Games.
Speaking of the way in which the Olympics were handled, Barron declared that affairs were too long drawn out, and that not enough events were held to fill out programs for the days. A crowd, relatively small considering the importance of the meet, was on hand to witness the games, and in some cases he declared that the old grandstands on Beaver Field would have had been sufficient to accommodate the larger number of spectators. A large crowd however, was always on hand to witness the soccer and other games that are vastly more popular on the other side of the water than here. Barron also declared that many of the officials took pleasure in calling fouls on American contestants and that this not being the case, the United States would have come out victorious by a larger margin than she really did.

Other Meets.
Immediately after the close of the meet in Antwerp, about twenty-five members of the American team including Harold Barron were sent to Paris and thence to London to compete in several contests that were held in those cities. In Paris, the Blue and White Hurdler carried off two events, a first and second place, while at London the men from this side of the Atlantic had to be content with a tie with their English cousins. Barron, nevertheless, distinguished himself again and drew a second place medal out of the affair. A notable feature of these two meets was the fact that out of three races in which Thompson was entered, the steady Canuck beat the record twice.

Barron's War Record.
Since leaving Penn State in 1917, Barron has passed through a great diversity of experiences. At the beginning of the war, he enlisted as a private in the Ordnance Department of the army and was at once transferred to Augusta, Georgia, where he completed his training before being sent overseas just prior to the signing of the armistice. After the signing of the armistice he, with some others, were transferred to a French university at Toulouse in the southern part of Spain where he studied art. While there he took part in athletic activities and in a number of instances competed in intercollegiate meets that were held between the school at Toulouse and other French universities. After four months of study there, he decided to return to America in order to complete his course at Penn State.

Soon after his arrival in the United States he at once began training for the Olympics by securing a position as a laborer in the shipyards. At this naval training practice he remained until three days before the final try-outs in Boston, where he was regarded as a dark horse and where he upset the opinions of many dopsters by winning first place in the trials.

STIFF SCHEDULE AHEAD OF CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

With a full week of light training gone, in which he shaped his men into condition, Coach "Bill" Martin is now preparing stringent work-outs for his lack of cross-country staves. With Captain Romig, Orr, Snyder, Newcomer, Maxwell, Dudley and Shields as a nucleus, there is no doubt but Penn State will be represented by a team of championship caliber. All of the men mentioned have reported for work with the exception of Larry Shields, who has not returned home from the Olympic games, where he was America's leading ace in the mile event.

Garber, a former varsity man, has returned to entice and with Stenderoth and Matior of last seasons yearling squad will compete for varsity honors. The squad will be greatly strengthened by the return of Newhouse and Seem, who are expected to report in the near future.

A difficult schedule has been arranged which will include meets with the University of Pennsylvania on October (thirtieth), Lehigh on November thirtieth, Carnegie Tech on November twenty-fifth and with another team not yet decided upon. An attempt is being made by Manager Sell to schedule a meet with Dartmouth on the Alumni Home-Coming Day. The team will also compete in the intercollegiate, the date and place of which have not as yet been named.

PLAYERS TO GIVE CLEVER SATIRE

and exquisitely done. You have no little reason to feel pleased with the work of the year.

Although considerable was accomplished during the past year, the Players commence the present term with the desire of bringing more and even better enjoyment to Penn State in the future. In order to more adequately do this, Mr. Cloetgh will be assisted by Miss Ruth E. Jackson and Mr. A. Deering, both of the Department of Public Speaking.

LARGE NUMBER ELECT FOOTBALL FOR DRILL

Over one hundred and twenty-five Freshmen have signified a preference for football in place of the required gymnasium work and accordingly have been excused from the indoor exercise. From forty to fifty of these men constitute the regular Freshman squad while the remainder will be divided into two groups under the leadership of N.

R. Korb '21 and W. W. Uhler '22. These men will meet twice a week after the last class of the day and will be taught the elements of the game. It will be necessary that they furnish their own equipment for the present at least, while the Department of Physical Education will provide tackling dummies and pils. From time to time as good prospects are uncovered they will be transferred to the regular Freshman squad upon the recommendation of their instructors.

CIDER FEED PLANNED FOR NEW FORESTERS

The Forestry Society is preparing a grand set out for Freshmen Foresters sometime during the coming week. Unless will be posted giving the exact date and at the set time the Freshmen will be welcomed at the usual place in the wood lot just above the Forestry Building.

The committee on entertainment is endeavoring to have all members of the faculty who are interested in forestry attend the event in order to tell the new men of the bright outlook for graduates of that school. During the summer members of the Junior Class were placed in positions in various parts of the country by Professor J. A. Ferguson, head of the department. Some of the men went to Canada, others to Wyoming and still others to Maryland. It is quite likely that many of these men will relate some of their experiences at the coming feed.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT RECEIVES NEW EQUIPMENT

During the summer the School of Engineering received a considerable quantity of new equipment from the Frankford Arsenal. Among the articles received for the Industrial Engineering Department was an automatic screw machine, a modern tooling, a Reed-Prentiss lathe, a Sibley drill press one Cleveland automatic turret lathe, a Cincinnati horizontal milling machine, a Smith-Mille taper, a centering machine. The Department of Mechanical Engineering also received some new equipment, the principal articles being a simplex steam pump and a large duplex plunger type steam pump. These purchases were made under an act of Congress entitled "The Caldwell Act," which dispenses salvaged war material to Engineering Colleges at a reduction of fifteen per cent.

A contract has been let for a large compound two-stage air compressor for the new Mechanical Engineering Laboratory. Work on the new laboratory has been seriously delayed because of the slow delivery of materials and because of the necessity of work on the farms during the summer. Now that practically all of the material is here it is hoped that the new building will be rushed to completion.

Playing His Last Goodbye!

The night before he had been the great musician, playing to rapturous thousands. Now he was just a plain old mother's "baby" playing to her and the girl he loved. Perhaps he should play no more—perhaps not see them again.

So he played "Humoresque"—that lagan on life, with a tear behind it—and was gone!... Where?... Why?

A story that blends the slum and the avenue, the din and the music, the sorrow and smiles of life in a happy melody, silently played on the screen.
