J. STITT WILSON TO VISIT PENN STATE

Popular Y. M. C. A. Evangelist Will Deliver Four Lectures Here In December.

For four days, from December the 11th to December the 14th, the faculty and student body of Penn State will be fortunate in having with them J. Stitt Wilson, and to hear his four famous addresses which constitute an Institute on "Constructive - Christian Democracy." Mr. Wilson comes to State College through the efforts of the Y. M. C. A. and will take the place that Sherwood Eddy filled last spring in his most successful religious campaign. Stitt Wilson is a different type of man from Sherwood Eddy, fully as great if not greater. The twofold purpose in bringing this famous student speaker to Penn State is to awaken men to the appreciation of the character and seriousness of modern social and industrial problems and to help them decide whether the Christian religion offers the solution of these problems.

J. Stitt Wilson has had an overwhelming success in addressing students. This is strongly shown by the fact that last year he conducted campaigns in more than fifty universities and colleges. These institutions are situated all over the United States and consist of many of the largest schools in the country. He has aroused the greatest amount of interest everywhere he has been and much discussion but seldom or never any criticism. An example of this is at the Ohio State University where the greatest part of the student body of six thousand heard all of his messages. He had a most astounding knowledge of international conditions along industrial and social lines and has had many experiences in testing whether Christianity will most effectively solve these problems. A comment that is many times heard concerning Mr. Wilson is that he speaks not only with the insight and courage of a prophet but also with the precision and accuracy of a scientific mind.

All Praise Him

Wherever Mr. Wilson goes he receives great praise. This is especially true of the schools at which he has spoken. Some comment has come from many institutions which sums up his personal qualities. "He is a man with an unusual message for this particular hour," is a statement that comes from the executive of the Student Department of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. From the general consensus of opinion a fair idea of the man may be obtained. "He is one of the most inspiring and convincing speakers that has ever spoken to a student body." "I scarcely expected to become enthusiastic about him, but after listening to him for three days I am ready and anxious to announce that he is a wonder. The things that Mr. Wilson speaks of are things that have been burnt into his heart and he in turn burns his convictions into the hearts of his audience. There is undoubtedly not more than a handful of men in the nation who could so profitably listen. His message is the sort of stuff that ought to be gotten into the very lifeblood of the future leaders of thought in America."

A Practical Man.

Besides having won a great reputation as a religious speaker, J. Stitt Wilson has also won laurels as a practical and scientific man. For three years he was Mayor of Berkeley, California and there won respect and esteem. It is stated that he is one of the greatest orators in the State of California. A great deal of his time has been spent in lecturing on social and industrial problems before all kinds of meetings of men and women in this country and in England. During the war he was a tremendous factor in stimulating the loyalty and patriotism of the people of this state. He lost his only son who was killed in the aviation service, at Mather's Field, Sacramento, California.

Varsity Swamps Southern Eleven

North Carolina Team Displays Game Fight Against Smashing Varsity Attack.

Facing two complete Blue and White teams, unable to gain effectively or consistently against either, powerless before the smashing attack of their opponents, the North Carolina State Gridiron warriors bowed before Penn State to a 41 to 0 score on New Beaver Field last Saturday afternoon. There was little doubt after the first few minutes of play as to the outcome of the struggle, as Coach Bezddek's men showed their superiority in every department, holding their opponents scoreless, while they crossed the Southern's goal line six times and kept the pigskin in their territory most of the game. The day was somewhat too warm to be ideal from a football point of view, and a strong north wind and threatening clouds marked the first part of the contest, but nevertheless, both teams put snap into every play and the game throughout was clean, hardfought, and exciting to the large crowd that witnessed it.

Two of Penn State's six touchdowns were made in each of the quarters except the third. In the first period the Killinger and Haines each crossed the Carolinians' goal line, while in the second fifteen minutes of play Jones and Haines added six points each to the score. "Charlie" Way carried the oval back of the goal posts twice in the last quarter. Of the five successful kicks, Rauch was responsible for three and Way and Beck for one each. A great deal of the ground gained on both sides, especially the Southern's, was accomplished by end runs. Each team made numerous attempts to advance the ball via the aerial route, but the Blue and White players had greater success in this method than their opponents. North Carolina attempted some passes, of which four were uncompleted, two intercepted, and one successful. Penn State attempted nine, of which four were uncompleted, three intercepted, and two successful, one resulting in a first down and the other in the third touchdown of the game. The third quarter was the only scoreless period, the Southern's playing a highly effective defensive game and holding their own against the Nitany men. There were no substitutions made in the line up of either team until near the close of the third period and the first part of the fourth, when Bezddek sent in an entirely new team, and the backfield quartette of the opposing team was replaced by a new set of players.

The Blue and White eleven played football of high calibre and their work was marked by that same coordination of movement and team work that adorned so greatly in vanquishing the strong Dartmouth combination on Alumni Homecoming Day. It is difficult to single out any one of Penn State's players Saturday as the shining light of the combat. Haines played brilliantly, figuring in many of the best ground gaining runs and plunges and breaking through the opposing team for several long plays. Redinger and Lightner each played sterling games, Redinger's interference work being especially notable. Killinger proved himself an able general and a consistent ground gainer. Way did not enter the game until the last part of the third period, but after he did go in he played in his usual superb style, eluding tacklers and carrying the ball for long gains. Two times during the last quarter he crossed North Carolina's line for touchdowns. Beck, Schuster, Hess and Rauch played well on the line. The Southern's, although out-classed, put up one of the cleanest and gamiest exhibitions seen on New Beaver for a long time. Gurley, McCoy, and Hudson played best, the latter two showing great ability in returning punts and kickoffs, and the former being able to gain consistently at times and serving ably as the pilot of his eleven.

Y. W. C. A. UNDERTAKES COMMUNITY SERVICE

Penn State Women Plan Social Welfare Work In Surrounding Rural Districts.

The Penn State Y. W. C. A. has outlined a program for community service for the present year which includes the organization and election of Women's Clubs, Girls' Clubs, Men's Societies, and Girl Scout Troops, as well as the continuation of Sunday Schools in the rural districts nearby. This new plan contains branches of social work that are unprecedented in this part of the state. Heretofore, activities along these lines on the part of the college women has confined itself principally to the conduction of Sunday Schools in the outlying country localities. This year, under the direction of Miss Edna M. Sell '21, who recently engaged in social settlement work at the Union Settlement, East Side, New York City, the Social Service Committee of the college Y. W. C. A. will broaden its sphere of work and influence. In addition to the three Sunday Schools previously conducted by students at Oak Hall, Shingletown, and Branch, a new school will be opened at Krumpholtz as soon as the necessary supplies arrive. In connection with these Sunday schools, the young women plan to organize Women's Clubs, Girls' Clubs, and Men's Societies as rural social centers in the hitherto neglected spots not far from the college.

Furthermore, Girl Scout Troops with student lieutenants will be formed as a part of the rural activities. Since the nearest troop at present is located at Williamsport, these organizations will find an undisputed field of opportunity, and fill a long felt want.

In cooperation with the District Nurse, Mrs. Jones, the Social Service Committee plans to do social case work, caring for patients in out-of-town localities. They will assist also in investigating cases of juvenile delinquency which may require tactful attention.

The following girls are working with Miss Sell to promote community welfare: Lucy Hahn '23, and Eleanor Ashline '22, teachers at Oak Hall Sunday School; Emily Gray and Louise Kralik '22, Shingletown Sunday School; Sarah Hartman '23 and Sarah Crissman '22, Branch Sunday School; Thelma Ringleben, Ruth Fry and Marlon Mears '23, Girl Scout Lieutenants; Virginia Percy and Margaret Glossman '21, and Louise Still '21, Social Class Work.

Through the social Service Committee, the Y. W. C. A. hopes to keep its members in touch with industrial, social, and economic centers all over the country and inform them of opportunities for useful service along these lines.

LAND GRANT COLLEGES HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Four Penn State Faculty Delegates Figure Prominently At New England Convention.

Four Penn State faculty members are taking a prominent part in the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges which is being held in Springfield, Mass., October 19th to 22nd. Dean R. L. Watts, Dean R. L. Sackett, Dr. H. P. Armsby, and Director M. S. McDowell are the men who are representing this institution at the conference. Dean Sackett being Secretary-Treasurer of the Section of Engineering, Dr. Armsby being Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Study, and Dean Watts and Director McDowell being scheduled to speak before the Section on Agriculture.

The meeting is divided into several sections, each dealing with the various branches of college work and these are in turn divided into smaller divisions. Dr. H. P. Armsby is chairman of the Committee on Graduate Study which has charge of post graduate work. Director McDowell is to speak before the Extension Service Division of the Section of Agriculture on the subject "Working Agreements With County Agents, Bureau, etc." and Dean R. L. Watts will discuss the "Improvement in Teaching Methods" before the Residential Teaching Division of the Agricultural Section.

The convention also includes excursions to Amherst and Boston to inspect the Massachusetts Agricultural College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology respectively.

OVATION RENDERED LEITER OPERA CO.

Before a large audience in the Schwab Auditorium last Saturday evening, the Leiter Light Opera Company, appearing under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Department of Music, fulfilled all expectations and presented an excellent program of scenes from many of the most familiar and popular operas. The group, consisting of Miss Martha Cook, soprano; Miss Hazel Huntley, contralto; Mr. Joseph Kendrick, tenor; Mr. Thomas Morris, baritone; and Mr. Harrison Burch, pianist, brought to Penn State a most delightful evening's pleasure, and repeatedly called forth hearty rounds of applause. Each of the musicians was a real artist and the voices of the quartette formed a happy blend of harmony that charmed those present. Mr. Burch's work at the piano added a great deal to the ensemble and proved him to be the possessor of fine technique.

The first part of the program consisted of three songs from modern light operas, rendered by the quartette. These included "Spirit of Spring" from "Morning of the Year" by Cndman; "Rose of My Heart" by Lohr; and "Allah's Holiday" from "Katinka" by Frimel. Following this, Miss Cook delighted her hearers by singing "Butterflies" by Linn Sellen. This selection was one of the best of the entire program. Mr. Kendrick

JUNIORS VICTORIOUS IN CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Freshmen Take Second Honors In Inter-Class Event—Romig Stars For Seniors.

In one of the closest races witnessed here in several years, the harriers representing the Class of 1922 won first honors in the Inter-class Cross Country meet conducted last Saturday afternoon, by finishing with a low score of fifty five, while the Sophomores and Seniors followed with scores of fifty eight and sixty one points, respectively.

The race, which started at New Beaver Field at one o'clock last Saturday, offered the first opportunity for Coach Martin to see his candidates in competitive action, and the result demonstrated that he has a squad under his supervision that is far from mediocre in calibre. The outlook is especially promising for the remainder of the year in the case of the Freshmen, as they pushed the Juniors hard for first place in the inter-class race, and gave signs of developing into a formidable team. The running of Captain Romig, of the Varsity squad was especially remarkable, as he covered the four and a half mile course in the unusually fast time of twenty seven minutes and forty two seconds, winning first place in the race. He showed that he is back in the running game this year with all of his old time form and a great deal of brilliant running may be expected from him during the remainder of the season. Another runner who showed exceptional fleetness in the recent race was Studenroth '23, who finished second. Studenroth came a comparatively close second to Romig, crossing the finish line only one minute and fifty three seconds behind the winner, and completing the course in twenty nine minutes and thirty-five seconds. The next eight men to cross the tape in the order named were Snyder '21, Coulter '21, Taylor '22, Orr '21, Ink '24, Carter '23, Wender '24 and Wilhelm '24. One of the big features of the race was the large number of students who participated. About sixty-five men started at the crack of the pistol and it is an encouraging fact that only a few of them dropped out and failed to complete the course. Nearly every man kept in the race and tried to do the very best he could and that is something that means a

SOPHOMORE CO-EDS ARE HOSTS TO FRESHMAN GIRLS

The Sophomore girls entertained the Freshman girls at a camp supper in Hamilton's Woods last Saturday evening. Stunts and singing occupied the hours after the meal.

MISS OLIVE KLINE ON PENNA. DAY PROGRAM

Noted American Soprano To Give Joint Concert With Penn State Glee Club.

What promises to be one of the biggest features on the program for Pennsylvania Day which is to be celebrated this year on November sixth will undoubtedly be the concert which Miss Olive Kline, the well known soprano, will render jointly with the Penn State Glee Club. According to Dean Robinson of the Department of Music, final arrangements for bringing Miss Kline to this institution on that date have been completed and judging from the program that is in the process of construction, music lovers will be accorded one of the finest treats that has ever been offered in State College.

Miss Olive Kline is a young American singer who has come into unusual prominence lately. Born and reared in New York State, the young soprano began early to cultivate her natural gift under careful tutelage of some of the foremost musical directors in the United States. Her claims to the high level on which critics have placed her are first of course, a voice of peculiarly clear quality and a natural gift to handle it exquisitely, and in the second place she is declared to possess to a remarkable degree, that unexplained something which creates an atmosphere of contentment in a concert hall. From the way in which she has been received at all of her appearances, it is evident that the audience likes her at first sight for she is always in good spirits, always sincere and natural.

Notable Concert Appearances.

Leading musical organizations all over the country have featured Miss Kline. Included in this number may be listed the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Minneapolis Apollo Club, and the Rubenstein Club of Washington. The chief musical festivals held in the United States have also included her among the distinguished soloists and her success in large oratorio roles has fully equalled her delightful recital achievements. A few festivals at which Miss Kline's voice has aroused enthusiastic comment are numbered those held at Richmond, Va., Ann Arbor, Oberlin, Ohio, Worcester, Mass., Buffalo, and St. Louis.

When Miss Kline appears here, it has been planned to have her render the major part of the program, except for the opening and closing numbers in which she will be aided by the Glee Club. The closing number promises to be the high water mark of the concert, inasmuch as the song that has been selected is taken from Victor Herbert's great success "Naughty Marietta." Tickets for the concert will be put on sale at the Athletic Store in the near future.

Other Penna. Day Features.

Other events, besides the concert by Miss Kline, promise to crown the activities here over the Pennsylvania Day week end. On Friday, November fifth, practically every Penn State house party with a dance, at the varfraternity will begin the annual fall lous chapter houses. A cadet review on Saturday morning by some prominent military official whose name has not yet been announced will be the starter for the events of that day. Following on the heels of this affair will be the inter-sectional class between the Blue and White gridiron warriors and the University of Nebraska eleven. This football contest will no doubt be a bitterly waged struggle and should prove intensely interesting to the large crowd always present at this time of the year.
