GREAT CONVENTION OF I. N. A. EXPECTED

Representatives Of Eastern College Newspapers Will Arrive Today For Conference.

According to advance indications, Penn State's first conference of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association will be one of the best ever held. Sixteen delegates, representing eight college publications had been heard from up until Wednesday evening and as many, if not more, are expected to come to represent the other nine members of the association. Arrangements for housing the delegates are being made as rapidly as the replies from the delegates come in. A busy program has been arranged and the visitors will be well entertained while at Penn State.

While at the time of going to press the list of delegates is in no way complete due to the fact that replies are steadily coming in, the list up to Wednesday evening includes the following college publications: The Bucknellian, Bucknell University; The New Yorker, New York University; The Haverford News, Haverford College; The Phoenix, Swarthmore College; The University Hatcher, George Washington University; The Tarantula, Rutgers College; The Gettysburgian, Gettysburg College; The Patriot, Lafayette College; The Lafayettean, Lafayette College.

Due to the short time that was available to arrange for the conference it has been impossible to arrange definitely for an out-of-town speaker at the meeting, but it is possible that such an arrangement will be made in time for him to be present. The delegates will, in nearly all cases, arrive during the afternoon of this Friday and be conducted to their abode over the conference. The organization meeting will be held at four-thirty that afternoon in Room twenty-five, Liberal Arts Building. The main business session will take place that evening at eight o'clock in the same room, and will be addressed by Dr. Stoddard, Dean of the School of Liberal Arts, who will welcome the visitors in behalf of the college and speak on the relationship between the college and its publications. On Saturday morning the delegates will meet at the COLLEGIAN office and be conducted on a tour of the college campus. That afternoon they will proceed to the football game on New Beaver in a body and occupy a portion of the new stands that has been set aside for that purpose. In the evening they will be entertained by the COLLEGIAN at a smoker and luncheon at the Phi Delta Theta house.

The enthusiasm which is prevalent in all the letters received thus far gives indication that the meeting will be very successful. Editorial policies affecting the colleges represented in the association will be discussed and a closer relationship constantly strived for. The Business Managers of the various publications will also meet in a special session to discuss rates and advertising policies and to attempt to reach some standardization in the cost and type of advertising used.

Through the kindness of Graduate Manager Nell Fleming and the Athletic Association, Professor Koehler of the Fine Arts Department and the Architectural Society, the visiting members will be taken care of at the football game in a portion of the new stand specifically set off for that purpose and decorated accordingly. In view of all these facts, it is expected that the fourth convention of the I. N. A. will be a most successful and enjoyable one.

ARCHITECTS CLUB TO SUPPORT A. L. SOCIETY

At an important business meeting of the students enrolled in the various architectural courses, which was held in Engineering P last Tuesday evening, the old Architectural Engineering Society was discontinued and a new organization which will be known as the Architects Club was formed. A constitution was drawn up and adopted and an executive committee consisting of T. H. Hunter '21, H. T. Hamel '21, and J. M. Judge '22, was appointed to see that the provisions of the constitution are enforced. Professor A. L. Koehler, head of the Department of Industrial and Fine Arts, was unanimously selected to act in the capacity of advisor.

It was voted to continue the officers of the Architectural Engineering Society as officers of the new club, and in addition, H. E. Dickson '21, was elected to act as treasurer. A certificate of membership will be issued to each charter member and new members will be awarded the certificate after the proper initiation. It is planned to have monthly meetings throughout the year and several social functions have already been arranged for, details of which will be announced later.

ROTARIAN PILGRIMAGE TO BRING MANY HERE

Members Of Forty Branches Plan Visit To Penn State Tuesday—To Meet With College Officials.

Delegates from the leading Rotary Clubs of the state are to visit the college next Tuesday and Wednesday. It is estimated that three hundred representatives of the fifth and sixty Rotary Club districts which include all of Pennsylvania and parts of neighboring states will come to State College to get acquainted with the workings of this institution. They will meet with the members of the faculty, will be shown about the campus, and everything possible will be done to give them, as representatives of the Rotary Club, one of the most influential organizations in the United States, an idea of the scope of the work being done here.

Over forty Rotary Clubs have signified their intention of sending delegates, and some of them such as the Williamsport and the Wilkes-Barre Clubs intend to send as high as thirty men apiece. It is expected that approximately three hundred representatives will be in attendance. They will arrive Tuesday afternoon and will stay until the following day, leaving in the afternoon. Tuesday night the delegates will meet with the faculty and the college officials. The speakers have not been decided upon as yet but will be announced later in these columns. This meeting will be devoted to explaining to the visitors the service that the college renders to the state and to the students and to setting forth the requirements necessary to increase this service. Wednesday morning will be devoted to a tour of inspection of the college grounds and buildings. This will include trips through the new engineering works with their electrical laboratories, wood-working shops, foundries, machine shops and experimental laboratories, trips through the mining museum and through the natural sciences laboratories. They will tour the agricultural school and inspect the modern dairy barns, creamery, horse barns, tractors, and the agricultural experiment station. They will also see the experimental orchards and the results of scientific plant breeding and the many other interesting things to be seen on the "Hill." Old Main, the Carnegie Library and the Liberal Arts Building will also be visited. Luncheon will be served at McAllister Hall at noon after the tour of the campus, concluding the entertainment of the visitors. This function, speeches will also be delivered.

It is planned to house the visitors in the various fraternities throughout the town over Tuesday night. Each Greek letter house will be requested to accommodate as many as possible and in this way give the Rotary delegates an intimate idea of student life that would be impossible to obtain by a mere inspection trip through the college. Plans for the housing of the men are not complete as yet but are progressing rapidly and will be finished in time for the reception of the delegates.

The Rotary Club is one of the biggest and most influential organizations in the country for the advancement of commerce and business. It is interested in and takes an active part in public affairs, and all things for the public welfare. The executive committee of the state is one of the most important problems now in the public eye. Because of this fact the Rotary Clubs are coming to this institution to get first hand information on the subject.

FROSH BELOW GRADE MUST MEET ADVISORS

In order to facilitate the work of the Freshman advisors, all Freshmen receiving below grades in any college subject will be required to meet their advisors at the end of the below grade period. Plans for the housing of the men are not complete as yet but are progressing rapidly and will be finished in time for the reception of the delegates.

FIRST FRESHMAN GAME TOMORROW

Opening Game To Be Played At Indiana Normal. Big Squad Will Be Used.

The first football game on the Freshman schedule will be played tomorrow against Indiana Normal School at Indiana. The Normal School team is having a good season with an experienced backfield and a line that is heavier than usual. There are a number of veterans in the line-up and the new men have added weight. Captain Johnston, the right half back, is an experienced man who played against the Freshmen here last year when the yearlings defeated the Indians 13 to 0. This year is the first time that the year men have played at Indiana Normal since 1915. In that year the Freshmen were held to a scoreless tie. Indiana has started well this season and has hopes of repeating the performance of several former years by winning the normal school championship of the state. They got a good start in this direction last Saturday when they defeated Shipley Rock Normal 14 to 0. The line-up used in this contest and which will probably be used against the Penn State Freshmen is as follows: Graham, L. E., Lough, L. T., Wisniewski, L. G., Muldown, C., Lansing, R. G., Gouvier, R. T., Rankin, R. E.; Manganelli, Q. B.; DeBraghe, L. H.; Johnston, R. H.; Watson, F. B.

The Freshman team as outlined last week, Becker, L. E., Madeira, L. T., Runner, L. G., Hamilton, C., Schoenfeld, R. G., Cronther, R. T., Frank, R. E., Carson, Q. B., Wilson, L. H. B., Hynes, R. H. B., and Cornwall, F. B. will start the game. However, Coach Henman in taking eighteen men, "threw him and all" will be put in the game if conditions warrant it. The other men being taken are Butler, L. T.; Feaster, L. G.; Armstrong, R. G.; Johnson, R. T.; Rathgeber, Q. B.; Singer, L. H. B.; Rankin, R. E. The quarterback position has shown greater activity perhaps than any other and in the game tomorrow the coach hopes to find the right man to lead the team. Capron will start against the Indiana team, even was formerly a half back but has shown up well in practice as a quarterback. Rathgeber is his chief opponent for this position and will play part of the game. Madeira has been appointed captain temporarily for this game and the permanent leader will be elected shortly. Wilson and Hynes are scheduled to go to most of the kickers while Capron will be the deep kicker and Runner boot for placement.

The Freshmen have been pitted against the Varsity in scrimmages most of this week and have done very well against the more experienced veterans. Madeira, Hamilton, Frank, and Schoenfeld have shown up exceptionally well. Most of the practice has been devoted to combating their opponents' forward passing.

PRACTICAL COURSE IN COOKING TO BE GIVEN

Plans have been made for a course in cooking beginning next Tuesday evening, in Room 6 in the Women's Building, for young women interested in this subject. The group will meet to learn to cook appealing Sunday lunch, before Tuesday evening in Room 9, Women's Building. Expenses will not be over ten or fifteen cents per lesson, depending on the size of the class.

All young women are welcome to join this group and those interested are asked to leave their names, if possible, to this group, and those interested will be taken on hikes and rides and breakfasts that can be prepared on a grill or chafing dish. The course will also include lessons in what to order at restaurants in order to secure the largest return for the money expended.

BIG MASS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

In order to acquaint the student body with the plans of the Board of Trustees in regard to the financial campaign to be conducted this year, a mass meeting will be held next Monday evening at seven o'clock in the Auditorium. The plan adopted will be outlined by Mr. R. H. Smith, Controller of the College and Mr. H. H. Schmitt, who is acting in conjunction with him and the trustees in forwarding the plan. Every student who can possibly come should be present that he may learn of the plan and of the way in which he can aid in its circulation throughout the state.

NOTED BISHOP TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Rt. Reverend Talbot Of Episcopal Church Here Sunday—Will Speak At Both Chapels.

The student body will be addressed next Sunday at both chapel services by the Right Reverend Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of the Bethlehem Diocese of the Episcopal Church, who comes to Penn State with a reputation gained in fifty years as well as in the eastern states. During his many years of direct contact with the different types of people in this country, Bishop Talbot has had the opportunity of studying mankind from all points of view and he is consequently considered an authority on the study of human nature. The discourse over which Reverend Talbot presides was formerly known as the Sermon of Central Pennsylvania but shortly after he was transferred from this work in the west to this bishopric, the name was changed to the Sermon of Bethlehem. This change was brought about by the abnormal development of the church

Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot

In this district and it is mainly due to the untiring efforts of the present bishop that the diocese is now considered the largest in the east. Bishop Talbot was born at Fayette, Missouri, in 1870 he acquired the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Dartmouth where he entered the General Theological Seminary and graduated from that institution in 1893. He then returned to his native state and remained the life of a student at the University of Missouri, where he was granted the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology and Doctor of Laws in the year of 1897. In 1898 he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Dartmouth. He was ordained as Deacon and Priest of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1893 and was the rector

BIG BOOST GIVEN COMMERCE BODY

Enthusiastic Meeting Last Tuesday Night Closes Successful Membership Campaign.

At a big meeting held last Tuesday night in Old Chapel, the State College Chamber of Commerce, recently organized by the citizens of the town, completed a busy campaign for new members and laid numerous plans for future activities along the lines of civic interest and improvement. Although the Chamber of Commerce is a new institution here, it has already accomplished a great deal of good, especially in the solution of the student housing question which was a serious one at the opening of college. With the added number of members secured during the recent campaign, with the widespread interest which is manifested in it as a result of Tuesday's meeting, and with the definite start which has now been made in its efforts to make State College a better town for its citizens and for college students, the body is rapidly becoming one of the features of activity in this locality.

The leadership of the Chamber of Commerce as it has been organized is vested in four officers, chosen annually. For the present year these officers are: President, R. H. Smith, Vice-President, Dr. William F. Carr, Secretary, John T. Taylor, and Treasurer, David F. Kamp. In addition to these officers there is also a board of directors consisting of five members, of which two are laymen, two are representatives of the college faculty, and one a representative of the student body. While it is planned to make the society as democratic as possible, most of the projects will be in the hands of special committees, who will report to the body as a whole. There will, however, be exceptions to this procedure in the case of unusual affairs that demand the attention of the members as a whole.

The meeting last Tuesday night was opened by President Smith, who outlined purposes, character, and the aims of the Chamber of Commerce. In addition, he reviewed the accomplishments of the body since its beginning several months ago. The most notable feature of the chamber's past work has been in connection with the housing problem which existed at the opening of the college last month. Due largely to the efforts made on the part of the then young society, enough rooms were procured to accommodate over two hundred students at Penn State, an exceptionally fine record considering the critical condition which existed here at that time.

There were many projects discussed at the meeting, and committees appointed to examine and act upon several of these made reports. The first is a continuation of the program in regards to the housing question. A committee, of which Mr. S. K. Hostetter was appointed chairman, will make a survey of State College with a view to ascertain the available rooms for rent, both for students and members of the faculty. A second committee, with Professor S. W. Fletcher as chairman, is now engaged in an investigation of water rates in the borough. There (Continued on Page Three)

LEBANON VALLEY NEXT OPPONENT

Many Veterans Included in Strong Annville Line-up—Former Penn Fullback Coaches Team.

The last home game for Lehigh's football men before the annual battle with Franklin Field to date will be with the Red and Blue and will take place tomorrow with the eleven from Lebanon Valley College as the varsity's opponents. During the past week the varsity has been working hard, mainly in preparation for the budding autumn yet to come and while the current opinion among the students seems to be that the game tomorrow will be an easy one, Coach Henkel and his men are not underestimating the strength of the visitors, expecting that they will produce a snappy brand of football.

The lineup for tomorrow's game, with few exceptions, will be much the same as it was last Saturday, the probability being that most of the first string men will be given a chance. "Dutch" Brown and McCollum or Hufford will be found at the ends. Beck and Lutz or Schubert will play at the tackles, although it is possible that the latter will alternate with Griffiths at guard, while Captain Henkel will play the position which he has taken up this year. Lutz will undoubtedly start the game, at center while McCollum will probably be given a chance also during the game. The backfield will be the same as in the Dartmouth game, Killinger at fullback, W. J. Haines at the halves and Snell at fullback. The backfield has been playing a speedy brand of football all week and they seem to be the team of the first string men, Lightner, Redinger, Knab, Williams and Trues, all of whom will undoubtedly play some portion of the game.

The Lebanon Valley team is being coached this year by "Hokey" Light, the former University of Pennsylvania star, and has shown considerable improvement under his tutelage. Last Saturday the Haverford eleven was downed by a score of 13 to 14 but the previous week the Lebanon men were forced to bow before the Franklin and Marshall team. The team which will face the varsity tomorrow will not be a light team by any means, their weight averaging 180 pounds and being an additional factor to the speed and aggressiveness which the aggressiveness has attained. The probable lineup for tomorrow, with the weights of each man, will be as follows:

HARD BASKETBALL SCHEDULE ARRANGED

Princeton, Yale, Penn and Pitt Are Main Attractions—Wealth Of Material Expected.

With four stars of last season's victorious five remaining and with a large aggregation of good players, consisting of former seniors and members of last year's Freshman team, the varsity basketball team is looking forward to having one of the best basketball teams in years.

Immediately after the Thanksgiving recess, work for the varsity candidates will begin and the season will not be keen competition will develop, especially over the forward position, made vacant by the graduation of "Bill" Mulen, one of the foremost stars of last year's team. Halvorsen, Klinger, Foglio, Wolfe, Wilson, Ritts, and Koehler will probably be the principal contenders for positions, although a hundred or more candidates will undoubtedly respond to the first call, but the trip is not yet assured. No game will be played on the twenty-second of January and the twenty-ninth still remains open.

The schedule for this season includes games with many of the largest institutions of the east and is one of the hardest that a Blue and White basketball team has ever been called upon to face. Of the home games, the ones with Princeton, West Virginia, Pitt, Washington and Jefferson, and Swarthmore appear to be of the most interest while games on foreign soil with Yale and Penn at the close of the season promise to be hard clean-cut battles. Manager Meyers is negotiating with two or three southern teams in order to arrange for a trip during the Christmas holidays, but the trip is not yet assured. No game will be played on the twenty-second of January and the twenty-ninth still remains open.

The schedule for the 1920-21 season is as follows:
