GRIDIRON TEAMS SCORE OVERWHELMING VICTORIES

Varsity Registers Sixteen Touchdowns Against Lebanon Valley Eleven

VISITORS' TOUCHDOWN IS SURPRISE OF GAME

Penn State completed half of her 1920 football schedule Saturday by trouncing the Lebanon Valley College team by the highest score that a varsity team has ever registered. Its opponents for the last ten years, the slaughter ending with the score standing 16 to 7. The Lebanon collegians were powerless at the hands of the heavier, more experienced and better fitted Nittanyites and offered little resistance to any of the three different Penn State lineups that were on the field. The one unfortunate result of the contest was the injury obtained by Killinger, Penn State's star quarterback, who was taken out of the game in the second quarter and who may be out for several weeks due to injury to his ankle.

Lebanon Valley sprang the surprise of the contest when her men made the first touchdown of the game. The varsity had received the ball and after gaining a first down, lost the ball on a fumble. Captain Bohman recovering for Lebanon and carrying it thirty yards before being downed. Following a failure at line plunging, a forward pass over the heads of the line was attempted. Killinger managed to touch the ball but it bounced off his finger tips into the open hands of the Lebanon right end, who went the remaining six yards to the touchdown.

Following this surprise, the varsity went to work and from then on its crushing attack, whether through the line, around the ends or by aerial means was too much for the visitors. In seven plays, including three first downs and a twenty yard run by Way, Penn State annexed its first score. Way crossing the line for the six-pointers, the remainder of the contest was characterized only by the numerous varsity touchdowns. Penn State kicked off to Lebanon. The visitors attempted to move the ball forward, were forced to kick and upon receipt the varsity steadily advanced for the next touchdown.

Way scored three touchdowns in the first quarter, being removed near the end of that period. Joe Lightner replacing him, also scored three points with his boot, falling but once during this period in sending the oval between the goal posts. Substitutions were numerous during the remainder of the contest and before the first half was over the entire varsity had been removed. In the second period, Snell made the fifth touchdown shortly after the opening minutes and Beck kicked the point. Williams and Redinger then replaced "Killy" and Haines. Following the usual manner, upon receipt of the ball the varsity steadily advanced until with about twelve yards to go, Lightner on a reverse play went through the line for a touchdown and Beck added another point with his boot near the end of the quarter. Knobb was sent in and placed on half, with Redinger shifted to quarter to replace Williams. Snell made another and Beck was again successful.

With practically a new team facing half at the beginning of the second half, the Lebanon men were kept back continually. But three plays had followed the receipt of the ball by Penn State when Redinger ran sixty yards through the Lebanon team to the fifty yard line whence Lightner took it over. Beer missed the goal. A few minutes later, on an exchange of the ball, Redinger returned it thirty yards and Knobb and Ruhoff each went through the visitor's line for first downs. Redinger going the remainder of the way for the next six-pointers, Beer again made trouble in sending the kick between the posts. Subsequent plays resulted in Penn State touchdowns by Tubb and Knobb and successful free kicks by Lightner in each case.

In the fourth quarter, Redinger and Knobb each made six-pointers through the visitor's line and about the ends and long forward passes to Heppenstall, who went in at the beginning of the quarter and ended in two more. Lightner was successful in his boots through the goal posts in all four attempts.

The lineup which began the game was as follows:

Penn State	Lebanon Valley
Brown	L. D. Smith
Beck	L. T. Bohman
Griffiths	C. F. Fike
Bentz	C. Beck
Hess	R. G. Carpenter
Schuster	R. T. Whistler
McCullum	E. W. Wauschnick
Killinger	Q. Moore
Way	L. H. R. Homan
Haines	R. H. Irwin
Snell	F. Cohen
Rohrer	G. G. Godechris
Umpire	D. H. Hines
Line-man	P. E. Williams
Time of quarters	15 minutes.

Superior Team Play of Yearling Team Proves Too Much For Indiana Normal

OPPONENT'S GOAL LINE CROSSED EIGHT TIMES

The Freshmen had no trouble in trouncing Indiana Normal last Saturday on foreign soil by the tall-tale score of 54-0. From the first kick-off it was seen that Indiana did not have a glimmer of a chance against the fighting Frosh, who pushed eight touchdowns over the Normal School's goal line before the final whistle put a stop to the onslaught. Indiana never came dangerously near the Penn State goal and played a desperate, defensive game throughout the contest but could not withstand the overwhelming attack of the yearlings. The Frosh line was tight and stopped the Normal School's attacks as effectively as a stone wall, while the yearlings' backs went through their opponents' defense for ten or fifteen yards at a time. The first year men were in much better physical condition than their opponents and the warmth of the day did not affect them as much as the Indiana players.

The yearlings were a little nervous at first, as is to be expected at the first game, but on the whole played a surprisingly good brand of football. In the first quarter they received several two yard penalties for being off-side as the result of over-anxiety but they promptly steeled and pushed down the field without any further penalties. Few forwards were used to advance the play, Indiana tried only once and was sorry for the lone attempt as Runser snatched it out of the air and ran it back about twenty yards before being tackled. Penn State did not depend on the aerial route at all, gaining most of its yardage through the line and around the ends. Very few fumbles were made by the Frosh while the Indians gave away the ball several times, and were also compelled to punt repeatedly. The Freshmen only kicked once and then Hynes toed the ball for a fifty-five yard flight. Indiana could do nothing through the Penn State line and made only two first downs, both of which were in their attack.

The Normal School team was as heavy as usual and outweighed the Blue and White stillings by a slight margin. Their forwards were simply simply outclassed. Lough at tackle and Muldown at center attempted to save the day but could do nothing in the face of the Nittany Cubs.

Hanging Freshman Backfield.

The entire eleven played a very satisfactory game. The line could not be judged and the backs recited off ten and twenty yard runs. The two quarterbacks were at their best. Carson starting the contest and playing the first and last quarters, and Rathgeber leading the team in the second and third periods. The former made the first Penn State tally when he lost a thirty yard sprint to the Indiana goal posts. He ran the team very well for the first quarter, especially proficient at advancing the ball. Rathgeber, who replaced Carson in the second quarter, looked very good. He is a right but stands an abundance of punishment and does not seem to be down. In open field running he was not equalled, at one time dodging through the Indians' line for thirty-five yards to a touchdown. Cornwall could be counted on to gain five to twenty-five yards every time he was given the ball. He played consistently the entire game and was responsible for two touchdowns. Wilson and Hynes did their share at bucking the line. Rathgeber and Carson each played half the game at quarter back, in the third quarter Butler was put in for Beckler. In the fourth period, Penster took the place of Runser, Armbruster substituted for Schoenfeld, Palm for Wilson, and Singer for Hynes. The lineup that started the game was as follows:

Freshmen	Indiana Normal
Beckler	L. D. Graham
Madron	L. T. Lough
Runser	C. G. McQuinn
Hamilton	R. G. Larkin
Schoenfeld	R. T. Furrill
Crowther	R. D. Alexander
Frank	Q. Rooney
Carson	L. H. DeLongue
Wilson	R. H. Johnston
Hynes	F. Watson

PA. DAY SPEAKER IS NOTED JURIST

Judge Buffington and Adjutant-General Berry on Program for November sixth

Among the big features of the coming Pennsylvania Day activities will be the entertainment by the college of two prominent visitors in the persons of Judge Joseph Buffington, of Pittsburgh, who will be the Pennsylvania Day speaker, and the Adjutant-General of Pennsylvania, who will review the Cadet Corps. The college will be highly honored in the presence of these two distinguished visitors. Judge Buffington is a member of the extensive program that is being planned for the week end of November fifth. Judge Joseph Buffington was born at Kittanning, Pennsylvania, in September, 1855. He attended Trinity College, Connecticut, where he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1875. In 1876, he received the degree of Doctor of Letters from Lafayette College, a degree that was also conferred upon him by Trinity College, the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton University, and Washington and Jefferson University. He also holds the degree of Doctor of Civil Law from Mount St. Mary's College. Judge Buffington was admitted to the bar in 1878 and first practiced at Kittanning, Pa., from 1878 to 1892. During the years from 1892 to 1906, he acted in the capacity of a District Judge of the United States in the Western District of Pennsylvania. Since 1906, he has been a United States Circuit Judge in the Third Circuit. His home address is Pittsburgh. Judge Buffington will speak at Penn State on Saturday morning, November sixth, at 10 o'clock.

Frank D. Berry, who will act as reviewing officer of the Penn State R. O. C. on Saturday morning, November sixth, has spent the greater part of his life in military pursuits, and is perhaps best known as a recipient of able achievements in connection with the State Constabulary Forces of this Commonwealth. He was born in 1850 at Penn State. He attended the public schools later he continued his education at Mulvey's Academy, a private institution at Newark, New Jersey. In 1888, he joined the National Guard at Harrisburg. He served in the 10th Infantry, 4th Brigade, 2nd Division, 1st Army Corps. He received the post of Battalion Sergeant of his regiment, and in 1898 he was promoted to Adjutant. The following year he started in the 10th Infantry, 4th Brigade, 2nd Division, 1st Army Corps, and continued in this capacity for three years after which he was appointed Adjutant of the 10th Infantry. His next office was that of Colonel in the Adjutant-General's Department, which he assumed in 1908 and held until three years ago. He served during the Spanish-American War as Second Lieutenant and Battalion-Adjutant with the 10th Infantry, and was appointed Acting Commissary of Subsistence and served during the Porto Rican Campaign. On July eighth, 1916, he was mustered into the United States service for Mexican Border duty as Major with the Fourth Pennsylvania Infantry. Six months later, he was mustered out with his regiment. Shortly after this, he was detailed by Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker as one of the officers to organize the State Constabulary. On July eighth, 1916, he was mustered out with his regiment, stationed at Wyoming, Pennsylvania. He was appointed Deputy Adjutant-General in 1911, and Adjutant-General in 1912. He was promoted to Adjutant-General in October, 1917, a post which he has held since that time.

NEW VACATION RULES ANNOUNCED

Council of Administration Makes Change—Christmas Holidays Are Lengthened

The Council of Administration has acted upon the petition regarding vacations recently drawn by the Student Council. The regulations regarding the leave to attend the Penn-Penn State football game, the Pennsylvania Day holiday and the Thanksgiving vacation are the same as those in force last year. The principal change affects the Christmas period. This vacation has been lengthened so as to give a full week's vacation before Christmas Day, so that any student who wishes may have an opportunity of working during the holiday period. The Council also gave the Dean of Men the power to excuse students from classes in order to go home and vote. The decisions of the Council of Administration in detail are as follows:

The Council voted to grant the vacation to attend the Penn-Penn State football game, on Friday, December 17, and end at 8 o'clock a. m., on Tuesday, January 4, 1921, provided that no student be permitted to leave before the beginning of the vacation or return after the end of it.

The Council did not see fit to grant a half holiday on the Friday preceding Pennsylvania Day, because several years ago the Trustees of the College designated Saturday as Pennsylvania Day in order that the exercises of that day might interfere as little as possible with the regular college work.

The Council voted to grant leave of absence for such students as wish to see the football game between the University of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania State College on October 30, November 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, and ending at Monday noon, November 29, provided that no student be permitted to leave before the beginning of the vacation or return after the end of it.

The Council also voted that the Dean of Men may have authority to excuse from college exercises the men students who desire to go home to vote on November 2.

CAMPAGN FOR FINANCIAL AID FORMALLY LAUNCHED

Comptroller Smith Tells Students of College Plans at Monster Mass Meeting

MANY WAYS IN WHICH STUDENT BODY CAN AID

At a mass meeting last night in the Auditorium the college officials responsible for the coming publicity campaign for a larger appropriation placed their plans before the student body and showed the under graduates several ways in which they can help to secure the wished-for results. The men in charge of the college finances placed the matter before the students so as to secure their help before launching the campaign throughout the Commonwealth. It was shown that the students will be a big factor in deciding the future of this institution and that they can do a great deal in securing for this college its just due. The speakers said that the way to bring the college before the attention of the people of the state and their representatives at Harrisburg is by advertising the school and by letting the people know what Penn State is accomplishing for the advancement of learning and the wellbeing of the Commonwealth. Mr. Hays Smith, the Comptroller, and Mr. E. K. Hilsbman in charge of the work, were the speakers of the evening. Mr. Allen, the President of the Senior Class presided.

Mr. Smith in a few concise remarks pointed out how vitally the financial situation affects every student. He said that students were under the impression that the Trustees were only ones who had to give any thought to the financial status of the institution, but he showed that this is not so and said, "It is very much your affair."

The money that this college receives from the state is not used by direct taxation nor does the Legislature appropriate so much for each student, but gives the amount according to the amount of money that the college receives every two years. He said that we must have more money if the college is to go on in the way it has. The purchasing power of the last appropriation has decreased fifty per cent in the last five years and Penn State will lose some of its best professors if their salaries are not increased seventy per cent of the money goes for teachers' salaries and the other thirty per cent goes for supplies. He reminded the audience of the large number of students that were refused admittance because of the lack of space and equipment. He urged every man to do his utmost to demonstrate the necessity for every person in the state and closing the door that the college is doing its best to open.

Mr. E. K. Hilsbman, who is in special charge of the publicity for the college in this matter, spoke next and outlined the ways in which the students can help the college. He said that the campaign was first being put before the undergraduates so as to enlist their active support before starting the drive throughout the state. He asked every man to tell the people back home what the college needs and to especially bring the matter to the attention of their local legislators. Pamphlets are now being printed and these will be given out to be sent broadcast over the state.

Another way in which we can help is by the organization of real live county clubs which will put the college before the home folks through the daily press. Legislation is not made solely at the state capital but in every county.

Visit of Rotarians is Initial Step in State-wide Publicity Campaign

FORTY ROTARY CLUBS WILL BE REPRESENTED

The Rotary Club delegates who will arrive this afternoon will have their first meeting in the Armory tonight and will then have the needs of the college explained to them by the Deans of the various schools and by the representatives of the Board of Trustees. Over two hundred Rotarians are expected from forty of the most prominent clubs in the state and the men will carry back to the local branches their findings at this institution.

The visitors will attend tomorrow's chapel service and will there get an idea of the Penn State student body. ENGINEERING EXTENSION SHOWS MUCH PROGRESS

There has been much favorable reports submitted by the various schools of the Engineering Extension Division, all showing much progress in that branch of work. Among those received, that of the York school is of special importance. The fourth class in first year work has just been started, and eight teachers are employed in giving instruction in industrial subjects, the work of whom comprises four classes each night for four nights a week.

GIRLS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAN OF WOMEN

The women students celebrated Dean Killy's birthday anniversary Friday evening by a surprise party at McAllister Hall Dining Room. The president of each class presented a birthday tribute from her classmates and the Dean responded appropriately.

ATTENTION! FRESHMEN AND FIRST YEAR MEN

The following men who did not appear for Physical Examination must see Dr. J. P. Rittenour, during this week, to make arrangements for same, or they will be given credit for Physical Education for this semester.

Faculty, Seniors and Juniors, Tuesday evening 7:30
Sophomores, Freshmen and Specials, Wednesday after Mass Meeting.

FOOTBALL MASS MEETING WEDNESDAY EVENING 7 O'CLOCK

If 150 students signify their intention of taking the special train to Philadelphia for the Penn game, then a train will be chartered. Identification tickets may be obtained at the Cash Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The fare will be $8.74 one way and the train will not be chartered for the return.

WOMEN'S PARTIES WILL BROADEN SOCIAL LIFE

Plans for broadening Penn State's social life are now under way. The Y. M. C. A. and the Women's Student Government Association, resting the former line of entertainment for men and girls who do not dance nor engage in the amusements most common to this place, have initiated a series of parties to be held regularly at homes of the faculty. These informal gatherings will be a means of getting the Freshmen girls and men, especially, acquainted with each other. Many will be reached who otherwise might miss many social pleasures in college life. Dr. Patten, Dr. Foster, and Mr. Olmstead have kindly opened their homes to students. Holloway's parties Saturday evening opened a series of good times arranged for successful groups of students.
