

PENN DECISIVELY BEATEN IN SPECTACULAR CONTEST

and upon grounding, was grasped by Killinger. On the first play Way went through left tackle for twenty-five yards and a first down. Haines and Killinger then worked another first down through the line and with the ball on the five yard line Killinger in two plays placed it on the one yard line. Way then placed the ball on the one yard line and Killinger took it over. Beck sent the ball directly between the goal posts. Score Penn State 7, Penn 0.

The Blue and White received the next kickoff, but were unable to make first down and the ball changed hands. After Thomas had made a two yard gain through the line, Haines circled left end for a first down. With but two yards gained on the next two plays, Miller sent a forward pass for twenty yards which was deflected into the waiting hands of Grave, Penn left end. These advances, aided by a fifteen yard penalty against the variety, placed the ball on the Blue and White 20 yard line. Here Miller again attempted a forward pass instead of playing thru the line. The ball struck the goal post and fell to the ground several yards safe of Penn State's goal. On the first play after the ball was placed on the twenty yard line Haines circled left end for a first down. Then, after Snell and Way had added to the score, Haines again circled the ends for a twenty yard run to the forty-five yard line. Then the Blue and White were unable to make more than two yards and Killinger punted to Miller but the ball hit the ground on the ten yard line and rolled over the goal line. When play was resumed, Thomas punted to Killinger on the Penn State forty-five yard line, but the latter fumbled the ball and Penn recovered. Miller and Haines each made two yard gains and with the ball on the 31 yard line, Way tried for a field goal, but the attempt failed, the ball not even rising to a height sufficient to allow it to pass over the bar.

The ball changed hands a number of times during the next period, the closing minutes being featured by Way's receipt of a punt and returning it from the five to the forty-two yard line. Then after Haines had reeled off seven yards and most of this was lost by a five yard penalty, Haines punted, the ball striking the ground on the ten yard line and instead of rolling over the goal line for a touchback, deflected from its course and rolled out of bounds on the Penn five yard line. Then Coach Bezdak sent in Williams and Lightner for Killinger and Way both of whom had been injured. Killinger more so than Way. Penn's punt placed the ball on their thirty yard line and a fifteen yard penalty against them gave the Blue and White the oval on the fifteen yard line and first down. Lightner, on a return play, went through left tackle for five yards and Snell added two more through center. On the next play Lightner made first down with three yards to go for goal, Lightner and Haines each took a yard. On the third try Lightner advanced the ball a foot and then Haines, on a last change placed the ball within three inches of the Penn goal. The referee's whistle closed the half.

Haines Wonderful Dash The third quarter was a Penn State quarter pure and simple. The Red and Blue were unable to cope with the variety's attack. Haines achieved highest football glory when, on receipt of the kickoff, he performed a task which had been done only once before on Franklin Field. The ball landed in his arms on the ten yard line and then he went, aided by good interference over half the way, he sped on, dangerously near the side line. Then he changed his course, and as his interference dwindled to a few men, he started straight for the middle of the goal posts. Slipping one danger, he was aided by his teammates in removing another and his ninety yard run ended behind the Quaker goal posts. Beck added the extra tally.

Lightner and Snell Score

Following this wonderful play, the Blue and White was not to be stopped. Williams received the ball on the fifteen yard line and advanced it thirteen yards. Then Haines circled the end for a first down, placing the ball on the forty one yard line. Then the Blue and White was forced to punt and the ball went over the goal line. Penn again attempted a fake punt but it was nipped in the bud. Thomas then punted from the ten yard line and Snell caught the ball on the forty yard line. He immediately added five yards and Lightner followed with a first down. On the next two plays Haines made seven yards and Snell made first down. Then Lightner and Haines reeled off seven more yards and with six yards to go, Haines circled right end for a touchdown. "Becko's" boot again told its excellent story.

On receipt of the ball on the next kickoff, Haines went twenty-six yards. Snell and Haines then made a first down, but the next Blue and White try was stopped, Haines punting to Miller on their fifteen yard line, the latter returning the oval six yards. With the aid of Haines, he made a first down and at that point Penn state again punted, the ball being put into play by the Blue and White in the middle of the field. Then the Blue and White backed fifteen yards and sent the oval toward the next touchdown. Haines went through center for seven yards and Lightner made first down. Haines and Snell again made eight yards between them and Joe went through the Penn line for first down. Ten yards away from the Penn goal line, Lightner reeled off four and Williams took it to the one yard line. On a left end run, Haines went to work and sent the yard low, but on the very next play, Snell made up for it and crossed the Quaker life line. Beck kicked the goal.

Penn's Play Improves

The fourth quarter was conspicuous by the better playing of the Philadelphia aggregation, a forward pass intercepted by Farrell placing the ball on Penn State's 38 yard line. Then Way, in two plays made a first down. A forward pass to Ertesvang noted them nine yards. However, two penalties and a fumble lost them this animal ground and they were forced to punt, the ball going to Haines out of bounds on the Penn State thirty-five yard line. On an attempted forward pass, Way intercepted and ran fifty yards before being downed. Then, from the thirty-five yard line, Way rounded right end for eight yards on the first play and immediately after took the goal to the two yard line. Here the Blue and White displayed its true worth. On four successive attempts the Quakers were unable to score, the ball remaining but a few inches from the Penn State goal after the last trial. Hesse then punted to safety on the forty yard line but Way on receipt took the oval to safety on the forty yard line. A forward pass to Farrell then placed it ten yards from the Lion's lair and Way on another night end run placed it on the three yard line. On the next play, McAnally, substitute quarterback, received the ball, apparently fumbled, picked it up and plunged safely across the line. Way kicked the goal. A few seconds later the whistle ended the contest.

place so that Bellefonte gained the ball on downs. They immediately kicked but Cornwall scooped the ball out of the air on the twenty-five yard mark and carried it to the three yard line before being thrown. Rathgeber then plunged over for another touchdown.

The fourth tally was also the result of a steady march down the field. Hynes replaced Carson and then line smashes by Cornwall, Hynes, Rathgeber, Cornwall, and Hynes in turn carried the pigskin down the field and enabled Rathgeber to go over for his second tally. The goal was unsuccessful and the half ended, State, 27, Bellefonte Academy, 0.
