

BOOSTER UNIT MASS MEETING TONIGHT AT AUDITORIUM

INTER-UNIT COUNCIL WILL PRESENT PLANS FOR FUTURE EVENTS

A mass meeting of all students interested in the Penn State Union will be held in the Auditorium tonight and every man who wishes to see the work continued which was started last year in the way of unit activities is urged to be present. The officers of the various units are greatly hampered in their endeavors to make their groups real, live organizations by the present condition of the Union and it is hoped that the Inter-Unit Council will take part in this effort and many of the advantages of the unit will be obtained through the Inter-Unit Council activities, they are requested to come out and express their desire.

The meeting has been called by the officers of the Inter-Unit Council who will be held in the Auditorium and to show the possibilities for this year. It is hoped to have Director Beasock speak and if he is able to attend he will portray the advantages of the unit and the possibilities for future expansion. The officers report that the difficulties encountered in their work has been simply indifference in many of the units and that the work will be a stand-still if interest is not revived immediately.

Some of the units have not even held a meeting since the opening of school and apparently have not had enough interest to elect representatives to the Council. A majority of the groups however have taken an active part in the furthering of the work and as a consequence have derived some real benefit from the organization. The more progressive units have started their basketball practice and contacts are being played to decide the Inter-Unit championship title, the undoubted supremacy can not be achieved until every unit is represented by a case team, and the same circumstances prevail in every other line of activity.

Very little has been done this school year in the way of social activities. Last year dances and smokers were frequently held and many an enjoyable evening was spent by the unit members over the pipes and the social atmosphere. But so far this semester such meetings have been practically negligible. At the meeting tonight the officers will show where the organization stands at the present time and point out the way for the rest of this year, and they wish to have every man who is interested in the success of the Union in attendance to show his support.

NEW THEATRE WILL BE OF MODEL CONSTRUCTION

Realizing the need of more adequate theatre accommodations for the ever increasing number of Penn State students the Nittany Theatre Company which already operates the two moving picture houses here have practically decided upon the plans for the erection of a new theatre on West College Avenue near Co-Oper corner. When completed the structure will cost approximately $150,000 and will embody the latest ideas and refinements in theatre construction. Ground will be broken in May for the building but under existing labor conditions make the date of completion problematical. However when the structure is completed the college will have one of the finest moving picture theatres in the state and one which will be a credit to the town.

The lot on which the new structure will be built is located on West College Avenue between the First National Bank Building and the Nittany Printing Company's office. The frontage of the lot is about 100 feet and runs back to the lot just below College Avenue. The ground was made over a year ago but until now no hint was given as to what use the amusement company would put it to.

The new theatre, it has been assured, will embody the latest and most known in theatre construction. Fire-proof construction throughout will be the watchword of the builders. The exterior of the structure will be executed in Adam style with an imposing front. The remaining part of the theatre will be built of brick, thus insuring no possibility of a fire. A large marquee will be further to the entrance and will give a metropolitan touch to the exterior appearance.

In appointments, the new theatre will equal if not surpass many of the moving picture palaces of the large cities. Seating accommodations will be provided either for 1200 or 2500 people, it not having been definitely decided yet as to which number will be provided for. Lounge rooms, rest rooms and other little conveniences which add to the attractiveness of the interior and comfort of patrons will be a part of the theatre. A large pipe organ will also be installed. This will be the first organ to be used in an amusement house in this vicinity and will no doubt prove a strong drawing card. Steps have also been taken to further the theatre and it has been decided to eliminate them, patrons of the theatre going direct to their seats either in the lower floor or the balcony by means of inclined stairways.

HARRISBURG ALUMNI TO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

The Harrisburg Alumni Association will hold its annual winter dinner Thursday, January twenty-seventh at six p. m. in the Penn Harris Hotel. All Alumni and Penn State men and women should keep this in mind and arrange to be there if at all possible. It is hoped that the Governor and other state officials will attend, in addition to the members of the Board of Trustees who will meet in Harrisburg that week. The dinner is an annual affair and has grown to be one of the biggest events of the alumni and of Harrisburg.

QUARTET WILL PRESENT PANAMA PROGRAM FRIDAY

The same program which met with so much approval on the recent trip to the Canal Zone will be rendered by the Varsity Quartet in their first appearance this year before the student body next Friday evening at seven thirty o'clock in the Auditorium. Many pleasing features are incorporated in the program which will be presented, one of which will be a skit entitled "Rehearsal on Deck." The entire quartet will take part in this affair and many humorous situations are expected to turn up in the course of its presentation. Readings will be given by Miss Ruth Jackson who accompanied the organization to the Isthmus as a leader and together with the popular songs in the repertoire should make one of the finest entertainments that Penn State students have had the opportunity of listening to this year.

An admission price of fifty cents for any seat in the Auditorium will be charged for the concert. The proceeds of the affair will be used to defray the expenses of the quartet in going from State College to the Canal Zone and their embarkment for Panama and their return to this place at the close of the tour.

- The program for Friday evening's entertainment is as follows:
1. Sing Along Children Cooks
 2. For All Elements Magesheron
 3. Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride O'Hara
 4. Selected Readings
 5. Whimsical The Varsity Quartet
 6. Whimsical Schoenberger
 7. Medley of Popular Songs—A Hold Me
 8. Sweet Angelina
 9. "Rehearsal on Deck" The Varsity Quartet
 10. Ah, Sweet Mystery of Love Victor Herbert (From "Naughty Marietta")
 11. Penn State Songs Quartet and Strings

VARSITY OVERWHELMS DICKINSON TOSSERS

Carlisle Collegians Out-Played by Blue and White—Wolfe's Foul Shooting a Feature

The Penn State basketball team played the Dickinson five and defeated them 48 to 19 last Saturday night in the Armory before a packed house. The Blue and White tossers showed flashes of mid season form and swept the visitors off their feet, especially in the second half. In the first half the Nittany cage men showed a decided superiority but the lead of 22 to 15 was acquired mainly through Wolfe's remarkable foul shooting by which he garnered ten points out of twelve tries. In the following period Dickinson fell back on a defensive game and Penn State instituted a carnival of field goals which lasted until the final whistle.

Coach Herman's proteges showed a decided improvement since the last game in the way of their foul shooting. Wolfe's foul shooting, particularly in the first period, was one of the bright spots of the contest and for the entire game he averaged twelve fouls out of sixteen chances. Rejovic played a consistent game and added materially in the scoring. At the end of the game he was the leading scorer. Haines played his usual efficient game and was in the needed position at every play. His guarding was well done and largely in preventing the Dickinson difficulty.

The team as a whole had difficulty in finding the basket on more than one occasion while at other times some surprising shots were assayed and made. The weakness of the visitors was in putting seven out of eleven fouls through the hoop. The spectators filled the Armory to capacity and the large crowd showed the need of a larger playing hall.

The line-up was as follows:

Penn State	Field Goals	Fouls
Wolfe	2	12
Wilson	2	0
Rejovic	4	4
Carson	0	0
Haines	2	2
Total	10	18

Substitutions: Koehler for Wilson, Ritter for Koehler, Wilson for Wolfe, and Whitman for Killinger.

Dickinson	Field Goals	Fouls
Irwin	2	7
Bolghley	1	1
Wallace	0	0
Smith	0	0
Kreps	2	2
Total	5	10

GIRLS VARSITY HOCKEY TEAM IS ANNOUNCED AT BANQUET

The Penn State girls' hockey team were the guests of the Women's Athletic Association at an enjoyable banquet in McAllister Hall Monday evening. The chief event of the occasion was the announcement by Miss Louise Still '21 president of the W. A. A. of the personnel of the Varsity Hockey Team. The following players have been chosen as the best players in college regardless of position: Louise Still '21, Betty Shelton '21, Agnes Newman '22, Josephine Hollingsworth '22, Edna Smith '22, Marion Thompson '22, Martha Cunard '23, Virginia Rinehart '23, Alverna Burdick '24, Anna May Baseler '24 and Frances Sackett '24.

Miss Agnes Newman presides as Toast mistress of the banquet. Other toasts were given by Misses Helen Powell '21, Marion Thompson '22, Alverna Burdick '24 and Florence McAfee '23. Although the team is new, the Penn State girls have made excellent record and warrant brilliant predictions for future success.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS ADDRESS CHAPELS

Both Dr. J. W. Hill and Dr. Thomas served in the capacity of college preacher last Sunday, Dr. Hill addressing the Freshman chapel and Dr. Thomas speaking to the upperclass gathering. At the Freshman service, Dr. Hill, who is Chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial University of Tennessee spoke on the subject of Lincoln and his greatness. The Golden Rule was the topic discussed at the upperclass chapel by Dr. Thomas, who is the new president of Middlebury College, Vermont.

Both speakers held the interest of their audience not only because of the content of their talks but also because of their able deliveries. Dr. Hill, who has recently written a book concerning Lincoln, weaved into his address many incidents from the life of the great emancipator to illustrate his points. In speaking of the Golden Rule, Dr. Thomas applied it to every day life and showed that this rule really was practical.

The Greatness of Lincoln

There is no greatness in the absence of service and the prophets were truly great for they served. However, no two prophets came to the world upon the same mission; Moses was the law giver, Pericles, the statesman, Plato the philosopher, Paul the apostle, Michaelangelo the architect, Cromwell the reformer, Washington the patriot, and Lincoln the emancipator.

Lincoln today is still a leader in democracy and also in industry. He also was a leader during the past war, Lloyd George at his inauguration sought words to justify the allied nations who participated in the war and chose the statement of Lincoln: "We accepted the war for a worthy purpose and we prosecute it under God." It is good to deal with God. In his Gettysburg speech he made the statement that under God there shall come a new birth of freedom. Lincoln was even a leader in the future, for his words are still full of great prophecies.

When any man grips the purpose which God is projecting into the time in which he lives, he is lifted up into immortality by the idea of that purpose. This is the reason for Lincoln's greatness, although he was never taught by man. Lincoln discovered the divine purpose.

Lincoln was the nearest approach to the character of Christ. He saw the

PICTORIAL ART IN FINE ARTS EXHIBIT

Portraits, Landscapes and Architectural Studies Shown in Wonderful Exhibition

An exhibition which brings art very close to us began yesterday morning in the Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of Old Main. This collection, representative of all types of pictorial art, has been assembled with headquarters in the National Arts Club, New York City, and has been brought to Penn State under the auspices of the State College Women's Club and the Department of Fine Arts of the College.

The prints on view were selected from over a thousand photographs submitted, each of them reaching the heights of present day pictorial art and the group covering a variety of subjects. There are landscapes, portraits, and architectural studies. There are over a hundred prints shown and over fifty artists represented, from various parts of the country.

The American Federation of Arts is exhibiting this exhibition as one of its forty-six art collections now on the road covering a dozen different art fields. Every worthy art movement of a national character finds ready response in this national organization. 250 chapters and thousands of individual members. It entered upon a campaign last season for "Art in Every Home" and is gradually forming a series of exhibitions under that important slogan. The first collection entered in the campaign was one of the prints for the home, which was shown in New York City last winter and afterwards toured the country from coast to coast. So much in demand was this collection that three other similar collections are now on the road and a fourth is being prepared for the coming season.

Portland, Oregon, Dubuque, Iowa, Colorado Springs and Denver, Colorado have given their hearty endorsement to this exhibition. The collection was on the road last season and was a great success. The collection was on at the National Convention of the Photographers' Association of America held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, last year. It was a great success and made a deep impression that was immediately afterward shown in Springfield, Mass., at the Annual Convention of the Massachusetts Association of New England. Edward E. Dickson, one of the Association of Pictorial Photographers states: "The exhibition, as it now stands, not only conveys a representative idea of the best of our far-reaching photographic progress, but gives to the public an opportunity to see a display of craftsmanship which has for its objective the production of photographs of the highest quality of delicacy in tonal gradations."

This exhibition will continue to be shown at the Fine Arts Gallery until January twenty-fifth, so that all who desire may find time to participate in this wonderful opportunity in pictorial art that is presented.

MEET WITH SPRINGFIELD TO OPEN BOXING SCHEDULE

Much opposition in the form of springfield College is looked for on January twenty-second when the New England team comes to Penn State to battle with the varsity boxing team in the first of the season. Both squads have been training for the event during the last two months. The varsity team's opponents being ready to take their all for the New England Championship. The Penn State team has not been much affected under the tutelage of Coach Hurlow and the assistance of Coach Beck and Hurlow. The team has developed a team which can be counted on to make a creditable showing.

The one striking aspect of the coming fight is the fact that the Penn State team has not been in the Springfield camp that they can expect to meet in the first fight. The team is in the best of health and the odds are in their favor. The team is in the best of health and the odds are in their favor. MEDALS TO BE GIVEN IN STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

Freshman Contest Takes Place on Saturday—Two Year Students to Compete on Twenty-first

The third annual live stock judging contest for students of the college will be held within the next ten days. The contest, which is a part of the program of the members of the Pennsylvania State Stock Judging Association, will be held in the Auditorium on Saturday, January twenty-first. The contest will be held in the Auditorium on Saturday, January twenty-first. The contest will be held in the Auditorium on Saturday, January twenty-first.

REHAB MEN PREPARE FOR MUSICAL COMEDY

Combined Minstrel and Musical Comedy Will Be Staged in Middle of February

The thirteenth and nineteenth of February will be anything but dull if the plans of the Rehabilitation Club are carried out. The club will present a combined minstrel and musical comedy in the Auditorium which will surpass any other performance of last year. The club will be made up of members of the club who were hospitalized in the military hospital last year. The club will be made up of members of the club who were hospitalized in the military hospital last year.

PLAYERS CONTINUE WORK FOR NEXT PERFORMANCE

A somewhat exceptionally popular play, and expert direction, are the two main features of the production which the Penn State Players will present in the Auditorium on Friday evening, February eleventh. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" will be the vehicle of this dramatic organization. The play has been running for some time and during the last week has taken on a more intense interest inasmuch as the date of its production has been pushed forward. A number of seating tickets for the play have not been announced by the student body. According to the program plan tickets will be sold on a mail order basis.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" has proved to be the most popular of Geo. M. Cohan's plays. The action of the play is set in the top of a lonely mountain in the dead of winter. There are several scenes of such calibre as only the genius of George M. Cohan can conceive, mystery, robbery, bribery, love, in fact the play is filled with suspense and deep interest, so interesting is the play that many people who have once seen the production return to see it a second time. The play itself was so popular in New York that all records for a long run were broken. At the time this year's companies are presenting it all over the country.

Tickets for the production may be secured by ordering them through the mail using the blank which may be found in this issue. This action on the part of the management was taken in order to further the large sale which is anticipated and also to avoid the standing line of students desiring tickets. All who intend securing tickets for this attraction are urged to do so at once, making the same to D. D. Hesterman together with any choice of seats that may be wished. The general sale of tickets, it has also been announced, will be held Wednesday evening, February ninth.

WOMEN STUDENTS WILL HOLD INTERCLASS GAGE GAMES

The Women's Athletic Association has secured the use of the Armory for three additional home per week. Basketball practice in the gym began Saturday afternoon. A series of interclass basketball games will be scheduled when the teams are properly organized and in playing form.
