

TWO COLLEGE PRESIDENTS ADDRESS CHAPEL SERVICES

human side of the world and reached down and touched the soil even as the son of God did. His patience and belief in a Christ was always remarkable. This was his grip on the heartstrings of the people. He was a man of faith in God. It was not anxious about the future, because, as he told later, he had gone to his room, talked on his knees and wrestled with God and God pronounced him Gettysburg and also V.I. student.

The spiritual influences in Lincoln can be traced back to his mother. When she died, her last words were a request for him to lead a Christian life and he pledged himself to this over his grave. In the White House, when he was receiving congratulations, he made this statement, "All that I am is due to the example of my angel, I owe everything to her."

Lincoln was one of God's elect, the same as Moses, and he fell in martyrdom when his mission was completed.

The Golden Rule

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that man should do to you, do ye even so to them." This is probably the best known saying of Jesus. The name given to it of the Golden Rule was a common name for it in the second century. This rule is used as a test for Christianity as Jesus said it is used as a test for men. This saying has been embraced by others than Christians. The Hebrews and Chinese both used it but stated it negatively. The rule was also known to the Greeks in the positive form.

In practically applying this to life, it is used in its negative form. It is in this way in restaurants. This was the method of the Pharisees in telling the people what they must not do. On the other hand Jesus established his own principles and truths. The Pharisees method was to take out the evil spirits and leave nothing good. At the first opportunity more evils resulted in a man cannot be made good by taking the evils out of him.

If the rule is stated positively, it means a man who forces his way into the world with his heart and mind in him. An athletic team is living up to this rule. It considers its duty to represent its institution by doing the very utmost to the best play. This is the principle of living to do your best. There are two levels of life. If a man living with high standards and ideals appears to a person, it is that person's duty to live with the same standard in his own sphere. If a person does not appreciate these high standards in others or does not try to live such a life, he is of the lower level. It is one's duty to live his best and do his utmost for the world. It is greatness and not bitterness that serves in this world and the higher one climbs the greater is his service to this world.

MEET WITH SPRINGFIELD TO OPEN BOXING SCHEDULE

both in the 160 pound class. Aiken's style was changed last year and up until a short time ago he encountered no little difficulty in getting accustomed to it. However he has mastered the new style and should make a dangerous opponent for the Springfield College man who shares mitts with him. The other candidates for this class are Taylor, Anders and Dveret, with Brown a serious contender out of the running on account of a dislocated thumb. The 115 pound class will be selected from Bordner, Attnish, Butler and Steele. As was the case before the Christmas holidays, all of those men still appear evenly matched but all have degrees of knowledge in the boxing game. Cooper, Caffery and Cadden seem to be the most logical ones for the 135 pound weight and when the selection is made it appears as if experience will count for a lot, inasmuch as this is one of the most highly prized characteristics of a boxer.

A fine shade of distinction will have to be drawn when the representative of Blue and White in the 125 pound class is chosen. Chapin, Fried, Lent and Vanilla are running neck and neck for the coveted position. It was in this weight and the weight above that the loss of Fildman and McFadden will be sorely felt, inasmuch as both of these men could be always counted on toward a winning the Nittany score.

Captain Kahley, Reese, Jenkins, Tate and Knievel are the men in the 115 pound class who are showing up the best. Kahley will in all probability still continue to box in this weight but there is a slight possibility that either he or Jenkins will be placed in the weight above, the 125 pound class. In any event, either of this pair are expected to give good accounts of themselves no matter what weight they fight at.

MINING GRADUATE PRESENTS ROMAN RELIC TO MUSEUM

Mr. H. I. Smith, a graduate of the School of Mines in 1913, has presented the museum of the Mining School with some mining tools which were used by the Romans in the mines of Southern Europe. The tools consist of portions of wooden trays and hammers of stone and iron. The trays were used for crushing ore and water. Mr. Smith has recently returned from Bulgaria and Serbia where he has been serving on the United States Advisory Committee in the Kingdoms of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

The enrollment for the Winter Course given every year by the School of Agriculture and which began here last Thursday, has surpassed all other years with 165 students now registered and with twenty more rehabilitation men enrolling on the first of next month. Of the entire number registered, eighteen are taking up the course which is being offered in dairy manufacturing. One woman student, Miss Lucy Duling who was formerly a student in the Horticulture School at Ambler, is among the number who are availing themselves of the course being given at this institution.

W. W. Charters, a widely known educationalist, Dean of Education at Carnegie Institute and formerly holding the same position at the University of Missouri, will give a course at Penn State for the faculty of the School of Agriculture. The course will be given on the seventeenth and eighteenth of this month and will consist of one hour lectures each day together with some special group conferences.

Livestock Superintendent P. C. McKeon is in Ohio and Indiana this week for the purpose of viewing some cattle which the Animal Husbandry Department contemplates purchasing. Professor M. T. Grimes will speak before the Dauphin County Farmers' Institute on January 14, 15, 16 in the interests of livestock production.

Professor W. H. Tomhave of the Animal Husbandry Department will attend a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Eastern States Exposition in New York City this week to discuss the 1921 Exposition. He will address the Farmers' Week meeting at New Brunswick, N. J., on Thursday at this week.

CASH PRIZES OFFERED IN JUNIOR ORATORICAL MEET

Each year at Commencement the College has conducted a Junior Oratorical Contest, open only to the members of the Junior Class who are interested in Public Speaking. Prizes of $15 and $10 each, are offered for the two best speakers. It has been the custom, in the years that have past, to ask for volunteers to enter a class conducted during the second semester for men who desire to enter this contest. In addition to the opportunity for debating for the prizes, each person taking the work of the class is entitled to three credits in English. This notice is inserted in order that some interest may be aroused among those who have ability in Public Speaking, and so that a sufficiently large number may elect this work to make it successful.

BLAIR COUNTY STUDENTS ENTERTAIN AT SMOKER

The Blair County Club held a smoker December 20 in the Penn Central building at Altoona for the boys in the Senior classes of the High Schools in that county. A large number of State men were present to meet the boys. Short addresses were made by alumni, 21 men, and several high school boys. Practically every speaker spoke of the need of a higher education and the advantages offered by Penn State.

The Club also held a formal dance a week later in the Wolf Building in Altoona. These dances have become an annual affair, looked forward to by all the young people of the county.

Among the other County Clubs that were active during the holidays were Carbon, Lancaster, Wayne, Schuylkill, and Philadelphia.

"DICK" HARLOW TO LECTURE ON NORTHERN CANADA BIRDS

Following the Birds in Northern Canada, will be the topic of a lecture to be delivered before the County Life Club by "Dick" Harlow, Penn State's well known nature lover. The lecture which is to be given in the Old Chapel on Thursday evening at seven o'clock will be replete with episodes that "Dick" noted as he followed the birds last summer while in Canada. The lecture is open to any student who will be interested in the subject.

DEAN KNIGHT AND SENIOR GIRLS HOLDING CONFERENCES

Dean Margaret Knight is holding vocational conferences with the Senior girls individually. Her aim is to help the women graduates to secure suitable and congenial positions in the teaching or business world.

MORE COMPLETE ORGANIZATION PLANNED BY STATE ALUMNI

In order to obtain a more complete organization in the State, a conference of Alumni, representing all the County and District Associations of the State will be held at the college Saturday afternoon, January 15. The conference has been called by the Board of Managers and officers of the association and the plan of organization will be outlined to the delegates present. The number of Alumni of the State has reached such a point that it is advisable to place if possible, an active organization in each county. Such an organization will be necessary in order to provide the maximum cooperation with regards to securing the necessary appropriation and for any projects that may be undertaken later on.

This conference is open to any other Alumni who desire to attend. It is expected that the results will be of the utmost importance to the future of Penn State.
