

GRAHAM & SONS
On the Corner
For SAMOSET CHOCOLATES
and Lovell & Covell Chocolates

NEWSPAPERS PRAISE COLLEGE'S NEW HEAD

(Continued from first page)

The busy week did not prevent the student body at Middlebury, at the opening of the second semester of this year. Dr. Thomas said in part, "I have told you, that it is the duty of a man to live by his best to render the greatest service possible to the world, to accept the hardest and most trying responsibilities. Acting on that principle, I did not see how I could refuse the new work I may have, but I would not be worthy of Middlebury if I did not try. I want to assure you that the future of Middlebury is very bright indeed. I know perfectly well that I am leaving a very attractive opening here. If Middlebury forces ahead rapidly in the future, you must not then think that I made a mistake, for I know now that her progress is assured. There are problems ahead, but they can be solved, and there are always problems anywhere. If anyone feels that I have been of service to Middlebury, his duty now is to work for the old college all the more earnestly and devotedly. This is my appeal to you and to all our alumni and friends."

The wonderful personality of the man and his rare executive ability, as well as full appreciation of his work for the state of Vermont is well set forth in the following editorial from the Burlington Free-Press and Times of January thirty-first:

The announcement of the resignation of President John Martin Thomas as head of Middlebury College comes as a shock to the whole state. It is always a distinct blow to a commonwealth to lose a strong man and President Thomas has long been recognized as one of the ablest men of Vermont. His development and growth. All other institutions felt the wholesome impetus bred of his commendable desire to excel in well-doing. Co-workers found themselves keeping pace with his restless energy and his zeal in educational expansion. As a result he made himself felt throughout Vermont in no certain way. We shall miss his boundless energy and his constant endeavor to avoid a rut.

Under the administration of President Thomas, which began in 1908, Middlebury College has had a material growth as noteworthy as it is gratifying. His applied idealism appealed to men of wealth, and the result is the addition to the Middlebury campus of various structures: Hepburn Hall, the Mead Memorial Chapel, the McCullough gymnasium and other fine monuments to the benefactors who gave them, and to the zeal and efficient persuasiveness of President Thomas.

The educational development of Middlebury College has kept pace with its material expansion and its multiplication of fine edifices under President Thomas. The school of language and the humanities and music and other art have either come into being or have been enlarged and intensified in their work under his inspiration. The Middlebury School of Romance Languages in particular has won wide recognition among a host of institutions appealing to the American public.

In a statement to the Free Press in response to our query, President Thomas said: "Pennsylvania State College is one of the largest and strongest institutions in the United States and as the recognized State institution of the second state in the Union in population and wealth offers very large possibilities of development. Despite my attachment to Vermont and Middlebury, I think I ought to accept this new responsibility."

Pennsylvania State is one of the Morrill Act land grant colleges. It has over 3,000 students and more than 600 professors and instructors. It has a College of Engineering as well as one of agriculture and other departments. Its art department has been neglected, however, and in this as well as in other fields we confidently expect, if the people of Pennsylvania support their State institution as it deserves, there will be pronounced development and expansion under Dr. Thomas. There is no reason why Pennsylvania State should not be made as broad in its departments as Cornell University, and their Morrill land grant institution, or the great State universities of the West. This will inevitably be the case, "if the people of the State follow the lead of Dr. Thomas and give him the necessary financial and moral support."

President Thomas will be at home in his new and larger field in Pennsylvania because one of his duties will be the presentation of claims of this State educational institution to the Pennsylvania Legislature in rivalry with Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania University, which are not State institutions. His democratic ways and his genial presence and his persuasive powers will serve Pennsylvania State to good purpose and effect.

We are genuinely sorry to lose Dr. Thomas from Vermont educational circles. We rejoice, however, that his ability as an educational executive has won deserved recognition by a call to this larger field of service. We are confident that if he receives the support he will seek, Pennsylvania State will take leading rank among the Morrill land grant institutions of the country in breadth as well as comprehensiveness of training, and become a still greater power for good in the development of young and aggressive American citizenship. (The Burlington Free Press and Times) January 31, 1921.

The Collegian wishes to take this means of thanking those of our readers and friends whose kindness has made possible this article.

U. OF PENN MATRONS TO CONTEST VARSITY

(Continued from first page)

Remainder of the season another possible change in the Penn State team may occur in the 145 pound class where the berth rests between Rumberger and Oehle. The former has been doing some good work in the practice lately, and is giving the fight for the position. Otherwise, the team will be the same as appeared at Ithaca last Saturday. The complete line-up is as follows:

- 115 pound class, Watson
- 125 pound class, Garber
- 135 pound class, Captain Detar
- 145 pound class, Oehle or Rumberger
- 155 pound class, Mowrer
- 175 pound class, Spangler
- Heavyweight class, McInhon

Penn Team Strong Notwithstanding the fact that the Quakers have been compelled to change their line-up considerably during the present season, they present a difficult proposition to overcome. The season for the Philadelphians began on the twenty-ninth of January, when for the first time in thirteen years, a Red and Blue team downed a Cornell team on the mats. The score was 19 to 10 in Penn's favor. One week later, the Quakers proved to be too much for West Virginia, the Mountaineers losing

QUICK AND EFFICIENT SERVICE OUR STANDARD PENN STATE CAFE

FOR SALE
15-ROOM UP-TO-DATE FRATERNITY HOUSE
CORNER
ATHERTON and FOSTER
Lot 127x188
Building in Splendid Repair
For Further Particulars Inquire of
W. O. HECKMAN
415 S. Pugh Street

by a score of 17 to 12. The next bout resulted in the first defeat for the Penn Quakers, and the only one suffered thus far. The Navy team proved to be decidedly superior to their Pennsylvania opponents, capturing victory but one, the score being 27 to 22. Penn won her fourth meet by the scant margin of one point. With an almost entirely remodeled team, most actively groom material, the Quakers defeated Princeton by the score of 16 to 15. Last Saturday, with another team composed for the large part of "scrubs" Penn won her fourth victory over Columbia, to the tune of 18 to 13. It is this record that the Quakers will bring with them to Penn State, and with such a previous showing, there is no doubt that they will give the Nittany-grizzlies a hard rub for the supremacy.

Captain Ashby, in the 145 pound class is the only Quaker who has appeared in every meet of the season up to the present time, and it is rumored that he may not be in the contest tomorrow. In the 155 pound class, Chase and Davis are mainstays in the 125 pound class. Grant is perhaps, the most reliable man, but he has been prevented from taking part in three of the meets. The Quaker aggregation will most likely meet Captain Detar in the 155 pound class, while Bishop or Holland will perform in the 145 pound class. These have been the greatest amount of diversity in the 175 pound class wrestling. Penleton commenced the season, but was temporarily forced to retire from the game because of injuries. His place has been taken by Strife and Beini Myers will, in all probability, represent the Quakers in the heavyweight class tomorrow, as he has captured the Red and Blue honors in the unlimp class in the last two meets. Ward had this berth during the early part of the season, and had a record of two bouts won and one lost.

Last Home Meet of Season The meet tomorrow will mark the last appearance of the Nittany Lion on the Army mats for the present season. Next week the team leaves for Annapolis, where a difficult contest with the midles is expected. This meet will be followed by the Intercollegiate at Princeton University, on the eighteenth and nineteenth of this month. After these have been concluded, the team will take its western trip, meeting Indiana and Iowa State Universities in due course.

The meet tomorrow will mark the final appearance here of four of the members of the team who will graduate next June. These are Garber, Detar, Mowrer, and Spangler. The departure of these men will leave large gaps in the wrestling squad that must be filled next year, but considerable promising material exists at the present time which will no doubt develop into varsity during the coming seasons.

NOTED ARTIST TO PRESENT
OIL PAINTING TO MUSEUM
Harrington Fitzgerald, of the Philadelphia Item and a staunch friend of Penn State, has recently expressed his desire to place an oil painting in the Art Museum. Mr. Fitzgerald has exhibited at all the prominent exhibitions and at several World Fairs, and has received bronze, silver and gold medals for his work.

WOMEN STUDENTS TO HAVE CONFERENCES

(Continued from first page)

The program is as follows:

- Monday, March 7th.
- 8 20-9 20—Opening Address Women and Work. (Old Chapel)—Miss Bennett
- 9 20-9 50—Vocations in Chemistry. Dr. Margaret B. McDonald State College, Pa.
- 9 50-10 20—Opportunities in Horticulture and Agriculture. Miss Elizabeth Leighton Lee, Ambler School of Horticulture
- 10 20-10 50—Medicine. Dr. Gertrude A. Walke, Formerly Professor of Ophthalmology, now a member of the Board of Trustees, Women's Medical College, Philadelphia
- 10 50-11 20—Accountancy.—Mrs. L. J. Bradford, State College Pa. Formerly Institution Cost Accountant with Ontario Government.
- 11 20-12 00—Round Table.

Presiding Officer—Grace Locum '22'

- 1 30-2 30—General Survey of the Home Economics Field. Miss Edna M. White, The Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit.
- 2 30-3 00—Cafeteria Work and Management
- 3 00-3 30—Architecture as a Profession for Women.—Miss Anna Ketchline, Bellefonte.
- 3 30-4 00—Physical Education.—Miss Ruth Starwood, Department of Physical Education, Penn State College
- 4 00-5 00—Reception for Miss Bennett and speakers of the Conference. Women's Building

Tuesday, March 8th

- Presiding Officer—Edna Sell '21
- 9 20-10 00—Opportunities in the Field of Social Work (Old Chapel) Mr. Paul Belsner, New York School of Social Work, Mr. David Terry, Executive Secretary, Children's Service Bureau, Pittsburgh.
- 10 00-10 30—Architecture as a Profession for Women.—Miss Anna Ketchline, Bellefonte.
- 10 30-10 50—Public Health Work. Mrs. Maud Jones, Public Health Nurse, State College, Pa.
- 10 50-11 10—Home Service Work of the American Red Cross. Miss Helen K. Silpps, Executive Secretary, State College Chapter, American Red Cross
- 11 10-11 40—Vocational Opportunities in the Y. W. C. A. Miss

A. DEAL
Plumbing & Heating
FRAZIER STREET

L. K. Metzger L. K. Metzger
The Fastest Growing Store in State College
W-A-W SHOES
FOR COLLEGIANS
Are Extra Value Shoes

Seems as though they never wear out.

In adding a line of Shoes for Penn State Students, I selected W-A-W Shoes for Men, manufactured by the W. A. Withers Shoe Co., Elizabethtown, Pa.

There is quality in these Penn State-made Shoes, which is out of proportion to the low prices placed on them by the makers.

Style, material, comfort, finish, fit, wear, are all present in fullest degree.

A wide price range from which to select
$6.50, $7.50, $8.50, $9.00 and $10.00

Quality which compares with Shoes priced one-third higher.

Every W-A-W Shoe is soled with the material advertised Korry-Krome Waterproof Sole Leather, which outwears two soles of ordinary leather.

This is but one of many similar advertised materials used by W-A-W shoe makers, as being the only materials good enough for their shoes.

L. K. METZGER
111-115 Allen Street.

- Eliza R. Butler, National Headquarters, New York.
- 11:40-12 10—Round Table.
- Afternoon
- Presiding Officer—Helen Powell '21
- 1 30-2 00—Some New Opportunities in the Teaching Profession. Dr. D. A. Anderson, Department of Education, Penn State College.
- 2 00-2 30—Opportunities in Educational Psychology. Miss Muriel Brown, State Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.
- 2 30-3 00—Opportunities for College Women in the Field of Drama. Miss M. Althus Duvlin, U. of English, Penn State College.
- 3 00-3 30—Salesmanship. Miss Elizabeth Dyer, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.
- 3 30-4 00—Journalism.—Miss Bennett
- 4 00 5 00—Round Table

DEBATERS READY TO MEET COLGATE TEAM

(Continued from first page)

ert E. Cole '22, Marcus S. Smith '22, Raymond G. Gregory '21, with Arthur W. Riley as alternate. Professor E. W. Smith will probably accompany the team. The Blue and White team that will appear against this strong aggregation will consist of E. E. Overdorf '22, K. D. Hart '22, G. D. Stoddard '21, and R. S. Adams '23. All men are seasoned except Adams who proved himself an able debater in his first contest of a week ago. The judges that have been selected are Hon. Archibald Hoagland, Mayor of Williamsport, Supt. H. J. Stockton, of the Johnstown Public Schools, and Supt. N. P. Benson, of the Lock Haven Public Schools. Dr. F. L. Pattee will officiate as chairman.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISING

'22, G. D. Supplies '22, and G. L. Packard '21, as alternate, while opposing them will be H. C. Friesinger '22, E. I. Levy '23, and S. B. Ross '23, an alternate not being selected yet. Nearly all of these men have taken part in intercollegiate debating and the strength of the team which they compose is not to be overestimated.

UNIT MASS MEETING CALLED MONDAY NIGHT

Another meeting which will in all probability finally decide whether the Penn State Union will remain as it is at the present or whether the various units will be incorporated under one central government into a so-called Penn State Club, has been called for Monday night at six-thirty o'clock in Old Chapel. If the club idea is adopted at the meeting it is expected that immediate steps will be taken toward its organization in order that as little time may be lost as possible and also that the club may have a firm foundation upon which to work when college resumes next fall.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISING

GREYLOCK—A New Narrow ARROW COLLAR
Gleason, Peabody & Co., Inc., Troy, N.Y.

Come in and Test the New Edison against your emotions

We want to give you Mr. Edison's Realism Test. We want you to decide for yourself whether the New Edison brings you music as you like to hear it.

Think back to the last time you heard a great singer (or instrumentalist). His art made you feel emotions. In those emotions, you found your pleasure.

You want the New Edison to bring you the same emotions. The Realism Test helps you ascertain whether it does. It's a scientific test—fascinating to enjoy. Hear it, and you'll know what a miraculous art the New Edison brings into your home.

Ask about our Budget Plan. It shows you how to organize your dollars on a thrift basis and make easy the purchase of a New Edison.

L. K. METZGER
111-115 Allen Street