The entire student body and faculty were present in front of Old Main to receive him and a most rousing welcome was tendered to Penn State's new executive. All classes were dismissed promptly at four-twenty p. m. and immediately everybody assembled on the Front Campus to welcome Dr. Thomas when he arrived.

President, John M. Thomas

BETTER NUMBERS FOR NEXT Y. M. C. A. COURSE

Famous Poet, Musical Attractions, Humorous and Instructive Presentations Booked

That money will not be stinted to secure a better combined music and entertainment course for Penn State under the joint direction of the Y. M. C. A. and the Department of Music for the winter season of 1921-1922 is evidenced by the fact that some first class attractions have already been booked. These include: "The Impresario," Mozart's famous opera presented by New York artists; Alberto Salvi, a popular tenor; "Edgar's Quartet," a vocal quartet; "The Dumb Wife," a play; and "The Dumb Wife," a play.

Profiting from experiences of this past season's numbers, every effort has been made to secure the best groups possible in a variety of types of entertainments. To do this, the committee in charge of the selection has not limited itself to one entertainment bureau, but has chosen from a variety of sources. Contracts have been signed with the White Entertainment Bureau, the Repach Company, the Associated Musical Bureau and the Metropolitan Musical Bureau to furnish the attractions mentioned above.

Of the strictly musical numbers on the program, the company which will present Mozart's "The Impresario" is the biggest feature. Among this group of talented singers is found Percy Homus, the celebrated American baritone. The company is under the artistic direction of William Wade Henderson, of the Metropolitan Opera company, who has organized and coached the production and has chosen an eminent cast of characters. It is stated that this is the most pretentious attraction ever offered in this life.

Alberto Salvi, the harp soloist who has attracted great crowds wherever he has appeared with his harp, is being engaged to play the harp. He has long been recognized as the master of the harp, starting in his career at the age of seven when he was harpist for the popular Quartet. It is claimed that he has done for the harp what the old masters have done for the piano.

Edgar A. Guest is well known throughout the country as the author of "Just Folks" which appear daily in many newspapers in all sections of the country. As an entertainer he is well known for his readings of his own poems in a style and reading his own poems of the common place things as they should be read.

Of all the bell ringer groups, the Dumb Wife Ringing Quartet is the best. This company has gained quite a reputation for the quality of its music. The bells which it uses were made in England and especially for them and the greatest pains were taken to make the tones sweet and true. The performers are real artists and are well worth hearing.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR VARSITY NINE

Diamond Men Bunch Hits in Three Innings and Defeat Juniata

HUNTER TWIRLS WELL

Heavy slugging in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings last Saturday afternoon enabled the varsity nine to triumph over Juniata at Huntingdon by the score of 4 to 2, and add another link to the unbroken chain of victories. The Blue and White team was held scoreless for five innings by the effective twirling of Donalson and by the expert twirling of Donalson and by the expert twirling of Donalson.

After holding Baltimore Polytechnic Institute even for five innings, despite three errors and six bases on balls issued to the eastern aggregation, the Penn State Freshmen nine weakened last Saturday afternoon in its initial game of the season and was trounced under by the score of 9 to 3. Fixter, starting in the box for the yeavlings, was relieved in the sixth frame by Kelly, the latter, after yielding one run in the same inning, lost his control temporarily in the seventh and five tallies were chalked up for the Maryland team before the tanning ended.

JUDGES DECIDE UPON WINNERS OF MOCK SALE

The results of the Mock Sale which was held on last Saturday was very gratifying in that it showed that the students taking part in the sale were of the qualities needed to be successful in fitting animals for the sale and for the buying of these prizes were a credit to the Spirit Club and the Animal Husbandry Department for vying in both of these phases of the sale and a grand prize in each for the best all-around decision. The winners were the following:

ON "WHAT MONEY IS FOR" The third of the four lectures on economic questions which Dr. Sparks has consented to deliver will be given in Old Chapel this evening at seven o'clock. Then he will speak on "What's Money for Anyway?" This is a question which should interest everybody especially as the lecture tonight is intended to acquaint the people with specific instances of the use of money.

HARVARD AND PENN STATE TRACK MEN WELL MATCHED

Several Olympic and Intercollegiate Track and Field Stars on List of Entries

RECORDS MAY FALL IN SOME EVENTS

TWO FROSH PITCHERS HAMMERED BY B. P. I.

Harvard and Penn State track talent will be displayed at its best this afternoon at three o'clock when the two matched teams representing these two institutions meet in the biggest dual track meet ever staged on New Beaver Field in view of the importance of the meet, all classes for the last three hours in the afternoon have been cancelled in order that the entire student body and faculty may be on hand to view the keen competition in the track and field events.

After holding Baltimore Polytechnic Institute even for five innings, despite three errors and six bases on balls issued to the eastern aggregation, the Penn State Freshmen nine weakened last Saturday afternoon in its initial game of the season and was trounced under by the score of 9 to 3. Fixter, starting in the box for the yeavlings, was relieved in the sixth frame by Kelly, the latter, after yielding one run in the same inning, lost his control temporarily in the seventh and five tallies were chalked up for the Maryland team before the tanning ended.

The eastern representatives took the lead in the next inning by hoisting their score to three runs, made another run in the sixth and then finally secured five more runs in the lucky seventh by taking advantage of the weakening of Kelly and the poor support of his teammates. They made two doubles in this inning, won three free trips to first base, and were helped along by a pair of errors and a wild pitch. Cornell in the final frame, the Nittany Freshmen attempted to stage a batting rally and managed to add a run to their meagre total of two. Anders started things off with a home run, but a single hit was caught on first when Reed knocked a fly to right field and he tried to get back to the bag from second base. He was caught, swatted a two bagger, stole third, and crossed the plate not long afterward.

The new Student Y. M. C. A. officers from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, of colleges, seminaries, normal schools and prep schools will meet at State College from Friday, May twenty-first until Sunday. These "Y" officials, who are in most cases the presidents-elect of their student association, will confer so that they may be trained to carry out their duties and know how to meet the problems which may confront them.

"Y" OFFICERS FROM TWO STATES TO MEET HERE

New Jersey and Pennsylvania Student Delegates Will Confer in May

The plans for the combined hike of the Penn State and Ohio State are not final and the committee is prepared to take care of all students who can possibly make the trip on Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24. The hike will be followed by a banquet at noon on Saturday and will remain on until Sunday night, taking an easy jaunt over the mountains. The route to be followed will be through Bear Meadows and Stone Creek Kettles coming back through the Big Falls. The over night stop will be made in camp out Saturday night. Permits for the over night stop will be secured from A. C. Balloy at Bousburg on the way out.

OUTING CLUB PREPARES FOR HIKE ON SATURDAY

The committee has provided potatoes, coffee and other staples which will be necessary and will also handle the preparation of the meals. However, each individual may bring anything extra that he cares to. The hike will have many important features and should prove of interest to all the students. One of the big features to be included is the hike through over in the Stone Creek Kettles. The plot of virgin timber is the biggest of its kind now in the State and should prove a great interest to all the students. Permission has also been secured from the forest wardens to make this hike a system of blazing the trails and having out landmarks will be of great aid to hikers who are not familiar with the surrounding territory. It should also increase the number of long hikes by students who are held back by a lack of knowledge of the country. A meeting will be held in the Botany Building on Thursday night at seven o'clock of all those interested in the hike. At this meeting the committee will make known its final plans and all the arrangements for the hike will be concluded. The committee desires all those who are going on the hike to be present at this meeting so that they will be able to work out the final details in regard to rations and permits.

PLAYERS ACT WELL IN FRENCH COMEDY

Henry Porterfield and Katharine Hamilton Star in "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife"

Able acting on the part of members of the Penn State Players who appeared in the cast of "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" which was presented in the Auditorium last night, made it possible for Penn State's popular dramatic society to score their third success of the season. Anatole France's comedy, which was cleverly adapted to the stage, but its atmosphere was French throughout and consequently it was at times rather hard to appreciate in its true sense. Despite this fact, however, the players interpreted their parts with so much life and vigor that the audience was kept deeply interested from start to finish. "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife" is a play different from anything that the Players have previously presented. It was a unique and quaint play of a type that is very difficult to present favorably. The marked success which greeted the Players on Friday night adds all the more to their glory.

PROFESSOR I. L. FOSTER HEADS S. S. CONVENTION

Several members of the faculty were present in the recent Sunday School convention held in Bousburg last week. The officers were elected for the next year, Professor I. L. Foster of the Romance Language Department being the unanimous choice for the Presidency. Professor F. L. Patten was elected Superintendent of the Teacher Training Department and Mrs. F. L. Patten was made Superintendent of the Grade Roll.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IS MADE IN LACROSSE CARD

Game With Syracuse Stickmen is Cancelled-Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn to Replace Orange

Prospects for the coming lacrosse season have brightened considerably during the last week as Coach "Doc" Lewis has been working to form a team for the coming season. Daily practice has gradually developed into fast scrimmage matches and the result has been that a fair estimate of the true worth of each candidate is being formed in the mind of the coach. Both P. W. Griffiths '21 and B. C. Jones '19 are showing up exceptionally well and are making a strong bid for recognition. Several sophomores are keeping up the good work which featured their efforts at the beginning of practice and they must be considered seriously before the best men are selected.

An important change in the 1921 lacrosse program was effected when the game that was originally scheduled to be played with the Syracuse stickmen was cancelled by the New York State Institution and a contest with the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn, N. Y. was substituted in its place. The cancellation was due to the fact that there was no other game on the Syracuse card to be played at that time near here and it was thought advisable to make this revision. The Crescent A. C. has long gained recognition for the exceptionally strong lacrosse teams which it has produced. All men playing on the team are old college men who have had wide experience at the stick game and, since they have played together in the past, they form a well balanced combination. Next Saturday they play the Lehigh team and the outcome of the contest will form a basis for comparison.

EVERYONE COTTAGE GIRLS-STAGE MOCK WEDDING

The girls of Maple Lodge spent a pleasant evening last Saturday as the guests of the Everyn Cottage girls. A mock wedding was the principal feature arranged by the hostesses for the entertainment of their friends.
