Greatest Prospects in History of Institution Promise Brilliant Season

When the Pitt track team is met on New Beaver Field in the dual meet next Saturday afternoon, one of the most successful track seasons ever staged at this college comes to a close and with its close many are looking forward and wondering just what Penn State's prospects are for next year.

It is almost a certainty that "Larry" Shields will be back next fall for he has stated his intention of being here and everybody is looking forward to the time when last year's captain will once more spin around the track and roll up points for Penn State.

The announcement that "Blondy" Romig and Captain John Demming will also return next year is being hailed with delight all over the campus for few expected these two star runners to be here next spring.

has been one of the best steady runners to ever have represented Penn State on the track. His place will be filled by Helfrich.

Next year Ullery and Grimes will appear in the 100 yard dash, Demming and Moore will run in the quarter mile, Barron, Hill and Kauffman will take part in the hurdles, Helfrich and Demming will run in the half, Romig, Shields, Cooper, Edgerton and Snyder will be here for the mile and two mile races and in addition to these Beck, Mills and McMahon will take part in the weight events.

There is also a possibility of Morrill, who was Captain-elect of this year's team, returning. In fact many members of the team are confident that he will be here and should he return Penn State will be represented by several of the fastest relay teams in the country and may go a long way toward breaking the world's records in several of these races.

Three athletes who have been constant point getters for Penn State in the meets which were held this spring and last winter will graduate this week. These are "Charley" Way, Newcomer, and "Farant." Way will surely be missed in the broad jump and Coach Martin will have to rely on Grubb to take his place.

sulted in two victories and the two dual meets with Harvard and Colgate which were held at home were both won by the Blue and White team. The overwhelming victory in the Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet held at Pittsburgh on May twenty-first is another convincing evidence of the strength of this year's team.
