KNOCKS AND BOOSTS

Some of the fraternalities are going to lose out in the inter-fraternity baseball league, judging from the number of foul balls being sent around.

Tough luck "Charlie" when you were stood up the other night for a couple of plumpers of male extraction.

From all reports it must have been some hay-ride thrown by the Phi Psi House the other night. Some claim that their "chop" is the best in town.

Wonder what par is for the golf course at midnight?

We would suggest that the teachers learn the refrain of that song entitled "Pull Your Shades Down, Mary Ann."

The railbirds are worse now than during the Winter Session but what the attraction is no one can figure.

We understand that some of the Summer School Teachers intend becoming co-eds.

Wonder how "Captain" really hurt his foot? Did he stumble over first base or step in the cup on the first screen? We have our suspicions.

There're all sorts of cigarettes now to be had. And I'm sure it's no longer a joke that there's joy in each one for the smoker.

And a face in each ring of pale smoke. Sometimes when you're plumb up against it.

And friends have turned out so untieue. Just light up a good old Fallin'—Ah—some think that none other will do.

Then hesterfield's always a winner—On that you are sure to rely.

They'll chase all the blues that ever you had—Oh Boy—but they sure satisfy.

And a brand is not to be slighted. It's always a very safe bet—It's Turkish clear down to the very last puff—It sure is a real cigarette.

Then Camels are good for what ails you—They'll cure any kind of a grump.

Turkish-Domestic they say is the blend I guess it is all in the hump.

Of course we have Deities too on our list. They're a skag that is always a treat.

The utmost in cigarettes, critics say—All you need and the evening's complete.

But should you like violets of Milo—Say, Boy, they're as good as a "nip"—All delicate scented to suit every whim.

Yes, even they've got a gold tip.

But in spite of all this perfection—I don't know—perhaps it tends to—But I've noticed that here in the Session.

There're a lot of them rolling their own.

Notes from Sigma Phi Epsilon. Miss Jo Wilson has been entertaining guests for the past week.

Delta house last Wednesday evening. After the Victrola broke the party adjourned to the kitchen to make fudge.

The girls at the S. P. E. are so musical that the chaperone has a hard time keeping them from singing and playing after 8.30 in the evening.

CLEAN TEETH

Chlor-E-Denta Tooth Paste is one of the best on the market. It cleanses thoroughly—renders the mouth aseptic—hardens the gums—in short a tooth paste that takes pride in its work.
