LARGE PENN STATE GROUP AT SILVER BAY

Twenty-two students from Penn State attended the thirteenth annual conference of the Y. M. C. A. held at Silver Bay for ten days commencing June the twenty-fourth.

COACH BEZDEK WHIPPING GRID SQUAD INTO SHAPE

The material from which the backfield will be picked is more plentiful and includes five candidates from last fall's yearling squad as well as eight members of the 1920 varsity squad. It is expected that either Killinger or Hittner will call the signals, while the struggle for the half back positions rests between Lightner, Knubb, and Reinger, whose foot, which was injured last fall, is in good condition since more. Captain Studt will in all probability be the regular fullback, although he will be closely pressed by Hess. In addition to these men, Carson, Corwell, Palm, Patton, and Wilson, all of last year's Cubs, are making strong bids for positions in the back field. "Kitt" sustained slight injuries recently, but will be practicing again shortly.

One of the biggest jobs that confronts the coaching staff this year is the development of a new line around Bear, guard, and Bentz, center. Candidates for backfield include Hess, McMahon, Leone, and Madera. The last two, who showed up well in early practice, are injured at the present time but expect to resume practice before long. In respect to guards, Bear, Roeder, Murray, Rugh, Armbruster, Fair, and Singer are showing up well, the last three being acclamations from last year's Freshman team. Bentz is the logical candidate for center, but has two formidable opponents in Hunter and Hamilton, Sophomores. Bendick, of last year's squad reported for early practice but recently broke a shoulder and is out of the game instar lineman. He is ineligible to play this fall, but is assisting in the preparation of the team for the coming schedule.

SPLENDID NUMBERS - MAKE UP "Y" COURSE

A violinist who won first honors and the Cornell Conservatory Prize in a field of two hundred and fifty competitors from the United States and Europe is worth hearing. Grisha Monastyrsky recently won this honor as a violin soloist. He appears at the Auditorium in the combined musical and entertainment course some time in November, although the exact date has not been announced up to the present time.

Edgar A. Guest, the poet of the plain people, is included in the program and he comes to State College, bringing his verses of cheer and homely philosophy to the students of Penn State on the twenty first of January.

"Dick" Harlow is back on the job as assistant to "Boz" and is devoting most of his time to the large task of developing the line. He is one of the best coaches in the country in this department of the game, as well as one of the most capable of scouts. He has recently received a number of enticing offers to coach at other institutions but has rejected them in order to serve his Alma Mater.

The Oceanic Ladies Quintet is an orchestra with a history; three years as a standard attraction in Lyceum and Manhattan, one year entertaining the soldiers in France and England and two more years touring America. This organization was one chosen from fifty to tour the Antipodes where they gave more than seventy concerts. Their program will be a treat to music-lovers when they appear here on February the twenty-fifth.

Thompson Blood comes to State College on the fourth of March. It is said of him that he goes about the world making people happier and better for having known him. Mr. Blood has a program consisting of humorous sketches and impersonations that is well worth seeing and hearing.

Montreville Wood is a practical inventor who should prove a great attraction to the students of Penn State. He gives an entertaining demonstration of modern scientific discoveries and his management guarantees that there is something happening every minute that Prof. Wood is before his audience. Prof. Wood's entertainment will be the final number of the course when he comes here on the twenty-second of April.

Season Tickets Soon on Sale

The Y. M. C. A. announces that the season tickets will be on sale very shortly at very reasonable prices. Although the course is costing more than ever before there is no increase in the course tickets. These will be placed on sale at three dollars for general admission for reserved seats, or at an average cost of thirty-seven and a half cents per number. Without the season ticket the cost will amount to five dollars and fifty cents for general admission and nine dollars and a half for the reserved seats for the eight performances. The tickets will be placed on sale at the "Y" Hut or may be procured from student salesmen.
