PRESIDENT THOMAS ADDRESSES MEETING AT STATE CAPITAL

Deplores Lack of Facilities at Penn State Before Industrial Relations Conference

NEED STATE UNIVERSITY

Points Out Necessity of Change Here—Praises Work of Extension Department

Declaring that the electrical and mechanical engineering courses at this institution could have been filled four times over with well qualified Pennsylvania boys had there been room for them this fall, President John M. Thomas told the Industrial Relations Conference at Harrisburg Wednesday afternoon that this situation seemingly implies almost criminal short-sightedness and economic waste.

"The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will not do her duty by her boys or by herself until an institution of higher industrial training is provided free and open to all alike and adequately equipped in the State's own university," said President Thomas. He compared the facilities offered Pennsylvania boys for training in industrial professions to those in other states. He compared the ten million dollar plant of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with its nine million endowment to the $660,000 buildings and $300,000 equipment of the Penn State engineering school where more than 1100 students are enrolled.

"Money expended in industrial education of the highest grade is the wisest investment any commonwealth can make," said Penn State's new head. "There is no limit to the need of men to construct and operate industrial plants. It is the grossest improvidence not to offer to the ambitious youth of the state the best advantages they can use. There should be one center of higher industrial training in the State entirely under the control of the people of the State and administered solely with an eye to the general welfare. The people as a whole have a right to one institution where no man's dollar influence policies and undertakings, free and open to all alike, and where the boy from the humblest home may have an equal chance with the most favored in advantages equal to the wealthiest and best."

President Thomas said that industrial education cannot be presented fully from the point of view of the university of technical institute without a great deal of activity in carrying its work right into the shops, offices and store rooms of industries. He described fully the great work that is being done under restricted support by the college engineering extension division which is now reaching 7,385 workmen in their own shops by night classes, home study groups and correspondence.

President Thomas will also speak in Harrisburg today, addressing the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

COMBINED CHOIRS WILL SING "GALLIA" SUNDAY

Famous Cantata by Gounod to Be Presented at Both Chapel Services by Chorus

Following out the custom of the last two or three years, the College Chorus, made up of the two choirs that sing at the Sunday chapel services, will appear at both chapel services this Sunday and will present the cantata "Gallia" by Charles Gounod, one of the most brilliant of the nineteenth century composers. Those who attended chapel last year and heard the program rendered by the combined choirs will recall that it was one of exceptional nature and one well worth listening to. The program this year they will surpass it. Under the direction of Professor C. C. Robinson, the chorus has been working hard and has arrived at a stage where its rendition of the popular cantata is one of high order. Miss Betty Croll '25, a singer of accomplishment, has been selected as soloist and may be counted upon for a fine performance. She will be ably accompanied by Mrs. Clarence C. Robinson on the piano and Mr. Ernest Wells '23, on the organ. Professor Robinson will conduct the program.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF CHESS CLUB THIS EVENING

An important business meeting of the Penn State Chess Club will be held this evening at seven-thirty o'clock in Room 314 Old Main. At this time, election of officers for the year will occur and discussion will be raised regarding chess matches with Pitt, Carnegie Tech, and New York University. All students who play chess are urged to attend the meeting. A team will soon be selected by elimination which will represent Penn State at an intercollegiate tournament that is now being planned.

GEORGIA TECH RETURNS ON NEW BEAVER

Returns of the Penn State-Georgia Tech game at New York will be given out on New Beaver field tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock instead of in the Auditorium. The game will be illustrated by play by two students, who will represent both contestants and who will move back and forth across the field as the plays are reported from a nearby building. The regular score board will be used to show the number of downs, the score, the number of yards to gain, etc. All who attend the returns are requested to sit in the new stands as near the center as possible in order that plays will not have to be announced more than once.

SALVI, WORLD'S BEST HARPISIT, APPEARS IN AUDITORIUM TOMORROW

Young Genius Comes Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.—Has Wonderful Record

It has been a long while since an announcement of an event has caused so much lively interest as the announcement that Alberto Salvi, the phenomenal harp virtuoso, is to appear here tomorrow night in Schwab Auditorium as the third number of the popular Y. M. C. A. entertainment course.

Of the playing of this young genius, critics have been almost lavish in their praise, speaking of him as a revelation because he overcomes what have been considered practically impossible obstacles in technique. His playing has been characterized as nothing short of amazing.

In addition to this almost "super-human technique" he has discovered new effects and undreamed of beauties in the harp. Furthermore, he possesses, in words of critics, "the power to make his audience forget harp and harpist and to think of great orchestras, multitudes of voices and great tragedies, so broad and sweeping are his masterful interpretations."

Mr. Salvi inherited his predilection for the harp. His father was a celebrated Italian harp maker, and his first teacher, on a specially constructed miniature harp, which was built for Alberto when he started to go to school. The lad was born in Venice in 1893.

In his early period he practiced four hours a day and the allotment was increased six at the age of twelve he devoted six to eight hours per day to practice. His devotion to duty is what Mr. Salvi credits as the reason for his marvellously facile and fluent technique.

His father's teaching continued till the boy was thirteen when he won the first distinction of his career—the Royal Scholarship at the Naples Royal Conservatory. This scholarship is awarded in the special classes for the young musician having the best record. The competition is nation-wide through Italy. This windfall ensured Salvi's thorough musical education along the highest standards. The tenor was for eight years and both tuition and other expenses were paid for out of the endowment.

Salvi had the advantage of instruction under the eminent harpist, the late eminent Maestro Caramello. In the fifth year of Salvi's course the maestro wrote to the Ministry of Arts at Rome, under whose supervision the scholarship is conducted, that the boy had acquired in five years all the knowledge theoretical and practical, that went with the full curriculum of eight years. Caramello asked that special examinations might be prepared in order that the talented youth could wind up officially his academic career and enter that of the virtuoso.

FROSH SET FOR HARD GAME WITH BIG KISKI ELEVEN

Preparatory School Team Has Defeated Princeton and Cornell Freshmen

FEW CHANGES IN LINE-UP

Tays May Replace Kerstetter at Quarter—Yearling's Team Work Improving

Having already defeated the Cornell and Princeton Freshmen football teams the Kiski eleven will attempt to add another victim to the string of victories when they meet Coach Herman's starting squad tomorrow afternoon. Coach Herman and the Freshman aggregation, which has thus far been victorious in three encounters, are equally determined that the Nittany cubs should not be stopped and without a doubt, the game will be the most difficult one that the Frosh have had to face so far this year. It will be their fourth game and the second one to be played away from home, the encounter taking place on the Kiski field at Salisbury.

Kiski Eleven Powerful
The very fact that the Kiski football machine downed the Cornell Frosh two weeks ago by the score of 19-0 and also defeated "Bill" Toper's Princeton Cubs by the overwhelming score of 35-0 in a game that was played away from home, gives the Kiski eleven the right to be classed as one of the most powerful preparatory school football teams in the country. Both their line and their backfield are composed of very heavy men. While in their way to Princeton last Saturday the Kiski men rode on the same train that was carrying the Freshman to Mercersburg, Coach Herman and the members of the Freshman team looked them over and all were agreed that the preparatory school giants looked almost as big as the Penn State varsity team. In Amos, their fullback, the Kiski team has one of the fastest backfield men in scholastic circles. He scored two of the five touchdowns that were made in the Princeton game and has a name for being able to put the ball across the line when but a few yards are needed to make a first down or a touchdown. Millman, who has been playing left halfback also has a reputation of being a consistent ground gainer. He scored two touchdowns in the Princeton game. Rosenstein, the right halfback is a good man and West the quarterback, is a good man to run the team. Pray, who holds down the pivot position at center also kicks the goals. In the Princeton game every one of his five attempts were successful.

Freshmen Going Good
The Freshman team has been steadily improving, and at the present time they are working together much better than they have ever done before. The three victories that have been won so far this season seem to have given the men more confidence and as a result, team work, which was seldom in evidence at the beginning of the season, is now one of the most noticeable factors in their playing.

Several changes may occur in the line-up which is listed below. Tays may start at quarter instead of Kerstetter. This point has not been decided as yet, but it is known that Tays will get into that game sometime tomorrow, whether he starts it or not. Coach Herman wants to give both men an equal chance at running the team. Phillips who has been playing end on the second team has been working hard all year and may be given a chance to show what he can do tomorrow by replacing Anderson at right end.

The line up at the start of the game will be as follows:
Kiski
Gray.....center.....Shaner
Fenton.....right guard.....Alwine
McGee.....right tackle.....Artelt
Wild.....right end.....Anderson
West.....quarterback.....Kerstetter
Rosenstein.....right halfback.....Lowry
Amos.....fullback.....Gregory

OLD MAIN "RATS" BALL HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

The Old Main "Rats" will hold their annual masquerade in the Armory tomorrow night with Griffith's orchestra furnishing the inspiration. The "Old Dwellers" instituted this custom three years ago, and since then have made Halloween the event of an all-college affair, incidentally the biggest all-college affair of the year.

The new floor in the Armory presents wonderful opportunities for those who are fond of dancing, and since the "Rats" have applied a good coat of wax, it is in the best of condition. Everything is being done to make this dance an assured success.

NO EXCUSES GRANTED FOR GAMES

No written permits to be absent on account of out of town football games will be issued to students. Students desiring to make these trips will be sent to their instructors for individual treatment according to their standing in class.

GLEE CLUB WILL TRAVEL TO ELIZABETHTOWN FOR BIG MASONIC FESTIVAL

Songsters Will Render Two Concerts—President Thomas To Speak on Sunday

Under arrangements recently completed by the Music Department, the Penn State Glee Club will journey to Elizabethtown, Pa., this week for the purpose of taking part in a large festival that is to be held in the Masonic Home of that town. Plans call for concerts by the Glee Club on both Saturday and Sunday and in addition President Thomas of this institution will speak to the assembly in the home on Sunday afternoon. The State College Masonic Lodge is largely responsible for the arrangements.

The Glee Club will in all probability leave here in automobiles on Saturday morning, arriving in Elizabethtown in time for dinner, and will consist of twenty-eight members. The remainder of the party are planning to leave State College at noon on the same day and will reach their destination before the hour of the Glee Club concert. On Sunday morning the visitors will pass the time inspecting the grounds of the Masonic Home which comprise some thousand acres with their own dairy, poultry plans, and orchards. The party will return to Penn State after the concert in the afternoon. Professors George Green and Shattuck are in charge of transportation for the trip and a large number of delegates are expected to go to the festival from State College and Bellefonte.

The personnel of the Glee Club on this trip will be as follows:
Director—Prof. Hrbjsson.
Leader—Ernest M. Holston '23.
Comedy trio—John Mayes '23, pianist. Jack Myers '23—Eccentric dancer. M. E. Schlosser '23—Trick pianist.
Tenor soloist—D. V. Bauder '24.
The Club: First Tenor—Bauder '24, Finley '24, Hesser '24, Moyer '22, Nicklin '24, Neckman '24.
Second Tenor—Holston '23, Roxby '23, Junk '22, Sanford '24, Morak '23, Crum '23.
First Bass—Douglass '22, Rankin '22, Jone '22, Morton '22, Oberholser '22, Hoffman '22.
Second Bass—Schoch '22, Etter '23, Hill '22, Heeser '22, Wilson '23, Duncan '24.
The Varsity Male Quartet—Bauder, Holston, Roxby, and Duncan.

PLAYERS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS ON NEW PLAY

Final Stages Reached in Work on "Nothing But The Truth"—Soon To Be Presented

Next week, the Penn State Players will hold rehearsals for "Nothing But The Truth" behind closed doors. For the last four weeks rehearsals have been in progress every evening until the performance is assuming the aspect of a finished production. It is the plan of the director, Mr. Arthur C. Cloetingh, to begin with the finishing touches next week to get the show ready for its presentation early in November.
Mr. J. D. McCord Jr., '24 is portraying the role of Dick very cleverly. A member of the firm, a friend and enemy at the same time of Bob, who tells nothing but the truth, he has ample opportunity for sparkling wit and humor. The lines are brilliant and Mr. McCord always makes the most of every opportunity. Mr. McCord will be remembered by the State College audiences for his very splendid portrayal of Scaramouche in "A Thousand Years Ago." The Player production last commencement week, his ready fun and versatility, which was so evident in the spring performance, is given ample scope in "Nothing But The Truth." This performance is promised to be one of the most successful that the Players have yet staged.

FRESHMAN CLASS ELECTS TREASURER AT MEETING

At a meeting of the Freshman Class in the Amphitheatre on Wednesday night, E. D. Southernland '25 was elected class treasurer. Owing to the mass meeting the class meeting was shortened, and after a few remarks by President Hare of the Junior Class commending the Frosh on the manner in which they carried out Poverty Day, the meeting was adjourned.

BASKETBALL ORIGINATED AT MOUNT UNION COLLEGE

Mount Union College claims to be the originator of basketball. A tablet in the gymnasium of this Ohio school has an inscription to the effect that the first game was played there in March, 1892. "The Dynamo," the student publication says: "We know of no college in the United States which can establish the claim that basketball was played previous to this date."

Cross country trials for the meet with Carnegie Tech will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

BASKETBALL TEAM MUST BE REBUILT BY COACH HERMAN

Graduation Of Four Varsity Men Leaves Small Nucleus For Varsity Quintet

SCHEDULE WILL BE STIFF

Contests May Be Played With The Navy, Princeton, Penn, Pitt, And W. & J.

Basketball candidates will be called out by Coach "Dutch" Herman immediately after the closing of the football season to start intensive practice for one of the stiffest game seasons of the Nittany tossers. With the graduation of four of last year's varsity members the coach is confronted with the problem of building up a practically new team about a nucleus of several players, who have had varsity experience; and, although no veteran team will represent Penn State, indications point toward a schedule against some of the most formidable quintets in collegiate basketball circles.

Haines at guard, Replige at center and Wolf at forward were lost by graduation last June, and Killinger, the captain and forward of last season's championship team, will complete his studies at Penn State at the close of the first semester. "Andy" Wilson '22, last year's varsity forward, together with Koehler '23 and Hiner '22, who substituted regularly in the forward and guard positions will be the nucleus about which this year's team will be built.

Manager J. H. Sayers '22 is now preparing a schedule which will include a number of contests of a calibre to call for the best playing from any team. Although nothing definite can be said about the list of games at such an early date, a few of the teams which are likely to meet Penn State may be mentioned. These include the Navy, Princeton, Penn, Pitt, Washington and Jefferson and a possible game with Creighton University of Nebraska. The last will serve as a real intercollegiate battle between the East and the West, as Creighton is rated high among the western quintets.

From last year's second string men and from the Freshman team, Coach Herman will have a wealth of material from which to select his varsity. Among the most promising candidates of last winter may be named Whitman '22 at forward, Hitts '22 at guard, Hunter '23 at guard, Marshall '23 at forward, Miller '23 at forward, and Sharf '23 at center. Four of last year's Freshman men are still at Penn State and should furnish no small amount of competition for the varsity positions. They are: Wilson at guard, Frank at forward or guard, Cornwall at forward or guard and Elster at center.

LACROSSE MEN MEET WEST POINT IN SPRING

According to Manager Fox, all arrangements have been completed for the Penn State lacrosse team to meet the Army stummen at West Point on May twentieth. This will, in all probability, be the hardest fought game of the year as the West Pointers always have a strong team. A northern trip will be something new for the squad as it has been customary in former years to take a trip through the south. Arrangements are being made to play various other college teams on the trip but it cannot be definitely stated which they will be at present. It is certain however that a game with Lehigh at Penn State, will be included on the schedule.

Full practice is in progress every evening and the men are gradually acquiring some degree of proficiency in the art of handling the stick. In addition to the regular varsity men a large number of sophomores and freshmen are reporting daily and are being drilled in the fundamentals of the game. A light scrimmage is held every evening and the sophomores and freshmen are pitted against each other whenever possible to get them in shape for the interclass scrap which will be held as soon as the weather permits after Thanksgiving.

FRESHMAN CLASS ELECTS

At a meeting of the Freshman Class in the Amphitheatre on Wednesday night, E. D. Southernland '25 was elected class treasurer. Owing to the mass meeting the class meeting was shortened, and after a few remarks by President Hare of the Junior Class commending the Frosh on the manner in which they carried out Poverty Day, the meeting was adjourned.

TRIP BEING PLANNED FOR GIRLS GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club is at present making extensive preparations for the presentation of a fine program here in the near future. No definite date of the performance of the date has yet been set. It is planned to use the same program on a prospective trip that will extend as far west as Pittsburgh, the Girls' Quartet accompanying the Glee Club to cooperate with this body in promoting the co-educational aspects at this college.

WILLIAMSPORT CHOSEN FOR A. S. M. E. MEETING

Second Gathering Of Society To Take Place Monday—Seventy Going From Here

The second meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held in Williamsport on the thirty-first of this month for the purpose of discussing the subject of manufacturing costs. The meeting will be attended by representatives of the Williamsport Manufacturing Association, about thirty faculty members and students from Bucknell and approximately seventy students from State College, students in the courses of mechanical and industrial engineering. The main part of the program for the meeting is the presentation to the manufacturing interests in this territory some of the most important engineering questions now being discussed to reduce manufacturing costs. It is expected that a number of representatives of manufacturing plants will take an active part in the discussion of the subjects.

The program for the meeting includes a general assembly of the Federated Engineering Societies, P. P. Henshall, Secretary and Treasurer of the Central Pennsylvania Section A. S. M. E., and J. P. Jordan, one of the best known cost experts in the country. Mr. Wallace, in addition to being secretary of the federated societies, is the chairman of an important committee on industrial wastes and is at the present time making a country-wide plea for the elimination of these wastes.

Previous to this evening meeting, those attending the convention will be given an opportunity to inspect the plants of the Lycoming Rubber Company, the Lycoming Motors Corporation, the Williamsport Wire Rope Company, the Valley Iron Works, the E. Keeler Company, the Lycoming-Edison Company, and the J. K. Richell Furniture Company. Arrangements for visits to these plants should be made through the chairman of the Inspection Trip, Professor E. A. Fessenden. The attendance at these sessions is not limited to members of the A. S. M. E.

Since the founding of this section of the A. S. M. E. there has been a considerable increase in the membership and the committees appointed have been quite active in advancing the interests of mechanical engineering in the central section of Pennsylvania.

SPORTS MANAGERS ARE CHOSEN BY 1924 CLASS

Question of Staging Sophomore Hop is Considered—Four New Members Admitted

Managers of teams for fall sports were elected at a meeting of the Sophomore Class in Old Chapel on Monday night, and the possibility of staging a Sophomore hop was put before the class. The results of the managerial elections were as follows: Lacrosse, W. E. Hess '24, football, H. G. Hoelcher '24, soccer, D. K. Stabler '24, and cross country, A. K. Wilhelm '24.

A suggestion offered by Coach Ludek was put before the class. It concerned a Sophomore hop which would be run under the auspices of the Class of 1924, and for which invitations would be extended to the members of the two lower classes. The plan seemed to have the hearty approval of the class, and it will be discussed to a greater extent at a later meeting. The custom once established would, no doubt, remain, as Penn State is one of the few colleges that do not have Sophomore hops.

President Martin brought up the question of class hat insignia, and the suggestions of the entire class with the exception of the design. The class voted in members W. J. Quirk, C. H. Diek, L. C. Hegarty, and G. T. Smink, all of whom have been transferred here from other schools and carry full sophomore standing.

Has Strong Offense

A very powerful factor in the victories of Georgia Tech has been its remarkable attack. With an exceedingly fast backfield and a hard charging line, the southern school possesses a combination which has proven a puzzle to its opponents and which has led the Tornado again and again over the goal line. It is quite probable that this power will enable the Georgian Institution to score on Penn State tomorrow. It will be matched, however (Continued on third page)
