SOCCERITES PREPARE FOR COMING CONTESTS

Coaching Staff Begins Eliminating Defects Revealed in Last Saturday's Game

With the first game of the 1921 soccer season tucked away in the record book as a decisive victory over the strong Syracuse Aggregation the Nittany leading squad is preparing for the next hard game on the season's card. It will be the purpose of the coaching staff for the next few weeks to spare no effort in eliminating the glaring faults shown up in the recent game that would prove to be a dangerous drawback in the harder contests that remain to be played.

The contest last Saturday showed that the Blue and White combination was far superior to the New Yorkers in every department of the game, especially in the control of the ball, and the technical knowledge of the sport. But it also showed that Pakenham's men do not possess the endurance that will be required of them later and which plays such an important role in the ultimate outcome of a contest. This is responsible for the lack of initiative that was conspicuous during the last few minutes of the Syracuse game and which caused the small difference in the score. Coaches Dennis and Pakenham realize the difficulty that besets the squad in this feature and have decided to amend this as soon as possible by insisting on strict training rules and by putting the men through grueling nightly practice.

Due to the late start that the manager of the sport experienced in arranging the varsity soccer card, the next game on the schedule has not been definitely agreed upon but it is rumored that the next leading contest will be on Pennsylvania Day with one of the big eastern teams as the attraction. The prominence that the college has gained in the past two years through the season's record has induced many of the colleges to seek games with the Penn State eleven.

FACULTY BULLETIN TO BE PUBLISHED WEEKLY

The "Faculty Bulletin" a new publication at State College, was recently inaugurated and will be published every Monday during the college year as a means of making official announcements and presenting items of interest to the faculty. The "Bulletin" will fill a long-felt want for a simple and regular method of faculty communication, bringing faculty news to faculty members first-hand and providing for an official means of transmitting all necessary information.

It will be the aim of the "Bulletin" to publish all items of interest to every faculty member on the following points: official announcements from all administrative offices, announcements of lectures and meetings, a calendar of each week's events, personal items, concerning faculty members about their work here and in foreign fields, and any other subjects of interest.

D. M. Cresswell, the college director of publicity, is the "Bulletin" Editor and a faculty advisory committee will assist with its publication. This new method of communication will do away with the expensive multigraphed communications that have been sent in the past, from the administrative offices.

MANY TWO-YEAR AGS COME FROM TOWNS AND CITIES

Of the 209 students now registered in the Two-Year course in agriculture, ninety come from towns with a population of 5000 or more; and thirty-one of these come from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. It would appear that these figures indicate a great interest in Rural Life on the part of urban populations.

NAMES OF COUNTY CLUB PRESIDENTS NEEDED

All county club reporters are asked to hand in the names of the presidents of their respective clubs in order that the Publicity Office may make out a list of the same. There is a frequent demand for such information and the Publicity Office requests the reporters to cooperate with it in compiling the list.

BEEKEEPING STUDENTS MAKE INSPECTION TRIP

Eleven two year agricultural students who are taking the course in beekeeping took an inspection trip to Ridgeway and Saint Marys last week for the purpose of inspecting the apiaries of several large bee men in that vicinity. The first stop was at the apiary of Mr. Leonard Wittman at Saint Marys. The class found that Mr. Wittman had a total crop of fifteen tons of honey for last year. At Mr. Edwin Anderson's farm at Ridgeway the men were given two days practical experience in bee husbandry. Their work included everything from removing the honey from the comb to placing it in containers for market.

The class in bee-keeping is one of the newest in the agricultural curriculum as it was not started until last Spring. The expenses of the course are wholly defrayed by the government and all its members are ex-service men. The class is under the supervision of Mr. Edwin Anderson, whose apiary was included in the itinerary of the trip.

EIGHTY-FOUR STUDENTS CHANGE COLLEGE COURSES

The Registrar reports that eighty-four students have changed their course from one school to another at the beginning of the first semester. The students thus changing courses were distributed as follows among the several classes: Seniors, 7; Juniors, 22; Sophomores, 38; Freshmen, 13; Special Students, 4.

The following tabulation indicates each school's gain or loss in number: From Agr. 15; to Agr. 12; Loss 3. From Eng. 32; to Eng. 14; Loss 18. From H. Eco. 9; to H. Eco. 1; Loss 8. From Mines 7; to Mines 1; Loss 6. From N. Sci. 18; to N. Sci. 1; Loss 17. From L. Arts 3; to L. Arts 55; Gain 52.

PENN STATE PREPARED FOR GOLDEN TORNADO

(Continued from first page) with the Bezekian offense which has earned so much respect in the last three years. Teams played to date have proven powerless before the Nittany marches, and Georgia Tech may not prove an exception to this rule. Two great scoring machines will thus come together, the outcome of the battle indicating the supremacy of either system.

Nittany Line-up Changed Because of the Illness of Captain

Snell and the injury of Madera and Hess, a decided shake-up occurred in the Nittany team during the Harvard game and it is quite likely that the players who finished that contest will start against the Golden Tornado. Captain Snell made the trip to New York with the team but will not play. Madera will be out for the remainder of the year on account of the broken leg which he sustained last week, and Hess will be unable to get into scrimmage for about ten days. His foot was badly twisted at the beginning of the Harvard game. In place of Captain Snell and Hess at fullback, Bezek will in all probability use Knabb, who showed up well on Saturday in spite of his lack of experience. "Bez" has been grooming him all week for the important position and has him in good shape. If the necessity arises, the football mentor can put in Cornwall, who has been shifted from halfback on the second team to fullback on the same team. Hills is filling in the gap left by the loss of Madera. He performed to advantage against the Crimson.

Another change is also apparent on the Nittany first team. Wilson, who was sent in last week's game in the second quarter to supplant Redinger at left half, put up such a wonderful game that he was kept on the varsity eleven in practice this week and will start against Georgia Tech. He continued his great running in scrimmage work every practice period and is one of the best half backs on the squad. He is a trifle weak on defensive work but coaching will tend to remedy this defect. At the other halfback position will appear Lightner, whose fine line snuffing last Saturday made him a consistent ground gainer and accounted for the Nittany scores. Killinger will, as usual, play quarter. The southern warriors will have their hands full trying to prevent him from getting loose on long runs.

These stalwarts, Coach Bezek has a very dependable wall and one which will rank with the best lines in the country. The men are both heavy and tall and are quite fast for their size.

Just returned from delivering a special lecture at the Teacher's Institute in Chester County.
