

PENN STATE CLUB TO HAVE BASKETBALL CARD

Twenty-five Units Expected To Participate in Annual Ball Tossers' League

The Penn State Club, whose membership comprises all non-fraternity students of the college, is actively having plans now for the arrangement of an inter-unit basketball schedule for the coming winter.

As basketball among the units has proved so popular during the last two years, it is the intention of the Club to organize the league as early as possible this year, so that the playing of a complete schedule by a large number of teams may be successfully carried out.

The few weeks that intervene between the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation is usually a dull period in regard to college activities and the playing of the schedule will no doubt begin soon after Turkey Day in order to further athletic interest during that time. It is hoped that by this time all the units of the town will have organized basketball teams.

Last year seventeen units competed in the Inter-Unit Basketball League, while the year before the entire twenty-five units put quintets in the running. It is hoped that this year will be a replica of the year before last, and that the full quota of twenty-five units will participate.

Managers of teams desiring to enter the league are advised to notify E. J. Boone '23, president of the club, at 215 West College Avenue. This should be done as soon as possible, since a tentative schedule will be drawn up within the next two weeks. Units in which last year's managers have left school or are not officiating this year are urged to organize teams and elect new managers at once.

GIRL STUDENTS PREFER NEWSPAPER SPORT PAGE

Women students at Radcliffe College prefer the sporting pages of the daily papers according to a census taken recently at that institution. A census of six hundred women in attendance shows that ninety-four per cent read the newspapers, but only four per cent claim the women's page as their favorite department. Fourteen per cent read the sport's page first. Twenty-five per cent of the students expressed a preference for the editorial page, twenty three per cent said the general news of the city interested them the most and thirty-eight per cent said they were usually satisfied with the head-lines.

STICKMEN HOPE TO HAVE VARSITY COACH BY SPRING

In spite of the fact that seven of last year's team were lost by graduation, the outlook for a successful lacrosse season this year is unusually bright. Thus far a regular coach has not been secured but the Athletic Association has a man in view at the present time who, if he can be signed up to come to State College in the Spring, will put out a lacrosse combination that few colleges will be able to best.

The schedule for this year has not been completed but the Graduate Manager and Manager Fox are endeavoring to arrange games at home either with Penn or Lehigh, possibly both, and contests away from home with Syracuse, Cornell, West Point, Maryland State, and the Navy.

Daily scrimmages are being held on Holmes Field under the direction of Captain Brown, who is instructing the stick men in the fundamentals of the game. A large number of men from the Junior and Sophomore classes are out and the competition for the various vacant positions is keen. The team is still smarting under the sting of last year's 13 to 0 game with the Navy and will do everything in their power to down the middles this Spring if a game can be arranged.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore scrap will be played the second Saturday following Thanksgiving this year. In previous years this game has been looked forward to with much interest as lacrosse has a place all its own in the list of college sports. A number of places on both teams are still open and any member of either class has a good chance to win his minor sport's numerals in this scrap.

SYRACUSE TO INAUGURATE ALL NEW CLASS OFFICERS

Every class officer will be formally inaugurated at Syracuse in the future, is a tradition begun in that institution this year by the official installation of the freshmen officers. At these inaugurations, a formal oath of office will be administered and the duties and policies of the officers explained.

NEXT "Y" NUMBER TO BE GIVEN DECEMBER TENTH

The date for the next number of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course has been changed from December third as previously announced when the schedule for the winter season was announced to December tenth.

The last number of this course made a tremendous hit with those who were fortunate enough to hear the renowned harpist, Solvi, and it is expected that just as large and appreciative audience will take the opportunity of listening to the violin offerings of Grisha Monastovich. It is needless to say that this remarkable violin soloist comes to Penn State with a national reputation for everyone that is familiar with the notes of the music world have heard of his performance and of the reception that he has received in all of the large cities where he has played.

MISS CANDY RESIGNS POSITION IN M. E. SCHOOL

Miss Jenny C. Candy, who for the past twenty years has acted in the capacity of secretary to Professor Fessenden, head of Mechanical Engineering, has resigned her position to assume the duties connected with the secretaryship of the Social Committee for the Methodist Episcopal Church of State College Borough.

The long term of her service to the particular engineering department of the school especially adapted her to fulfill the many tasks connected with the office in the most efficient manner and her resignation was received with great regret.

COLLEGE MEN NEEDED BY RAILROADS, SAYS AGENT

Mr. Samuel Porcher, general purchasing agent of the Pennsylvania railroad system, addressed the students and faculty of the School of Engineering on Friday, October twenty-eight on a subject of more than ordinary interest, "Does the Railroad Need College Men?"

Mr. Porcher gave some very valuable information concerning the methods of conducting so large a purchasing department, and quoting from statistics said that the present monthly expenditures for supplies were one half million dollars in comparison with one million in normal times. He dwelt for some time on the need for technically trained men in the purchasing departments.

Upon graduation from the University of Virginia Mr. Porcher secured work in the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Altoona. His grade was that of an apprentice with a salary of five cents per hour. He has been with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company ever since then and has risen to his present position, that of general purchasing agent of the system. With a record such as his, Mr. Porcher was well able to talk on the subject.

FOREIGNERS TO BE TAUGHT ELEMENTARY AGRICULTURE

Professor Maize of the Department of Correspondence Courses in the School of Agriculture announces that the department is preparing some lessons in elementary agriculture to be taught to adult foreigners. These lessons are being written in a very simple language, with the idea of giving them a working farm and garden vocabulary, as well as to teach them the fundamentals of livestock and farm production.

The new lessons are available for teachers, Y. M. C. A. and others engaged in the teaching of foreigners.

The growing interest in bee keeping which is growing throughout the country is being felt in the Department of Correspondence Courses where there has been an increased demand for lessons in that subject. A class of twenty five holds at the National Farm School in Bucks County are at present taking this course. Large classes in the study of bees are being organized around Pittsburgh under the direction of the leading bee keepers of Allegheny. These classes are using the lessons prepared by the Correspondence Department as their text.
