SCRUBS TO THE FORE!

Many new faces will be seen on varsity teams in all winter sports this coming season. Basketball, wrestling, and boxing veterans have joined the ranks of the alumni, and the coaches in search of varsity material are carefully considering all candidates.

Followers of Penn State athletics will watch with interest the results which such combinations can bring about. With no foundation upon which to build, will the Nittany coaches be able to construct winning teams? Speculation is being aroused whether the almost phenomenal success of the football team can be repeated in other sports.

Will men arise from the ranks of the substitutes to fill the responsible varsity positions? Will they profit by the experience of past seasons of grueling work? At all events, no matter what the outcome of the winter season may be, the students will be assured the best from the players, and the coaches and the teams will have the confidence that the entire student body is backing them in their efforts.

THE SOPHOMORE HOP

The Class of 1924 has taken a forward step in deciding to hold a Sophomore Hop some time this winter. This function, akin to similar affairs held in many other colleges and universities for the second year men, will better acquaint the members with their classmates and will serve to bind the class closer together.

Some say that there has been too great an increase in the number of social activities at Penn State. However, we must remember that Penn State has grown and more activities must be provided if all are to have an opportunity of enjoying the events.

This dance will no doubt be supported enthusiastically by the class of 1924 and will in time become a custom of the Sophomores.

PENN STATE CREAMERY DOES LARGE BUSINESS

Great Quantity Of Cheese, Ice Cream, and Butter Produced At Creamery Monthly

The Penn State Creamery has been doing a large amount of business during the last year, although its work is done so quietly and efficiently that the students hear very little about it. It is rather interesting to hear the report of the business which this very important department of the college has been transacting and accordingly a few of the figures are quoted here.

This dairy organization with its complete equipment and large supply of raw material naturally affords excellent facilities for students in the Dairy Husbandry course to learn to become proficient in the manufacture of all forms of dairy products.

Expert dieticians state that every child should consume one quart of milk daily, and adults should use at least one pint each day. It is safe to say that Penn State students—or at least that portion of them who frequent the Hill—keep well above these recommendations.

GLEE CLUB PREPARING FOR NEW YORK CONTEST

The Glee Club is now preparing to compete in the Inter-Collegiate Glee Club Contest which is scheduled to take place in New York next March. The test piece for this contest is "Give a House," by Bantock. The Club will not only spend considerable time in preparation of this song, but will also practice two other songs, one a light number entitled "On The Sea," by Dudley Buck, and a Penn State song which will probably be either "Come Ye Back to Old Penn State," by Professor W. D. Crockett, and set to the music of "Mandalay," or "Penn State," by Dr. D. E. Sparks.

PENN STATE CLUB PLANS SMOKER AFTER HOLIDAYS

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Penn State Club on Tuesday night, arrangements were made to hold a smoker shortly after the Christmas holidays. The program has not been arranged as yet, but it will contain some athletic attractions in addition to several speakers. The main purpose of the smoker is to revive interest in the club and to make known its purpose to the new men.

GOVERNMENT SPECIALISTS VISIT REHAB STUDENTS

Dr. Walter L. Quick of the United States Veterans Bureau in Washington and Mr. Kenneth S. Covey of Philadelphia, agricultural specialists for the veterans bureau, were visitors of the college, looking after the interests of the rehabilitation students. Much interest was shown by these men as to the work done for the Rehabs. Possibilities are in view whereby much greater work will be done at this institution for disabled soldiers thru better financial aid.

DEAN CHAMBERS SPEAKS ON EDUCATIONAL CRISIS

Peace of World Depends Mainly On Education—Deplores Lack Of School Facilities

Dean W. G. Chambers, formerly Dean of Education at the University of Pittsburgh, and now Dean of the Summer Session here, delivered the first lecture of the Tuesday Evening Lectures under the auspices of the School of Liberal Arts, last Tuesday evening in the Old Chapel, taking as the subject for his talk "The Educational Crisis." Dean Chambers' work brought him into close contact with the most prominent educators of the country and made him thoroughly capable of discussing his subject in the most efficient manner.

The First National Bank STATE COLLEGE, PA. W. L. Foster, President David F. Kapp, Cashier

Again, while legislations have been passed which require all children of school age to attend school, it has apparently over-looked the fact that there are not enough schools to hold them. An unrest in education exists all over the country and it is a rare community indeed which has not reached its limit for school taxation.

UNIVERSITY CLUB WILL HOLD CHRISTMAS REVELS

Next Thursday evening, December fifteenth, the annual Christmas revels will take place at the University Club and a large crowd is expected to be present inasmuch as similar occasions of past years have always proven of great enjoyment to the faculty and have been well attended.

PENN STATE GRADUATE NOW COACHING AT SWARTHMORE

J. F. Sparks '15, former Penn State captain and star forward of basketball, recently signed a contract to coach the Swarthmore basketball team this year. Sparks made a fine record while in school here and should develop a good aggregation at the Garnet institution. He is also an instructor of Machine Design at Swarthmore.

SWARTHMORE STUDENT IS GIVEN RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Alan C. Valentine, graduate of Swarthmore College last June and one of the most active men ever turned out at that institution, was awarded the Rhodes scholarship from Pennsylvania this week over a field of thirty-seven aspirants from various institutions of the state. The honored man had a most remarkable record while in college and was unanimously awarded the scholarship by the State Committee.
