

LEBANON VALLEY WILL OPPOSE VARSITY FIVE

(Continued from first page) while on the following day, the Fresh aggregation administered a sound lacing to the second team. The same evening found the first team held to better than even terms by the seconds.

Line Up Still Changing Such conditions indicate conclusively that the varsity teams are not coming up to expectations and Coach Herman has been striving with might and main to remedy the situation. To this end he has formed various combinations in the last few days, varying the personnel of the first five, two or three times each practice period. On Wednesday evening, Cornwall, Wilson, Reed, Koehle and Shair appeared in varsity berths for a few minutes but Koehler and Miller stepped into the fray in place of Wilson and Cornwall after this time had elapsed. At other times, Ritner and Huston were given opportunity to meet the second quintet. The latter team was almost always composed of Duwer, Huston, Guthrie, Fietz, Hubler, or Patzinger. It is a scrappy bunch and one that is nearly on a par with the first team.

The condition of affairs has resulted in Coach Herman being unable to decide with certainty upon the men whom he will start against Lebanon Valley tomorrow. He will in all probability choose the team after practice today but it will be subject to change at any moment. He will attempt to use as many substitutes as possible in the game since he is leaving no stone unturned in an effort to find the best combination and is anxious to take at least a fair team to Annapolis next week to meet the Navy. Eleven players appeared on the floor for Penn State against Dickinson last Saturday.

Another Veteran Aggregation Although Junits and Dickinson were represented by veteran fives when they played on the Army floor this year and were beaten quite easily by the Nittany outfit, the statement that Lebanon Valley's team is composed of experienced men should not be taken too lightly. The Annapolis players cannot be judged by the records of those of the other institutions. They have a fast five this season and should make headway in basketball circles of the state. Some comparison of the strength of the respective teams, Lebanon Valley and Penn State, may be secured tomorrow as the result of the game which the Annapolis tossers play with Juniata tonight. The team which will represent the visitors tomorrow will probably be as follows: R. Cohen and William Wolf forwards; W. Clarkin at center, and H. Horn and Walter Wolf at guards. Metcalf or Krause will possibly be substituted at some stage of the game for any of these individuals.

TENTATIVE PLANS MADE FOR "S" ON MT. NITTANY

(Continued from first page) the natural beauty and grandeur of Mount Nittany, and in the light of this statement, his objection to the use of concrete or stone for the construction of the letter is clear.

Trees Will Be Used Permission has, however, been obtained to place a letter "S" on the mountain, if it be composed of trees or shrubbery, instead of concrete, stone, or similar materials, and a practically unlimited area has been placed at the disposal of the workers. Hence the Rebels and the Senior Class have cooperated in making plans for the planting of an "S" which will be composed of Austrian Pine interspersed with a broad-leaved tree and occupying an area of about five acres. The form of the letter, it is expected, will be noticed immediately upon planting, but will not be at its best until three or four years afterward.

The Rehabilitation students have shouldered the responsibility of financing the project, and they intend to acquire the necessary money for this purpose in the same manner in which they furnished the money for their share of the payment to the Soldiers' Memorial, that is, from their annual show, which will be staged about the middle of February. The task of designing and placing the letter has been put in charge of the Class of 1922, while Professor G. R. Green of the Department of Forestry will work in conjunction with the School of Engineering in the work of planting the trees.

The committee representing the Senior Class is composed of the following students: W. H. Volty, D. G. Welsh, R. R. Burnett, F. M. Ritts, R. T. Brown, and the committee for the Rehabilitation Club is composed of: L. M. Steiner, J. M. Snyder, and C. V. Burt, '21. It is the desire of the two organizations to leave the "S" as a memorial and a token of their love for and loyalty to Penn State.

UNDERCLASS MAT SCRAP TOMORROW AFTERNOON

(Continued from first page) the candidates will be in the midst of the final examination period. As a result of this change the Junior and Senior trials were not held during the past week as had been arranged. Trials for members of the two upper classes will be held next Wednesday afternoon at five-thirty o'clock. Candidates will be weighed in at six-thirty weight. Sometime during the coming week trials will also be held for the selection of teams to represent the two lower classes in the Interclass Scrimmage.

DISARMAMENT MASS MEETING ON SUNDAY

(Continued from first page) Penn State regrets that she will not have the honor of acting as host for the colleges of Pennsylvania. There will not be simultaneous United States days divorced from the state conferences throughout the larger competitive and cooperative moves, such a single conference would have its significance and appeal. The work of the conference has progressed rapidly and some of the colleges cannot afford the time to travel with examinations so close at hand. Independent action can be started by all of the colleges before the meeting in Washington takes place. Expenses thus saved are for the good of the movement as a whole. Thus will end one of the finest and most important chapters in the history of the American college for the moral strength thus unshackled may be the means of preventing the wholesale slaughter of human blood that characterized the last war. Let There Be Peace!

NOVICE BOXING MEET OPENS SEASON HERE

(Continued from first page) coach anticipates a hard contest and is training his pupils accordingly. Two more contenders in the 115 pound class have improved and in addition to those men named in the last issue of the COLLEGIAN as likely for this weight, Denze and Johnson both Sophomores are fairly good and, with development and experience, they should prove valuable material for future seasons.

As stated before the light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions are causing the coach the most trouble, since the candidates in these classes have had no previous experience in boxing. However, all of the men are working hard and Coach Hurlow hopes that some of them may develop sufficiently to aid in the scoring power of the whole team. Fritz is a new man reporting for the heavyweight class and Watson and Wachsmuth have come out to compete for the 175 pound division.

Clark, who boxed varsity at 160 last year, is too light for the class above, although he would be a valuable asset in the 175 weight. In his own class he is showing good form and he will probably upon these again this season. Johnson, a Freshman in this same weight, is steadily improving. Bowler and Altmann are fighting it out for the varsity berth in the 115 pound position while Kromack, a first year man, is a candidate who should with development make a good boxer and furnish the others with competition.

Captain Chapin and Vassile in the 125 and 175 pound weights respectively, are doing very good and should prove dangerous contenders to any boxes they meet this season. Both of these weights are well supplied with good material and plenty of competition is being furnished these varsity men of last season.

Mass Meeting: Sunday 6:30 P. M. Auditorium

RECEPTION IS PLANNED BY HONORARY SOCIETY

Phi Kappa Phi Will Celebrate Twenty-Fifth Anniversary At End of January

The local chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi Society will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the national organization at a meeting to be held at the University Club on Monday, January thirtieth, at eight o'clock, immediately following the mid-year initiation.

This society will, on that evening, act as host to the members of all the other honorary societies of Penn State, membership in which is based primarily on high scholarship. These organizations include Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, among the faculty, and Alpha Zeta, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau, and Phi Lambda Upsilon among the undergraduates.

An important part of the evening's program will be addressed by President Thomas and President Emeritus Stables, who will discuss "The Scholarship Ideals of Penn State," while the history and contribution of each society will be set forth by a representative from each.

The entire program of the event will, however, be so arranged as to lead to the consideration of plans for united effort by all the honorary societies, looking toward higher standards of scholarship at Penn State, and it is hoped that plans may be arranged for the establishment of a Scholarship Day, when these ideals may be presented to the students in a special way.

Refreshments and entertainment will be provided and what promises to be not merely a profitable evening for those who will be present but also a significant one for Penn State. Dr. S. W. Fletcher, president of the Phi Kappa Phi, requests that each society tender him a complete membership list before January fifteenth.

GRANGE WILL CONFERENCE FIFTH DEGREE SATURDAY

The Penn State Grange will confer the fifth degree, Saturday evening, January fourteenth, in Room 108, Horticultural Building. All members who desire applications for this degree and who are in good standing, may receive blanks from any of the following committee: C. E. Conesmyer, chairman, Wilcox, Koenig, Wetzel, T. K. Miller and Miss Kahler.

A large attendance is expected at this meeting, and a good time is certainly in store for those who will be present. Installation of officers of the Penn State Grange for the coming year will occur at the regular meeting on Tuesday, January seventeenth.

BIG SPEAKERS LISTED BY HONORARY SOCIETY

(Continued from first page) writing. On the following evening he will deliver his second lecture, "The Writing Game," and in it he will give a series of recollections of men he has known who made American and British literature during the last half century.

The third lecture is Dr. Howard Adams Gibbons, one of the official stenographers at the Limitation of Armaments Conference, an Associate Press representative, and one of the representatives who attended the Peace Conference at Paris. His accounts of these conferences are said to be the most accurate and complete in existence. He is an authority on international affairs and is the author of several books, including "The New Map of Europe" and "The New Map of Asia." Dr. Martin of the Department of History claims that these two books are the most accurate and complete text books on history to be issued since the war. Dr. Gibbons will speak here on the twenty-third of February.

PRESIDENT THOMAS WILL SPEAK AT PRODUCTS SHOW

President John M. Thomas of the Pennsylvania State College, and a score of faculty and extension men from the agricultural school will take an active part in the Sixth Annual State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg next week. President Thomas will appear with Governor Sprout on the program for the opening meeting on Tuesday evening the 24th. E. K. Hisham, assistant to the president in public relations, who is secretary of the show committee, will head the college delegation of agricultural specialists who will speak to the members of the various agricultural associations at their meetings during the week. Some interesting farm facts are expected from these men. A large part of the judging in exhibit contests will be done by college and extension men. The college is the chief cooperating agency with the State Department of Agriculture in staging the show. One of the features will be a number of educational exhibits that will demonstrate better farming activities as advocated by the college. Chief among these will be a pure bred hog display in which the best animals in the various breeding associations throughout the state will be seen; the college will demonstrate the importance of breeding selection for best cattle; the Grove City Community Development Association will cooperate with college extension men in urging careful selection of dairy cows for breeding, and will show examples of the leading breeds. Unequaled farm crop and vegetable exhibits are being arranged, and the farm women will not be overlooked as an exhibit of home economics activities will be an important feature.
