GODSPEED!

Tonight, collegiate life—at least from the standpoint of an undergraduate—will end for sixty-eight members of the present Senior Class when they receive their diplomas at the Commencement Exercises in the Schwab Auditorium.

In past years, the Mid-year Commencement Exercises have lacked, to some extent, the impressiveness of the June graduation.

Unfortunately, mid-year graduating classes are usually much smaller than those of June, and winter conditions at Penn State are such that relatives and friends of the graduates are not able to get to the college to attend the exercises in large numbers.

HOLIDAYS

The college authorities are showing a sincere appreciation of undergraduate feeling with regard to the college holidays and are endeavoring to effect a calendar for the coming school year that will be less of a target for student petitions for changes and extensions.

A joint committee of three members of the College Senate as representatives of the administration and three members of the Student Council as representatives of the student body is now meeting and endeavoring to make up a schedule satisfactory to all concerned.

The committee is trying to make up a calendar that will contain the number of hours prescribed by the State Legislature, that will begin as late as possible in the fall, that will contain all the necessary vacations and holidays, and that will end as early as possible in June.

The large number of petitions arising from the student body for changes in the holiday periods has been caused in large part by a lack of understanding. The average student does not fully realize the conditions which must be complied with, and so blithely and without very serious contemplation, favors any petition which will let him out an hour earlier or permit him to return an hour later than set by the calendar.

In the past too many petitions have arisen from the student body for the changing of the college holidays. Many times they have been justified and other times they have not, but nevertheless there have been too many. The calendar should be made right in the first place as far as it is able to be made.

MAGAZINE EDITOR WILL LECTURE TO ENGINEERS: On Friday afternoon, February third, at about four thirty o'clock, in Room 209 Engineering D, Mr. Roy V. Wright, managing editor of the "Railway Age" will deliver the regular engineering lecture on "English Literature and How to Make the Best Use of It."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT UNDER DISCUSSION AT LAFAYETTE: Plans are well under way to present the student government idea to the students of Lafayette. A committee has already been appointed and it will draw up the plans which the students at the Eastern Institution hope to inaugurate as soon as the faculty pass upon them.

Notices

The regular meeting of the Student Council will be held this evening at 6:30 o'clock in room 715, the normal time of meeting. This change in the hour of meeting was made in order that the work of the council may be completed in time for the members to attend the Graduation Exercises in the Auditorium.

OCEANIC QUINTET NEXT ON "Y" COURSE PROGRAM

The next number on the Y. M. C. A. and Department of Music Entertainment Course will be presented on the twenty-fifth of February, when the Oceanic Ladies Quintet, one of the leading ladies' orchestras in America today, will make their appearance in the Auditorium.

At the present time the Quintet is contemplating a trip to the Orient under the auspices of a number of Japanese business-men who are anxious to present to Japanese music lovers a sample of the best in American lady musical organizations.

PRINCETON WILL HAVE PERMANENT SKATING RINK

A gigantic skating rink with an ice surface of two hundred feet by eighty-five feet, is now being erected on the campus at Princeton. The ice is ready for the skaters at the present time, but the structure will not be completed before spring. The rink will have a seating capacity of 2500 and will be equipped with two dressing rooms, shower baths and lockers for the tennis. The estimated cost of the structure is $250,000.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY Most of the famous structures of the world are equipped with Otis Elevators. WHAT structure is better known or is more typical of America than this Statue at the gate of New York. Countless thousands from the old world pass under the uplifted arm that holds a light which means to them worlds more than to us, though our millions know it and love it for the symbol it is. It is fitting that an Otis Elevator should carry passengers up through the base to the foot of the Statue. For though the activities of Otis are world-wide, and the great developments of vertical transportation were made by Otis in America. The Love Letters of A Shorthorn

(By H. E. Fry, Jr., '20-'22)

Never did I borrow a stamp with more heartfelt thoughts than the "love" which I'm going to stick on this here letter to Miss Doree. She was telling me that the words between civilization and Wiggleville were finally shoved open. "It was said that the first thing that follows it Sam Hipp's son it stole out the road frog was wit they it was Sweeny like the fellow was worried for fear it was Sunday, every man of them was patriotic enuff not to want to be seen loatin round in their every day clothes on a Sunday. But Lem Squibbs like the road boss, said it wasn't Sunday but Saturday afternoon which was just about as bad news count of the married men havin to go home for these hah.

Why you should have your satisfied, I have anything left. But you don't have nothin left when the fiancée's authorities get thru with you. They always call you Mister then, that's a good unkind way of thankin your prop to sendin you up to college.

They even say Miss for the girls, meanin the cozeds, of course. That's a nice joke for you, like the kind this in Froth. I'd send you one of them only folks in Wiggleville might think I'm join to a Mormon College if this good read it. You see, Pansy, old I-son, there's a reason for everythin, even Froth. Froth is exalted for the fellows to buy an for the cozeds to criticize an for the faculty to cut the pitchers out of an hang up in their room.

But maybe you might be interested in your fellow creatshures, Pansy. Generally speaking, the cozeds are interested in science, mostly domestic art. You know what that is Pansy even if I don't. It's divided into interior and exterior decoration. Girls that spechleze in interior decoration take cozeds in cooking, the others, havin a decided leaning to orn exterior decoration study about cosmetics.

No unweelness is all worked up to know wat to spechleze in. Unweelness wants something along intellectual lines but then, he needs it. If they only had some substanshel courses in plumm and paperhangin, you'd see Jasper doin his best to make an artist out of himself. It keeps a fellow guessin nowadays as to how to mold his career. Fellow in the next room is takin a course in Bowtiein the Home Grounds, he's raisin a mustah. Its fence havin nothin to do an so much time to do it in. Somethin like you settin in the kitchen with nothin in your lap but your hands. But cheer up, Pansy, old girl, maybe the cat will get lonesome after while an jump up in your lap. Only don't pat his fur the wrong way, I never liked that ether.

U. OF MINNESOTA TO AWARD DEGREE TO PENN STATE GRAD Dr Paul Work who graduated from Penn State in 1911 and took graduate work in Vegetable Gardening Department at Cornell University, until he went to the University of Minnesota for further study, has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by the latter institution, and is now preparing to return to Cornell where a special research laboratory is being equipped for him. In this laboratory he will make chemical and physiological studies relative to the growth of tomatoes and other vegetables.

Dr. Work is one of the few men in the United States who have received proper training in this type of research, and Cornell is exceedingly fortunate to acquire his services.

It is interesting to note that Dr. Work has also been appointed Assistant Editor of the "Market Growers Journal", which is the only publication in this country devoted exclusively to market-gardening topics.

$300,000 MINNESOTA WILL BE ERRECTED AT COLGATE A gymnasium, costing $300,000, and a men's dormitory of one hundred rooms will be erected at Colgate University. Plans for the erection of the buildings are complete and construction will start within a few months according to statements received from the directors of the institution.
