ing on the program. In the meet which was held with the N. Y. C. A. last week, Thompson lost to his opponent on a decision. Oehle is at the present time in excellent condition.

After a long series of try-outs, Parks has finally eliminated Wetzel in the 155 pound class. Wetzel received an injured ear in one of the recent encounters and has in this way been handicapped to some extent. Parks however, has been putting up a stiff fight in this division and he will make Wetzel work hard to gain a varsity berth. In tomorrow's meet Parks will in all probability meet Cox, the Lehigh representative in this weight. In the meet which was held at Bethlehem last week, Cox was thrown with a head and scissors hold by his New York opponent. Parks is in fairly good condition and should give a favorable account of himself at Lehigh tomorrow.

In the 175 pound class Wilson will meet P. E. Miller of Lehigh. In the meet last week, Miller was thrown with a head scissors hold by Berkenbach of New York. Berkenbach is an exceptional wrestler. In last week's bouts he wrestled both 175 and heavyweight and won both events. Wilson is not in as good condition as might be desired. At the present time he has two injured ears and his back is giving him some trouble. However, the Coach is expecting him, like most of the other members of the team, to come through the meet with a good record.

Surson will meet Moorehouse of Lehigh in the heavyweight bout. He is in good condition and is hoping to win by a fall in his first varsity bout.

The team as a group is in good condition and they should have little trouble in coming through the first meet of the year victorious. Lehigh teams, however, are noted for the fight that they put up and occasionally for the surprises that they bring to Penn State. The coach, therefore, is taking no chances. His men are not over-confident and will be prepared for the hardest kind of a tussle. The meet will not start until eight o'clock in the evening. As soon as it is over, however, a telegram will be sent to the college and the results will be posted in the window of Montgomery & Company on Allen street.

TOSSERS STRENGTHENED FOR GAME WITH BETHANY

Jured his ankle in the last game of the trip and had to be taken out the latter part of it but he was back in practice Wednesday and will be able to perform tomorrow evening. Reed will play the other forward while Shair will be at center as usual and Kochler and Loeffler will appear at their usual places as guards. The team will be identical to that which started in the Washington and Jefferson games.

The actual strength of the West Virginia institution is not fully known but it is reputed to be quite strong on the floor this season and Coach Hermann is confidently looking forward to a hard battle on Saturday. He has cautioned his proteges against overlooking Bethany while awaiting the return battle with the Pitties and will instruct them to take advantage of every opportunity offered them by the visitors.

to win a regular berth on the Penn State battling team. The blue and white sluggers showed many rough spots on their first appearance and Coach Harlow will devote his time in polishing these off and also in shifting his contenders to their most effective fighting weights.

115 Pound Men Active

The race for the 115 pound position is now centering about three light weight sluggers—Benz, Griffiths and Boese. However, Griffiths is now struggling with weight rather than against other candidates, since it is barely a question of pounds whether he can box at the 115 class. His weight now is about 132 and he has thirteen or more pounds to lose, since four pounds excess weight is allowed.

Boese, a boxer of two years ago has also improved and shows possibilities while Benz is continuing to work at this position.

Captain Chapin is now slightly ill, but it is expected that he will be back in the ring within a short time to hold for this class. The issue lies between Evans and Williams. The former is the younger man at the wrestling game, but is not quite quick enough to suit the Coach. Williams, on the other hand, is a trifle faster than Evans and is fairly good at the game but still lacks something to make the Coach pick him in preference to Evans. In fact, the two men are so well matched that it seems to be a toss up as to which of the two will represent Penn State in that weight.

Oehle, who lost last year to Captain Beriolet of the Lehigh team, will meet Thompson this year. Thompson is the only veteran on the Brown and White squad and his bout with Oehle should prove to be one of the most interest-utility man.

Bordner who battled at 160 will endeavor to reduce to the 145 pound class and there compete against Atmarsh and Caffrey who seem to be the most logical contenders. Hefferman, another glove pupil at this weight, has been showing some ability.

Clark Returns to Box

Clark, Penn State's varsity contender in the 160 pound class last season, has returned to college and will at once resume training to get in condition for the coming encounter with West Point. His ring experience and ability as a boxer will make him a dangerous contender against any opponent and his return will greatly strengthen the Nittany pugilists at this vital weight.

At the 175 pound division, Taylor, who gave a good account of himself last Saturday, will continue his work at this position. In Weis, who fought here two years ago and who has returned to the ring, Taylor will receive competition. Black, who was also considered for this class, has received injuries which will hinder him to large extent. Crowther seems to have clinched the heavyweight position since he is showing very good form and is continuing to improve.

Army Is Strong

The Army, the Penn State pugilists' next opponent, will be a real test since the West Pointers have a strong team. In their first meet of the season last Saturday, the cadets defeated M. I. T. by a six to nothing score. Army winning by a decision in every class, no heavyweight contests having been staged. The future generals are especially excellent in the 135 and heavyweight classes, while the others boxers are all aggressive and in fine condition at all times. This Saturday, their team meets Springfield and a basis of comparison can in this way be established between the Army and Penn State.

Soph Fresh Meet Postponed

The Soph-Fresh battle which was scheduled for this Saturday has been postponed indefinitely, because other sports will be using the crowded floor tomorrow. Coach Harlow is anxious for this conflict to be staged, since it will give a number of excellent candidates just the experience which they now lack.

In addition to the final home boxing meet with Queens University on the eleventh of March, the Penn State team will compete in the first intercollegiate at Penn on the seventeenth and eighteenth of the same month. At this time, regular elimination bouts between all competing colleges will be staged and intercollegiate championships will be decided in much the same method as now used in the wrestling intercollegiate.

Servant A. A. Proudfoot, '25
Mr. Emmet D. A. Watson, '24

The lead of the show is carried splendidly by Mr. Phil E. Stanley, '23. The role Mr. Stanley interprets is a difficult one and he handles it imbued with skillful appreciation of the finer points of human nature. He portrays Jack Brookfield, gambler and man of the world at large! Into the life of this sportsman there has been one influence that was not a "monument to his worst side" and that was the love of a very good woman, Mrs. Whipple, which part is played with genuine feeling by Miss Laura Crick, '23. There are several minor strains in this gripping drama but "the main story," says Brookfield to Mrs. Whipple, "is you and I." Throughout the action one feels the presence of something that was powerful enough to live in spite of any odds. Mr. Stanley and Miss Crick reach a dramatic height in the first act, when they look deep into two lives that, but for circumstance, might have been lived very differently. In the second act Miss Crick is at her best. In her scene with Justice Prentice, played excellently by Mr. Porterfield, '23, she does professional work. All through the presentation, the work of these two stand out creditably.

high speed and keeps going at that rate until he crosses the line at the finish. One of the fastest competitors that "Blondy" will run against tomorrow night is Cecil Leath of the Boston A. A. Leath is an exceptionally good two miler.

Heffrich Out

Allen Heffrich, who made such fast time when the Penn State two mile relay team broke the world's indoor record at the Millrose Games last week, will be out of the running game until the spring season starts. About a year ago Heffrich tore a tendon near his ankle and he has been having trouble with it ever since. Specialists have advised him not to run for at least two months, in order to give the ligament time to heal completely. This means that Penn State's speedy half miler will be out of the dual meet with Cornell and will also be unable to attend

The villain is Frank Hardnuth, played by Mr. Fitzpatrick. Time and time again the influence of this man is felt and tends to change the whole regular order of the lives of this group of people who find themselves together. It is Joe Brookfield, because he knows chance very well, who is finally able to beat him at his own game.

The Princeton Polo Association has been recently elected to full membership in the United States Polo Association.
