UNIT TEAMS FIGHTING FOR LEAD IN LEAGUE

Rivalry is much more noticeable in the inter-unit basketball games as the season draws to a close. The semi-finals are now being played, and every team is putting up its best brand of basketball. The whole floor is being used for these inter games, and fifteen minute halves are being played instead of the old twelve minute ones.

Wednesday night the first of the semi-finals were played off and the scores were as follows: Unit 24 (Old Main), 15—Unit 27, 7; Unit 11, 18—Unit 28, 10.

No games will be played on Friday night on account of the Sophomore Hop, but on Wednesday, March 22, the following games will be played:

7:00 P. M.—Unit 8 vs Unit 1
7:15 P. M.—Unit 7 vs Unit 20

RACQUET ENTHUSIASTS BEGIN INDOOR CONTESTS

The tennis tournament which has been indicated to develop material for the varsity tennis team this Spring was started yesterday morning on the Army courts. The list of entries and the matches which have been arranged for the preliminaries of the tournament were drawn Wednesday noon and the results posted in the locker room the same afternoon.

These preliminaries must be played off by March twentieth when the next round will start. The second bracket must be closed up by March thirtieth when the semi-finals and finals will be arranged. The list of entries for the preliminaries contains forty-nine names from which Manager Shoemaker must pick his varsity combination.

At the present time, the tennis men can practice only on Tuesday, Wednesday Thursday and Friday mornings but Manager Shoemaker is making arrangements whereby the request men will be permitted to play on the Army courts in the evenings after five o'clock.

SENIORS TERM "S" PLAN IMPRACTICABLE

(Continued from first page) their questionnaires yet were urged to do so as soon as possible in order that the list might be completed. Blanks may be secured at the Publicity Office, and should be filled out and dropped in the box in Old Main.

The class elected C. R. Beck as council representative from the School of Engineering, and C. J. Cooper and C. T. Douds as representatives from the School of Agriculture.

WAR MEMORIAL WILL BE DEDICATED MAY 30

(Continued from first page) announcement to Student Council that on April 1, all fines on overdue books will be suspended for the day. He stated in his communication that there are large numbers of books that have been withdrawn by students that have neglected to return them within the prescribed time and are now liable to fine. If the books do not come back to the Library on that day, Dr. Runkle, the Librarian, stated that a vigorous campaign will be waged for the return of the books, as the Library has a list of the men who have drawn them.

Petition for Daylight Saving. A petition providing for an extra hour of daylight, preferably by moving the clock ahead one hour, beginning April 1, resulted from the report of the committee by C. L. Mellinger '22 which was appointed to look into the matter. The committee found that the majority of the student body favored some means of providing an extra hour of daylight in the evening for athletes, and that the leading men of the borough were in favor of moving the clock ahead one hour. It was brought out that in this was the extra hour for athletics would be provided, that an appreciable saving would be effected in lighting bills, and that our non-contact with industry and transportation operating under standard time augured the success of the project. The petition passed the Council without a dissenting vote.

J. L. Martin '24 reported that his committee was making progress on the point system investigation and that he would have a definite report in the future. A. G. Pratt '22 made a report for the constitutional revision committee and stated that a finished report would probably be available within several weeks.

Straw Hat Day. One of the last matters taken up in the meeting was the advisability of holding an annual straw hat day in the spring. No decision was reached.

"OPEN DIPLOMACY IS BEST" ASSERTS BRYAN

A New Kind of Diplomacy. "It was an evidence of what could be done by open diplomacy," asserted Mr. Bryan in praising Secretary Hughes' manner of presenting his proposition for a ten year naval holiday at the recent Arms Conference at Washington.

When in an open conference he had stated what the United States would do toward disarmament, the Secretary then proposed to Great Britain and Japan what these countries should also do. The whole world at once knew what was being done and demanded that Secretary Hughes' proposition should be adopted. In face of public opinion, the other nations were forced to accept this agreement to scrap more battleships than they would retain and to cease constructing war ships for ten years.

Bryan explained the older method of diplomacy which was by means of secret communications between nations. This was very slow and nations could not be forced to accept a proposition. In contrast with this, he stated of the new open diplomacy which arouses public opinion. "We knew they had to accept, for no government would dare to refuse."

Senate Will Ratify Treaty

"It's going to be ratified," Bryan confided in speaking of the action that the Senate will take on the treaty. He stated that a concentration of public opinion will force it to be ratified because the treaty is right and expedient. The Democrats should not block it, since this Four Power Treaty is an outcome of the policy started by that party.

That the Democrats did not put through such a treaty during their administration because the time was not ripe for disarmament before the war or directly after it, was Mr. Bryan's opinion. "At Versailles, they did all that could be done," he continued and then stated his opinion that America should set the example to the rest of the world by leading it to universal peace. The issues concerned with economic, law enforcement of prohibition and profiteering will be predominant at the next campaign, according to Mr. Bryan's point of view. He claimed that the Democrats, with a minority, combined with a Republican faction and were responsible for the passing of the revenue bill which saved the country over five hundred million dollars. That this will be an important issue in the next election was his opinion and he said "More elections have turned on revenue bills than any other issues."

Taxation is here always. "This lawlessness is a thing which no party can support," Mr. Bryan maintained in speaking of the violation of the prohibition amendment. "It's not going to last always." He stated that prohibition was working better than most people believed and that there is no chance to recall the amendment since women have gotten the vote.

The profiteer's problem is also an issue. "We haven't gotten back yet to prosperity," Bryan stated and blamed the profiteer for this. He asserted that the big criminals must be punished as well as the little ones. "I know of no better work that a nation can do than establish God's law of reward," said Mr. Bryan in conclusion.

This is the law that a man should not take more money than he has rightfully earned according to the value of service he has rendered to society. Bryan believes that the observance of this law would stimulate every human being to the highest possible endeavor.

Pleased With Penn State. Mr. Bryan was pleased with Penn State and expressed his surprise at the size of the college. He heartily endorsed the movement of making this the State University. He said that it was not often that he returned within a year to the same town and he was pleased with the large numbers who came to hear him talk again. At the present time he is showing a preference to college towns and many of his engagements on the present tour are at colleges and universities.

Following his lecture in the Auditorium, he was present at an informal reception at the University Club where all were given an opportunity to meet him. Mr. Bryan has been made an honorary member of the Penn State Chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

WRESTLERS FACE SPRINGFIELD FOES

The outstanding feature of the Blue and White line-up is its weakness and poor condition. A survey of the entire squad shows that the majority of the members are suffering from some injury. Captain Watson will lead off in the lightweight class and will be followed by Weisbach, who is able to throw the uniform again after an absence of over two weeks. Palm will meet Dan, unless Evan's hips change for the worse. For three weeks, the 137 pounder has been having trouble with his hips which were injured in a workout. Parks in the next bout is being lathered with his ribs as is Busecaglia, and Timmer Busecaglia is out of the sport for the remainder of the season.

Wetzel will appear, in all probability, in the 155 pound contest and Everett is slated to follow in the 175 pound struggle. Wilson will be unable to wrestle because of a bad heel and Grimes who is making a strong bid for the last named division has injured his shoulder.

SHIELDS RACES RAY IN MILE AT BUFFALO

(Continued from first page) on and Noble will run in the half mile. Sneed and Cooper are listed in the two mile run.

The Penn State team has been weak in the field events and Coach Muth is now spending a great deal of his time with candidates who are working on the weights, broad jump, hammer and discus. One of the features on tomorrow's program is the fact that all of the regular field events will be held. Aline and Vandling have been doing the best work in the weight and discus events. The Coach is still looking for material and all who show the slightest form in tomorrow's meet will be given consideration.

The meet is open to all candidates on matters which past experience or ability happen to be. The only requisite is that contestants must sign up in the Armory before they will be permitted to enter the games.

BATSMEN START OUTDOOR WORK

The home-plate position, made vacant by the graduation of Bumbaugh, will be filled from the staff of catchers who have reported at the Stock Pavilion to practice in this position.

"Chit" Hare '23, Ludwick '22, Elman '21, and Hynes who caught on last year's Freshman team, have been working out daily and are offering no little competition for the home position.

Captain Eller will likely fill his last year's position as first base, while Sparks '22, Ewery '21, Loeffler '24, Reed '24, and several others of last year's Freshman nine who have report-

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE STILL SEEKS ORCHESTRA

At a meeting of the Junior Prom Committee on Tuesday evening it was definitely decided that Whitteman's Orchestra would not be secured for the Junior Prom. The persistent rumor that this famous aggregation of musicians was coming to Penn State has caused considerable discussion at our college. Doubt was expressed as to the advisability of going to the huge expense that would be incurred in acquiring the popular artists. Five very favorable propositions are under consideration now, and it is expected that a final decision will be reached within a week.

It required two years time to produce "Theodora." 25,000 people are in the cast headed by Rita Jolivet and the greatest screen and stage stars of all Europe. Stupendous settings of stone and marble are the background, built under the direction of Armando Brasini, architect of the Vatican. It has been hailed by the greatest critics as THE WORLD'S GREATEST SPECTACLE.

Its immensity and gorgeousness have exhausted the adjectives of the most conservative of newspapers. It has been called a production the camera will never surpass for a generation to come. Truly the history of the world has been written in its love stories, and this its greatest, with the dramatic points accentuated in scenes like the one where

Savoir faire

Here is the first attribute of a citizen of the world. Few books can impart it, yet it comes naturally with college training. Such easy familiarity with the good things of life leads naturally to Melachrino, "the one cigarette sold the world over"

Remember that Melachrino is a master blend of only the finest Turkish Tobaccos as originated by Miltades Melachrino. Egyptian cigarettes are simply those that originated in Egypt. But the tobacco is what you want to know about—and if it's Melachrino—it's right.
