

PROM WEEK CHOSEN FOR PENN STATE CLUB DANCE

April Twenty-ninth Selected For Non-Fraternity Affair—Will Use Prom Decorations

The Penn State Club is taking plans for its next dance, to be held the night following the Junior Prom, and the social committee, comprising D. Winger, '22, chairman, D. P. Hawk '23, T. F. Campbell '22, P. C. Horn '24, J. A. Umholtz '22, H. S. Eden '24, and J. A. Knox '23, hopes to make the dance a real all-college function, to which non-fraternity men and those who belong to fraternities will be welcome.

Will Use Prom Decorations
In order that the affair may be well-decorated for the hop, the committee, which is working in conjunction with the decorations committee for the Prom, has arranged to have all decorations, lighting effects, and booths for the Prom left exactly as they are placed at that function, so that they may be used at the non-fraternity organization's affair. All fraternity men are invited to attend and all fraternities may leave the furniture in their booths for the Penn State Club occasion.

Programs will be sold at the Co-op before the dance, and on the same night on which the programs for the Junior event will be sold. These programs will also be on sale at the armory on the night of the dance. Although the orchestra has not been selected it is hoped that "The Seven Virgilians" will be secured to furnish music for the tercentenary level of the Penn State Club, since this organization will play for the Prom on the preceding evening.

Two Non-Fraternity Booths at Prom
Besides the booth which the Old Mith Club will have, the non-fraternity organization will maintain a booth at the Junior Prom, and both booths will be for the use of any non-fraternity students who attend.

Plans are under way for securing Wright's Orchestra, of Columbus, Ohio, for the May-Dix dance, on May thirtieth. The affair will be held in conjunction with the athletic carnival, which will occur at Penn State at that time, and it is probable that this dance will be staged the night after the hop which the Senior Class plans for that week-end. The Penn State Club social committee is working with the Senior Class committee on decorations for the dances, so that a satisfactory arrangement can be made for the Seniors, as well as for the Penn State Club.

BERRYMAN '16 SELECTED AS HARLOW'S ASSISTANT

Robert M. Berryman '16, former Penn State football star and coach of successful gridiron teams, has been selected by "Dick" Harlow to act in the capacity of assistant coach at Colgate University.

Berryman will be in charge of the coaching of the backs and ends while Harlow will retain his old position as line coach. The two will start to handle the Penn State system of play this spring and plans have been made for very extensive practice at this time. Harlow's new assistant was one of the best backs ever turned out at Penn State in 1915, he was selected by many coaches and sporting writers for a position on their All-American teams. His work in the Harvard game that year was exceptional and, during the same season, he gained three hundred and ninety yards in scrimmage—more ground than any other back that year.

After graduating in 1916, Berryman remained at Penn State as assistant coach. He was at Iowa State the next year and then went to Lafayette. Last year, at Gettysburg, he made his reputation as an unusually successful coach.

of his men training to the utmost to get in condition. Helfrich, who had to stop training the Millrose games, has been keeping in good shape as far as possible by workout in the gym. This week he has started training again and should soon be going as strong as ever. "LARRY" Shields still has a bad leg and the coach is not working him as strenuously as the other men. It is quite likely, however, that he will be in good condition for the Southern trip.

Penn Relays
The University of Pennsylvania's Twenty-eighth Annual Relay Carnival, which will be held on the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth of April, will bring together the most wonderful list of colleges and schools that have ever attended any athletic meet in the history of college sport. In 1914, Oxford University of England sent over a four mile relay team which defeated Penn by a scant six inches in one of the most remarkable races ever seen. Again in 1920, England sent over a combined team from Oxford and Cambridge which made a new world's record in the two mile relay. It is this record which Coach Martin hopes to break when his two mile relay team enters the Penn Relays this year. Last year the University of Paris was represented and although the French collegians did not win, their visit was most interesting. This year a team from the University of Italy will participate in the games. The Relay management is permitting the Italian universities to bring over a combined team which will meet the individual college teams of this country. Coach Martin does not know whether it will be possible for the Nittany representatives to compete with the Italians. If the combined universities of Italy send a two mile relay or a medley team, there is a possibility of Penn State being entered against the Italians. In Italy, most of the exceptional collegiate runners are located in different universities and the ruling of the Relay management burg High should be considered in the choosing of a western representative. Wayneburg is not in any official league but thinned every team which it came in contact with and claims a right to compete for the western title. It defeated several Pittsburgh high schools. If Wayneburg is allowed to strive for the western championship, it will probably have to face Franklin. The winner of this game will play Williamsburg for the sectional honors. Williamsburg won out in the W. P. I. A. L. by defeating McKeesport High last Friday evening, 26 to 25.

SCHOLASTIC FIVES STILL SEEK TITLES

Four teams remain in the southeastern section, Harrisburg Tech, Little Wayne, and the winner of a game that took place last Friday between Allentown and Catawissa High Schools. The outcome of this contest could not be secured at the time the paper went to press. Harrisburg Tech eliminated a strong contender for the southeastern title when it trimmed Reading High last week. The four teams still in the running will play off for the championship early this week.

Through the defeat of Altoona High by Windbur and the defeat of Renovo by Mt Union, only three teams are left in the central section of the state. Williamsport High is the other contender and will remain in the fight and is the team which will probably come to Penn State for the tournament.

The lead in the northeastern division lies between Berwick, Nanticoke, and Mahanoy City High Schools. Two other teams, Jenkins Township and Newport Township, put in a strong bid for the honors, but were eliminated last week so that only two games will now be necessary to determine the winner of the section. They will be staged as soon as possible.

DEBATERS LOSE TO PITT AND COLGATE

representatives, E. J. Boone, '21, John Flinn, '21, and I. S. Gress, '23, while Pitt, represented by C. Foster, Jr., John Walker, and C. R. Stahlman, defended the negative side. Both teams presented strong arguments in the first part of the debate to uphold their contentions and were fairly evenly matched but the Pitt orators came back too strongly in the rebuttal and, smothering down the arguments of Penn State's green team in a convincing manner, secured the advantage necessary to win. Penn State's debaters failed to quote any authorities in defending their side of the question.

Different issues were employed by each team. Penn State basing her arguments on first, that America is not under moral obligation to Europe, second, that it is the policy of United States to collect all foreign debts, and third, that the plan of collecting the debts is practicable, while Pitt maintained that it is unjust to demand payment that payment will retard the economic development of Europe, and that payment will be detrimental to the economic development of the United States.

E. E. Overdorf, '22, W. E. Romig, '23 and R. C. Kramer, '22, representing Penn State at Hamilton against Colgate and upholding the negative side of the debt question, fell into the same way of their teammates fighting it out at Penn State with Pitt and could not produce sufficient argument or evidence to win. A large crowd turned out to see the battle at the New York Institution in contrast to a small audience which greeted the debaters here. The three judges cast their votes in favor of Colgate although the debate was close throughout. Colgate was represented by Smith, Jones and Bruns, three experienced forensic artists.

Mildred E. Mancell '23, plays Violet Dinney, the governess in the Wheeler home, and she plays it realistically. The role is whimsical, persistent, and distinctly feminine—all in one—and Miss Mancell brings out the very best that is in it. Much credit is due her for her splendid interpretation.

Philip Stanley '23, plays the title role of Clarence, and his remarkable work in "The Witching Hour" is even surpassed. Clarence is a queen sort of a fellow, who, suddenly finding himself embroiled in the Wheeler family controversy has no other choice but to stick it out. In doing this he solves several rather important problems for the family—and incidentally for himself.

The show is a wonderful bit of whimsical drollery. It is a performance that you will laugh at, not only while you are watching it but for a week afterward. Rightly has it been called, "the great American comedy." It is up to the usual Player standard, which is on a sliding scale, progressing at every presentation.

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT STARTS PUBLICITY MOVE
The Department of Engineering Extension is putting forth an intensive publicity campaign among the high schools of the state. It is the intention of the department to reach all seniors in high school and all teachers, also, and place before them particulars of the extension courses that they can take, if their college course is delayed, and still receive credit towards a degree for the extension work that they have done. A special number of the monthly organ of the department is being compiled, and will be placed in the hands of every high school senior in Pennsylvania.

WILMORT CRUMB SWEEPER
The silent, smooth-gliding Wilmort Crumb sweeper of today has nothing in common with the old-time gear-driven sweeper. The latest Wilmort model, with its hinged cover and octagonal metal handle, is unusually attractive in its compact size and graceful lines. And it is a most efficient worker. Glide it gently over the loblolly and all crumbs and litter disappear as if by magic. No noise. No muss. No injury to the finest fabric.

FROTH AND COLLEGEIAN TO HOLD JOINT DANCE

"News Artists" and "Foolish Gentlemen" Plan Social Affair For April Twenty-second

Members of the staffs of the Froth and the Penn State Collegeian are planning to hold a combined dance on Saturday evening, April 22, the first week-end after the termination of the Easter recess. The place at which the dance will be held has not been definitely decided, the choice lying between the Armory and some suitable fraternity house.

All members of the staffs of these two student publications are eligible. Freshman reporters on the Collegeian being allowed to attend. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Heller's Harmon Hounds. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of a representative from each of the two publications, L. G. Weil '23, representing the Froth, and J. W. Selover '22, representing the Collegeian.

HOSTS OF RUNNERS COMPETE IN HANDICAP

The four runners who finished in the 140-yard dash, were Krutz, Proudfoot and Kiewitoff. Krutz, who also ran in this event, made no attempt at competition. The time was 55.2.

A large group of novice runners began the two-mile grind, which, although slow, was destined to be one of the most interesting events of the day. All runners started from scratch and, upon finishing, Decker '25 was applauded for the good form that he showed throughout the race, and for his endurance. Beard finished second and third, respectively, the time being 11:09.

Vessey, Council and Pitec finished in the order named in the 880-yard run, the time was 2:21. The varsity men finishing in the half were Noble, Kreiter and Cooper in the order named. Noble's time was 2:02.

Stabler again demonstrated his ability in the 220-yard dash, breaking the cord just ahead of Jones and Donahue, his time for this distance being twenty-seven seconds.

Kaufman outran Barron in the fifty-yard high hurdles, in 7.4, and also proved superior in the low hurdles, winning over Hile in seven seconds.

The high jumpers seemed to be in exceptionally good form at Saturday's meet. Wagner '25, and Heckl, came through with their usual ability, tying for first place with a height of five feet nine inches. Houser placed second, making five feet seven, and Beth was third with five feet six inches to his credit. Wagner made 5-11 with a handicap of 3 inches, Heckl made 5-10 with 1 inch, Houser made 5-8 with 1 inch and Beth jumped 5-8 with 2 was able to weather the preliminary bouts but lost to Roberts of Cornell in the semi-final struggle. Roberts in turn then defeated Warriner of Lehigh for first place. The Nittany grappler showed his real worth in meeting Warriner and in the fight for second place, he bested the Lehigh matman in short order and earned a right to the position under Roberts.

Evans Out Early
Hard luck is to be blamed for the history of the 135 pound class where Evans encountered Webster of Princeton. Webster took Evans to the mat in the preliminary match, but he was able to keep the upper position for but a short time. Evans worked himself free and arose to his feet. Both remained in a standing position for several minutes and then Evans took Webster to the mats. Although the Nittany 135 pounder began to work for a fall with apparent success, Old Man Time declared a truce and Webster won his title on a time decision of one minute and forty seconds. Webster then lost to Wallace of Yale which meant that Evans had no opportunity to wrestle for second or third place.

any that he expects a first team next season that will be practically on a par with that of 1921 but that the reserve material will be mediocre. He gave the latter statement as a reason why an easier schedule than usual had been arranged. Five hard games will be played in comparison to six last year. The first difficult contest not coming until the last Saturday in October. "Bez" pointed out that Yale, Harvard, and Princeton play only three or four hard games a season and then point for only two. He said that long hard schedules cause the players to go stale. The Nittany game marked the climax for Penn State last fall.

PROFESSOR COACHING NECESSARY

Bezdek next discussed the proposal of a collegiate conference in the East and the controversy which has arisen over the "tramp" athlete and then said that professional coaching is needed in all lines of collegiate sports. He emphasized particularly the necessity of the coach's being on the sidelines during a contest, saying that the presence of the older man is required to influence the players and control them to a certain degree. A rule was passed last week by "The Big Three," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, prohibiting a coach from sitting on the sideline bench during the game or passing any sort of advice to the players during the game and this was probably one of the reasons why the Nittany mentor brought up the matter.

Wetzel Is Unfortunate
The Nittany 158 pound representative seemed to suffer from hard luck as did Evans, for he was forced out during the early part of the meets in the preliminary struggle. Captain Cove of Lehigh got a chancery hold on Wetzel and maintained it to get a decision. Later during the day Cove was injured and he was forced to forfeit to Captain Benjamin of Yale for second place. Wetzel then faced Robinson of Princeton whom he threw in six minutes and
