own contest and to two home contests have been secured while one home and one foreign debate has been lost. Bucknell and Dickinson were conquered in the early part of the year and Colgate and Pitt won the last triangular affair. The victory acquired last Saturday night places the balance in the desired direction. The debaters hope to clinch this balance by overcoming their western foes.

omone Hop Committee, reported that the committee has received communications from several deans and heads of departments, who state that the Hop was highly successful, in their opinions, and that the function has taken its place among the best of its kind that have ever been staged at Penn State.

Several Class Hats Left

It was reported that several 1924 class hats remain unclaimed, and these may be obtained on the first come, first served plan, from E. M. Jameson at the Sigma Phi Sigma.

D. K. Stabler announced that class soccer practice will be held from now until Easter vacation, and that class teams will be organized after Easter.

The schedule of games is not yet complete, but it is probable that the class scrap will take place on May twenty-seventh.

W. T. Womsey, basketball manager, announced that the class scrap will occur on Friday, April fourth, and all who wish to go out for the 1924 team should do so immediately.

Some discussion has taken place on the campus regarding the wearing of golf costumes by members of the Freshman class, and it is probable that a definite announcement in regard to the propriety of the wearing of this apparel by the first year men will be made soon.

MARTIN PUTTING FINAL TOUCHES ON TRACK MEN

exceptional form in the quarter mile. Alvine is doing good work in many of the field events and should develop into one of the best college shot putters and discus throwers in the United States. Wagner and Sanner are doing excellent work in the high jump and promise to develop considerably. Stukler has been performing very well in the hammer throw. Kisseloff is good in the half mile and Erb and Kenney are displaying ability at the present time in the dashes and hurdles. Decker is continuing to improve in the two mile. Two Freshmen, Montgomery and Durbarrow, show signs of becoming very good pole vaulters, while Gifford is making an excellent showing in the broad jump. As a whole, the present Freshman class has an abundance of track material of great possibilities and these men should all considerably improve in the year which will be caused by the graduation of a large number of stars this June.

"Tiny" McMahon is again actively engaged in athletics at Penn State, after being compelled to quit wrestling several months ago, due to an injury that he received on the mats in the early part of the grappling season. Coach Martin expects him to develop into one of the best hammer throwers that the college has ever had.

Handicap Saturday

There will be another handicap track and field meet on Saturday. For the first time this season, the events will be staged on the track at New Beaver Field. All Freshmen and Sophomores will again be compelled to enter the meet if they are receiving gym credit for track work. The Department of Physical Education will give all men who have a cut in gym an opportunity to work off that cut by entering the meet on Saturday. As usual, all entries must be signed up on the list which has been placed on the bulletin board in the locker room of the Gym for that purpose.

MAHANOY CITY FIVE WINS TOURNAMENT

final half, the latter proceeded to annex a few more points. The score reached 16 to 11 before Mahanoy City woke up. At this point, Leonard, a forward, ended a very long shot and not seem to shoot accurately, despite numerous close shots which it had at the basket, and the team from the northernmost division of the state soon pulled too far away to be caught. A field goal by Leonard practically clinched the game. Smith's third foul increased the lead to 22 before the closing gun shot. The final score was 22 to 17.

By winning from Harrisburg Tech Mahanoy City gained the title to the championship of the state and also the fine silver trophy that was put up for the winner of the tournament by the Athletic Association here. The men on the team were all given gold medals. Members of the Harrisburg Tech quintet were awarded silver medals of the same design while players on the Williamsburg and Mt. Union teams were given bronze medals.

The line-up for the Tech-Mahanoy City game follows:

SYRACUSE LOSES IN CLOSE DEBATE

tered the conflict when the outcome of the war hung in the balance, the government saw fit to contribute money toward the common cause as a substitute for soldiers and this practice had, to be followed until soldiers could be equipped and sent to the front. These loans were made after the United States had declared war but were but a "temporary" substitute for military cooperation. Based on the statement that the United States is really the debtor nation because of the financial losses and sacrifices of the allies in shielding the nation from a common enemy and that the loans were but a part of the contribution of the United States to the common cause, it is that mutual benefit was derived through these loans. Overton considered his premise proved.

DIAMOND MEN OPPOSE JUNIATA ON SATURDAY

ct '22, has entirely recovered from his early season injury and is no longer troubled with his stiff arm, while Dawleski '22, the first southpaw that Penn State has had for a number of years, is also making good in the pitcher's box and will likely have a tryout in one of the first games of the season. Miller, Kelly, Longhurst, Black and Williams are reporting at the daily workouts and are developing rapidly under the careful tutelage of Coach Rudek.

Either "Chal" Irwin '21 or "Red" Ludwig '22 will don the mask and catch when Juphta visits Penn State, but the names of the other seven men who will face the Huntington players on Saturday is still a matter of considerable conjecture.

Captain Ullay will likely fill his last year's position at first base as he has been doing some pretty hitting in the practice games and should count for more than one tally in the coming game. Spares '22 and Dower '21 are showing up well for the position of third base and shortstop respectively, while it is not known who will hold down the sack at second.

Neylan was a member of the Oxford lacrosse team for the season of 1921-22, which defeated all the best teams in Europe. He also captained England against Switzerland for the Hoover Ice Hockey Cup, 1922, and was a member of the ice hockey team that represented England in the International Championship of Europe. allied nations to pay these debts without disrupting the security and the stability of all nations, and the third Penn State debater, R. C. Kramer '22, discussed the economic impossibility of securing payment of these debts.

The entire argument advanced by the visitors was built upon the Vanderbilt plan which has never been accepted by the government nor by the New York bankers. This plan suggested a payment of the interest over a number of years and also a payment of the principal through territorial concessions.

One of the points advanced by the Syracuse debaters was the fact that cancellation would be a betrayal of the faith of the American bond holder and that the taxpayer would suffer through increased taxes. This was refuted by the statement that the government has already started to pay off the liberty bonds and that it has always been able to meet its obligations without European payment.

Since Europe needs capital and credit, the visitors contended that cancellation would not supply these needs and especially would European credit suffer if its debts should be cancelled. Shepherd Lett, another law student and a Rhodes Scholar from British Columbia, is an athlete of the first class and a veteran of the World War. He was captain of the McGill College ice hockey team in 1913, captain of the University of British Columbia ice hockey team in 1914, a member of the Tenth Canadian Regiment baseball team in France, and a football and basketball player. He is goal keeper on the visiting lacrosse team.

Nittany Team in Good Shape

Coach Jardine expressed himself this week as being satisfied with the progress of the Nittany varsity stick-wielders and is looking for a great battle when the Lions mix it up with the champions of England this afternoon. The men have been improving rapidly during the past few weeks and the coach has been doing everything in his power to turn out an aggregation which will give a good account of itself in the clash with the English twelve.

Trout, Rowe and Elser are starting on the attack, Morgan is showing up well at goal, Gatechell is playing strongly on the defense, and the others are doing as well as can be expected.

The probable line-up for today's battle will be as follows:
Penn State Oxford-Cambridge
Morgan Goal Lett
Coalter Point Clark
Brown (Captain) Cover Point Morley
Gatechell First Defense Switzer
Bash Second Defense Mennie
Yeum Third Defense Hopkins (Capt.)
Martin Center Currie
Biner Third Attack Bennett
Elser Second Attack Neylan
Hoagarty First Attack Mee
Rowe Out Home Pearson
Trout In Home Wansbrough

Yost and Banks will act as substitutes on the Penn State team.

University and a member of the Mt. Washington Lacrosse Club of Baltimore, will referee the game. Mr. Stevens, who is well known at Penn State, will be remembered as referee of the State-Toronto game played here last spring. The Military Band will be out for the event and will play before the game and between the halves in its characteristically high class manner. Students holding athletic ticket books will present ticket number thirty-one for admission.

WESTERN GRADUATES WILL HOLD DINNER THIS EVENING

The Big Ten (Middle West) Conference dinner will be held this evening in the Women's Building at 5:45 o'clock. The universities which are to be represented are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Northwestern, Chicago and Purdue. All indications point to a successful get-together of the graduates of these institutions.
