THE EXAMS ARE WITH US

Twice every school year, the student body is forced to submit to the curiosity of the various professors and instructors who are bent on unearthing the true capacity of a student's storehouse of knowledge. Twice every school year, the college authorities set aside a period of time when the various instructors are given full power to delve into the secrets of the student's mind in the hope of learning just how much he does know. The results are sometimes disappointing as was the case at the end of the first semester. When the wisdom possessed by the student is "weighed and found wanting," then recourse is made to the Registrar's office and the yellow slips are forthcoming.

Let the first semester be a lesson to all and let each one profit thereby! The deluge of below grades that the college authorities were forced to send out at the end of the first semester showed clearly the effects of a broken semester and of a careless student body. The football season and the various athletic programs, not to mention the vacations seemed to induce the average student to underrate the importance of his studies. It is not the intention of the paper to belittle the part that athletics plays in the modern college life. It is an essential part of the curriculum and that institution which neglects sports and other activities does so to its own detriment. A college student who does not respond to the thrill of the gridiron, the diamond, or the track is indeed missing one of the greatest pleasures of life.

There is a happy medium to strike which allows active participation in college activities and also a serious consideration of higher scholarship attainment. He who can recognize and pursue this medium will have started well on the road to SUCCESS. The athletic season is about over and now comes the final test for the student. Can he pass the exams? The answer to this question depends upon the attitude assumed throughout the semester and it is hoped this attitude was such as to give "those who be" no excuse for sending out the yellow slip.

POPS

It should certainly afford the student body no little amount of satisfaction to know that the PARENTS OF PENN STATE are taking an active interest in the welfare of the college and are heartily endorsing the action taken at Father's Day in organizing. The numbers who have joined the Parents' Association of Penn State and those who have expressed a desire to join form conclusive proof that this institution has many enthusiastic supporters in all sections of the Commonwealth. With this strong advocating a righteous cause, there should be no reason why the State Legislature can not be made to recognize the voice of the people and what they desire.

A WORTH WHILE DAY

When the Council of Administration decided that Penn State should be granted a day's leave of absence from classes to celebrate Memorial Day, they practically insured the success of the holiday. A ready response was found in the student body and "a good time was had by all."

The unveiling and dedication of the student memorial on the Campus as one of the features of the morning deserves special comment at this time. Although plans for the memorial were started by the class of '21, yet it took a long time to decide upon the many details and to carry out the plans agreed upon. The class of '22 took up the good work where the preceding class was forced to give it up and the result was witnessed last Tuesday morning. For the many sons of Penn State who died for their country, no more fitting remembrance could be perpetuated than through some permanent erection and this has been done through the bronze tablet that now can be seen in the Auditorium. It will serve its purpose well until a Memorial Building can be erected on the campus.

In behalf of the student body, sincere thanks for a real holiday is given the faculty.

A SAFE AND SANE COMMENCEMENT

Commencement, house-party time, and the influx of large numbers of alumni and other guests in the past has tended to disturb the atmosphere of the town and college to such an extent that undesirable behavior on the part of students and guests has overshadowed the otherwise good effects of a get-together. At this time, we are asked to bring to the attention of everyone that the college is prepared to take decisive action to eliminate any recurrence of the past in this respect and to treat the perpetrators in the manner they deserve.

The past few years has seen a decrease in any unseemly behavior, especially that due to intoxication. Although Mr. Volstead inaugurated a movement to rid mankind of temptation in this country, yet there are some who do not see his viewpoint and who persist in evading the decrees of the government. Penn State has enjoyed a healthy and sane year. It would be folly to blot the record during the last few days. It will also mean the downfall of the guilty.

A word of warning on this score is never amiss. No indication has arisen to show that it is necessary, but is advisable in this enlightened age to remind all of the power and authority vested in the college officials in dealing with those who transgress.

COLLEGE POULTRY CLUB IS LIVE ORGANIZATION

Poultrymen From Various Parts of State Deliver Practical Talks at Meetings

The Penn State Poultry Club, which was organized about four months ago, recently conducted its last and largest meeting of the college year. Much progress has been made from the time of organization, and the seventy-five members who were present are looking forward to a very bright future for the Club.

It has been the aim of the organization to get speakers prominent in poultry circles here to address the meetings. Mr. Frank S. Barr of Narvon, Lancaster County, who is president of the Pennsylvania Poultry Association, and, by the way, a very successful breeder of White Wyandottes, gave an informal address at the last meeting. His own and sound business principles combined with his intimate knowledge and success as a breeder of poultry made up the basis of his talk.

Not only to those who expect to specialize in poultry, but to all those who are taking up agriculture, will the Club prove beneficial. By attending these meetings one can get some very timely points on the subject. Practical poultrymen from various parts of the state are scheduled to talk and will afford a wonderful opportunity for the members to profit by their experiences. Next year the club wants to have more members so as to continue in its work, and to make this a real, live organization.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting on honor of the adjournment of the Club until the opening of College in the fall.

BUSINESS GIRLS ORGANIZE FOR CLOSER RELATIONSHIP

A Business Girls Club has been formed by a group of girls who met at the Methodist Church on Monday night, May twenty-ninth. The purpose of the organization is to bring about a closer relationship among the girls who are working in and about State College. Its membership is open to all young women, both on the campus and in the town, and is not necessarily limited to those employed. The club has unusual possibilities and it is hoped that it will meet a long felt need in the life of young women in the community.

The summer program includes picnics and hikes, while the attractive winter program is to include such classes as cooking, sewing, millinery, and other activities of interest. The group elected temporary officers as follows: President, Mrs. R. B. Wilson, Vice-President, Miss Catherine Barnhart, Secretary, Mrs. Aleta Hollibaugh. The next meeting will be an evening like sometime during the week following Commencement, the exact date and time to be announced later. All young women interested in joining the club are asked to give their names to one of the officers as soon as possible.

GOLF TEAM WILL NOT ENTER INTERCOLLEGIATES

Although Penn State lost by one hole to the strong University of Pennsylvania's golf team, Coach 'Bob' Rutherford was very well pleased with the showing that the Nittany golfers made last Saturday, considering the inexperience of the team in tournament matches.

The match with Penn marked the first and last opportunity for the Lion golfers on the trip to the intercollegiate at Garden City. It can not be arranged. Golf activities for the coming year will begin much earlier than this year. In order to select the best material for the next golf team, Coach Rutherford plans to hold intra-mural matches beginning early next fall and lasting throughout the entire golf season.

C. F. Andrews, '23, has been elected manager of the team. As yet a captain has not been chosen.

HERE'S AN OPPORTUNITY TO RIDE TO SILVER BAY

To six students who are interested in going to the Y. M. C. A. Silver Bay Conference, there is offered an excellent opportunity to travel by machine. Miss Rebecca Rhodes of Bellefonte has signified her intention of placing an automobile at the disposal of the above mentioned number of men for the consideration of ten dollars a round trip. With this cost of transportation, the total expense for eight days, including registration, board and other expenses, will amount to thirty-five dollars. There will be seven machines which will make the trip with a possibility of two more to be added. Ample room will be provided for all those who wish to attend the Conference. Those interested can receive further information by applying to Mr. Olmstead, the Y. M. C. A. Secretary, or to Harold Park, '23, at the Columbia County Club.

OUTGOING TWO-YEAR AGS ENDORSE UNIVERSITY PLAN

The closing exercises of the second year Two-Year Aged took place Wednesday, May twenty-fourth. The number of those to "graduate" was fifty-one. Interesting addresses were given by President Thomas, Dean Watts, Professor Bressler, and Professor Sullivan.

Eighty per cent of the men are going to their own farms, and all but five have positions to date, with a likelihood of placing the remaining men before the end of next week. It is interesting to note that twenty-one of these "graduates" are Rehabilitation students. Also every second year Two-Year Aged is behind Penn State and anxious to make it a greater and better institution. In speeches made by certain of the men this idea was expressed and they declared themselves strong behind the University idea.

DR. SPARKS RETURNS FROM LONG JOURNEY

Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks returned to the college last week after an absence of four months during which time he traveled about seventy-five hundred miles, visited more than sixty colleges, and addressed approximately fifteen thousand students in an appeal for a more serious attitude toward the scholastic side of college life. He missed only three of the states of the Union in his travels under the auspices of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship fraternity. Dr. Sparks met Penn State alumni in every college and he also attended reunions in many of the large cities. He will teach a class in the Summer Session.

DEFINE electricity" said the Prof. The class was mown down, one by one, like so many whiskers. And then—"no one has ever been able properly to define electricity since its discovery." And the smile dried on his face!

Since 1840 Williams' Shaving Soap has been defined by hundreds of thousands of college men with one word—perfection. And it doesn't dry on your face.

Example—Williams' Shaving Cream. At 7:50 you can whip up a creamy mellow lather that softens the heart of the toughest stubble. Your snickersnee slips along to a slick job and a glove-smooth face—in time to catch chapel at 8.

And the satisfaction afterwards is almost indefinable at that.
