boxing bouts. The Frosh were paired off, tied together by an arm and leg and sent into the ring to battle with a dozen other teams. One of the most popular bouts was a free for all between teams of two men, with one mounted man upon the others shoulders. One red-headed Frosh in particular won the acclaim of the crowd by refusing to be downed until two teams charged him from behind and summarily vanquished him from sight.

eleven temporarily put out of the game which gives cause to some apprehension since their positions this year are hard to fill. "Mike" Palm who was depended upon to fill the quarterback position left vacant by Killinger, received an injury to his forearm over a week ago which was at first thought to be a fracture. He has been out of the scrimmage since then but entered again a few days ago. It is not certain whether he will enter the clash tomorrow afternoon or not. During the early practice, "Dick" Schuster, the lineman of the 1921 season's team who returned this year, hurt his shoulder which has caused the coaches to place him on the second team until it becomes stronger. "Hap" Frank has also been slightly hurt on his hand but has continued to work daily. The latest addition to the list of the injured is Harry Wilson, indispensable half-back, who has wrenched his knee and must wear a brace. It is now certain whether he will be able to play a regular game either tomorrow.

played during the past years; all victories for the Nittany aggregations. The last time that the two institutions met on the football field was in 1917 resulting in the score of 99 to 0 in favor of Penn State.

One of the greatest assets on the visiting team is Captain Cunningham who plays at tackle. He is of giant stature, weighing two hundred thirty-five pounds. Captain Cunningham is considered one of the greatest linemen in Western New York. Other members of the squad are Knauff, Green, Fry, Luco, Martineau, Paisley, Maguso, and Leary. Last season St. Bonaventure was defeated by Cornell and Carnegie Tech but defeated Juniata 12-0 and tied with Colgate 7-7.

class to raise the allotted funds in their respective divisions.

As the organization now stands, "Pip" Koehler '23 will be Class-Chairman of the Senior Class, with "Mike" Palm '24 as class chairman of the present Juniors. Similarly, "Ed Kerr" '25 has been appointed Class-Chairman of the Sophomore class and "Hap" Frank, vice-president of the Junior class will take charge of the Freshmen canvassers. E. T. Meyers, president of the Two-Year Aps will have charge of the canvassing among the two-year agricultural men and the Rehals. The special students will be canvassed by the Senior Class.

Under William Payne '23, as chairman of the Accelerator Committee, "Don" Shrive '23 will have charge of the Publicity Committee, "Clem" Andrews '23 will have charge of the Meetings Committee, and George Ely '23 will act as chairman of the committee on Features.

Daily meetings of the Campaign chairmen and canvassers will be held in the Students' Campaign Headquarters in Old Main for the purpose of checking up on the day's progress and for formulating plans for the succeeding day's work.

No Other Financial Drives

It should be emphasized that there will be no other campaigns to raise money among the students this year with the exception of the annual drive of the Y. M. C. A. This proposition was submitted to the Student Council at the last meeting upon the suggestion of Dr. Thomas and Dean Warnock and unanimously adopted by that body. By this plan, the students will feel free to give their whole-hearted support to the campaign without fear of being called upon to take part in any other financial campaign this year.

It should also be remembered that this Student Campaign will take the place of class memorials for the next four years and none of the classes now enrolled at Penn State will be expected to contribute any class memorial to the college when they graduate. The Campaign Committee feels that if they succeed in reaching their goal by raising enough to remodel Old Main into the much needed Student Union, the classes which are now in college will have done their bit for their Alma Mater.

PENN STATE RIFLEMEN MAKE PLANS FOR YEAR

Faculty Team May Be Organized To Compete with College and R. O. T. C. Units

The call is being sent out to all members of the student body who wish to become affiliated with the Penn State Rifle Team to attend the initial meeting of the organization, to be held next Monday evening at seven. The bulletin boards will announce where it is to be held, in all probability in the gallery range. Freshmen who have had any experience at target practice are eligible to participate.

It is especially desirable that all members of last year's team be on hand in order to take charge of the recruiting, and it is hoped that a sufficiently large number of men will respond to the call to form four teams, consisting of a first and second R. O. T. C. team, and a first and second College team. However, those who shoot on the R. O. T. C. team must be members of the R. O. T. C. unit.

May Organize Faculty Team

The arrangement of a series of matches with a picked faculty team is being considered by Major Welty. This, it is hoped, will give a greater stimulus to the organization. The members of the rifle team will form the nucleus of the Penn State Rifle Club, and will fan various club events during the winter months to help defray expenses.

Competing with R. O. T. C. units from colleges in this state, Maryland and Virginia, two Penn State teams, consisting of thirty R. O. T. C. members, succeeded in placing both units in the Third Corps Area match. The first team carrying off fourth honors.

In the National shoot the first team had to be content with second place, having been eliminated by the close margin of thirty-one points by the R. O. T. C. unit of Dayton University, Dayton, Ohio. The second team secured the twelfth position. This is a remarkable showing when we consider that the National match is open to the five best teams in their respective corps areas.

Penn State Receives Challenges

The Penn State rifle team in camp at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, this summer took third place in the Inter-collegiate rifle match. In consequence of the showing made in the past by the Nittany riflemen, the larger colleges where R. O. T. C. units are maintainers are issuing challenges for matches with the Penn State team. There is also a possibility of a match with the rifle team representing Oxford University, England.

These matches are all conducted on the home range and the targets are exchanged by both teams. The firing is done on a fifty foot range with a .22 calibre rifle. Special five-shot Winchester target rifles are to be used this year, from which some excellent averages are expected.

Hands crave this Over-size Pen

As they crave a balanced golf stick

Chinese-red barrel—handsomer than gold

Super-smooth point—guaranteed 25 years

NO ONE more appreciates the new Parker Duofold than the students who play golf. The moment you grasp it your hand responds to that unmistakable feel that means business. Its fit, weight and balance produce a sensation akin to the pleasure of gripping your favorite club. It holds nearly twice the ink of the ordinary.

It has a point of native Iridium—as smooth and life-enduring as a rare jewel bearing—and guaranteed 25 years for wear and mechanical perfection.

This is the pen that Geo. S. Parker, inventor of the leakproof "Lucky-Curve" perfected through 30 years of infinite pains. Money can buy fancier mountings, but the world contains no other point like this. Its popularity has made a stir at the campus and classrooms unlike anything known before. Many pronounce it "handsomer than gold."

When one record shows that the average student buys 4 pens a year, don't you agree that it's better economy to buy one Duofold in a lifetime even at $7? Now is the time to come in.
