H. T. Axford, '23.

Denn State Collegian

he College.
EDITOR	HAL STAFF
EDITOR E D. Schive, 22	Editor-in-	Chie
A. E. Post, 23	Managing E	die
1. F., Post, 20111111111111111111111111111111111111	Managing E
D. R. Mehl, 23.
W. H. Auman, '23		411111
ASSOCIAT	TE EDITORS
R. B. Colvin, 24 E. E. Heim, 24	E. M. Jameson, 24 C. B. Tilto	n. 12
	Miss S. E. Crol	1. "2

H. R. McCalloch, '24

REPORTERS
H. L. Firing, "25" F. P. George, "25
A. F. Mayo, "25" H. S. Morris, "25
D. A. Wisland, "25" W. J. Ward, Jr., "25 B. Ayers, 25 W. L. Pratt, 25

The Penn State Collegian invites communications on any subject of college it terest. Letters must bear the signatures of the writers. Subscription price: $2.50, if paid before October 15, 1922. After October 15 1922, $2,75.

Entered at the Postoffree State College, Pa., as second class matter. Office: Nittany Printing and Publishing Co. Building.

Member of Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 4922

WE CAN NOT AFFORD TO FAIL

No matter how hard pressed we may be for funds, we can not af ford to refuse to subscribe to the $2,000,000 Emergency Building Fund It will be more costly for us to fail to pledge our support to the campaign than it will be to save one hundred dollars by not suscribing We who are most vitally interested in the welfare of the college must stamp the campaign with our mark of approval.

Before we can prevail upon our friends to subscribe, we mus prove to them that we believe in the future of Penn State. A one hun dred percent participation on our part will be of inestimable value to the success of the state-wide campaign. The citizens of the commonwealth are watching us. We are a barometer for the big campaign that follows on the second of October. We cannot afford to fail.

The faculty drive has blazed the way for us, and we can now do nothing but follow the example which has been set by it. About forty thousand dollars have been pledge by that group and the percentage of response has surpassed ninety-eight. When complete returns have been made the officials predict that the number of non-subscribers will be almost negligible. Those loyal older members of the faculty who have grown with the college and who have spent every ounce of energy in striving for its advancement did not hesitate to back it in this new undertaking. The newer members of the instructional staff were quick to grasp the vision of the possibilities of the Pennsylvania State University in becoming one of the leading educational institutions of the country and they have pledged their support to the cam

If the members of the faculty back the campaign of their adopted Alma Mater so heartily, should not we who are Penn State men give still greater support to a task which concerns Penn State? Three hundred thousand dollars, the quota set for the students, seems like a paltry sum when we stop to consider our debt to the college. With place of the class endowment which it is customary for the seniors to give, we see that the college is asking us for nothing more than it usually does. This is a combined senior memorial of four classes into to call our "successful" Justness mer one great memorial.

Are we content to see Penn State stand still and remain a college forever handicapped while every commonwealth to the west and south of Pennsylvania has helped its state educational institution grow into a large university? Do you want the unbusinesslike financial support of the state legislature to continue?

The appalling need of Pennsylvania for a state educational insti tution of higher learning is adequately expressed by President Warren G. Harding:

"I have learned with surprise that it is necessary for one of our national colleges to refuse a thousand qualified students each year because of lack of facilities and 1 trust that your efforts to remedy this situation both by private gifts and public support may meet with success.

It is unthinkable to consider what the failure of the student campaign would mean. We must set the example for the people of Pennsylvania. All eyes are upon us. We cannot afford to fail.

FOOTBALL AND BETTING

Is it wrong to bet on a college football game? Is wagering a per sonal matter or does the act of one student affect others? Does the placing of money on the Penn State team hurt that team? If gambling in this form does not harm the team, does it impair the one who

These questions have been raised as the result of a resolution which Student Council has endorsed opposing gambling and betting in connection with football games. Was it justfied in doing such a thing? Has that body the right to express its opinion in a matter which seems at first thought to be one of a purely personal and individual The fact that the council without a dissenting or protesting voice, passed this resolution indicates that there must be some just

This resolution states that public interest has been focused upon gambling in connection with football games through comments and discussions in the newspapers and magazines. Would such interest be aroused by anything which is an accepted fact? There must be something out of the ordinary about gambling which does not meet the approval of the ordinary man to cause such comment. We find that the king sport of them all, horse racing, was killed because of excessive betting. Would it not then be safe to conclude that betting and gambling, if not restrained will seriously injure the standard and gambling, if not restrained, will seriously injure the standing of intercollegiate football?

Upon reading further, we find the statement that gambling prevents the development of the best type of college spirit by substituting the expectation of personal loss or gain, by making it less easy to appreciate and applaud the good work of the opposing team, and by a making it difficult for those who bet to lose with the good feeling of true sportsmanship.

What is your opinion on gambling? Can you do it with a clear conscience? Do you believe that it violates the spirit of true brother-hood which chould characterize relationships betweeth Christian insti-

PENN STATE IS VISITED

BY FORMER FACULTY MEMBER

Doctor Sherman and Mr. Albus were visitors in State College last Thurs.

They are both now in the Department

Advisibility at Workshipton D. A deviability at Workshipton D. day. Doctor Sherman was formerly of Agriculture at Washington D. C.

Education

United States never had a college edthority as the most successful men in American industry and business did not have thise advantages of a higher ducation. These facts suggest the aquiry as to whether or not a college ducation is essential to success.

college, four at least are numattend college, four at least are numbered among the best chief executives attaining that we have had. Washington and knowled is unclin the only two presidents whose is built birthdays we celebrate, never shared to dilege, the advantages of the training given by the colleges. Jackson and Cleve-time when the colleges is the colleges of the colleges. robably place among our greatest n presidents, were without the back-round given by a college course.

Moreover, if we consider men of side for more men and women to sective present generation, we have an learner a college education, when better argument as to the possible failure of the colleges to justify ships and opportunities of self-support themselves in the production of successful men. It is difficult to define votion to intellectual development that constitutes success and even difficult to determine what men within the bounds oif our defin-B. C. Forbes, the editor, basing his selection upon the opinion of bus-iness men in all parts of the country, has named fifty individuals successful as named lifty individuals successful adheation which made him sign the business and finance whom he calls Morrill Act, the basis of most of those universities.

Free Universities, or authors The group does not include statesmen, scientists, artists, or authors, or even art great railroad executives. It is not be inspired by the intense spirit confined to business and financial men, of that outstanding example of a sucy yet it will serve well as a selection run which to make a study of the part played by the college in the education of successful mon of successful men of this type.

Twenty-nine of the fifty never entered college, while the remaining in State College, which is seeking now are more or college. shtution of higher learning are such shop are now finding it possible to earn men as Andrew Carnegle, George Eastinan, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford John D. Rockerfeller, and F. W. Wool-Worth. On the other side, among the men in the group who have received the year it is finding it necessary to turn a.

Fut some further considerations are deserve it. necessary. We have not been fair to the of the country. The wonder is that they have come anywhere near supply-ing one half of what we have agreed differ in great degree from the sort of differ in training that Lincoin and Edit son laid out for themselves. Of equal importance to an opportunity for edit neation is the receptivity of the individual to be educated. Lincoin succeeded because he was Lincoin. He succeeded in spite of his failure to have any definite schooling and not because of it.

And the cantager we never had that much money all at once in our life.

But the canvasser who came to see the sold differ take any money to subscribe to the campaign. So we signed the detted line and now we'll gladly make payments for the rest of our life.

The editor said that whom any definite schooling and not because drawn by one who made a study of the 23,000 names in the volume of "Who's Who in America". College men are there in higher massacrates have a state of the opinion that we might be persuaded to sign away our life for another hundred. there in higher percentage by far than their general percentage among all

More and more a college education More and more a college education will come to play its part in the life of the man who attains success. The men of the past generation who climbed the toget our two hundred dollars worth out of the campaign some way. We toget our two hundred dollars worth out of the campaign some way. We wouldn't be at all adverse to be able to lead the iion around, either.

And, speaking of the Thursday night stunts, we have been advised to save a ந்துத்துத்துத்துத்துத்துத்து் of cases been a financial one in the present generation, fired by the to give us our three hundred dollars fine enthusiasm of a Lincoin, could not worth at once, educate himself, but I am certain that the complexity of modern life, the run, lifeations of the accumulation.

the third of the presidents of the gence of the world, and the tremendous United States never had a college education. More than half of the group of fifty persons selected by one autoral for the group of fifty persons selected by one autoral failure to secure a thorough ground, discussive failure to secure a thorough ground dividual practice. work in the elements of language, sei, eace, government, history, and other government, history, and other

More Desire Education

The line of surest progress to success Of the nine presidents who did not is becoming more and more clearly de- had swallowed our voice with the pea time when any such discussion as this whom most historians would serves any purpose than to add to our sell them. conviction as to the value of higher ed. Morenever, if we consider men of sible for more men and women to se.

so readily available to a boy of his de-votion to intellectual development that there is small doubt that he would be enrolled in one of the American college es. In addition, in all but a few states he would find free state university. Per twenty-one had a year or more of col-lege training. Among the leaders in fact, hundreds of students who, in whose education was terminated be-fore they reached the doors of an institution of higher learning are such shop are now finding it possible to earn men in the group who have received the senefits of a collège course, are J. Ogden Armour, Alexander Graham Beh. George W. Goethals, J. P. Morgan, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Frank A. Vanderlip. Between the two groups there is little to choose in the character or comparative success of the men. But the non-college men autumber the college men almost three to one. And/on the face of things, our first regiment might seem to indicate that i college education is not essential for success. to the new generation to provide ade

Campus Gossip

any definite schooling and not because

any definite schooling and not because of it.

And the same deduction has been scription will do such a thing, we are

When the stunts come off Thursday night, we don't want to see our class colors on that goat. But if our worst expectations come true, we want to be

FREE FREE

Thursday and Friday

1 Pound Cascade Linen 50c 50 Cascade Envelopes FREE

Rexall Drug Store

Robert J. Miller Between the Movies. clean pair of pajamas. With fireworks will be a sur-prize.

plishments, we have come to the co clusion that it is a physical impossibil ity for a green freshman to make "Ss! the m! Ah! Coo!." sound like "Sshoom-aheoo". We advise some supervised in-

We had a brilliant idea at Saturday's game. After roasting in the hot sun, we bought a bag of peanuts. When it came ss, time to cheer we discovered that we ined. The orthodox route to higher auts and the cheer wouldn't come. We attainment is a firm foundation of were then forced to invest a film in a bottle of pop to get some relief. This is built best by the curriculum of the all could have been averted if we had bought a package of Smith Bros. or some other voice lubricator. The boys at the game ought to be instructed to

> For the most original letters on th reason why freshmen have to pain their numerals on the sidewalk with road oil that sticks to the shoes, the COLLEGIAN will offer an unlimited number of prizes valued at five cents each. The only rule of the contest is that the letters be short and snappy Sign your name so that we know when

PLEASE NOTE-Nittany The

PASTIME THEATRE

TUESDAYGUY BATES POST in a StreensTriumph "THE MASQUERADER" JOHNNY HINES in "Torchy's Feud"

Adults 50c, Children 15c, and Tax NITTANY THEATRE

TUESDAY---NAZIMOVA in "The Doll's House",
JIMMY AUBREY PASTIME THEATRE

WEDNESDAY-DORIS MAY
in "UP and At 'Em"
"Pop Tuttle's Movie Queen'
COMEDY

THURSDAY and FRIDAY-RODOLPH VALENTINO in "BLOOD and SAND" FOUR (4) SHOWS DAILY Commencing at 2:30, 4:30, 6:30

MERMAID COMEDY Special prices-Adults 40c, Child------

Published in the interest of Electrical Development b an Institution that will be helped by whatever helps the Industry.

As a starter, we suggest that the the eye ores for pleasure alone. Had the years must be rich and wants to spend in your suggestion early and avoid the distribution of the street waste basket.

cleaning department of the borough didn't turn out in full force to

Pastime Theatre

THURSDAY and FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28-29

SHOWSBALLY

Shows start at 2:30, 4:30, 6:30, 8:30

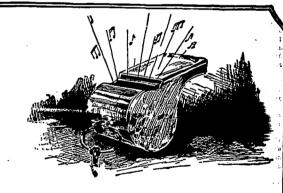

RODO LPH VALENTINO Blood and Sand

LILA LEE AND NITA NALDI A Paramount Picture

Imagine - Valentino; a dare-devil toreador, a fiery Spanish lover! In the greatest story the author of "The Four Horsemen" ever wrote. Produced from the man who made "The Three

See the Perfect Lover as a hot-blooded toreador, the idol of Spain. See him hazard his life in the spectacular bullfight. See him yield to the lure of a titled Spanish temptress. You haven't seen Valentino till you've seen "Blood and Sand!"

SPECIAL PRICES -- Adults 40c, Children 15c, and tax.

It will pay you to listen to this music

ALL over the country the whistle is blowing for the kick-off, the start of that great game another college year.

Be on your toes when the whistle blows. A good start will carry you well on toward your goal. Let the football candidate start by working away till his muscles ache from bucking the line. Let the aspirant for manager put in careful study of his team's needs, always eager to help -arranging a trip or carrying a pail of water.

Let the publications man be alert for news and tireless in learning the details of editorial work. Whatever activity you come out for, crowd a lot of energy into these early Fall days.

And if a good start helps win campus honors, it helps win class room honors, too. The sure way to be up in your work is to aim now for regularity at lectures, up-to-date note-books and particular attention to the early chapters of text-books, thus getting a grip on the basics.

This is best in the long run, and—selfishly—it is easiest in the long run. That is, if life after college is made easier by the things a bigger income can buy.

Western Electric Company

Since 1869 makers and distributors or electrical equipment

Number 21 of a serie